The red, green and white color scheme of Christmas was much in evidence throughout and every sales booth bore out the Christmas motif with its own individual interpretation of the theme. These were located in the church auditorium, while the tea room occupied the bright and spacious new church hall and here the decorating scheme was particularly eye-catching with two really splendid evergreens gracing the balcony. The twin tea tables were most attractive, the centre piece with a delicate lace doily and a miniature replica of European origin, in which was a pyramid-shape of evergreen boughs interspersed with sprays of holly and bright red or green ribbons. Each corner of the pyramid was sentinelled with a shabby sock atop a rosy red apple. The gleaming silver tea services and prettily adorned with dainties added to the setting.

The sextet tables were equally attractive with white luncheon cloths each one having two large angel set in lustrous red or green wire, and misted about the base with whitened artificial hair. Adorning the piano was a beautiful arrangement of white 'mums and vibrant red carnations resting on Scotch pine boughs. The articles decorating scheme was a credit to convener Mrs. J. V. Rose and co-convener Mrs. L. Jones assisted by Mrs. A. Quackenbush and Mrs. R. C. Woodley.

Shea and A. Guest.

SALES TABLES

The various sales booths followed along the contours of the walls and first of all was the apron booth in charge of Mrs. G. Moore and Mrs. H. Collins. This was a most colorful display with numerous aprons arranged on circular clothesline including the popular half style, the overall type and one particularly serviceable, and very attractive reversible; fussy black nylon with pom pom flowers, as well as a novelty apron of the festive season, with dispos-able serviettes, and many others all colors, designs and materials. Adjoining this table were several foot stools for sale in plain and figured design materials.

The country store, in charge of Mrs. R. Bateman and Mrs. G. Shaver, had a grand array of grocery items including Christmas shortbreads, cookies, fancy iced cup cakes with surprise in each, jars of jellies, jams, chili sauce and mince-meat, as well as African violets, and other potted plants.

The parcel post was a most intriguing booth with numerous mysterious packages of all shapes and sizes, which were in charge of the CGIT group.

DELICIOUS HOME COOKING

The home cooking always a most enticing table with its aroma of fresh home made breads, buns and rolls, had as well a variety of pies, tarts, cookies, bran muffins, date squares and fudge squares and doughnuts and was convened by Mrs. E. Garnett and Mrs. R. Schryver.

The sewing and handicraft table was laden with an abundant supply of fancy work including cable stitch socks for children; warm mittens; oven mitts and fudge squares and cosmetic capes; little dolls' wardrobes; a beautiful golden articles. This was in charge of Mrs. J. Demeza and Mrs. O. Summerhayes.

There was a generous supply of sweets at the candy table, all nicely packaged in paper cups and dainty little baskets, and included divinity fudge, maple cream candy and dark fudges, Turkish delight, peanut brittle and jars of "nuts 'n' bolts." This table was convened by Mrs. H. Arendsen and Mrs. H. Fuke.

Many and varied were the items at the white elephant table and some of these were pictures, wall plaques, jars of spice salts, vases, tea pots, candy dishes, costume jewellery, salt and pepper sets, ash trays, all of which were in charge of Mrs. N. O'Neil and Mrs. J. Hodgson.

A nursery was provided for the little tots while their mothers enjoyed a cup of tea, and this was in charge of Mrs. R. Cass and Mrs. N. D. Reid and their mission was rendered throughout the afternoon by Mrs. K. Bird.

Mrs. Revell is due to the co-conveners and their committees for a most successful event.

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS

MAIL CALL

QUESTION: I would appreciate a bit of information on the labor party's policy preceding a wedding. My husband will be best man at my brother's wedding and I have been told that the husbands of all those who attended the wedding shower must be invited. This would mean inviting thirty-seven men. We also have had that each man pays his own share. I, personally, feel that it's very rude to put these men in such a position. After all, a gift was given at the shower, each will give at the shower, each will give a wedding gift, why charge? I suppose to pay for a bachelor party. We want to do the proper thing for my brother and his fiancee, but I'm afraid that this is too much to expect.

Mrs. R.G.B., Little Falls, N.J.

ANSWER: Unless the wedding is very formal and lavish, it's not really necessary to have a bachelor dinner or party, and I certainly think it is wrong to ask guests to contribute from the wedding budget. However, when it is given, it is customary for each to put in his share. If you're sure that you've been told that guests always have been invited to the bachelor party, don't lose sight of the wedding party and really close to the groom party circle.

QUESTION: I'm planning a wedding for this fall soon and would like to know in advance how much a reduce-size gift should be for carrying bags. Is he given a certain sum for each bag, or is the wedding scale for this service, say, 50 cents for the first bag and ten cents for each additional? I don't want to be embarrassed by not appearing to know what is expected of me as far as tipping is concerned. — Mrs. V. A., Hackensack, N.J.

ANSWER: At present, the usual fee charged by a redcap is thirty-five cents per bag. No additional tip is necessary, but something extra usually is given when the redcap is especially courteous and helpful.

QUESTION: A widowed friend of mine has invited me to attend her wedding, which will take place next month. The invitation was issued over the telephone. There will be a civil ceremony, followed by a small reception at the home of her mother. Am I supposed to send her a wedding gift? She feels, but I've been told by friends that this is not proper.

E.M., New York City.

ANSWER: It's not necessary to send a wedding gift for a second marriage, but it's certainly permissible to do so. Actually, friends and relatives invited to the reception usually do send gifts as a matter of course, just as they would do if the bride were being married for the first time.

The Women's Hospital Auxiliary of the Bellerville General Hospital held its regular monthly meeting in Kingston Hall on November 20.

Convener Mrs. William Statham and co-convener Mrs. A. Lennox Smith were thanked for all their work and planning in connection with the most successful "Fashion Fiesta" staged a week ago. Net proceeds from the event totalled $1,341.26, the combined total of ticket sales and "draw" tickets.

Mrs. Statham thanked the various people who had assisted in any way. A special word of appreciation was expressed to Mrs. William Gault who was responsible for the artistic decorations displayed at the reception following the fashion show.

Auxiliary members were requested to help by knitting sweater sets for the "Samaritan" cupboard. This is a means of providing outfits for new babies leaving the hospital without sufficient clothing to take them home.

REPORTS

Brief reports were given by Mrs. J. Casey and Mrs. M. F. L. Jones, delegates to the recent convention of the Hospital Auxiliaries Association of Ontario, held recently in Toronto. The delegates attended the various meetings, visited the displays and heard the Director of Nurses, Miss D. Smith, take part in a panel discussion. One of the important ideas expressed at the convention was that each auxiliary member should know her hospital and all phases of auxiliary work, not just her own special interest.

"STRIP TEA"

Members of the Belleville Auxiliary presented a "Strip Tea" at their meeting last fall at the convention. The talent displayed in this skit made quite an impression on the other delegates present, and created an enthusiasm to get in this novel method of restocking the shelves of the "cup" shop.

TREATMENT NEEDS EQUIPMENT

Treatment follows diagnosis. Here again expensive equipment is necessary, perhaps in the laboratory, the operating room or the physio-therapy section. There is concern over every patient's welfare.

Others who assist in restoring a patient's health include the maids, the nurse's aides, the kitchen help, housekeepers, members of linen, maintenance and engineering workers and the packers of hospital equipment for sterilization. Stock room clerks must keep adequate supplies on hand. Then there are the hospital volunteers with their ready smiles; a spiritual counsellor is always available. The administrator and his department keep the hospital running smoothly.

The doctor, the hospital skills and equipment, and the friendly people who work there, all labor round the clock, preserving and restoring the patient's health.

Light refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

S. AMERICAN GIANT

Only Russia, Canada, China and the United States exceed Brazil in size. It has common borders with all South American states but Ecuador and Chile.

A Happy Dish

A big party casserole is one of the most dependable and easily served buffet dishes. It can be prepared well in advance of serving time, baked with little attention from the cook, and stays piping hot in its container until the guests are ready for seconds.

A new casserole of this type, recently tested in the kitchens of the Department of Fisheries of Canada, combines lobster meat in a delicate Fondue Celestine type of sauce. The recipe, which recently won second prize in its category in a nation-wide recipe contest, is quite simple, and all of the ingredients are easy to obtain.

Fancy Lobster Strata

1 pound cooked or canned lobster meat
10 slices white bread, crusts removed
¼ cup mayonnaise
1 small onion, finely diced
1 medium green pepper, finely diced
1 cup finely chopped celery
4 eggs, beaten
3 cups milk
1 can (10 ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup
1 cup (¼ pound) grated Cheddar cheese
Paprika

Chop lobster meat into bite-sized chunks. Dice half the bread slices and place in the bottom of a greased 3- quart casserole. Combine lobster, mayonnaise, onion, green pepper and celery. Spread over bread. Cover with remaining bread slices. Combine eggs and milk. Pour over contents of casserole. Cover and chill for at least 12 minutes. Bake in a pan at 325 degree F. for 20 minutes. Thoroughly combine soup, milk and cheese. Spread over partially cooked casserole. Sprinkle with paprika. Continue to bake at 325 degree F. for 1 hour. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

BY pegg rogers

The woman who is frankly middle-aged, or as the French more kindly say it — une femme d'un certain age — in 1962, is one of the most fortunate women of all times. She has everything going for her, from the medical profession, with its recent studies in longevity, to cosmeticians, hair stylists, as well as the designers of corsetry and fashions. She is a very lucky woman.

Consider her mother who hit middle life, sometime in the depressed 1930's. A woman who dyed her hair in those days, was thought to be a little "fast". Besides, who, but a few, could afford such expensive and not too reliable treatments? Corsetry depended on steel bones, lacings and stiff strong cotton. Nylon and stockings were unknown and lipstick usually came in dark purple shades or occasionally for a complexion losing its bloom.

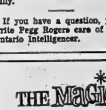
HALF-SIZE DRESSES

Half-size dresses, sometimes necessary in middle age, had an old lady look. Shoes, if comfortable, were sturdy of heel and ugliness. Drugs, the panacea for the preservation of an aging but observant good skin, were not only sticky, but required an all-night application.

Although there were still servants to be hired, the average woman couldn't afford one, so the middle aged woman in the 1930's battled her way through mountains of laundry (yes, she usually had an electric washing machine — but no automatic drier or steam iron). If she was lucky she had an electric refrigerator, but more often than not, she carried a dripping pan under to the sink. She was without most of the electric household aids we have and have come to accept as necessities.

If she has sacrificed her waistline, for a face which is not too haggard, she can partially regain her figure through the newest miracles of corsetry design, which are light in weight and easy on the budget.

She can find graceful shoes, with wonderfully comfortable soles of "air foam", plus light gossamer elastic stockings for occasionally aching legs.



The cosmetic industry has gone all out to assist her. There are reasonably priced lotions, potions and amazing foundation creams to flatter her. The art of hair tinting and dyeing has reached such heights that "does she or doesn't she?" is a real puzzler.

DOES NOT FIGHT FOR YOUTH

The wise middle-aged woman today, gratefully accepts the assistance of science and the fashion industry, but she does not fight for eternal youth — neither does she worship it. She realizes that the young can look young, with no effort, but that no one can look as elegantly feminine and poised, as the middle-aged woman, who accepts her time of life and her time in life — gracefully and gratefully.

Is Thirteen Baby or Adult

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS—Sometimes my parents expect me to play an adult's part and then treat me like a baby. Do you think 13 is a good enough age to be treated like an adult?

Things like going out with girl friends to canteen till about ten o'clock. This is done once a week, or do you think it is proper for girls our age (13) to go to mixed parties? Nothing happens at these parties except fun, dancing and food.—WORRIED GIRLS.

DEAR WORRIED—"Fun, dancing and food" are what happens at most parties. But at 13 you can't manage adult behavior without running for cover frequently.

Mixer company in supervised amounts is O.K. Your parents must know where you are, who's running the canteen and who's bringing you home.

DEAR DORIS—When my boy friend is drunk, he is as sweet and lovable as can be, but when he is sober, we are always fighting. What would you suggest I do?

I'm very much in love with him and he is with me. I can honestly say that he loves me dearly and very much so because when he is drunk he always apologizes and says he truly loves me. But as soon as he is sober the fight starts again.—OPPOSITE KIND OF DRUNKARD.

DEAR OPPOSITE—Anyone who has to drink to be pleasant should live alone except when drunk. He is a poor risk. If he fights to assert himself, drop him until he grows out of it. (But has it occurred to you that it takes two people to start a fight?)

DEAR DORIS—My problem is love. I am a 19-year-old boy in love with a 15-year-old girl. Although her parents and mine feel there is too much of an age difference, we would like your opinion.

Both of us have quit school and are earning our own living, but still staying at home. Since your answer will convince us or our parents that they (or we) are wrong, we will deeply appreciate your answer.—B. AND W.

DEAR B. AND W.—Right now—No. Later? Maybe yes. Not only are you too old for her, but you are both too young for marriage. Unless you don't care if it's over in a year or two.

Your interests, feelings, bodies, are changing. Later —say five years later for her—you'll both know more about what will suit you for keeps. Siphon off that headlong impatience for life into happy, active teen-age channels.

DEAR DORIS—Can you tell me if it is incorrect for a widow to use her husband's initials?—MRS. D.

DEAR MRS. D.—It is quite proper to use your husband's initials when you are a widow. Anything else is incorrect.

TO BROKENHEARTED—Write again, stating your problem, and giving your name and address. I will, of course, keep it confidential.

DEAR DORIS—From your suggestions I conclude that I must have given you the impression that Canadians and our neighbors especially are not hospitable enough. I feel very sorry about it.

When I spoke about needing friendship, I had in mind the kind of friend with whom you can share joy or sorrow, who understands you and on whom you can depend in times of trouble. And here again we were not so much concerned about getting as to being such a friend. We were confused because in spite of all the efforts we made, we never could find out whether our friendship really was wanted.

Encouraged by your friendly words, I am trying to master my inferiority. Now seeing the situation in a different light, it almost appears to me that we are expecting from these people something that they do not know themselves. For nowhere in our neighborhood have we been able to observe the kind of friendship we were used to. Well, we will try to make the best of it.—MARIA.

DEAR MARIA—It takes a long time to build warm friendships with people who are basically reserved. Perhaps in another year or two you will have found the kindred spirit who can make you feel that there is some real warmth in Canadians.

DEAR DORIS—To Mr. Worried: Get married; that is fine. But please look around for someone in the twenties. This young girl is no doubt very good and you might get along very well for a few years, but that will change as you grow older. You will be disappointed when your wife is still young and you have grey hair.

Raising a family is sometimes much harder than it seems when you are still healthy and young. But when you get to be 65, as my husband is, and still have a 10-year-old child, as I have, you will feel sorry, for you won't be able to give him the education you gave the older ones. I know. I'm 12 years younger than my husband. He always was a good husband and father, but that doesn't change the fact that he's retired.

As for social life, it will be the same. You will differ in opinions. You will feel out of place where she can find fun and happiness. Think it over again.—DOUBLE WORRIED.

DEAR DORIS—"Just 22" prompted me to write. I had all my three children by Caesarean section and was also told that if we had any more, it could mean my life next time. We consented to an operation.

My husband and I think it is a lot better to be alive with the children we have than to try and have more and me lose my life. After all, a mother that's dead isn't any good to the kids. Just 22. You should thank God that He has blessed you with four children. I have two now. But I'm thankful to be alive for my son and daughter.—JUST 21.

Dear JUST 21—Good for you. Let's hope something you or I have said will make "Just 22" feel better.

CONFIDENTIAL TO FORTYISH AND ENGAGED—Don't you want him unless he'll dress up? After five years you surely know his bad and good points. Either you go on all your life picking holes in him or you decide to enjoy his good points. Or you give him up. He won't change, appreciably, at 52.

Artist Prefers Pansies Of All Flowers to Paint

VANCOUVER (CP) — Rose Leonard was explaining why, of all flowers, she prefers to paint pansies.

"It's because, to her, they represent courage.

"Long after all the other flowers have been frozen, pansies are still blooming. I've seen them blooming in the snow in my garden."

Miss Leonard—in private life, Mrs. R. D. Davies of Edmonton, mother of a married son she and stepmother to three young sons of her accountant-husband —was here for an exhibit of her paintings.

With pastel chalks, she has for years caught the beauty of the velvet tones and delicate lines of pansies—most of which she has nurtured with gentle care in her own garden, be it in the backyard or an apartment flower box, from seed imported from England.

ON GREETING CARDS

Her works—they include oils as well as pastels: animals, scenics and city skylines as well as florals—have been reprinted thousands of times on greeting cards, hasty notes and full-sized reproduction for sale across Canada.

Her pansies soon may show up on United States markets, in a result of interest shown by a New York firm whose representative visited here and requested several pastels.

Miss Leonard, born on a farm at St. Paul, Alta., and raised in Edmonton where she still makes her home, has been painting professionally for 20 years. "But I've been dabbling all my life."

When she began professionally, she was selling advertising in Winnipeg to make ends meet and painting when time permitted.

After the Second World War, she returned to Edmonton where 10 years ago she had her first one-man exhibit at the Museum of Arts. She's had several more since at various locations in Edmonton, Calgary, Vancouver — where she had more than 100 works on display at a downtown department store—and elsewhere.

CRITICIZES ABSTRACTS

One of her exhibits was staged at Little Long Rapids in Northern Ontario, where most of those attending were personnel building Ontario Hydro's power plant, an audience which Miss Leonard said showed considerable art appreciation.

Miss Leonard is devoting more time now to oils and will have several in an exhibit early next year in Calgary. Following that she hopes to show in Winnipeg, Regina, Toronto and possibly Montreal as well as in the United States.

She already has done works of the Toronto and Montreal skylines for reproduction and plans a series depicting Canada from coast to coast, including skylines, scenics, florals, birds and animals.

Her portraits are limited to the faces of native Indian children who caught her fancy during a visit to the Calgary Stampede. And she has little love for abstracts, many of which she considers good only for cluttering basement storage.

"Someday I hope to do some abstract work. But it will be something the public will enjoy because it will be taken from nature. There are so many beautiful abstracts in nature."

Snow-White Cocoanut Cake

by Mary Moore

Margaret Duddy is one of my good friends who is choosy. If she recommends one of her recipes to me I try it for sure.

She sent me a recipe for a cocoanut cake with the note "simply delicious". We have made and tasted it and she's right. When frosted and sprinkled with cocoanut—especially if it is fresh cocoanut freshly grated—it is a snowwhite masterpiece.

I have plans for a Christmas dessert party on a shoestring which include this cake. My idea is to have three colorful desserts for a party for twelve that will cost about $2.00 altogether and incidentally utilize the leftover yolks from this cake. So if you are interested in this idea please clip the following cocoanut cake recipe. I will give the other desserts early in December.

Dinner Menu

Baked Ham Slice; Broiled Orange Slices (see Tuesday); Buttered Carrots; Green Peas; Fine Cole Slaw with Sour Cream Dressing; Chilled Melon Wedges with Lemon; Nutted Currant Cookies (see Wednesday); Tea.

MARGARET DUDDY'S SNOW-WHITE COCOANUT CAKE

5 egg whites
½ cup white sugar
5/3 cup butter (room temperature)
1¼ cups white sugar (second amount)
1 cup milk
2¼ cups sifted pastry or all-purpose or cake flour
3 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup deskisted cocoanut (preferably unsweetened)

Beat the egg whites with the ½ cup sugar until stiff. Cream the butter with the 1¼ cups sugar until light and airy. Sift together sifted flour, baking powder and salt and add alternately with milk to butter-sugar mixture until blended. Stir in cocoanut. Fold in meringue by hand until just mixed in. Turn into well-buttered (or buttered and paper-lined) 10" tube pan with removable bottom and tube OR buttered and floured 15 x 10" pan and bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for 60 to 75 minutes or until cake tests done when gently touched at centre top with finger tips. Let stand in pan 5 or 10 minutes then turn out on cake rack to cool.

Frost with plain butter frosting and sprinkle with packaged cocoanut OR do as I did: buy a fresh cocoanut, puncture with ice pick in two of the top depressions, drain out milk into large glass. Make Butter Frosting by creaming 3 tablespoons soft butter with about 2 or 2½ cups sifted icing sugar and about 2 tablespoons of the cocoanut milk — until of soft spreading consistency. Completely frost cake. Crack cocoanut, break off shell, carefully peel off brown skin, shred on fine shredder holding it directly over the frosted cake because you should leave it where it falls like snow — for it will "pack" if picked up. Any that falls on the clean table brush with pastry brush onto a piece of wax paper and tip onto cake wherever it is sparsely covered. This cocoanut work took me ¼ hour. It was worth every minute.

Christ Church EBWA Holds Attractive Christmas Tea

Christ Church Parish Hall was the scene of a delightful event for the dainty tea and attractive bazaar sponsored by the Evening Branch of the W.A. Lovely silver sprays of delicate fernery with silver globes adorned the green draped table covered the south wall, while that of the west had sprays of red and bronze poinsettia, and here and there about the spacious auditorium were gleaming evergreen trees, all pointing to one theme, that of Christmas. Even the booths were adorned with festooned ropes of green and red and holly garlands, while the focal point of the Yuletide season was the long tea table with its snow-white cloth, its beautiful centrepiece of Scotch pine sprays centred by five tall, red candles in graduating lengths, and the two tri-branched silver candelabra flanking it, as well as the shining silver services, making a lovely picture not soon to be forgotten, as did the white archway with its silvery sprays and little gleaming globes in crimson tones.

RECEIVING GUESTS

Welcoming the guests into this delightful atmosphere of coming joys were Mrs. R. G. Fleming, wife of the rector; Mrs. E. F. Smith, wife of the assistant rector; Mrs. F. Burton, president of the Evening Branch of the W.A.

The tea room hostesses, Mrs. I. Reid and Mrs. J. Cooke, made each and all feel much at home, guiding them to the little quartet tables where friend met friend, and enjoyed the cheering cup of tea.

Those who presided at the silver tea services included Mrs. E. Hickey and Mrs. H. Pitt; Mrs. R. Godden and Mrs. R. Ferguson, while those who served were Mesdames C. Ling, E. Pope, J. Spencer, R. Hainden, G. Day, R. Terry, R. Bogner, F. Barlow, R. Port and F. Fry. Mrs. A. Bowman and Mrs. L. Stevens kept the tea cups replenished, while making tea were Mrs. J. Lang and Mrs. L. Martin.

Mrs. F. Goodfellow convened the kitchen, assisted by Mesdames Mrs. I. Donnelly, Mrs. A. Wilson, Mrs. L. Adams, Mrs. R. Hilbert, Mrs. G. Cherry and Miss M. Novinsky assisted in replenishing the plates.

VARIETY TABLE

At the variety table were some very pretty aprons in a variety of colors, some in ball designs and others in the all-over style; some made from plain and floral designs combined, others were flashed with micro-rac braid; while others were in satin organdy with heart-shaped pockets in red; and some in red organdy, Santa Claus motifs and little mitts; bedroom slippers, and embroidered tea towels and luncheon cloths; pillow slips, and bath salts; birch log with red candles for Christmas centrepieces; coasters; doll clothes; knit cushion in gold and black; lilttis caps, and dove chair sets in blue and white; crib quilts in blue and white with embroidered teddy bears on white, the same in yellow and white. These were convened by Mrs. L. Mason; and Mrs. F. O'Connor, assisted by Mrs. J. Ling; Mrs. J. Reid, and Mrs. E. Smith.

The country store, was in charge of Mrs. H. Rose, Mrs. J. Howes, and Mrs. D. Bull, who had for sale costume jewellery; apples; canned vegetables and fruits; African violets; church calendars; milkweed winter bouquets, and a lovely begonia plant.

DELICIOUS HOMECOOKING

The homecooking booth, convened by Mrs. W. Lancaster, assisted by Mrs. S. Beggs, Mrs. H. Eston; Mrs. V. Milne, had a fine assortment of cakes, cookies; tarts; pies; chocolate cakes cherry-topped; little snow-white cup cakes with chocolate chips for eyes and noses; delicious date squares; pink angel cake; jelly and taffy tarts; short breads and many others.

Mrs. A. Cooper was in charge of a Christmas tree.

At one end of the homecooking table, the Foxboro W.A. had an attractive number of articles, including little foliage plants; wandering Jew; tins; lemon pies; ginger cookies; a huge angel cake; pearl-like Florida cream candy; knitted mitts; red velvet oven mitts; towels, face cloths; aprons, and an assortment of candy, chocolate fudge; maple creams, and others. This area convened by the president of the Foxboro W.A. Mrs. H. Gay, assisted by Mrs. J. Hill; Mrs. W. Glen, and Mrs. G. Shell. Mrs. I. R. MacInnis and Mrs. R. Wells were in charge of the tickets.

Commendations go to the convener of the delightful tea, Mrs. W. C. Edwards, and her co-convener, Mrs. A. J. Bongard, as well as to the decorating committee, Mrs. G. Nix; Mrs. A. Gilroy; Mrs. R. Bagsdale; Mrs. J. Cleaver; Miss L. Morton, and to all others who assisted in making the tea and bazaar so successful.

Singer Will Not Sacrifice Home Life for a Career

WINNIPEG (CP) — An opportunity for an audition with the Metropolitan Opera hasn't obscured Nona Mari's determination not to sacrifice family responsibility to a singing career.

"I love to sing more than anything else," says the mother of three boys. "But I'll never become so involved in a voice career that my family comes second.

"I'm firmly convinced this is the only way to enjoy an outside interest. Otherwise one becomes dissatisfied—either with the career or with the homemaking.

"When I win an award I enjoy the honor because I have worked hard, but I am not constantly pushing or seeking a career."

Mrs. Mari took first place in the Manitoba Music Festival in 1950. The next year she won over 30 entrants to capture the Weyerhauser Trophy at the Met's Midwest auditions in Minneapolis. It qualified her for an audition with the Met in New York.

She was the third Winnipeg singer to win the award, Norman Mittleman and Joan Maxwell having preceded her.

BORN IN CHINA

Her husband, Dr. Paul Mari, is as accomplished painter who shares her views on family responsibility and other interests.

"My husband, who has also won awards for his paintings, also enjoys such commendation. But for both of us our creativeness is mainly a satisfying interest."

To keep herself trained, the Shanghai-born soprano this year sang at the Rainbow Stage in Winnipeg and attended classes at the Manitoba Theatre Centre, while continuing voice studies under Nina Dampney.

She and her husband, also born in China, came to Canada in 1950 when he entered internship at St. Joseph's Hospital

MOTHER IS SINGER — Nona Mari of St. James, Man., mother of three boys, is an accomplished singer who won the Metropolitan Opera Company's Midwest auditions at Minneapolis in 1961. Mrs. Mari, who came to Canada with her husband in 1950 from China, started taking singing lessons in 1957. She has appeared with the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra and on the CBC. (CP Photo).

ELDORADO WI

ELDORADO — The November meeting of Eldorado and Bannockburn Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Stanley Franks on Tuesday evening with a fair crowd in attendance. The president Mrs. Clayton Blackburn, opened the meeting. Roll call was answered by "Has the school a greater influence on a child than the home?"

Communications were dealt with and a letter was read on "Farm Safety Council," written by Sidney McDonald. Mrs. Frank Palmer, convener for citizenship, took over. The motto, composed by Mrs. L. Carman, on "Love," was read, also a reading was given on "The Lake-On-The-Mountain" by Mrs. Franks. Mrs. Robinson gave a paper on "Citizenship" and Mrs. Palmer on "New Canadian Citizens." Mrs. Palmer gave a poem entitled "The World is Mine" and held a contest which was much enjoyed.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and assistants.

here. Later they moved to Ninette, Man., from where she commuted each week to continue her piano lessons in Brandon.

It was during this time she became interested in singing and started taking lessons at Brandon College. The Maris returned to Winnipeg in 1957.

Among Mrs. Mari's performances have been an appearance with the Minneapolis Symphony and the lead in the CTV TV presentation of the opera "Savitri."

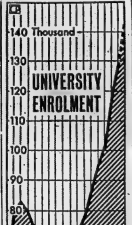
University Officials Hard Pressed to Provide for Record Number of Students



By CARL ROLLINS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The annual race by Canadian universities to keep pace with a swiftly growing demand for higher education was slightly less hectic this fall than during a record burst of enrolment a year ago.

But university officials generally were hard pressed to find facilities for record numbers of students, although few schools turned away applicants with the required standing.

A Cross-Canada Survey by The Canadian Press, covering preliminary enrolment figures at 27 universities, shows full-time student population at these schools up by 11 per cent to 134,500 from 121,000 last year. The increase between 1960 and 1961 was 13 per cent, highest since the 1945 influx of war veterans.

Applying the same percentage increase to the wider range of degree - granting schools surveyed by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics would put total full-time student population in some 70 institutions at about 143,000 this year compared with 129,000 a year ago. The DBS statistics are compiled from student lists at Dec. 1 each year.

BIG WATERLOO INCREASE

While the rate of growth is down two per cent this fall and numerical increase is about the same as last year at 14,000, educationists are in no mood to relax expansion campaigns.

Finding space in lecture halls and laboratories across Canada for 14,000 additional students can pose formidable problems.

The University of Waterloo, which has embarked on an $11,000,000 building program, had to deal with the biggest percentage increase of any established Canadian university, registering some 1,600 students compared with 1,200 last year—a jump of 31.5 per cent.

The five - year - old school which expects to enrol 6,500 students by 1970, found "class room space swamped pending completion of the new campus."

At the opposite extreme, Mount Allison University in Sackville, N.B., faced the pressure by restricting enrolment to 1,200, the same as last year.

MONTREAL TOPS 20,000

Elsewhere in the Atlantic provinces, Dalhousie in Halifax lit up by more than 200 to 2,500; Acadia at Wolfville, N.S., has increased enrolment by about the same number to 1,225; St. Francis Xavier at Antigonish, N.S., held steady at 1,300, and University of New Brunswick at Fredericton lit up to 2,314 from 2,156. Memorial University in Newfoundland enrolled a total of 2,200 students this year compared with about 1,750 in 1961.

Canada's largest university, Montreal, jumped by 15 per cent to top the 20,000 mark. McGill was over 10,000, increasing by about 1,000. Laval estimated total enrolment would be some 9,200 higher this year at almost 13,000.

University of Toronto expected to exceed 13,000 this year when final figures are tallied. A preliminary count listed 12,-866 fulltime students, about the same as last year.

Queen's University at Kingston, Ont., expected a slight increase over last year's 3,400. University of Western Ontario at London hit 5,064 from 4,891 last year.

DOUBLE BY 1970

Carleton of Ottawa, a university for only five years, jumped by about 30 per cent to 1,900 from 1,553.

University of Manitoba listed its increase at 12 per cent to 8,355, Saskatchewan was up by almost 15 per cent to 6,978. Alberta and affiliated colleges climbed by almost 10 per cent to 9,000, British Columbia and Victoria College are up about seven per cent to 15,200.

The boom in university education, which now costs about $720,000,000 a year, has been under way for 15 years. The influx of veterans following the Second World War boosted enrolment to 83,150 in 1947-48, after which it slid to a low of 63,174 in 1952-53.

Enrolment more than doubled in the following decade and is expected to double again in seven years.

The last of the war babies are entering university now and the first of the big post-war baby boom will reach university age in 1964. Based on the birth rate alone, the annual percentage increase in university enrolment will grow until 1975 and then taper off.

IN SCHOOL LONGER

But prosperity, improvements in public education, a trend toward spending longer at school and expanded opportunities could combine to raise the proportion of young people in higher education. At present, about nine per cent of children who start elementary school enter university and about six per cent of them graduate with a degree.

CONTINUED GROWTH

Enrolment at universities across Canada climbed to 129,000 last year, an increase of 14,000 from 1961. Graph shows annual post-war enrolment and estimated 143,000 students this the sharp growth since 1954. Increase in the late 1940s came with the return of war veterans. (CP Newsmap.)

Forecasts of future university needs in Canada are adjusted almost annually as actual enrolment continues to outstrip predictions.

Edward F. Sheffield of the Canadian Universities Foundation in Ottawa worked out forecast surveys in 1955, 1959 and 1961 and all of them have been outdated by events.

DBS figures for last year's university enrolment gave a total of 129,894. The Sheffield forecasts for that year first predicted 103,500, then 118,950 and finally—in 1961, before actual enrolment was published—124,-300. His latest prediction for this year was 137,000.

BUILDING BOOM

While fact often confounds the most painstaking forecasts, university leaders now seem to be girding to deal with problems of accommodation such as beset them in the years of second-rate public authorities during the last decade.

A university that is not undergoing an almost desperate building program at the moment is a rarity. Annual capital expenditure by Canadian universities totals an estimated $75,000,000.

New universities are being founded and small colleges are being forced to expand.

In New Brunswick, Université Saint-Louis, founded in 1946, is growing while such other schools as St.-Joseph's and St. Thomas' are expanding. Memorial University in Newfoundland made room for more students with the opening of a new campus a year ago.

The University of Sherbrooke in Quebec, founded eight years ago, is enrolling some 4,000 students now.

NEW ONTARIO SCHOOLS

In Ontario, Laurentian University at Sudbury and York University in Toronto both were opened in 1960. Laurentian, with 277 enrolled this year, plans to accommodate 1,200 when a new campus is complete in 1964. York, with 339 students now, is planning a new suburban campus for the 10,000 mark, when neighbouring U. of T. expects to reach its planned maximum of 27,500.

Assumption University and Essex College will unite into a bigger, church-backed University of Windsor next year and the new Trent University will be launched at the same time in Peterborough. The Niagara Peninsula is making plans to build Brock University.

In Western Canada, the four provincial universities are expanding hometown facilities and branch campuses amid discussion about opening new branches in other centres.

But university leaders continue to shout anxious frowns and call for even greater efforts. They point out that Canada spends about four per cent of its gross national product on all forms of education while the Soviet Union spends 12 per cent.

OTTAWA (CP)—The appearance on the federal political scene of a new Quebec lieutenant to Prime Minister Diefenbaker may coincide with efforts to rejuvenate the Progressive Conservative party in British Columbia.

The man political pundits have picked as Mr. Diefenbaker's right hand man in French Canada is Jean-Jacques Bertrand, 46, former Union Nationale cabinet minister in Quebec whose political views have clashed with those of his present chief, Daniel Johnson.

Mr. Bertrand has described as "unfounded" press reports which quoted informants as saying he has accepted the offer of a cabinet post in the Diefenbaker government. Mr. Bertrand was re-elected to the Quebec legislature a week ago.

MAY NOT FEEL FREE?

Nevertheless there is considerable talk of such a move among Conservatives here who suggest he may not feel free to say more on a subject about which Mr. Diefenbaker has remained silent publicly.

The speculation about Mr. Bertrand coincides with the renewal of talk that Works Minister Fulton is considering bowing to pressure to lead the Conservatives in his home province of British Columbia.

Both matters came before the Commons Wednesday. Mr. Diefenbaker smiled without replying when Douglas Fisher (CCF—Port Arthur) asked whether the prime minister is considering bringing Mr. Bertrand into his cabinet.

Some Conservatives consider it significant that he did not deny the reports outright. He seemed to display more pleasure than annoyance.

A few minutes earlier, Mr. Fulton, object of a leadership draft campaign which he has not completely ruled out, was asked by H. W. Herridge (NDP—Kootenay West) whether his announced trip to B.C. this weekend is "in the process of laying the foundation for a new public building or a new political career?"

REPLY CUT OFF

The reply was cut off by Speaker (Marcel) Lambert just later Mr. Fulton said he had intended to inform Mr. Herridge that his trip was to open a new building in Salmon Arm, B.C., in his constituency.

Conservative party sources indicated that Mr. Fulton is under considerable pressure on two fronts—from the "Draft Fulton" group in B.C. and from men who regard him as an ultimate national leader.

The latter group are said to be undecided on whether a move to the B.C. leadership would injure the 46-year-old works minister's chances of the national leadership.

His B.C. visit will include Wednesday night in Salmon Arm and comes within a fortnight of the B.C. Conservative convention at which a group has said it will propose him as leader.

Red China's Plans Put Nehru in Difficult Spot

By CARMAN CUMMING
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Whatever the reasons for Communist China's announced decision to halt its advance on the Indian frontier—and it has been called everything from a dramatic turnaround to obvious trickery—the action has put India's Prime Minister Nehru in a difficult position.

If he rejects outright the Chinese proposals for new talks, he must accept these results:

1. Probable renewal of fighting with an enemy of proven toughness, with no assurance that it will improve India's position.

2. Criticism from India's non-aligned allies for not responding to Peking's peace gesture, and the possible collapse of India's policy of refusing with the acceptance of Western arms.

3. Scrapping of cherished full effort into the conflict with plans for economic improvement as the country throws its China.

HARD TO ACCEPT

On the other hand, if Nehru accepted the Chinese proposals it would mean a backdown—with serious loss of prestige—from his stand that India would not negotiate until the Chinese pull back to positions held Sept. 8.

While India appears to have little to gain from fighting long, its citizens are fully aroused against the Chinese and will take kindly to anything resembling defeat.

A possible way out lies in Nehru's statement that any negotiations would be in stages, with the first stage designed only to create conditions under which formal negotiations might be held.

This would allow time for passions to cool, creating a better climate for give and take.

HOLD LADAKH AREA

The Chinese offer, similar to proposals made in 1959 and again on Oct. 24, is to pull back on the eastern end of the border while holding the 12,000 square miles at the western end, in the Ladakh section of Kashmir, that it seized in campaigns of 1957-58.

China has built a strategic road linking Tibet and Sinkiang provinces through this barren territory. Some observers think consolidation of control in that area is Peking's immediate objective.

But this would leave the question of why China would undertake a costly campaign at one end of the border and then give up its gains simply to get firm control of an area at the other end which it already, in fact, controlled.

Some observers consider the cease-fire is designed only to lull India into a false sense of security until a new drive is prepared. Another theory is that the halt was ended as a way to open a break with Russia which has vigorously opposed the fighting.

There is considerable evidence to back up this last suggestion. Attributes given the two Communist giants has increased in bitterness in recent weeks and there is every reason to believe that Russia has put strongest pressure on China to end the fighting.

Liberal Senator Raps PCs On Views on Powers

OTTAWA (CP)—Liberal Senator J. W. de B. Farris said Wednesday legislation proposed by the minority Progressive Conservative government and supported by the Social Credit party to keep the government in power "is holding but an unholy alliance."

He said in the Senate throne speech debate that "if the legislation is not passed the country of two unmarried parents, it comes from an unholy alliance, and there is a well-known word which describe the offspring of such a union."

Senator Farris, a Vancouver lawyer, was replying to recent speeches by two Progressive Conservative senators challenging the Senate opposition's contention that it must scrutinize legislation from the Commons more carefully now that a minority government is inpower.

The opposition's action on Commons legislation was outlined in the Senate early in October by Government Leader Ross Macdonald. Senator Macdonald's arguments later were challenged by Senator Walter McCutcheon, minister without portfolio. Senator M. Grattan O'Leary of Ottawa.

ARGUMENT, 'ILLOGICAL'

The two Conservative senators argued that legislation reaching the Senate from the Commons has been passed by a majority of members of the lower house. It deserved no more or less attention from the present Parliament than from any of the previous 24 Parliaments.

Senator Farris said the two senators had presented an illogical argument.

CMHC Accepts Bids, Options On $30,000,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation has accepted firm bids or options on $30,000,000 of six and 6¾-per-cent National Housing Act mortgages from its own portfolio.

Works Minister Fulton made the announcement of the sale, made Tuesday, in the Commons Wednesday. The sale—the sixth offering by CMHC in about a year—should help in creating a Canadian market for the purchase and sale of existing NHA mortgages.

In the sale, by tender, the government housing agency had offered $30,000 worth of mortgages arranged in blocks according to specific centres across Canada. However, a limited acceptances to $30,000,000. This limit was entirely taken up by investors.

Mr. Fulton said the average price of the firms bids and options on the six-percent mortgages was $97.20—that is, $97.20 for each $100 of mortgage principal. The total sale of such mortgages was $18,250,000.

Of the $11,750,000 in 6¾-per-cent mortgages, the average accepted price was 102.26.

At the same time, Mr. Fulton reported, options exceeded firm bids. The options totalled $18,000,000 and the firm bids $11,500,000.

ANOTHER FLIGHT FROM CHINESE REDS—A Tibetan mother holds up her baby with other refugees for a ferry across the Brahmaputra River near Tezpur, Assam, as they fled advancing Chinese Reds. Queen Sends Message to Empire Games

PERTH, Australia (CP) Prince Philip, before officially opening the seventh British Empire Games here today, read a message of good wishes from the Queen.

The message said:

"I send my very best wishes for the success of the seventh British Empire and Commonwealth Games.

"Athletes from 35 Commonwealth countries are about to engage in events through friendly rivalry. I am sure that no quarter will be asked or given. I am equally sure, however, that the personal friendships which will be made in Perth during the next two weeks will serve to strengthen and sustain the links which bind our family of nations together."

National Hates, Emotional Rivalries Are Disappearing Among European Nations

Ancient hatreds have bloodied Europe for centuries. Now, under the menace of communism, the old animosities are tumbling down and the states draw closer to unification. And if it's more a marriage of reason than love, at least it's a marriage, reports Richard Lyons of the Associated Press in this third story of a four-part series on Europe's boom.

By RICHARD O'REGAN

Now their world is opening up and their national hates and emotional rivalries are disappearing.

Millions of Germans—not all, of course—can now think of the French as dirty, erotic and decadent. They saw some attractions in French culture, but more often than not Paris was Montmartre, the Moulin Rouge and the Can-Can—a city of sin and brothels.

The French on the other hand saw the German as semi-humanized much to the world in the way of music and philosophy, but there was an inclination to regard the "Boche" as bullheaded, arrogant and conceited. The Hitler murderers only bolstered such French convictions.

Today, 17 years after the war, national prejudice is still strong and persuasive.

In the mass, however, Europeans appear to be more aware in the last 10 years that prejudice is a dead duck. They seem to have come a long way, in the nuclear age, Western Europe has only one way to go. That is to abandon national bias and work together.

CHANGE CONCEPT

Instead of their negative attitudes toward each other, a great many Europeans have substituted a positive concept: Unite Europe, but preserve our national cultures and differences.

This correspondent, on a tour of Western Europe, talked to government leaders, sociologists, industrialists, priests, farmers, miners, students and the inevitable man in the street.

They backed up completely the conclusions of the limited number of public opinion polls which have been made on the subject: Europeans want to forget and are forgetting the hates of the past.

Professor Bartholomeus Landheer, an eminent Dutch sociologist and head of the Peace Library in The Hague, summed it up:

"What has happened is that West European nations haven't any real power struggles among themselves any more. The colonies are almost gone. There is nothing much to quarrel about. Now we see we have to work together."

It used to be said that the Austrians hated the Czechs, the Czechs hated the Hungarians, the French hated the Dutch, the Yugoslavs hated the Greeks and so on—but everybody hated the Germans. And the greatest disagreement was that between France and Germany.

"We have forged a marriage of reason," said a French historian. "This does not mean that we are falling over each other in love. But we have joined together to wipe out the eternal means of war on the Rhine."

APPLAUD DE GAULLE

France's General de Gaulle put it this way during a recent tour of Germany in which he was cheered, applauded and welcomed almost as a long-lost brother:

"There will go by and the wounds will be healed, but the wounds are deep and the healing will be long."

If you tour Europe, you still can hear traces of bitterness in many places against the Germans.

"I can never forget what the Germans did to us Dutch," said a Netherlands diplomat.

"I cannot forget what they did to my Jewish relatives," said a young Belgian girl.

"Those Germans," said a French manufacturer, "they still live like drug driver hard—headedly and brutally. They take the right of way, step on the gas and run over anybody in their way."

DEAD ISSUE

On the other hand, a French teacher said:

"In my class Hitler is a dead issue. Only the British seem to want to keep him alive. My students travel to Germany and find their contacts extremely friendly and eager to know about France. Neither group seems to fear that they are going to have to face each other across the trenches again one day."

Jean Deloire, a 19-year-old son of a Belgian miner, said: "If there is any resentment still, it is with the older generation, not with us."

The great upsurge in travel and the international exchange of people and labor in Europe is helping to increase understanding.

Said a German factory manager:

"Since my boy went hitchhiking in France, he thinks French art, movies, plays and manners are the only culture left in Europe."

You can, in fact, hear some young students say:

"We're Europeans first, French, Germans or Dutch only second."

CNR President Questioned On Trucking

OTTAWA (CP)—Donald Gordon's annual appearance before the Commons railway committee enters its third day today with no end in sight, despite attempts by Progressive Conservative members to speed up the proceedings.

After Wednesday's sitting, the committee approved nearly about half of the 1961 CNR annual report, made public last March. Still to come was the 1962 CNR budget forecasting a $48,300,000 deficit, the sixth in a row.

Wednesday's discussions went over the same ground covered in the first day.

Much of the discussion has centred on the CNR's rapidly-expanding venture into trucking. The publicly-owned railway has taken over six private long-haul trucking firms in recent years and signed contracts with 1,100 short-haul truckers to expand local services.

EXPRESS FEARS

Bobby McDonald (PC—Hamilton South) and other Conservatives expressed fears that the CNR is trying to "take over the trucking industry" with the help of tax funds. Mr. McDonald said Conservatives were against government control of still more private sectors of the economy.

Mr. Gordon denied that the CNR plans to turn into a major trucking concern. The objective was to reduce the CNR deficit with profitable sidelines and to provide faster, more efficient transportation.

"The CNR is not a socialist experiment," he said. His corporation was run along private enterprise principles and elected similar competition.

He dismissed suggestions that the CNR was less efficient.

The CNR was operated in the red because its hands were tied by regulations, he said. Freight rate cuts would result only when the CNR was allowed to bring money-losing services and concentrate on long - distance freight traffic.

De Gaulle 72

PARIS (Reuters) — President de Gaulle celebrated his 72nd birthday today in the wake of two overwhelming political successes.

Last month, de Gaulle defied the feeble political parties and took his plan to elect future presidents by popular vote to the people from them he received decisive support in a country-wide referendum.

In keeping with de Gaulle's traditional wishes, no official notice was taken of his birthday. However, many telegrams of good wishes poured into the presidential palace from his admirers.

Peace River District Scene Of Biggest Homestead Rush Since Second World War

EDMONTON (CP)—The vast, rugged Peace River district of northwestern Alberta, a land rich in timber, forests and minerals, is the scene of the greatest homestead rush in Canada since the Second World War.

It's the fifth time in 50 years that settlers, many of them lured with glamorous misconceptions of what lies ahead, have surged into the area.

Despite caution by government planning to control settlement and ensure that modern-day pioneers have a fair chance of success, up to 40 per cent failure will result.

"Sometimes a lot of glamor clouds the hard, tedious facts of life in the Peace River," says V. A. Wood, director of lands for Alberta. "We try to outline to applicants just what they will face. Often we tell them that if they have the money, buying a farm in a settled area would be a better risk."

The Peace River country, a 50,000,000-acre area that lies 200 miles northwest of here between latitudes 55 and 59 N and west of longitude 114, spilling into northeastern British Columbia, includes 10,000,000 acres of arable land. About 5,000,000 acres are unsettled.

BUILD ROADS

The provincial government has been under pressure to open this land to settlement more rapidly, but has resisted on the policy of uniform settlement in different areas of the province's districts. It has allowed settlement only after the land is surveyed and tests are completed to prove suitability for cultivation. As well, no land is opened to homestead where marketable timber stands nor where the cost of clearing exceeds $30 an acre.

Construction of a new line by the Canadian National Railways from Roma, Alta., 300 miles northwest of here, 425 miles from Edmonton to Hay River, N.W.T., together with a desire by persons raised on farms to own their own land has sparked the latest interest.

There also is a shortage of homestead land in other areas of the province, says F. W. Bryenton, supervisor of homesteads.

PSYCHOLOGICAL NEED

Hon. Norman Willmore, Alberta minister of lands and forests, says:

"There seems to be a psychological factor motivating many of the settlers. This is especially true among professional people, who really have no interest in farming, but who have applied for land in the Peace River.

"Many have told me they always wanted to own and cultivate a piece of land and the Peace River offers them that opportunity. Quite often there is a tradition of farming in their family background.

"And we know too, following dry conditions recently experienced by southern farmers, there always is a demand for land in northwestern districts."

MOVES MATURE FARMERS

Up to the end of October 1,900 homestead applications were approved by the department, about double the number for the previous year. About half were homestead leases, where payment is made on a crop-share basis after the third year, and the remainder homestead sales where payment begins after the third year and normally continues for 15, 20 or 25 years. Only Canadian citizens can eventually obtain title to the land.

Though the frost-free period is short, longer summer days and lower altitudes permit faster maturing of crops. At Fort Vermilion, about 400 miles northwest of here and considered the northern limit for successful farming, seeding is 10 days later than in southern Peace River and central Alberta areas. However, crops normally can begin up to five days earlier.

FIRST SETTLEMENT

The first settlement was in 1910-11-12. Land was broken by hand and little more than five acres a year could be cleared. Construction of the Northern Alberta Railway from Edmonton sparked the next boom in 1916 and 1920.

BOOM TO CONTINUE

When school enlistment lands were transferred to the province from the federal government and became available for homestead in 1928, a third land rush began.

A hiatus of 25 years followed before veterans of the Second Word War, granted priorities, sparked the 1958 rush.

"Until two years ago interest again lagged. But applications this year outstripped available land," said Mr. Willmore. "There's little sign of a letup and we believe it will continue for several years."

Three major highways and a network of market roads dot the area. The new Great Slave Railway, which was started this year, primarily was initiated to tap rich ore deposits at Pine Point on the Northwest Territories.

But it will provide an economic outlet for district produce, especially the northern areas.

The first shipments of grain, from Manning, Alta., 56 miles from Roma, were started on the completed portion of the line this fall.

Red China Wheat Pact Draws Bark But No Bites

OTTAWA (CP)—The Liberal and Social Credit parties appear to be backing away from the Red China wheat agreement without actually biting it.

Neither party has yet taken a firm decision of just what the agreement says.

In both cases, it is taken as a reflection of concern in both the Prairies that the wheat farmer isn't concerned about what goes into the product as long as he sells it.

But he would be greatly concerned if any effort were made to forced publication of a document, jeopardizing future sales.

This attitude is expected when it comes from the most homogenous political area in Canada where 48 House of Commons seats tend to be influenced substantially by wheat and other grains.

HOPE FOR GAINS?

Since the Progressive Conservatives hold all of the 48 seats, it seems essential for the Liberals to hope for some Prairie gains whenever the next election comes.

Liberal members from some urban ridings have been critical in the Commons about the mobility of selling wheat to Red China when India is under attack.

The most consistent critics have been Quebec Social Credit members.

Last session the Liberals tried twice to have the document itself tabled. They drew voting support from the New Democratic Party.

Surgeon Chosen As Principal Of McGill U.

MONTREAL (CP)—A surgeon has been appointed to succeed one of the world's best known educationists as principal of McGill University.

He is a tremendous pair of shoes to fill," Dr. C. Rocker Robertson, 50, said at a press conference Wednesday night. He became McGill's 11th principal in 133 years.

Dr. F. Cyril James, principal of McGill since 1939, retires Dec. 1 to give more time to the International Association of Universities, of which he was elected president in 1960.

Winnipeg Student Collects Reptiles and Tropical Fish

WINNIPEG (CP)—Tom Vincent likes reptiles and he's got a crocodile, or maybe an alligator, in his basement to prove it.

The 15-year-old schoolboy says the toothy 3½ - foot monster named Smiley is the pride of his offbeat collection of reptiles, amphibians and tropical fish.

Tom, shy, tall and bespectacled, began collecting the weird-looking animals after he got a turtle for a ninth birthday present. Now he values the collection at $1,000.

Most of the 99 or 60 species live in tanks or enclosures in the basement of the Vincents' Winnipeg home.

But a 24-inch iguana lizard named Iggy and a box tortoise hang around with the family upstairs.

LIKES TURKEY

"But when my mother's cat nasts club comes," Tom says, "the iguana has to go down to the basement."

Iggy is bright green, formerly lived in the tropics and now thrives on insects, plant food and choice bits of roast turkey.

He likes to relax on the end of a halfway up a drape or perched on Tom's typewriter.

When sent to the basement, he joins an assortment of horned toads, newts, chameleons, salamanders, turtles and Smiley.

But Tom says Smiley has the crocodile's pointed snout and it's also more vicious than the average alligator.

Smiley, whatever he is, allows Tom to pick him up out of his water tank heated to a temperature of 85 degrees.

GROWS QUICKLY

"He eats," Tom says nonchalantly, "but I can handle him without gloves. When I put my hands in his tank, he keeps his eye on me all the time."

Only two years old, Smiley grows a foot a year on a diet of raw meat and could reach a length of 10 or 12 feet in captivity.

For the smaller reptiles, Tom raises meal worms, night crawlers and white grubs for food. The fish get manufactured food.

A topnotch mathematics and science student, Tom plans to go on to university and take some sort of science course.

But he also made the grade as 140-pound end on the football team of Churchill High, where he is a Grade 10 student.

Noted Author Pessimistic About Mankind

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Novelist James Jones, who enjoys life hugely himself, feels the human race is a lost cause.

"I'm pessimistic about mankind," he said cheerfully. "I think mankind is a dead race — one way or the other.

"Either he'll be the spaceboard to a greater race that will be as much above present man as man is above the animals, or else he'll kill himself off.

"In either case man—as he is now—goes. The question is not whether to save mankind, but whether mankind has the guts to change."

Jones, a soldier turned author, startled the literary world in 1951 with From Here to Eternity, which sold more than 4,000,000 copies. Critics are now hailing as its able sequel, The Thin Red Line, a new realistic story of combat on Guadalcanal, where Jones himself was wounded.

HE-MAN WRITER

Jim, the most powerful American writer to emerge from the Second World War, looks like his prose sounds. He's a big, ger--thick - chested, muscular, with a chin like a concrete dam.

Now married and the father of a three-yearold daughter, he roams between Paris and the island of Jamaica. He likes to--box, skin dive, and collect guns, knives, jazz records and Indian carvings.

Stubborn, toughly sentimental, he likes to go on occasional binge. But he is a laborious craftsman to whom the production of a novel is usually a lonely, arduous one-man military campaign, lasting from three to four years.

"I don't wait for inspiration—no real writer can," he remarked. "I just sit my behind down at the typewriter and work. It takes me an hour to get started. I just sit there until I get geared up. Then I keep at it for five more hours."

General Walker Held Competent To Stand Trial

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—Edwin A. Walker, the controversial former army major-general, has been ruled mentally competent to stand trial on charges of seditious conspiracy and inciting an insurrection.

U.S. District Judge Claude F. Clayton, who is an army National Guard brigadier-general, handed down the ruling Wednesday at the end of a two-day hearing to determine whether there was reasonable cause for a mental examination of the 53-year-old Walker.

The lean Texan was arrested here Oct. 1 following the desegregation rioting at the University of Mississippi which killed two persons.

Shortly before Clayton ruled in the Walker case, he ordered Chief U.S. Marshal James Mc-Shane released from the Lafayette county jail. McShane had surrendered to Sheriff Joe Ford on state charges of inciting a riot and breach of peace during the rioting.

UNDER INDICTMENT

McShane and one other person—who has not yet been identified—were indicted last week by the county grand jury after it investigated the rioting which followed the arrival of Negro James H. Meredith on the university campus.

The judge set no date for Walker's trial. He accepted a mental test given Walker earlier this month at Dallas, Tex.

The judge said the examination made by Dr. Robert L. Stubblefield, professor at the Southwestern Medical School in Dallas, "was essentially negative. No opinion was expressed. It did not say whether he was sane or insane."

Clayton added that from his observation of Walker's behavior while testifying Wednesday he "found that this man is competent" to aid in his defence of such criminal charges as may be presented.

WILL APPEAL

Clyde J. Watts of Oklahoma City, Okla., one of Walker's four lawyers, said Clayton's decision in placing the mental test in the case record would be appealed. Walker said afterward he felt he had been subjected to a great injustice.

Clayton, recently chosen to command the 31st (Dixie) division of Mississippi and Alabama National Guardsmen, expressed the greatest respect for Walker's military career.

During his testimony, Walker said he had been misquoted in reports saying he described former president Harry S. Truman and others as Communists.

"I had not mentioned President Truman or called anyone a Communist," said Walker.

Clayton said he would hold a hearing for McShane late in January. The justice department claimed McShane was "doing duties as a federal official" on the university campus.

Give Macdonald Task of Making Kenya Free

By TOM OCHILTREE

LONDON (AP)—The British government has handed Malcolm Macdonald a tough colonial assignment—to remove the fuse from explosive Kenya.

Macdonald will take over in January as governor of that harsh and beautiful east African country. He will go with a free hand to guide Kenya in nationhood along the path of orderly self-government.

Macdonald, a self - confident and talkative man of 61, has his work cut out for him.

Kenya is 224,960 square miles of mountains, jungles, arid plains, lush farms and fast-growing cities. It includes within its borders most of the problems of Africa—tribal and racial tensions, land hunger, excessive nationalism and some left-wind political penetration.

COVET WHITE FARMS

Many of its 6,500,000 people are eager for freedom. Some of the Africans covet the farms of the white settlers in the highlands. Europeans, Asians and Arabs make up minority groups with little in common with each other.

Macdonald's experience is unique in British public life. The son of the late prime minister Ramsay Macdonald has served in government posts of one sort or another either at home or overseas for 31 years. He was a colonial secretary before the Second World War.

He left Parliament in 1941. His assignments after that included the posts of high commissioner to Canada, governor general in Malaya, commissioner general for Southeast Asia, high commissioner to India and British co-chairman of the Laos conference in Geneva.

Call Is Issued For New Talks On Disarming

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Rocket Richard, the goost of the Czechoslovakian governament, sat in the Prague ice stadium the night the Belleville McFarlands defeated Russia and made a prediction.

Many of us thought the great French Canadien star was perhaps "favoring" his hosts and their counterparts in appreciation of hospitality. He was not.

Said the Rocket: "There will come a day when European hockey teams will be ready to play our National League clubs—and the day might not be far distant."

He was impressed with the play of the Russian and Czech clubs but more impressed with their potential. "Give them a few years—and you will be surprised at what they will do," he said.

Some of the more rabid North American people there thought there were holes in the Richard chapeau—and he was using them as a vocal outlet.

That was in 1959. This is 1962 and a Russian team of 36-year-old schoolboys are making monkeys out of the alleged best "amateurs" that Ontario, at least, can produce.

Sports editor Bob Hanley of the Hamilton Spectator, summed it up the other night after the puck-chasing tots scrambled almost skated and played a packed Hamilton Red Wings team out of the arena.

He wrote:—"If Father David Bauer had been at the Forum last night, he might have been shocked out of the delusion that a team of semi-pro amateur collegians could ever become worthy Canadian contestants against the Russians in world hockey."

"The Russians are pros," Hanley wrote, "sustained in one way or another by the state—and they have now attained the speed and skill of pros. Against a stacked Red Wings club, they proved they can now handle a team of American League calibre, and that it won't be long before they'll be a match for a team of the National Hockey League."

It was the general consensus of top hockey men present that the Russians have learned, and are learning some of the "fine points" of the Canadian style. They are learning to mix-it-up a little, learning to hand out physical punishment while not surrendering their playmaking or allowing damage to their pass patterns.

They are learning skilful little ways of bunting, boarding, elbowing in just such degrees that they manage to escape penalties. They seemed to have learned all the Canadian ways of being a little rough and getting away with it.

In short they have adopted—and well—the very tactics that earned for Canadian teams playing in world tournaments in Europe since they began, the names of "western hoodlums" and other sobriquets that filled the European press in tourney times.

And in Bob Hanley's opinion:—"the dilemma now is whether Canada should compete in world hockey play. The Russians have made a travesty of the amateur rules —and are now pros. Worse still, they now have the ability of pros and they will easily humiliate any patchwork squad of ex-pros and 'shamateurs' that Canada can assemble."

"It has reached the point now," says Hanley, "where we either pit our pros against theirs or stay at home. Sending a squad of part-time amateur collegians to compete against the team that played here is simply complimenting the Russians by playing our third best against their very best."

The Russian topmen who trained, coached and master-minded former Soviet International teams, apparently imparted at the calibre of the Canadian opposition, asked what had become of such fine clubs as the Kitchener Dutchmen, Whitby Dunlops and Belleville McFarlands. When asked if they had had any special training for the current tour they promptly squelched their questioners with:

"Why ask us? We learned everything from the Canadians in the first place.

Belated Blasts Spark Bombers' Win

By GRAHAM COX

WINNIPEG (CP) — Terrible, terrible, terrible."

The words came from coach Bobby Dobbs and neatly summed up the situation in which his Calgary Stampeders found themselves Wednesday night. They had a rough time.

The Stamps were only one game away from entering their first Grey Cup classic in 13 years but were jolted by a 19-11 loss to Winnipeg Blue Bombers that deadlocked the Western Football Conference final series at one game apiece.

Dobbs was referring to the bitter weather and strong wind at Winnipeg Stadium, but his remarks could have been applied to other Stampeder predicaments.

They could have meant the game - winning touchdown in the fourth quarter by Winnipeg quarterback Kenny Ploen and halfback Lou Kirouac. Or they could have meant the Stamps' inability to utilize the mile-an-hour wind in the third quarter when they managed only one point.

The Stampeders led 4-0 after the first quarter and 10-7 at the half. They pulled ahead 11-7 after three quarters but were unable to contain the ball-control ground game of the defending Canadian champions in the final session.

STAMPS WIN OPENER

The Stampeders won the opener of the best-of-three series 20-14 in Calgary Saturday in such convincing fashion they appeared well on their way to a Grey Cup entrance against the east in Toronto, Saturday, Dec. 1.

But the Western windup will go down to the wire with a third skirmish here Saturday. The game, to be televised over the CTV network, starts at 3:30 p.m. CST.

Calgary got a second-quarter touchdown from halfback Jim Dillard, three singles by flanker Larry Robinson on missed field goals and a punt single each from Jim Furlong and Harvey Wylie.

Ploen got away more passes than in the series opener and the return to form of fullback Charlie Shepard helped the Bombers.

Ploen and Lewis completed seven of 17 passes for 118 yards and the team blasted out 204 yards on the ground in 21 first downs.

GAINS 78 YARDS

Of the total ground yardage, Shepard picked up 78 yards on 12 carries, while Lewis gained 53 on 8 carries and fullback Roger Nelsberg 30 on 5 carries.

Calgary recorded only eight first downs with 70 yards on the ground and 37 in the air as quarterback Eagle Day and Wylie completed five of 21 tosses.

Fullback Earl Lunsford picked up all but six of Calgary's rushing yards, including a 25-yard blaze at the start of the third quarter that set up Dillard's three-yard touchdown plunge.

A 62-yard pass to end Farrell Funston early in the final quarter led to Ploen's five - yard sweep for a touchdown.

A display of ball control that carried the Bombers from their own 23-yard line in 11 plays highlighted Lewis' five - yard dive to score.

Bow To Rangers 4-2

Bruins Lose But Show New Life

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

On the record, Milt Schmidt has failed his first test as new coach of Boston Bruins.

But Braves' gave signs they might be a new team under Schmidt in their 4-2 loss Wednesday night to New York Rangers. Without pudgy goalie Gump Worsley and iron man Andy Hebenton, the score might have been different.

Boston bombed Worsley with 42 shots in their sharpest game of the NHL season to date. Rangers had 32 shots on rookie goalie Ed Johnston of Bruins.

Worsley was magnificent, particularly in the first period when he made 15 saves to keep the score a 1-1 tie.

Then in the second, Hebenton sparked a three-goal outburst by Rangers' first line of himself, centre Earl Ingarfield and Camille Henry, winger Andy Bathgate.

Rangers coasted to the 4-2 win from there, holding Bruins to one goal in the third period.

Hebenton, who scored the winning goal and assisted on another, tied a club durability record for playing 503 games without a miss. Schmidt was playing his 508th consecutive regular-season game since entering the NHL in 1935, tying a club record set by Murray Murdoch for consecutive play from 1929 to 1936.

The loss was the last-place Bruins' 14th straight winless game. Schmidt was named to replace Phil Watson on Monday.

TRAIL HABBS BY TWO

The win gives the fifth-place Rangers 14 points, only two less than Montreal Canadiens. New York meets Bruins in a return-match tonight, this time in Boston.

Canadiens play in Detroit, currently atop the league standings with 23 points, and Toronto Maple Leafs, in third spot with 19 points, play in Chicago in a contest that could move them into a second-place tie with the Hawks, who have 18 points.

In Wednesday night's contest, veteran centre Camille Henry opened scoring at the three-minute mark of the first period with his seventh goal of the season. Tom Williams, Boston's 21-year-old right winger, tied the score four minutes later.

Ingarfield gave New York a 2-1 lead at nine minutes of the second period, and Hebenton scored the eventual winner at the 15-minute mark. Bathgate fired home the insurance goal on a pass from Hebenton a minute later.

For Rangers, it was the third victory in their last four games. It was also the first time this season they have put two wins together.

Snap Unbeaten String

Bulldogs Whip Russians 9-2

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Windsor Bulldogs put an end Wednesday night to the hopes of the touring Russian national hockey team for an undefeated sweep by trouncing the visitors 9-2 in an exhibition hockey game.

It was the Russians' first loss in five games of their nine-game Canadian tour. The Bulldogs are tied for first place in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series.

The irwin Gross-Bob Brown-Tommy Walker line set a sizzling pace for Windsor, each scoring two goals. Real Cherpeffils, a former National Hockey League player, scored twice and Lou Bendo added the other goal.

Defenceman Edouard Ivanov and centre Vyacheslav Starshinov were the Russian scorers. Both goals came in the second period when the Russians were able to hold their own.

Exceptional fore-checking and back-checking by Windsor kept the Russians off balance most of the game. They were seldom able to mount sustained drives on goaltender Monty Reynolds as Windsor held a 29-20 edge in shots on goal.

With a crowd of 3,333 roaring approval, Windsor drove into a 3-0 lead in the first period.

When Brown deftly tipped in Walker's pass after 50 seconds of the last period there was no doubt of the outcome. The Bulldogs had the Russians completely disorganized in the last 10 minutes.

The Soviet squad plays in Toronto Friday night and visits Montreal Sunday to meet the Junior Canadiens. They then go to Iroquois Falls against the defending Ontario Senior champions, Kapuskasing Kaps, before winding up the tour in Niagara Falls.

Andy Hebenton who scored the winning goal and assisted in another to spark New York's number one line in a three-goal second period assault on Boston.

Rangers now have scored the highest number of goals in the league—53—but have also allowed the most, 62. In contrast, first-place Detroit has scored only 46 goals, allowing 50 to be scored on goalie Terry Sawchuk.

May Trade Runnels

Bosox Have Worry

BOSTON (AP) — Now that Boston Red Sox have acquired the right-handed power they have needed so long—slugging first baseman Dick Stuart—two questions remain.

1. What do the Red Sox do with their present first baseman who happens to be Pete Runnels, 1960 American League batting champion?

2. Will Stuart, a controversial fellow, use Fenway Park's notoriously chummy left-field wall (315 feet) to advantage or disadvantage before Boston's often critical fans?

Though Johnny Pesky didn't say so Wednesday while commenting on the trade, the newly named Red Sox manager left the impression that Runnels will be traded this winter.

Runnels, 35, also plays second base but Boston has young Chuck Schilling well installed there. Thus, Runnels' trading value might be more than his worth as a utility man.

MAY BE BETTER

Stuart, 30, had a horrendous year with Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League last season. But he says he expects to return to his 1961 form now that he's in a smaller park. Two years ago Stuart hit 35 homers and drove in 117 runs.

The Red Sox gave up pitcher Don Schwall and catcher Jim Pagliaroni to get Stuart and relief pitcher Jack Lamabe in the inter-league trade announced Wednesday.

"I was happy with the Pirates," Stuart said. "But I wasn't happy with that deep outfield in Forbes Field. It's going to be much easier on me mentally in Fenway Park.

"I've always thought that pound-for-pound I can be a great home run hitter, but I'd never realize that potential in a big park like Forbes Field."

Wales Blanked By England

LONDON (AP)—England defeated Wales 4-0 in a soccer match Wednesday that marked the end of Walter Winterbottom's 14-year reign as manager and coach of England's national team.

It was the 139th time a Winterbottom-coached team played an international match.

WINGS NAME MANAGER

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Darrell Johnson, 33, a coach last year with Baltimore Orioles, was named manager Wednesday of Rochester Red Wings of the International Baseball League. He succeeds Clyde King, who has been named pitcher coach for St. Louis Cardinals of the National League.

Tigers Claw Rams 7-2

KITCHENER (CP) — Kitchener-Waterloo Tigers tightened up the close race in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A Division for everyone but Sarnia Wednesday night by defeating the winless, last-place Rams 7-2 here.

The victory put the Tigers within three points of first place although they are still in fifth spot.

Right winger Lou Angotti, with three goals, Bobby Forbes with two, Magella Dubois and Don Duke all scored for the winners.

Both Sarnia goals came with the Tigers short-handed. Reg Mulholland opened the scoring with the first and Don Savage got the second to start the final frame.

The Tigers drew seven of 10 minor penalties.

Prince Philip Opens Empire Games

Dazzling Picture

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

PERTH (CP)—Under a brolly-ing sun, Prince Philip officially opened the seventh British Empire Games in this Indian Ocean seaport's new stadium while guns boomed and RAF and RAAF jets mounted overhead in a royal fly-past.

It was six years to the day since Philip opened the 1956 Olympic Games in Melbourne.

Sweltering heat that reached the 90s and pesky bushflies plagued the crowd of some 50,000 who packed the $2,240,000 Perry Lakes stadium in the suburbs of this western Australian city of 500,000.

Athletes of many races, wearing brightly - colored blazers, hats and national costumes, formed a dazzling picture on the green turf of the stadium and as they paraded around the red clay track.

DECLARES OPEN

More than 1,000 athletes and officials from 35 countries took part in the march-past after Philip, as president of the British Empire and Commonwealth Games Federation, declared the Games open.

A 21-gun salute was fired as Philip inspected a guard of honor.

The ceremony got under way at 4:15 p.m. Perth time (3:15 a.m. EST). Two thousand pigeons were released as a salute of seven guns—one for each of the seven Games to date—was sounded.

Fancer Ivan Lund of Australia, competing in his fourth Empire Games, took the oath on behalf of all competitors:

"We declare that we shall take part in the British Empire and Commonwealth Games of 1962 in the spirit of true sportsmanship, recognizing the rules which govern them and desirous of participating in them for the honor of our Commonwealth and Empire and for the glory of sport."

Five countries were absent from the Games including two which played a major role in previous Games—South Africa and India.

South Africa left the Commonwealth last year in the face of condemnation by other Commonwealth leaders of its racial segregation policies, and India, one of the major Asian sports countries, dropped out of the Games because of the China-India border battle. Nigeria, Brunei and Gambia also did not send teams.

WALES LEADS

Wales, host of the 1958 Games at Cardiff, dressed in bright red blazers, led the parade of athletes on the track where a wholesale attack on Empire and possibly world track and field records is expected during the next nine days. The Games end Dec. 1.

Then came Aden followed by the other countries in alphabetical order.

The 72-member Canadian contingent was led by flag-bearer Gordon Dickson, a marathoner from Hamilton, Ont.

The Games attracted thousands of visitors from overseas and the eastern cities of Australia.

Track and field, swimming and boxing events start Friday. Other sports in the Games are cycling, fencing, lawn bowls, rowing, weightlifting and wrestling.

Canadian officials met Wednesday morning at the Games Village and the commandant of the 72-member Canadian team, Jack Davies of Montreal, was cautious in his appraisal of Canada's chances to win some championships.

DARSENEN WORRY

In an interview, Davies cautioned the Canadians not to start counting their gold medals. The carmen are plainly worried about their chances of duplicating their gold - medal performances in the eights in the 1954 and 1958 Empire Games.

Davies said the Canadians undoubtedly have more depth in most sports than any team since the 1938 Games when Canada grabbed 23 gold medals —seven in men's track, one in women's track, two in men's and swimming, one in women's swimming and one each in boxing and wrestling.

"We have two world record-holders on the team but you never know what could happen," Davies said.

Harry Jerome of Vancouver heads the formidable field of sprinters. Jerome, who is the first man in history to share both the world 100-yard and 100-metre records, is shooting for three gold medals—in the 100, 220 and the relay.

Canada's other world record-holder, swimmer Mary Stewart of Vancouver, will try for gold medals in the 100-yard freestyle, 110-yard freestyle, 110-yard butterfly, 440 freestyle relay and 440 medley relay.

Trudeaus, Welbanks Win

City Hockey League

By GAREY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

Trudeau Motors moved into undisputed possession of first place in the City Hockey League last night, and finished the night as the loop's only undefeated club, after whipping Joyce-Rollins Combines 7-3.

Meanwhile Welbanks Motors climbed into the runner-up position by spoiling the Pepsi's and coming back to grab a hard-fought 5-3 victory in the nightcap.

271 took in the action, largest crowd of the season to date. Both games provided good entertainment, with the 7-3 score in the opener hardly a true indication of the play.

Pepsi's and Trudeaus supply the action in one game next week, Welbanks and Joyce-Rollins in the other.

TRUDEAUS 7 JOYCE ROLLINS 3

WELBANKS 5 PEPSI'S 3

The Pepsi's undefeated before last night, looked as if they might run away with this one when Jones, at the 50 second mark, and Trendell, at 5.01, gave them a 2-0 lead.

Mosher fired Brown's rebound into the open side of the net to cut the lead to 2-1 at 5.04 but Pepsi's made it 3-1 on Rowbotham's goal at 8.46. Richards sank a backhander from dead in front at 10.07 and Ethier slid a slow one just inside the post to tie it 3-3 before the end of

The Combines, winless in three starts, opened the scoring early in the first game, on Bryant's deflected backhander, and held the 1-0 lead until midway through the first period. Day and Gary Goyer gave Trudeaus a 2-1 lead by the end of the boat.

Barry Duguid, in the losers' nets, played well but once again the club looked sloppy in it's own end of the rink and failed to finish off a number of good scoring chances around "Turk" Barclay's cage.

Fox snapped home Goyer's pass to make it 3-1 early in the second but Mavety got that back at 3:34. That was the last time that Joyce-Rollins got close. Kellar opened up a 4-2 lead for Trudeaus before the period's end.

A goal by Allen and two more by Kellar made it 7-2 before Retherford closed the scoring at 17.37 of the final period.

The loop-leaders' big scoring line consisted of Gary Goyer between Wayne Fox and "Pug" Kellar, accounting for 12 scoring points. Kellar had three goals and two assists, Goyer, in his first league game, one goal and two helpers, and Fox one goal and a pair of assists.

Ray "Spider" Allen and Junior Day had a goal and assist each while Hugh Petrie drew two assists, Eddie Marneau one.

Larry Mavety, with a goal and assi paced the Combines. Hyalie Bryant and Jim Rutherford also scored, Ron Hull assisting on two and Jackie Elliott on one.

The losers picked up three of the game's five minor penalties:

JOYCE - ROLLINS: Duguid, Feeney, Mavety, Bob Ebnier, Reeves, Pukancik, Taylor, Bryant, Sheridan, Doran, Elliott, R. Hull, St. Louis, Rutherford.

TRUDEAUS: Barclay, Gelsthorpe, Plata, V. Goyer, Day, Marineau, Fox, Kellar, Allen, Petrie, B. Hughes, Cns, G. Goyer, Mann, G. Jones.

Referees—Bill Hurst and J. P. Lamirande.

Wednesday night's Boston-New York game didn't shake up the first six places in the National Hockey League scoring race but moved two more players into a tie for seventh slot.

Boston's John Bucyk picked up one assist to give him 19 points on six goals and nine assists. New York's Andy Bathgate picked up a goal and an assist to give him the same total on the same number of goals and assists.

Alex Delvecchio remains on top with 20 points on five goals and his league-leading 15 assists. Detroit team-mate Parker MacDonald of Sydney, N.S., is second with 18 points on nine goals and the same number of assists. Chicago's Stan Mikita remains in third slot with 17 points on six goals and 11 assists.

Gordie Howe of Detroit, Ab McDonald of Chicago and Bernie Geoffrion of Montreal are tied for fourth place with 16 points.

Henri Richard of Montreal and Bobby Hull of Chicago have now been joined by Bucyk and Bathgate in a tie for seventh place.

ORIOLES BUY COKER

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore Orioles of the American League purchased catcher Jim Coker from Philadelphia Phillies for cash Wednesday. The amount of money was not disclosed. Coker, 26, spent most of the 1962 National League baseball season in the air force. Discharged Aug. 23, he played in only five games.

Pleased With Playful Tabbies

Top Cat Trimble Purrs

HAMILTON (CP)—Hamilton Tiger-Cats had so much zip in practice Wednesday that coach Jim Trimble stopped worrying about the Eastern Football Conference final and started thinking about the Grey Cup game.

Trimble watched the practice then made a surprise trip to Winnipeg to scout the Western Conference playoff game between Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Calgary Stampeders.

The Ticats hold an 11-point lead over Montreal Alouettes going into the second game of their two - game, total - points series here Saturday because of their 23-22 win in the opener last Saturday at Montreal.

Trimble, apparently optimistic the Ticats will qualify for the national final at Toronto Saturday, Dec. 1, arrived at Winnipeg in the second quarter of Wednesday night's game. The Bombers took a 19-11 win to force a deciding game Saturday in the best-of-three Western final.

The Als haven't beaten Ticats in four games this season.

FIVE PLAYERS INJURED

Five Montreal regulars missed a 90-minute workout in the rain Wednesday because of injuries and a sixth was running at only half speed.

Halfback Don Clark, (twisted knee), defensive tackles Ted Elsby (shoulder separation and Bobby Jack Oliver (rib injury) and defensive halfbacks Billy Wayte (twisted knee) and Barrie Hansen (slight ankle sprain) were all injured in Saturday's battle.

Coach Perry Moss said defensive halfback Bobby Lee Thompson, who practised but not with an all-out effort, has aggravated an old charley-horse.

"We'll have to look at them tomorrow," said Moss of his five missing men. "If they're not ready, we'll look again Friday to make any decision on who is going to play."

Picton Jrs. Beaten 8-5 By Kingston

PICTON (Special)—Kingston Frontenacs moved to the top of the OHA Eastern Junior Hockey League standings by downing the Picton Merchants 8-5 for their third win in as many games.

The Frontenacs led 2-0 at the end of the first period and 5-2 after two periods while outshooting the Merchants 56-26. The winners also drew 11 of the game's 17 penalties.

Defencemen Eddy Long and Bob Bruce paced the Kingston attack with three goals apiece. Jim Sprott had a goal and two assists and Ron Reid bagged the other goal.

Harold Haddock scored twice and assisted on two other Picton markers. Dewar Hasmel and Stacey contributed a goal apiece, Larry Perö and Rhodes earning two assists, Brown and Haesnel one each.

Kingston's first two goals came from Long and Bruce in the late minutes of the first period. Long, with another pair, and Reid, made it 5-0 mid-way through the second before Haddock and Dewar potted Picton markers late in the period for a 5-2 count.

After Bruce made it 6-2 in the second minute of the final heat, Picton scored three in a row, by Haddock, Stacey and Haesnel for a tight 6-5 score at the 11:05 mark. Sprott and Bruce saved it up for the Frontenacs.

Bears Tie Aces for Top Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The streaking Hershey Bears, riding a seven-game winning string and benefitting from a sudden Quebec Aces slump, have charged into a tie for the top spot in the Eastern Division of the American Hockey League.

Hershey blanked Pittsburgh Hornets 3-0 on goalie Ed Chadwick's first shutout of the season Wednesday night while Quebec lost its third straight, 4-2 to Buffalo Bisons. The combination allowed Hershey to tie Quebec for the lead, each with 20 points.

Buffalo's victory over Quebec ended a three - game losing streak for the Western Division-leading Bisons. Cliff Schmautz, Johnny McKenzie, Barry Cullen and Gerry Melnyk scored for Buffalo. Skip Burchell and Danny Lewicki got the Quebec goals.

Cleveland and Springfield each scored four times in a hectic third period, with the Barons' Dick Van Impe netting the winner with 2 minutes, 16 seconds left. Fred Glover and John Ferguson each had two for Cleveland goals and Hank Ciesla got the other. Jim Anderson and Wally Boyer each scored twice for Springfield and Gerry Foley added the other Indian marker.

DENIES CLUB'S SALE

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Wayne Valley, major stockholder in Oakland Raiders, said Wednesday he has talked with a New Orleans syndicate representative but flatly denied the American Football League club has been sold. The Raiders have been losers both on the field and at the box office since their formation in 1960.

Port Huron Nips Wolves, Fronts Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Any remaining doubts that the International Hockey League isn't strong enough to play an interlocking schedule with the Eastern Professional League were shattered Wednesday night by Port Huron Flags.

The Flags of the IHL dumped Sudbury Wolves of the EPHL 6-3 at Port Huron, Mich., when Gerry Moore scored with less than two minutes remaining in the game.

It was the first time an IHL team has won a game in the interlocking schedule, even though most of the battles have been close.

In other action, the EPHL's Kingston Frontenacs were saved by a goalpost when they edged Minneapolis Millers of the IHL 5-4 at Kingston.

Ken Saunders of Minneapolis hit the post with two seconds remaining in the game after Nels Leclair, a former Frontenac, had scored for the Millers with 34 seconds left.

Port Huron's win boosted the Flags into a third-place tie in IHL standings and the Wolves remained in third place in the EPHL.

Gerry Goyer Scores Two-and-2

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Los Angeles Blades, leaders in the Western Hockey League Southern Division by two points over Portland, downed Vancouver Canucks, Northern Division leaders, 4-2 at Los Angeles Wednesday night.

Portland handed Edmonton Flyers their ninth consecutive loss by winning 5-1 at Edmonton and Spokane Comets blanked Seattle Totems 3-0 at Spokane.

Ed Stankiewicz and Bob Solinger scored in the third period to give the Blades their win before 10,978 fans. Leo Labine and Fleming Mackell, two former teammates with Boston Bruins in the National League were the other Los Angeles marksmen. Jim Baird and Phil Maloney scored for Vancouver.

In Spokane, goaltender Claude Dufour picked up his third shutout of the year in easy fashion. He had to stop only 16 Seattle shots.

Don Cherry and Gerry Brison were the Comet scorers.

Gerry Goyer, who was running away with the WHL scoring race last year until he was injured, scored two goals and assisted on two others for Portland.

Gry Tessier, a recruit from the Eastern Professional League, also scored twice and the other Buckaroo goal went to rookie Ken Laufman.

Jack McIntyre spoiled Don Head's shutout with a sharp-angled, 30-foot backhander.

Sports Snapshots

By DENNIS ORCHARD

Year after year his passion is rejected but still it grows, fanned by the tantalizing prospect of success.

The B.C. Lions fan has five nine years pined for ultimate victory while hardly daring to discuss the possibility for fear the talk will upset his dream.

It has always played the coquette and it was the same in 1962.

They added two more breakaway men to Willie Fleming's backfield prowess and lugged up with the league's top ground gainer in Nub Beamer. Joe Kapp had his best year in Canadian football, passing for more yardage than any other quarterback in WFC history.

They twice beat the Grey Cup champion Winnipeg Blue Bombers and lost by one point in a third meeting. But the most offence-minded club in Canada often ran afoul at the 10- and 20-yard lines, lost nine games—too many in a year of balanced league power — and finished fourth.

NEW RECORD GATE

Despite the fact five of the nine losses came at home their attendance was a near-record 208,000.

Devotion never flagged in any quarter. How do you explain it?

"There's an exuberance about the West," says general manager Herb Capozzi. "Much more so on the coast than the Prairies. People here do more things, go more places. They're more interested in more things."

"The Prairies are insular. . . . We have the ocean and a cosmopolitan mixture of people."

Capozzi explains falling attendance elsewhere and lack of interest as a failure to make new loyalties.

"Each year you lose some fans, and you go down unless you create and generate new ones. The danger is complacency."

It hasn't happened here. Promotion helps as well as the minor football setup which provides a pool of 5,000 to 6,000 youngsters for new fans.

While Capozzi is concerned with creating those new loyalties, coach Dave Skrien is encouraging on nabbing six men to solve his difficulties, especially in the defensive blackfield.

And if Skrien and his Lions should come through, could this breed of fan ever be spoiled by success?

49 HOURS TOO LITTLE?

BOSTON (AP) — Dr. Paul Dudley White, noted heart specialist, said Wednesday both physical and mental stress are needed to live a normal life and that a 40-hour week is probably "too little for healthy humans."

Quinte Basketball

Wilsons Trim Crawfords

Trenton Wilson-Concrete chalked up its third triumph in a row in Bay of Quinte Basketball League play last night by topping Belleville Crawford Metals 62-56.

As in the earlier games, Wilsons turned on the power in the second half and ran away from the Belleville squad. The winners came up with a 13-man team while Crawfords started out with seven and ended up with four players for the final 1½ minutes, due to fouls.

Crawfords held a 28-22 lead at the game's half-way point but could not contain the Wilson's big scoring guns in the second half.

The losers'—Bert Faulkner, working with a bad toe that prevented him from driving on the basket, held Bob Moore, Trenton scoring ace, to five points in the first half but Moore broke loose for 13 more in the second for a 17-point night. And Faulkner himself was held to just two points.

Teddy Batchelor once again spearheaded the Crawford attack with 23 points, no less than 13 of them coming on free throws. Ron Campbell connected for 13 points, while Sid Forster hooped seven.

Belleville Crawfords (55)—L. Campbell 13; J. Bakker 2; T. Batchelor 23; L. Lange 5; B. Faulkner 2; S. Forster 7; D. MacPherson.

Wilsons (62)—Wilson (65) — J. Nikkifork 4; C. Crews 13; B. Burleigh 19; B. Moore 17; D. Burke, M. Eagan 3; G. Bambers 2; J. Therriault; P. Newsome 2; Whitley, Jeffery 2; W. Whitley 5; M. Fox.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — Brown Panther made a determined stretch run to power out Quintain in the featured Christina Stakes at Old Woodbine before 7,168 fans and take the winner's portion of $1,430 for Stafford Farms.

It brought Stafford farms' seasonal earnings to $239,792, $1,625 of E. P. Taylor's Windfields farm, leading owner for the last six seasons.

The winner was bred by Jack Statford of Toronto and was the stable's 76th winner of the current season.

E. Teeson's Secret Star won the first race and combined with 2-to-1 outsider Gina Might in the second for a daily double return of $276.20.

Defenceman Gary Held scored what proved to be the winning goal, the only one of the middle heat, at 13.23 with the clubs playing five aside. He flipped home Ethier's rebound.

Both goalies, Bob Green of the winners, and the losers' Claude Carr, turned back some great scoring chances in the wide-open action from this point to the end of the game.

Pepsi's never gave up the fight and Green pulled off the save of the night on Gary Hull's bullet shot at the 14-minute mark. The Pepsi's last hopes were shot out the window when Dave Jones drew a tripping penalty and a misconduct at 18.51.

Bucky Ethier sparked the victory by scoring one goal and setting up two more. Stu Muirhead had a goal and assist, Gary Held, Jerry Moher and Norm Richards a goal apiece. Welcar" Brown and Floyd Crawford drew single assists.

The clubs divided six minor penalties and Jones got the misconduct.

400 Birds and Animals Being Cared for at Home

WINNIPEG (CP) — Christopher T. Ridley says he is "interested in all God's creatures" and a dance around the land surrounding his home shows what he means.

On the four-acre Birdwatch Sanctuary here he now has more than 400 birds and animals ranging from a rare albino goose to a ring-tailed monkey.

A small, gentle man, Mr. Ridley has been looking after animals for more than 30 years and now is on his third plot of land.

Each move was to a larger plot because people, including the humane society, kept bringing him more animals and birds injured by human carelessness, their own bad luck or by hunters' guns.

The present sanctuary was once a mink farm and Mr. Ridley lives alone there.

"I have always accepted any bird or animal that has been brought to my attention no matter what condition it was in," he says. "I won't destroy any living thing as long as I can keep it in reasonable health and it is not suffering."

PELICAN IN CHARGE

Mr. Ridley finances his benevolent undertaking by treating privately owned pets and boarding others while their owners are on holiday.

Among his unusual group is an amputee pelican named Joe who lost a wing in an operation after being shot by a hunter. Issy runs the yard as a sort of straw boss to the walking wounded in the cat range.

Mr. Ridley also has a rare pale pink Richardson Isobeline goose—"the type of albino bird that occurs only once in perhaps a million birds."

There are also a pair of Egyptian geese that remain aloof from the other residents.

One of Mr. Ridley's delights is the manner in which almost all the different kinds of fowl get along. He cites the semi-domestic bantams, renowned for their fighting ability, which are used regularly as foster parents for foundling chicks of everything from wild ducks to chickens.

Bob Newhart Is Planning Marriage to Virginia Quinn

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The romanticists would have us believe that there is nothing like having a devoted kidder to spur a man on to achievement.

Nonsense, says humorist Bob Newhart, sharpshooter of many popular legends.

"If I had married when I was 25, I'd still be an accountant in Chicago," says he.

Instead of tending other people's riches, he's minding his own. This is the result of his offbeat immolences about such matters as a public relations man advising Abe Lincoln on his image.

"Until four years ago, I was doing accounting jobs just long enough to afford to do some sketches in radio," Newhart said. "If I had a family to support, I would have stuck to a steady job."

This story has a conclusion that will please those romanticists. Newhart is planning a January wedding to Virginia Quinn, 22-year-old daughter of character actor William Quinn. Newhart waited until he was 33 to take the step.

"I'm sure I can get a couple of monologues out of it," he remarked.

Newhart admitted that marriage will change his life—and for the better. For one thing, he hopes to end his gypsy ways.

COUNTRY A BLUR

He has been on the road most of the time since his television series went off the air last spring. The comedian abhors night clubs, preferring concerts in auditoriums. Flaying them requires quick hops to one-night stands, with the result that the country becomes a blur.

"The audiences are great, especially at the universities," he commented. "But moving from one town to another gets to be a drag."

"I'll have to figure out some way to spend more time here," he said. "I might go into commercials or writing pilot films or just writing. I'll naturally be making less money but that's not so important."

A possibility is another television series. He has been talking to the networks and something may come up.

Newhart offers this post mortem on his NBC series, for which he won an Emmy but not a renewal:

"If I had it to do over again, I'd do it all over again. Maybe I would have added some production values. But the best would have been the same. I think we had good writing. I think the things I could do; it would have been a mistake for me to attempt pratfall comedy."

Files Huge Lien Against New Raceway

OTTAWA (CP)—M. Sullivan and Son Limited of Arnprior, Ont., general contractor of the New Rideau Carleton Raceway here has filed a mechanics lien in the county registry office claiming $817,726 on the race-way property, it was reported Wednesday.

A lien under the Mechanics Lien Act must be filed within 37 days following completion of work or the last supply of material. A firm has 90 days from the completion of work to file a writ for non-payment in the Supreme Court of Ontario.

Decision Expected In Week

Seven Tracks Request Dates

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario racing commission received submissions Wednesday for 1963 harness racing dates, including one from a group that proposes a new track in the Oakville-Milton area between here and Hamilton.

Magistrate S. Tupper Bigelow, commission chairman, said a firm of lawyers from Hamilton is representing the group proposing the race track, which would be called Oakville Downs.

"Their spokesman said the group has been promised 70 nights of racing by the provincial government," Magistrate Bigelow said. "But having chairmen doesn't necessarily mean having racing dates.

Members of the commission will go into session to study the applications for dates. The magistrate said a decision can be expected in a week or 10 days.

Two other new tracks are scheduled for 1963, Mohawk Raceway near the proposed Oakville Downs track and Ojibway Raceway near Windsor, Ont.

Following are the requested dates:

Mohawk Raceway, Campbellville; May 1-June 1, Sept. 2-Sept. 29.

Western Fair Raceway, London: May 20-June 29 or May 27-July 6, Sept. 30-Nov. 9.

Orono: July 2-July 17.

Ojibway Raceway, Windsor: 36 nights, dates undecided.

Oakville Downs, Oakville-Milton: 70 nights.

Five Horses Bring Total Of $10,300

TORONTO (CP)—Gay Bill, a five-year-old trotter, drew the top bid—$3,100—at the first sale Wednesday of the Ontario Harness Horsemen's Association.

Park's five horses sold for a total of $10,300, far above the sale's average of $520. The bid for Gay Bill was made by agent Jack Wheat.

Park sold Gay Robert, a four-year-old pacer, to J. Brown of New Liskeard, Ont., for $2,500 and was paid $2,400 for double-gaited Gay Bett, an eight-year-old mare, bought by agent Gary Campbell of Welland.

All told, 90 standardbreds were sold for $51,530.

Max J. Webster of Brantford picked up $4,300 for the five horses he consigned from his Lynden Hill farm. Webster said he was satisfied with the OHHA's first attempt at a sale.

In the opener, six-foot-six Ravels Salmova utilized her height to score 19 points as the Soviet women defeated the Hutchison Flying Queens of Wayland College from Plainview, Tex.

In a rough game which saw 37 personal fouls called against the U.S. All-Stars, Aleksandr Petrov scored 21 points for the Russian men's team.

The Soviet men have a 4-2 won-lost mark in the tour. The Russian women have won all six of their games.

Minor Hockey

A pair of goals by T. Boulter led the Browns to a 3-2 victory over the Barons in a lone Bantam hockey league game last night.

D. MacDonald fired the first Browns goal, assisted by A. Lusk.

D. Middleton and P. Howe triggered the Baron goals with K. Campbell and G. Cameron earning helpers.

Selkirk Senators New G.M.

Selkirk, 54, a native of Huntsville, Ont., and currently field co-ordinator for Baltimore Orioles, was given a two-year contract as Washington's general manager. His salary was not announced.

He replaces Ed Doherty, fired after the Senators finished in 10th place in the American League for the second year in a row.

Selkirk said he will meet field manager Mickey Vernon Friday to study players who will be available in the major league draft.

"We should come to some agreement over the weekend as to what we need most," he said. "We hope to get two or three players who will help us."

SIGNS FIGHT CONTRACT

TOKYO (AP)—Carlos Ortiz of New York, world lightweight champion, signed a $35,000 contract Wednesday to defend his title against Teruo Kosaka of Japan here on Dec. 3. It will be Ortiz' first title defence since he took the crown from Joe Brown of Houston, Tex., last May. It also will be the first world lightweight bout ever staged in Japan.

To Demonstrate At Home of PM

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Committee of 100, a group opposed to nuclear armament, announced today it plans to demonstrate Saturday at the Ottawa residence of Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

The demonstration is a follow-up to a recent request for removal of Canada's two Bomarc missile bases.

In a letter to the prime minister made public here, the group said it plans to demonstrate in the driveway of 24 Sussex Street and added:

"We realize the possibility of unpleasant consequences to ourselves, but we regard the extinction of mankind as a greater evil than the temporary loss of our own freedom, or money."

Former Pres., Rene Coty, Dies in France

LE HAVRE, France (AP)—Rene Coty, former president of France, died Wednesday night of heart complications following an attack of the flu. He was 80.

Coty served as president of the French Republic from December 1953, until January, 1959, when he was succeeded by President de Gaulle.

Coty was the last president of the Fourth Republic and was instrumental in bringing de Gaulle back to power after the May, 1958, uprising of Europeans in Algiers.

Coty, born in this channel port city, was a lawyer before he entered public life and became a deputy in the National Assembly in 1923. He was a minister of reconstruction and urban affairs in three governments in 1947 and 1948.

The most dramatic moment in Coty's public career came on May, 1958, when France was faced with bloody chaos following the Algiers revolt. Coty, his voice breaking, took to the radio to appeal for calm and order. He was instrumental in bringing de Gaulle back to power, telling the parliament he would stand for no other politician.

He was not related to the Coty family that owns the Coty perfume manufacturing company.

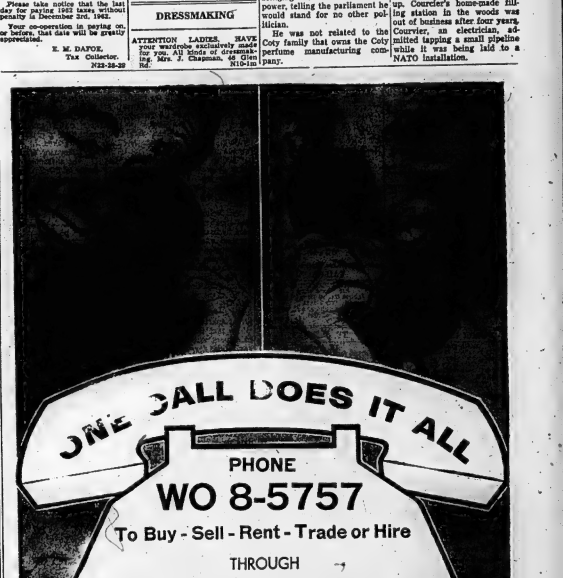
Macabre Words Cause Scare

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—United Airlines officials said Wednesday a male passenger on a flight from Washington, D.C., to Buffalo caused a bomb scare in a conversation with a stewardess.

The stewardess said the man told her:

"What kind of nose do you want in your casket when this thing blows up!"

The man, the airline spokesman said, boarded the four-engined airplane at Baltimore, and was reported to have made the remark prior to the plane's regular landing at Rochester.



There were about 55 passengers aboard the DC-6. All were taken from the plane during a one hour search by airline personnel.

The airline said the man was en route to Buffalo and did not return to the plane after the fruitless search. The flight continued to Buffalo.

The luggage belonging to the man, was under guard at Rochester airport.

JIG IS UP

NANCY, France (AP) — Policemen crouching in the bushes watched 49-year-old Robert Lemetter disappear behind a thicket with an empty gasoline can and reappear in 23 seconds with a full one. The game was up, Courier's home-made filling station in the woods was out of business after four years. Courrier, an electrician, admitted tapping a small pipeline while it was being laid to a NATO installation.

LOSES GOODNESS

Second heating of vegetables increases the loss of vitamins and minerals so any excess is better eaten cold.

HELPS HANDICAPPED — Taxi-driver Gerald Bolisse, who has been chauffeuring handicapped persons for seven years, assists one of his charges to his cab. He is head of the Le Taxi des Handicaps, whose 30 drivers serve seven organizations for the handicapped in Montreal. They are not paid for the extra work involved. (CP Photo).

Chauffeuring Handicapped Persons Requires Strength

MONTREAL (CP) — Gerald Bolisse, a Montreal taxi-driver, says a genuine liking for handicapped persons is more important than physical strength when working with them.

Mr. Bolisse has been chauffeuring handicapped men and women for seven years.

"You've really got to like them or there's no sense starting this job. You're paid the taxi fare, yes, but you're not paid for the extra trouble you take."

Mr. Bolisse, head of le Taxi des Handicaps, said the extra care necessary is what calls for physical strength. "Not all handicapped persons live on the first floors of buildings. One gentleman whom I've been driving for a number of years lives on the third floor."

The client weighs 240 pounds but Mr. Bolisse, standing five-foot-six, manages to get him up to his apartment.

The taxi firm employs some 20 drivers who serve seven organizations for the handicapped. All own their own cars and work as regular drivers when not transporting handicapped persons.

BOWLS WITH FARES

The fleet delivers handicapped persons to many places — to church, to work, to bowling and swimming outings and to active ities organized by the Recreation for the Handicapped, a new agency set up by the Montreal Council of Social Agencies serving both French and English communities.

Mr. Boisse drives a group to bowling one night a week and instead of going out on regular calls until time to pick them up he bowls with them.

Irving Bronstein, another driver, gives swimming lessons to a group of handicapped persons at a municipal pool every week.

"You don't really teach them, though. You show them and they adopt their own method, according to what handicap they have," he said.

Council immediately approved a quit claim to Mr. Pearson, clearing his title to a parcel of land purchased from the township through his mother earlier this year.

The legality of the sale had been questioned by Kenneth Bryden, New Democratic Party member for Toronto Woodbine, at the last session of the Ontario legislature.

By giving Mr. Pearson a quit claim, council relinquished any further claim to the property. The quit claim does not include a 100-foot right of way.

Heavy precipitation is expected through Northern Quebec and Newfoundland. Normal readings are given in inches of rain; one inch of rain equals 10 inches of snow. (CP Newsmap.)

When Fernando Hernandes, 25, left this month with his wife and nine-month-old daughter to start life anew in Los Angeles, he became the 50,000th refugee resettled from Miami to other cities.

The 50,000 are in every state, except Alaska, and in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. More than twice that number remain in the Miami area.

More than 2,000 babies have been born in the United States of Cuban refugee parents. Thousands of other babies have been brought from Cuba by plane and boat.

"The Cuban refugee situation has wider impact than any other such movement in the last decade," said Resettlement Director J. Arthur Lazell, who also worked with the Hungarian refugees in 1956-58.

When the day comes the Cubans can return—and refugees generally believe it will not be long—how many will go home?

Lazell believes 10 to 15 per cent will remain in the United States. That means well over 12,000 in Miami and between 5,000 and 7,500 elsewhere. Other estimates are higher.

Since most exiles have refugee rather than immigrant status, congressional action may be required to facilitate their continued U.S. residence. Such action was taken for Hungarians in 1958, and 38,000 still are in the U.S.

The U.S. has spent $60,000,000 in relief for the Cubans. More than $2,000,000 monthly goes to the Miami area.

Federal relief payments amount to a $100 maximum a family, with the average $90, and a $60 maximum for each individual, averaging $54. There are additional state food grants.

Decayed Teeth Can Cause Many Different Disorders

By Dr McColl Metcalfe, M.O.H. for Belleville

A British surgeon lecturing at McGill* University pointed out that infection generally originating in carous teeth could mean the distribution of septic material through the blood-stream causing damage in any part of the body. Recently a group of oculists in Toronto stated that the commonest ocular accident resulting in blindness arises from infected teeth. There are many evidences of serious damage in many parts of the human body resulting from dental focal infections. There is a growing opinion not only among dentists but also among medical and health authorities that fluoridation of the communal water supply is a means of preventing ill health and is ranked with vaccination against smallpox, pasteurization of milk, chlorination of water as one of the greatest discoveries in the history of preventive medicine.

Today in the practice of medicine as in the practice of dentistry the trend is towards preventive treatment. In the practice of medicine there is vaccination against smallpox, immunization against diphtheria, poliomyelitis, tetanus and whooping cough and it is now on the horizon that a serum against measles will be available. All come under the heading of preventive medicine. In the dental profession there is a change in philosophy towards dental health. There is more thinking in terms of prevention rather than treatment; natural dentition can only be achieved by adopting preventive measures. Nutrition alone is not sufficient and has been shown in several communities in the Province that fluoridation of the communal water supply has decreased markedly the number of children suffering from dental caries.

CAS Director Explains Need Of Foster Homes

The Children's Aid Society is seeking homes for children of all ages, both Protestant and Roman Catholic.

"Here in Ontario," says Bruce Kerr, local C.A.S. director, "responsibility for the care of the neglected child has been delegated to the Children's Aid Society. When by due process of law the court commits a child to the care of the Society," Mr. Kerr states, "it is in essence, saying, "the parents of this child are unable to care for him. I therefore place him with you. Do for him all those things a good parent would do for his child. Give him love, security and affection. Teach him to be a good citizen and educate him so as to ensure that, when he leaves your care, he will function as a self-supporting, self-sufficient member in society. I entrust his future well being to your hands. No one would deny this is a formidable task.

"The Children's Aid Society is a grass roots organization," said Mr. Kerr, "supported by tax funds, and managed by local private citizens and elected municipal representatives. It employs competent administrative and casework staff. But despite all this, it still needs help".

"It needs the help of other people, families with courage and heart, families with the willingness to accept a strange child into their home.

Elsewhere in this newspaper, there appears an advertisement for foster homes and it is hoped, said Mr. Kerr, that many will apply.

"Of course," he said, "not all who apply will be accepted, for the Society, in its experience, has learned that a good foster parent is indeed a rare kind of person.

"This," he said, "does not infer that all those who are not accepted are second class citizens. Certainly nothing could be farther from the truth. It means that the Society is sincerely interested in finding the home best suited to the needs of the child. For this reason they may prefer the home of your neighbor to your own. You would not have it otherwise."

Napanee-Odessa Stretch of 401 Opens Nov. 29

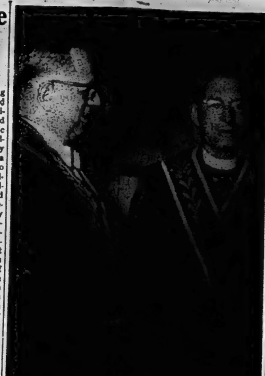
A new section of Ontario's Trans-Provincial freeway, Highway 401, is about to be opened bringing into use a total of about 406 miles of the 518 miles reaching from Windsor to the Quebec boundary.

The Honorable Charles S. MacNaughton, Minister of Highways, has announced that the 12.73-mile stretch between Napanee and Odessa will be opened to traffic at noon, November 29.

Since the two south lanes only will be opened at this time there will be no formal opening.

The section to be opened will be built at a cost of approximately 3½ million dollars. It contains 18 structures, including bridges, culverts, overpasses, underpasses and interchanges.

This latest link in Highway 401 leaves about 106 miles still to be completed. Construction is in progress on all incomplete sections but sustained bad weather conditions over the past months have caused considerable delay on some sections, especially in the area between London and Tilbury.



The entire freeway has been scheduled for completion before the end of 1963.

Three Kitchener Youths Held On Theft Charge

Three Kitchener youths, arrested by police near the scene of a break-in two days ago, were remanded one week in Belleville magistrate's court today.

Roger Boufford, Reggie Boufford, both brothers, and Ell Seremeck, were charged with breaking, entering and theft of a service station at the intersection of Herchimer Ave. and East Dundas Street.

They were arrested after police checked their car on Bridge Street East.

Archdeacon J. B. Creegan, Grand Chaplain of Ontario, Presented With Full Regalia

Masons from the Prince Edward and St. Lawrence districts gathered yesterday evening to participate in a testimonial dinner for the Venerable Archdeacon J. B. Creegan, recently of this city, upon his appointment as Grand Chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Canada in Ontario.

Guest speaker for the occasion was George J. McQueen, assistant to the Grand Secretary and supervisor of benevolence, who spoke on the topic, "Who Are We and Why Are We Here?"

He suggested that each had undoubtedly asked himself the question "Who Am I?" on some occasion or other and that possibly each had expressed satisfaction in the form of feeling that he was better than someone else or that he could do something better than another. This type of answer was what might be expected but was not necessarily the proper one.

A more fitting answer, Mr. McQueen suggested, should be for one to realize that he is created by God in His own image and that it is his duty and privilege to go out into the world and make it a better place in which to live.

The second part of his question, "Why are we here?", the speaker initially interpreted as why a person became a Freemason and finally as why be a Freemason.

One became a Freemason sometimes because of family tradition, sometimes because he sees the character of those in the community who are Masons, sometimes because he is a leader in his community and a few do so for business reasons, the speaker said.

"Each man must make one a Mason, however, for he must become interested and active in Masonry but not to the point where he loses sight of the obvious truths and principles of Freemasonry in a search for some obscure or hidden meaning in some one facet of Masonry, advised Mr. McQueen.

"The chief objective of Masonry is to produce a better citizen and a finer grade of man," he said. Freemasonry is a challenging way of life which requires the individual to better his own self. In doing this he betters his lodge also, said Mr. McQueen concluding with the quotation, "by their works ye shall know them."

During the course of the program preceding the lodge meeting Archdeacon Creegan was presented with the working tools of a fellowship hour — tobacco a pipe and a match, by lodge member Everett C. Wood, who also explained their use and significance.

Following the program the lodge members retired to the lodgeroom to receive Archdeacon Creegan and present him with his regalia of office.

Local Industry Will Receive Long Holiday

Christmas holidays will be varying greatly for local industry, according to a survey conducted this morning. By and large most industries have arranged to be closed for the Monday preceding both Christmas and New Year's Day, with the employees having worked overtime to compensate for the additional time off.

There are a few exceptions to this. One is the American Optical firm whose employees have worked for both the Monday preceding Christmas and the Boxing Day, thus giving them a five-day weekend. Northern Electric employees have had a half-day off preceding the two holidays given to their firm and have worked an extra Saturday to make up the balance necessary for two full days off.

In addition to the above firms the following plants will be closed the Mondays prior to the holidays: McFarlane Gendron Manufacturing, Stephens-Adamson Manufacturing, Mead Johnson of Canada, Deseronto Textiles, and Union Carbide (Bakelite.)

There are still several large firms which have yet to decide what their policy will be.

Live Coverage At Debating Club Is Out

The executive board, at the request of the membership, of the Hart Street Debating Club have refused to allow live radio coverage of next Wednesday night's political debates at the club's annual Bun Fight. It was announced early this morning by club president "Senator" Harry Rollins.

"Senator" Rollins explained that if live radio coverage was allowed freedom of speech and expression would be severely curtailed and that much of the traditional atmosphere of the institution's meetings would disappear.

Another astute spokesman suggested that although legal counsel had suggested that live radio coverage need not necessarily restrict the freedom of expression to which members had become accustomed, this opinion was undoubtedly influenced by the thought of the fat fees which might be earned professionally from the ensuing libel suits.

The club's president was quick to deny this possibility, however, by explaining that, except for the very rare exception, those who spoke spoke naught but the truth, bitter though that might be on occasion.

Nevertheless there will be no live radio broadcast from the quarters of the Wharf Street Debating Club next Wednesday night. Male citizens are, however, allowed to personally attend the annual debates.

Don Finkle and Norman Gerow, two of Santa's helpers with the Kiwanis toy project, display sample of repaired toys to be distributed this year to local underprivileged children.

Kiwanis Club Toy Project Running Short of Articles

Like Old Man River, the Belleville Kiwanis Christmas Toy Project just "keeps rolling along."

But Santa's helping hands are running short of toys to repair.

That is the story reported this week by Eric Cooper and Don Finkle, detail men of the toy repair project started more than a dozen years ago in Mr. Cooper's basement.

The object of the Kiwanis Christmas toy project is to repair toys as Yuletide gifts to underprivileged children in the district.

And that they have achieved their aim is indicated by the fact that thousands of toys are repaired and given away each year. Last year, for instance, more than 4,000 toys were repaired by local Kiwanians and their volunteer helpers.

FOUR NIGHTS WEEKLY

Four nights a week anywhere from five to ten Kiwanians and volunteers turn up at the Kiwanis Centre and spend the evening sorting and repairing toys. And in addition about eight men take toys to repair in their own basement workshops.

Old and disused toys are accepted at the two firehalls and at any Shell service station for delivery to the Kiwanis repair centre. Here the toys are repaired and then turned back to city firemen for distribution at Christmas time. Kiwanis ladies and other women assist by dressing dolls.

But the Kiwanians are running out of toys to repair.

So, to help brighten the Christmas of some underprivileged child in the area, the donation of used toys is invited.

A Complex Problem

Hon. Alvin Hamilton, Federal Minister of Agriculture, says that personally he hopes Canadian trade with Communist China is substantiated.

It is easy for his foes to scoff and to accuse him of being eager to ignore principles for the sake of political expediency. Mr. Hamilton himself says that sales of Canadian grain to Red China have helped the whole Canadian farm economy, by keeping prices for livestock and poultry products high. This, of course, means that Mr. Hamilton does not have angry farmers denouncing him and sending delegations to Ottawa. Their relative contentment was translated last June into a flood of Progressive Conservative votes on the prairies, which enabled the Diefenbaker Government to stay in power. Communist China's purchases of outstanding grain have been a major windfall for Mr. Hamilton and his colleagues.

However, we suggest it would be not only unfair but misleading to interpret Mr. Hamilton's personal hopes solely in the light of the political fortunes of himself and his party.

The question of trading with the enemy, or a potential enemy, is an extremely complex one and has been the subject of controversy since the earliest days of mankind's history.

Most of us will have little difficulty making up our minds on the more extreme forms of such trade. For instance, during both the First and Second World Wars, there were no charges that some industrialists on our side helped to keep the German war machine fed by seeing that German munition firms received essential materials through roundabout trade channels. These charges were never substantiated. Though the Germans probably did manage to obtain from neutral countries supplies which originated in Allied lands, it was impossible to prove it had been the intent of the original supplier this should occur. Nevertheless, trading with the enemy in this manner seems reprehensible to most of us.

A much more difficult problem was provided by sale of scrap iron to the Japanese before their entry into the war. This would have been almost impossible to prevent without completely disrupting the normal channels of trade. Those who wish to defend these sales can argue that such disruption would have driven the Japanese into war, willy-nilly, while as long as they received normal supplies there was always a hope they would refrain from entering the struggle on the side of the axis powers.

One has only to remember these arguments from the past to grasp immediately the great difference between these cases and Canada's trade with Communist China. Despite the present border war with India, China does not constitute an immediate threat to us, nor to our closest allies. Under such circumstances, a refusal to sell her foodstuffs, without which many of her people might perish and the lack of which might drive her into full-scale wars of conquest, would certainly be a policy open to serious question.

Billiards for Ladies

And about time, too!

That is what many a billiard lover may have exclaimed when he learned that his favorite game has been definitely rescued from an uncertain aura of disrespectability which has been unfairly attached to it for many a year.

The rescue job has been carried out by a Winnipeg man, Jack Moltini, who has opened a billiard parlor for women and escorts.

Billiards and its sister games of snooker, Boston pool and what have you, have long occupied an unusual position in the field of recreation. They have been enjoyed only by the elite and the proletariat. In white tie and tails, titled gentlemen have played in their clubs. In workshirt and overalls, the laboring man has known the same thrills in dingy pool halls. But the middle-class citizen, once he has passed his salad days has often been loathe to be seen emerging from billiard parlors. Considerable improvement in this situation has been made in recent years, with many well-kept, clean establishments catering to men. Now in Winnipeg, as well as in other centres, the ladies are being invited to join in the fun.

They will find here a sport which will hold the interest of beginner and expert alike. It can be taken just as seriously, or just as frivolously, as the player desires, never failing to provide fun in spite of frivolity nor to provide an adequate challenge in spite of the most serious application to its intricacies.

Just one point. Mr. Moltini will not permit men to enter his snooker parlors unless accompanied by sister, girl-friend or wife. What's wrong with mother as an escort—she likes a little fun, too.

Strictly Personal
Problems Besetting Ad-Men

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

I was having lunch with a chap I used to go to school with who is now a successful advertising executive in New York. "I suppose you consider your job a tough one," he said, "but it has one obvious advantage over advertising."

"Lighten my day," I said, "and tell me what it is."

I "Well," he continued, "you know how people are always criticizing advertising on one score or another — it's too blatant, or too repetitious, or too trite, or too unbelievable. Some of these charges, I'm sorry to say, are well founded — but people don't understand the chief reason for these flaws."

"What do you think is the reason?" I prompted.

"Do you know how many persons may pass on a single piece of advertising copy?" he asked. "Maybe as many as 13 — and each person has his own pets and prejudices, his own fears and foolishness, his own prestige at stake in the decision. . . .

"When you write a column," he continued, "it's a one-man job. If it's good, you get the credit; if it isn't you take the blame. But you're free — inside the laws of obscenity or libel — to write as you please."

"That's true enough," I purred, my day already brightening at the edges.

"But not in advertising," he shook his head dolefully. "After the client says it's terrific, it goes to three or four executives, maybe to the plans board. Then it's submitted to the advertising manager of the client. His wife takes a look at it — and maybe a couple of neighbors. If sometimes goes to the president of the company — who would like to have a finger in the product, and the company's name in bigger type.

"Not only does everybody feels he should make some contribution to it. A change here, a deletion there, a different emphasis. Nobody wants to say he ad is fine as it stands, because everybody feels he will think he's an advertising expert and can make some real improvement."

"I don't envy your job," I commiserated with him.

"It's not an enviable one," he shrugged, "especially when we have so many bright and creative people who are capable of turning out imaginative and tasteful ads. How would you like it if your copy were revised and padded or evaluated by a committee of 15 or 20?"

I shuddered. "It's ironic isn't it," I said, "that individualism' is the rallying-call of business, and yet it's the collective nature of advertising that does the damage!"

"Don't blame the ad man," he pleaded. "We're victims of socialism at the top."

Fox Faces Automation

New York Times

It is doubted by some that fox hunting is really a sporting proposition, with a pack of hounds and a squad of huntsmen pitted against one small frightened animal.

Now the news comes up from Virginia, of all places, that automation is being thrown in the balance against poor Reynard. It is reported that in one recent hunt, walkie-talkies were relied on instead of the ringing cry of the huntsmen. In rugged country, the walkie-talkies interfere with voice signals and too often the chagrined riders lose track of the hounds and sometimes each other.

The short-wave experiment was not too successful—there was a lot of interference, some of it probably from outraged Virginians. It will be a sad day when and if the fox is finally jarred by a mechanical nose, tracked by radar and brought down by guided missile while the riders remain at breakfast, following the chase by television.

Why Missiles in Cuba?

Montreal Gazette

The Soviet Union is currently suffering from a very considerable "missile gap," in comparison with the strength of the United States. This is made clear in a recent publication of the Institute for Strategic Studies, a reliable British organization.

Only a few years ago, it was widely predicted that there would be a missile gap at about this time. The prediction has come true, but it has also been completely reversed. For it was the Soviet Union that was expected to enjoy a missile advantage in the early 1960's, not the United States.

This gap especially was based on the performance of Soviet missiles, which in 1957 and 1958 seemed incredibly superior to American missiles. It was assumed that Russia would seize this advantage, put her missiles in mass production and quickly outdistance all rivals.

This was done with Medium and Intermediate Range Missiles, and in this field the Russians have been successful to the very large number of missiles while the United States has some 250. But whether for reasons of cost, technological difficulties or other factors, the Soviet Union did not put its Intercontinental Missiles into mass production, whereas the United States did—early next year the United States will have some 900 of these missiles, while Russia will have only some 75.

Since it is only Intercontinental Missiles that can be used to threaten the United States, Russia is at a disadvantage. It has more then enough missiles to threaten Western Europe, but has only a few threats to make the United States with much hope of success. This does not, of course, mean that the Soviet Union could not bring great damage to North America; the Russian missiles carry a most powerful nuclear warhead, and there are also the bombers. But American retaliation would be devastating. The balance seems to be against the Soviet Union.

In this light, the Soviet decision to place Medium and Intermediate Range Missiles in Cuba comes into focus. If Russia could acquire a base from which she could threaten the United States with those missiles of which she has a plentiful supply, then the balance of nuclear power would to some extent be redressed. Cuba was an ideal base for such a purpose.

Western planning is based on the assumption that a first strike from the Soviet Union must be expected. In order to have a deterrent, it is necessary that United States must be able to survive a first strike and still have enough weapons to hit back, or to strike second.

The Soviet missiles in Cuba were "first strike" weapons. If used first, they would have seriously reduced the American nuclear force. Their presence, therefore, would have reduced the credibility of American deterrent, and would have been a powerful encourager lying behind Soviet threats.

There may have been other reasons why the Soviet Union decided to place missiles in Cuba. But this one reason is sufficient to explain why it is realized that once Russia had developed even better missiles she could have placed these in Cuba also.

By placing the missiles in Cuba, Premier Khrushchev certainly took a gamble, a gamble that failed. But his adventure is beginning to look much less foolish and much more intelligent (from the Soviet point of view). And at this very time President Kennedy's decision to secure the removal of these missiles, even at the risk of war, is assuming more and more significance.

The only importanes of Cuba in the whole, affair was her geographical position. Kennedy did not take the world to the brink of war" because of any ideological or moral dislike of Premier Castro. It was a decision taken by President Kennedy to protect the security of the entire Western world.

Keep Tradition

Milan Corriere Della Sera

Progress makes many changes, but the Monks of St. Bernard are determined that the completion of the tunnel under Mt. Blanc will not interrupt tradition. They have issued a communique announcing that, tunnel or no, they will continue to raise and train their lifesaving dogs.

News Control Under Attack

Washington Post

The acknowledgement by Assistant Secretary of Defence Arthur Sylvester that the government used its power to control information about the Cuban situation not only to safeguard the military security of country, but to further national policy, will alarm and distress many people in the U.S.

The idea that the "generation of news by the government becomes one of the tools of a strategical situation" is not an idea new to American government.

Under Roosevelt, propaganda and censorship functions, putting one in the Office of War Information and the other in the Office of Censorship.

In the Cuban crisis, most of the experiences of World War II was disregarded.

Secretary Sylvester combined the functions of news gathering, censorship and military control of the news.

Since the crisis—at least in its initial stage—was not long, the results were less some of the bitter fruit that the contracted resort to such a policy would yield.

The consequences are serious enough. The statements of government will have established credibility in any crisis hereafter and citizens will wonder if they are being told the truth or what the government thinks will favorably influence events.

The American press, which is made by this means the unwilling servant of the government, will also have a reduced credibility at home and abroad.

These are high prices to pay for getting the results Which Mr. Sylvester claims justify the use of news and access to news as a weapon.

The prime task can be cut if the government will promptly disavow its improvised tactics and proclaim a return to the sound principles of information pursued in World War II, in case of future crises of this kind.

To Your Good Health
Hormones May Be Needed After Surgical Menopause

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Twelve years ago (when I was 43) I had a hysterectomy. I am a very nervous person.

I am still getting hormone shots regularly, but they don't seem to do much good. What is your opinion? — D.S.

The useful era of hormone medication, or the need for it, varies widely from one woman to another. Most don't require any. Others may find it very useful for a limited period, from six to 12 months.

The need for hormones is greatest in a woman who has had "surgical menopause," that is, a hysterectomy including removal of the ovaries.

In ordinary menopause, the ovaries gradually decrease the secretion of hormones. The body gradually adjusts to a different hormonal balance.

But when the ovaries are removed, the cessation of hormone production is abrupt. The adjustment cannot be made gradually by the system. That is why hormone shots are useful in carrying the patient through the readjusting time. But the body does reach that point.

Now some women continue the use of hormones when it no longer periods on the supposition that their troubles are a continuation of menopause.

But keep this in mind: Menopause and its symptoms do not continue indefinitely. It is a period of transition.

Now some of the symptoms may be entirely apart from menopause. Sometimes it is neurosis, sometime thyroid trouble (the thyroid secretes hormones too, but of a different type), sometimes hypoglycemia, or low blood sugar, possibly high blood pressure. The list is long.

Hence when hormone shots "don't seem to do much good" any longer, it is quite probable that they have outlived their usefulness. There should be careful study to see whether some other disturbance isn't what really needs correction.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have varicose veins. Should I keep the heavy stockings or bandages when I go to bed? — Mrs. L.R.

This is usually unnecessary, unless there is associated phlebitis.

Dear Dr. Molner: My sister had a lot of tests in an exploratory operation which showed she had cirrhosis of the liver. Can you explain about this? I heard it happened only to alcoholics. — M.M.

While alcohol is usually the cause of cirrhosis it is not the only one. It can occur in people who do not drink heavily or even not at all.

It is a gradual hardening of the liver, sometimes progressive, destroying the functioning ability of groups of cells in the liver.

Other than alcohol, causes include both infectious and serum hepatitises; "toxic hepatitis" or poisoning from chemicals such as carbon tetrachloride. There are also unknown causes.

Superhighway Safety Fence

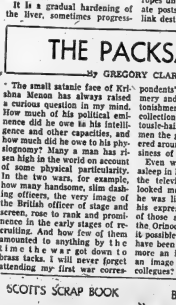
Aims of Industry

U.K. technical men, appalled by some recent highway accidents in which cars have leaped across the inter-lane strip and crashed into traffic using the oncoming lanes, have devised a unique safety barrier.

Named the Darfen Arrester Safety Barrier, it consists of wire rope and plastic-covered chain link fencing, almost four feet high, supported by eight-foot intervals by steel ipsita. The fence, seven feet from the nopause. Somewhere it is supported either side of it, 30 inches above road level. This rope, say experts, can arrest the major impact, while the vehicle catches the chain link fencing and concertinas it between the nearest support post. Bunched up against the post, which will bend and take up some of the impact, the chain link acts as a crash pad for the vehicle.

The idea of the new arrester safety barrier was tested at Blackbuin airport, southwest of London. Technicians reported:

The road safety barrier was hit by the test car at a speed of 38 mph, and the angle of approach was 30 degrees. Brakes were not applied. The maximum deflection of the barrier was six-and-one-half feet momentarily at a distance of 39 feet from the point of impact, and the car was brought to a halt astride the centre line of the barrier facing the direction in which it was originally proceeding after travelling 84½ feet along the barrier."



Other results: driver unhurt; fenders and body dented; wire rope unbroken, 10 intermediate posts and 90 feet of chain link destroyed.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

* The small astatic face of Krishna Menon has always raised a curious question in my mind. How much of his political prominence did he owe to his intelligence and other capacities, and how much did he owe to his physiognomy? Many a man has risen high in the world on account of some physical peculiarity, in the two wars, for example, how many handsome, slim dashing officers, the very image of the British officer of stage and screen, rose to rank and prominence in the early stages of recruiting. And how few of them amounted to anything by the time the war got close to brass tacks. I will never forget attending my first war correspondents' meeting with Montgomery and his staff, and the astonishment at the odd-looking collection of homely, freckled, bespectacled gingery little gentlemen the great soldier had gathered around him for the true business of fighting.

Even when he was shown asleep in his chair at the UN on the television, Krishna Menon looked menacing. When awake, he was literally frightening in his expression. I always think of those shrunken heads from the Orinoco which I see him in. It is possible, now that the bombs have been assessed, that he was more an image than a reality, an image that paralyzed his colleagues.

Parade Taggers Get $1288 For Santa Claus

Back about the middle of October, the Santa Claus Parade situation didn't look too promising. Attendance at the meetings up until then was fairly fair and the number of entrants was small.

It appeared then that the citizens of Belleville were not interested in having a Santa Claus parade, but this thought was quickly dismissed on Nov. 16 and 17, when some 78 taggers, including Commanding Officer W. Brown and his Air Cadets from Squadron 608; Mrs. Harold Reid and the St. John Ambulance Cadets of Division 350, the staff of the W. T. Hawkins Limited, and Mr. Keith Allison, who was in charge of the taggers at the Shopping Plaza, netted $1,287.95.

The parade committee extends its sincere thanks to all those who made possible a very successful tag day, and a job well done.

One-Year Term Given Accused On Theft Count

Belleville man Archibald Wilfred Murray today was sentenced to a one-year reformatory term for robbery of a safe at a city store.

Murray was given the term by Judge J. C. Anderson, presiding the general sessions of the peace in Belleville.

He was accused of breaking, entering and theft May 23 of Boothe's Radio and TV store, on Front Street. A safe, containing over $1,000 was stolen from the premises.

Murray pleaded not guilty at the outset of his trial earlier this week. Yesterday, he changed his plea after the bench ruled a statement he had made to police on the crime should be read to the jury.

Two Given 3 Months Each For Theft

Two Belleville men were each sentenced to three months for stealing from a parked car in Belleville magistrate's court today.

Acting crown attorney John Lennox said because of the "type of thefts these men committed, it would keep them incarcerated until Christmas, at least."

"I am well aware of that," said magistrate T. Y. Wills, imposing the sentence. "That will leave the Christmas season quite free."

McFarland Is Given 2-Year Term for Mayor

PICTON (Special) — In what may be a municipal record Mayor Harvey McFarland has been once more acclaimed to serve another two-year term of office.

The mayor was the only name proposed for election as chief magistrate at that town's nomination meeting last night.

Acclamations also were registered for the offices of Public Utilities Commissioners and school trustees.

Mayor McFarland has served 13 years as mayor of this town. During that time he had to fight only one election for office — two years ago. He was returned with a thumping majority over his lone opponent.

These were the other names proposed at last night's meeting — a quiet assembly attended by about 200 local residents: Reeve — Bernard Hepburn, Jacqueline Lafleur.

Deputy Reeve — Donald Thompson, Sam Gentile.

School Trustees (acclaimed) — Robert Carter, Lloyd Seeley, Dr. Richard Evans, Dr. George Powers, Ted Folden, Mrs. Ruth Hart, W. W. Evans, Ray Cutler.

Teaching Units Within Hospital Are Established

To insure the long and outstanding tradition of high quality care of the sick, combined with excellence in teaching all those who care for patients, the Board of Governors of Kingston General Hospital has taken another step forward to continue this tradition by the establishment of clinical teaching units within the hospital, said Bruce Matthews, chairman of the Hospital Board today.

Teaching hospitals in Canada and the United States have determined that clinical teaching units provide outstandingly good patient care and the highest standard of teaching. The establishment of clinical teaching units is necessary to keep pace with specialization and advancements in medical science.

A clinical teaching unit is a specific hospital area. Each patient will be under the care of a member of the Attending Medical Staff with resident and interne medical staff available at all times. The Attending Medical Staff of the clinical teaching unit at the Kingston General Hospital will be appointed by the Board of Governors on recommendation of Queen's University.

Small Talk

By Jean Cherry

President and Mrs. Herbert Hoover always had seven-course dinners even when dining alone. Mrs. H. D. R. ordered one course deleted from the menu, bringing it to six, Mrs. Truman cut to five—Mrs. Kennedy has chopped the five to four.

And what is the Vermeil dinner-ware resurrected by Jackie? It is a metal gilding which the French thought up in self-defense many years ago, in a crisis, the French kings, Louis XV for instance, had a habit of seizing their subjects' gold to melt down for the treasury. Vermeil gave a dinner table a prosperous look — but not being solid gold, did not tempt confiscation. . .

Mercury was part of the process and because this blinded the workers, the French government banned vermeil manufacture in 1820.

Recently, however, a new process has been developed and so, all that glitters might be Vermeil. And, I'm sure you'll be relieved to know, cleaning instructions are, "it can be washed easily in soap and water, white wine or champagne."

Eastminster UCW Sponsors Dainty Ivy Tea

Despite livercast skies a sunny atmosphere prevailed at Eastminster's annual fall tea and bake sale on November 7th.

After a cheery reception in the foyer by Mrs. A. McDowell, Mrs. S. Armstrong, Mrs. J. Hartt and Mrs. R. Swann, an attractive corner setting caught the eye of each guest. An ivy trimmed screen daintily finished by a beautiful wrought iron easel and Italian glass vase on velvet background focused an air of fall enchantment.

GAY TEA ROOM

The tea room walls gaily decorated with vines if ivy created warmth and friendliness and charming little tea sets placed here and there expressed a homey touch. On the main tea table an exquisite centrepiece of 'mums in tones of orange-ice and bronze with matching candles set on a white cloth blended beautifully against a background of ivy-colored draperies.

Presiding at the gleaming silver tea services were: Mrs. O. Clarke, Mrs. W. Love, Mrs. J. Kuntze, Mrs. N. Britton, Mrs. J. Field, Mrs. R. A. Graham, Mrs. R. Diamond.

Guests were shown to small tables laid with white linen cloths and pretty tea pots adorned with sprigs of ivy by hostesses Mrs. G. Maybee, Mrs. J. R. Williams and Mrs. G. Clarke.

DAINTY REFRESHMENTS

Dainty sandwiches, fancy cookies and attractive relish trays were served at the tables by Mrs. R. A. Graham, Mrs. W. J. N. Thropp, Mrs. W. Slade, Mrs. H. R. McMartin, Mrs. G. Harrison, Mrs. H. Brody, Mrs. R. C. Ellis, Mrs. M. Siler, Mrs. Sydney Mrs. S. W. Taylor, Mrs. L. D Read, Mrs. A. Glover, Mrs. J. Locke, Mrs. T. Riley, Mrs. J. Sisler and Mrs. R. Bagneil.

Upstairs in the Ladies Parlor a wonderful assortment of home baking by Eastminster's Women and a small booth sponsored by the CGIT attracted a successful crowd. A variety of lovely goodies held the usual drawing card, but nothing a more enticing than the old fashioned home baked bread, muffins, cookies, rolls and scrumptious pies. Baketable conveners were Mrs. D. Dyer and Mrs. F. Valentine. Those serving at these tables were Mrs. G. Buchner, Mrs. K. Olmsted, Mrs. J. F. Bray, Mrs. G. Hutchison, Mrs. D. S. Lamb, Mrs. A. G. McAuley, Mrs. C. Bateman, Mrs. A. Holchikiss, Mrs. H. Woods, Mrs. W. Ja McMillan.

McMillan, Mrs. E. Windover, Mrs. G. Weymark, Mrs. W. C. Munroe, Mrs. J. H. Henry, Mrs. G. R. O. Dymock, Mrs. J. R. Robson, Mrs. A. Marshall, Mrs. S. Shaddock, Mrs. R. Simpson, Mrs. W. Hutchinson, Mrs. J. Sharpe, Mrs. B. Sullivan, Mrs. J. Shroder, Mrs. M. Maw, Mrs. W. M. Moffatt, Mrs. G. Bovay, Mrs. L. May, Mrs. J. Johns.

The success of this lovely fall tea is credited to the conveners. Mrs. L. E. Uens, Mrs. R. O. Clarke, Mrs. L. May and the many helpers to whom were entrusted the numerous arrangements.

BOY IS CHARGED

LONDON (AP) — A former chairman of Britain's Labor party, George Ivor Brinham, was found dead Thursday with his head beaten in, apparently by a bottle. A 18-year-old boy was charged with the unlawful killing of the 46-year-old Trades Union Congress and Labor party leader.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Keith Wood are shown following their recent marriage in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Stirling, Ontario. The bride is the former Miss Carol Elizabeth Fargey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fargey. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wood, of Bloomfield, R.R. 1, Ontario.

WOOD — FARGEY

A lovely double-ring wedding was solemnized recently in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Stirling, in an afternoon ceremony by the Reverend W. H. V. Walker, of Belleville, former pastor of the church, when Carol Elizabeth Fargey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fargey, of Stirling, R. R. No. 2, was united in marriage to Roland Keith Wood, of Bloomfield, R. R. No. 1 son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wood. Yellow potted chrysanthemums adorned the chancel and white satin bows designated the guest pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in her silk-faced peau de soie bridal gown featuring a fitted bodice with scoop neckline accented with Swiss appliqued lace, and long sleeves. The short skirt was fashioned with a flat front gently folded at the sides creating a full overskirt. She wore a seed pearl and crystal headdress in ultra style with shoulder length bouffant veil dotted with seed pearls, and carried a cascade bouquet of red Garnet roses, tied with red-bud-knotted streamers.

Miss Margaret Wood, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor attired in a sweet-length gown of peacock blue peau de soie, featuring a fitted bodice, with scoop neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. The skirt was in bell effect. She wore a matching flower headdress and carried a bouquet of yellow Shasta daisies.

Mr. Kenneth Fargey, brother of the bride, of Stirling, R. R. 2, was groomsman, while Mr. Allan Fargey, also of Stirling, cousin of the bride, and Mr. Robert Wood, of Consecon, R. R. No. 2, cousin of the bridegroom ushered the guests.

The reception which followed the ceremony, was held at the home of the bride's parents where the Misses Norma Hoard, Sandra Gray; Ruth Morgan; Pauline and Bernice McCurdy, and Mrs. Allan Fargey served.

The bride's table was daintily appointed with white damask, and centred by a three-tier wedding cake topped with two white doves bearing wedding rings beneath an arch of lily-of-the-valley, and misted about the base with white tulle and scattered pink rosebuds. Tall tapered candles and the bridal bouquet completed the nuptial setting.

The guests were received by the bride's mother and bridegroom's mother, the former in a brown wool sheath with matching jacket, brown and gold accessories, and corsage of yellow 'mums; and the latter in light green brocaded sheath with matching jacket, beige accessories, and corsage of yellow 'mums.

For travelling to Niagara Falls and other western and northern points, the bride wore a brown wool double-knit suit, with brown accessories and corsage of yellow roses.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was entertained at two showers, one at the home of Mrs. Delbert McCurdy with the Misses Pauline and Bernice McCurdy as co-hostesses, and at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. G. McLean, of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood are residing at R. R. No. 1, Bloomfield, Ontario.

Skin Care, Cosmetics Use Topic at 'Day Out'

The guest speakers at the Ladies' Day Out program at the Y.M.C.A. were: representatives of beauty products, Mrs. Theresa Moak, and Mrs. Theresa Bryce, of Trenton. They did a presentation as well as giving some interesting information on "skin care" and the "use of cosmetics".

The regular program of slimnastic exercises, informal games or trampoline and swimming instruction, and recreation followed by lunch was carried out.

Next week's program will consist of an afternoon of fun and relaxation as they take time out to bowl.

R.M.T. Mark Canada Music Week, Hear 'The Creation'

This week, Nov. 18 to 25, is being observed as Canada Music Week.

Again Canadians are challenged to think of the influence music has in molding the lives of her people.

The local Registered Music Teachers want to express their appreciation and thanks to those who are co-operating in this effort, to stress the value of music and to promote its growth in this area.

"In all studies and in all spheres of life knowledge of the best is essential to success." With regard to such words of wisdom as these, it behooves us all to "have ears to hear". In a time when nations are recruiting more and more scientists and mathematicians to produce ever more frightening modes of annihilation, ought we not, as musicians, providing men with an inner voice of beauty—of stabilizing calm—a voice to resolve the tensions of a highly technological and yet insecure world? In a time when aeroplanes make a mock of frontiers, when cultural interchange is not just a hope but a reality, we are glad to find more and more Canadians coming into recognition as composers and artists."

To prove this one need only to mention some Canadians who have won recognition wherever they appeared. Lois Marshall, the singer; Glenn Gould, the pianist; Betty-Jean Hagen, the violinist; Maureen Forrester, Leopold Simoneau, James Milligan, Jon Vickers and others, who are heard at Covent Gardens, in Glyndebourne, Vienna and Bayreuth. They are products of Canadian schools which deserve credit for their artists.

"Healey Willan and Claude Champagne, known respectively as "silent-speaking" and "French-speaking 'Deans' of Canadian composition, are still living. The last 25 years have seen a great upsurge of composition there is music in Canada, a great deal of it, more and better music than is generally known. It is for the purpose of making these works more widely known that a 'Canadian Music Centre' has been formed in Toronto."

To help the public in choosing teachers, the Canadian Federation of Music Teachers' Association is setting a high standard which is rapidly becoming universally accepted. Each province has an association which is a member of the Federation.

In Ontario the Federation is represented by the Ontario Registered Music Teachers' Association to which the government has granted a charter. Active members are entitled to use "RMT" after their names, having satisfied the examining board that their musical standards are adequate.

During this term the Belleville Branch of the Ontario Registered Music Teachers has changed its official members: past president, Mrs. E. Boyce; president, Sister M. Avila; vice-president, Miss Marjorie Woodard; treasurer, Mrs. E. Veley; recording secretary, Mrs. T. F. Townsend; assistant secretary, Mrs. E. Boyce; press secretary, Mrs. Marion Stratton and social convener, Mrs. S. Martin. These executive members meet regularly and plan many activities.

During the term, a delegate, Miss E. Moore of Picton, was sent to Ottawa to represent Belleville at the annual convention. These teachers were received at Government House by Their Excellencies, the Governor-General and Mrs. Vanier, and heard the famous Montreal Bach Choir and a Carillon Recital.

Miss Virginia Knott of the Royal Conservatory staff, who conducted practical examinations here, also met with the teachers at the home of Mrs. H. Rennie, 12 Eleanor Gardens.

The Branch members enjoyed a visit from the provincial president Mrs. Gould of Ottawa, when a banquet was served at the Belleview.

Mr. B. Sills, a member of the Piano Technicians Guild, gave an interesting lecture on tuning—referring to character vibrations; resonance; scale and other qualities recommended as overtones. Mr. Sills lectured during the summer in several places in the United States and in Canada.

A series of piano recital programs are heard each week. These recitalists are students of Belleville Schools and studying music with Government-Registered Teachers. A scholarship valued at $100 will be awarded to the one winning top standard. The president, Sister M. Avila, was kept busy with interview on the opening date over CJBQ.

Recently the people of Belleville had the privilege of hearing the Oratorio, "The Creation," by Haydn, in Bridge Street United Church.

A clever young Canadian artist, Miss Alda Lawson, of Western Canada, was heard in Kingston this week at McAllan Hall. Miss Lawson has performed many times with the Winnipeg Symphony Orchestra, has an A.R.C.T. diploma in piano at the Royal Conservatory of Music.

Belleville music teachers extend their thanks to The Ontario Intelligencer to the CJBQ radio station, the Corby Library, the schools and churches and all who have assisted in promoting Canada Music Week.

Readers' Friday Column

by Mary Moore

Letter: Thank you for so many ideas and recipes (for allergic and cellac patient) which I received. Here is my recipe you might improve for others as it is a little strong but Lorna likes it very well and I think it is nourishing.

One cup dates cut, 1 cup raisins, 1½ teaspoons soda, ½ cup white sugar, ½ cup brown sugar, ½ cup shortening, salt. Mix together and cover with water. Boil until cooked and slightly thickened. (More water may be necessary.) Add 2 eggs, one at a time, beating after each. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla, walnuts as desired, 4 cups rolled oats and stir all well. Drop by greased pan and bake at 350 deg. Fahr.

I freeze these and use them for variety with snowballs, rice krispie balls, etc. Thank you so much again. Mrs. H. H.

Answer: PICKLING ENGLISH WALNUTS

Note: I have not made this. The walnuts should be gathered when the nut is so young that you can run a pin into it easily. Pour boiling brine on to cover (one qt. boiling water to each ¼ cup salt) and allow to stand 9 days, tipping off brine and pouring on fresh every three days. At end of 9 days drain and dry in single layer on platters. Leave out of doors if possible, turning them over once. This will make them black much quicker. Put them in a crock, sprinkle over some whole black pepper-corns, cloves, a little dried garlic, mustard seed and horseradish root scraped and dried; cover them with strong cold vinegar. Pack in jars and seal after 24 hours, leaving in whole spices.

Letter: We like moist bran muffins which prompts me to write. Thank you. This one from friends whose muffins I admired. I combined the best features of two recipes.

C. M.'S BRAN MUFFINS

Combine ½ cup brown sugar ½ cup graham (or whole wheat) flour, ½ cup white flour (or use all graham flour), 1 cup bran (or part wheat germ), Mix 1 teaspoon soda in 1 cup sour or buttermilk and combine with 1 beaten egg, ½ cup soft vegetable shortening. Barely mix into dry ingredients. Fill buttered muffin cups ⅔ full and bake 15 to 20 minutes at 400 deg. Fahr.

One-half cup raisins may be added with the dry ingredients or for variety chopped dates, grated orange rind (good!), blueberries, nuts, dried chopped apricots, mashed banana or crushed drained pineapple.

Catherine M.

Answer: We have a reader who has published "Bran Muffin" whom I know will make these on the evening of the day she reads it. Thank you, Catherine.

United Nations Theme at B&P Meet

On Monday evening the Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club held its monthly dinner at the Belmont club rooms.

Mrs. Charlotte Lockyer introduced three new members to the club Miss Jean Waterhouse, Mrs. Elizabeth Dellise and Mrs. Muriel Gilham.

United Nations night was observed by the club. Three guest speakers were present and introduced by Mrs. Irene Haig.

Mrs. M. Tuchmayer from Poland told of her homeland which was a small country rich in many resources. Housewives had no modern conveniences such as refrigerators or washing machines such as we know. Only the higher classes of people had even ice-boxes. Every trade had a three-year apprenticeship. Salesladies could not obtain high wages until serving these three years. The war years were very hard of everything. Many were put in concentration camps.

Mrs. D. Sella from Norway told of her country. Norway is not as cold as one believes on their thoughts it is close to the Arctic circle. Theres are many mountains. During the summer there are 24 hours of daylight. Christmas Day is a quiet day for the people of Norway. On the day before, church bells ring, church services are attended, and children receive gifts from the night. From the day after Christmas until New Year's Day there are many festivities and parties. Many old customs have been kept in Norway down through the years.

Mrs. A. Quickert from Germany told of her country's history. Kitchener, Ontario is 14 times larger than the small province Mrs. Quickert came from situated on the Rhine River. There were 32 sugar factories and crystal and glass factories and rich farm land. Priceless art collections were destroyed during the war years. Christmas was observed differently here. On December 6th, St. Nick came to the homes of the children. He was very poorly dressed; he left small gifts. On Christmas Eve there was a special feast. Hallowe'en was another special event for the children.

The guest speakers were thanked on behalf of the club for a most enjoyable evening.

Human Relationship Topic at Sorority

Gamma Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met last evening at the home of Mrs. Lou Lewis with president Mrs. Jack Jeffrey, chairing the business meeting.

Following this, Mrs. Howard Nethercott introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Ria Edwards, who spoke on "Personality and Relationship." She discussed and illustrated some of the Dale Carnegie rules for better human relationship. Her well presented talk was amusing and extremely interesting and was followed by a spirited group discussion.

Mrs. Dorcas Greer thanked the speaker, on behalf of the chapter.

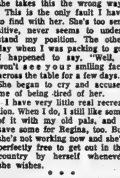
Refreshments served by co-hostesses Miss Beth Klein and Mrs. Doreen Greer, brought the evening to a close.

Eastern Ontario Orchestra Presents Concert at BCI

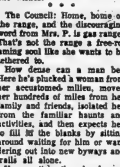
A good sized audience was in attendance in the Collegiate Auditorium last evening to hear the Belleville debut of the Eastern Ontario Concert Orchestra under the direction of Mr. Stephen Choma. This group of approximately forty players, embracing an age span of over seven decades, the youngest member of the orchestra being eleven and the oldest over eighty, was formed just two years ago, to foster the playing of good music by musicians whose various talents would otherwise remain unknown to the communities at large in this district. They have given about a dozen concerts in nearby centres since their organization in late 1960 and have worked hard at their many rehearsals to eradicate any flaws and failings that might creep into their performances of the many works that they play. The personnel of the orchestra come from all walks of life and includes among its members such varied occupations as lawyers, school teachers and inspectors, painters, business men, farmers, musical teachers and students, members of the R.C.A.F. and even a former Federal M.P., this alone showing beyond doubt that music is the one great common denominator that can bring together people of every status, creed and age for the enjoyment of playing their chosen instruments in co-operation and co-ordination, to arrive at the fine result that was shown last evening under the able direction of their conductor, Mr. Choma.

The members of the orchestra are from all over this district, including the towns of Brighton, Stirling, Frankford, Batawa, Trenton, Campbellford, Halloway, Glen Miller and Belleville. Their unbounded love for music brings them together each week for practices regardless of distance or weather, and their enthusiasm was justly rewarded last evening by the warm applause accorded them after each number played.

The works programmed spanned three centuries and featured compositions by such unknown eighteenth century composers as Johann Gottlieb Graun ("Frederick the Great Overture") and Karl Frederich Abel ("Andantino and Overture" from the Opera "The Village Bride") along with more familiar names such as Edvard Grieg (Suite of three short songs) and Rimsky-Korsakoff ("The Young Prince and the Young Princess" from Scheherazade). The modern American, Harold M. Johnson, was represented with his Symphonic Miniature No. 1 in G (based upon the 16th century modals) and Canadian Robert McMullin by his set of three short descriptive pieces entitled "Prairie Sketches." Music from the cinema included a fantasy on themes from Walt Disney's "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," and the main melodies from the recent hit "Exodus."



It is not the intention here to evaluate each rendition of the selections played, except to state that in every instance the members of the orchestra gave forth with their very best, to make sure that their performances would bring credit to their conductor and to themselves. There is naturally a lacking of string players and we know that at times they were overshadowed by the brass section of the orchestra, but it is to be hoped that in the future more string instrumentalists will be added to the complement of the group. Their precision has improved immeasurably in the last few months under Mr. Choma's expert guidance: only once was it at all noticeable that there was a straying from his accepted beat.



The guest soloist was Mr. Robert Reid, tenor, who gave very fine interpretations of all the numbers that he sang. His first group consisted of five old American songs arranged by Aaron Copland, this being followed later in the program by three excerpts from the realm of American Broadway productions and opera. Two songs from "Kismet" and an aria from "Porgy and Bess", of Gershwin, were compellingly sung by Mr. Reid. He was assisted at the piano by his wife, Marejane Gulolen.

The entire concert was broadcast over CJBQ, both FM and AM, and was presented by Frank Murray, manager, and the staff of CJBQ, in their policy of bringing to their listening audience the fine talents of the musical minds of Belleville and district. Commentaries on the music and musicians were spoken by this writer.

All told, it was a very pleasing concert that entranced the listeners in the BCIVS auditorium, many of whom were unaware of the existence in this region of such a notable musical group. Anyone who plays a musical instrument and would like to join this orchegtra can contact Mr. Choma in Batawa.

At the conclusion of the program, Mrs. Joan Isaac presented Mrs. Marion Stratton, the concert master of the orchestra, with a beautiful bouquet of roses on behalf of CJBQ. Following the concert the members of the orchestra and friends, along with the many members of the radio station who helped make this evening successful, were entertained at a reception in the Pinnacle Room in the Hotel Quinte.

Mrs. T.P.: I pine for the Great Outdoors, yet he never takes me on his camping trips.

Mr. T.P.: My camping trips are usually part of business trips and the women are along.

Mrs. T.P.: I'm a woman of 50 and up to the time of my marriage last year, I held a responsible position as cafeteria manager and cook in the school system of New Meadow. While visiting my brother in California, I met Tom. We corresponded for several months and were married last Thanksgiving.

Maybe his disregard of my tastes comes from not knowing me well enough. I can't believe it's because he doesn't care. But he not only moved me into a city apartment, even though I've lived on farms all my life, he also leaves me behind during his frequent trips into the woods and mountains.

I hunger for the wide open outdoor life. I used to get my fill of it when I served as a spell of fishing and camping. Also, I miss the companionship of three sons and seven grandchildren, especially since I get so little of Tom's.

Mr. T.P.: I'm in the lumber business and my trips into woods aren't pleasure jaunts. They're business. Nobody brings a wife along. I'm in the woods to operate, visit mills and work out deals. Regina would be completely out of place. I'm sorry she takes this the wrong way.

This is the only fault I have to find with Tom. He's too sensitive, never seems to understand my position. The other day when I left to go to town, I happened to say, "Well, I won't see you a smiling face across the table for a few days." She began to cry and accused me of being tired of her.

I have very little real recreation. When I do, I still like some of it with my wife, pal, and save some for Regina, too. But she's not working now and she's perfectly free to get out of the country by herself whenever she wishes.

The Council: Home, home on the range, and the discouraging word from Mrs. P. is gas range! That's not the range a free-roaming soul like she wants to be tethered to.

How dense can a man be? Here he's plucked a woman from her accustomed milieu, moved her hundreds of miles from her family and left her isolated but from the familiar haunts and activities, and then expects her to fill the void by sitting around waiting for him or wandering out into new byways and trails all by herself.

He, on the other hand goes along in the same old same sort of life he had before marriage, except that now he has a good cook on call and instead of a female companion when he wants one, which doesn't seem to be very often.

Nevertheless, there's still romance and music in the air for this pair. Their unorthodox marriage occurred rather suddenly. Evidently they knew neither each other nor the nature of marriage very well.

The missing ingredient here is compassion. How? By doing the considerate thing by each other, even though it's not the comfortable, convenient thing.

Soroptimist Club Enjoys Dinner Meet

The November dinner and business meeting of the Bellerville Soroptimist service club was held in Johnny's banquet hall at the Bellerville Plaza.

Miss Smith gave a colorful and vivid description of her recent trip as a delegate to the International Council of Nurses held in Melbourne, Australia.

Soroptimist Margaret Kerr, Reg. N., editor of The Student Nurse, and president of the Montreal Soroptimist Club, was also a delegate to this nurses' convention.

Miss Smith stopped at Hawaii, the Fiji Islands, New Zealand, Singapore, Hong Kong and Japan, and in each case gave a vivid description and stressed the point that the people themselves, whom she met, were by far the most interesting and extended a gracious and special welcome to Canadians.

The speaker was introduced by Miss Margaret Fairbairn and thanked by Miss Helen Keeler.

Hillcrest H-S Hears Talk on 'Fluoridation'

The regular monthly meeting of the Hillcrest Home and School Association was held on November 19, in the school auditorium.

The president, Mrs. Betty Way, welcomed the members and conducted the business session and Mrs. Williams presided at the piano.

Plans were made for "Open House" early in December which it is hoped will be well attended.

The principal, Mr. Mursen introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Reid, who spoke on "Fluoridation" on the city water and its ill effects to the body.

Mrs. McMechan moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Reid.

Refreshments were served by the mothers of Mrs. Ketchen's room and a social time was enjoyed by all.

DETAIN 60

SPEAKING OF MANNERS BY PATRICIA LEWIS

WHAT'S YOUR E.Q.?

There are certain occasions when it's proper to give a gift and there are times when it's optional or, even unnecessary. Would you send or bring a gift for the following:

1. Is it necessary to bring a gift to a wedding anniversary party?

2. Is a gift usually brought to a birthday party for an adult?

3. Must a gift be brought to the house each time you dine at her home?

4. Is a hostess gift essential when you're a house guest?

5. Do guests usually bring gifts to an engagement party?

6. Must a wedding gift be sent even though you cannot attend the wedding and reception?

7. Is it necessary to send a gift to a bridde-to-be if you cannot attend a bridal shower in her honor?

8. Is a gift always brought to a housewarming?

9. Is a gift customarily sent in response to a birth announcement?

10. Is a gift usually sent in response to a wedding announcement?

ANSWERS:

1. Close friends and relatives usually bring gifts, but no one really has to feel obligated to do so.

2. Again, guests don't have to feel that a gift is a "must," but intimates generally bring a token.

3. An occasional gift is in order if you dine there often, but it's not necessary to bring a present every time.

4. It's not essential, but it's thoughtful and an accepted practice.

5. No. Relatives of the groom may give the bride gifts, but generally guests are not expected to give engagement presents and usually don't.

6. Optional. A gift is sent if the couple are relatives or very close friends.

7. Yes, a gift should be sent even if you cannot attend the shower.

8. A gift is customary, but it's not a ly a small, inexpensive household item.

9. No, But, again, close friends may do so if they prefer.

10. It's not necessary.

Impact of the Artificial Christmas Tree Discussed

OTTAWA (CP)—The impact of the artificial Christmas tree —metal or pl~stic—on the old fashioned kind was discussed Thursday before the Senate land use committee.

Some revelations:

The modern natural tree is a pampered product compared with the kind that grandad used to cut on the back 40. Expenses for fertilizer, pruning and spraying on Christmas tree farms are increasing costs.

Competition from artificial trees includes Japanese, cres~ent trees to six feet tall, coming in slender tubes at prices around 25 cents in 10,000 lots for importers.

Meanwhile, said Secretary-Treasurer J. A. MacDonald of the Canadian Tree Farmers' Association, Christmas "tree farming is an unpredictable business and "I'd hate to have much money tied up in it."

Christmas trees, a $5,797,000 export business last year, down from $6,642,000 in 1960, were just one facet of a brief to the committee.

The association formed in 1959 urged two main points.

One was government assistance in spreading the concept of private tree farming as a legitimate agricultural pursuit, as had been done in Scandinavia and many other European countries.

The other was tax revision to remove obstacles to the private tree farm, a long-term operation that must look 60 years ahead in planning its harvesting of pulp and saw logs.

Mr. MacDonald said Canada's privately-owned woodlots are capable under proper management of meeting the national demand for pulpwood.

Unless something was done, despite seemingly vast forest resources on government-owned land, the Canadian pulp, paper and lumber industry in 20 years would be in competitive trouble.

Other Provinces Are Not Contemplating An Election

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Election fever may be spreading across the country but you would never know it from the communiqués of premiers whose next provincial voting date is still in doubt.

Four provincial elections in a span of less than five weeks between Nov. 4 and Dec. 11 stirred speculation that other provinces might fall in line before next spring when a Dominion election can be held.

Quebec returned Liberal Premier Jean Lesage with an increased majority Nov. 14, Newfoundland voted Joey Smallwood's Liberals back into power Nov. 19 with about the same majority as before. The Progressive Conservative governments of Prince Edward Island and Manitoba will seek re-election Dec. 10 and 14 respectively.

Here is what premiers or their spokesmen in the other nine provinces, where previous elections were held in 1959 or 1960, have to say:

Nova Scotia: Premier Robert Stanfield, PC—"the idea of a provincial election at this time has never entered our minds."

Last voted June 7, 1960.

New Brunswick: Premier Louis J. Robichaud, Liberal—"the only reason for an election would be to prove the unpopularity of the Conservative party. That is no reason for an election." Last voted June 27, 1960.

Ontario: Premier John P. Robarts, PC—"We are in the midst of preparing for a very busy and important session of the legislature. I have given no thought to the possibility of an election. Last voted June 11, 1959.

Saskatchewan: Premier Woodrow S. Lloyd, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation — "the next provincial election can be expected when we decide to call it." Last voted June 8, 1960.

Alberta: Premier Ernest C. Manning, Social Credit — "we have always followed the traditional pattern of an election every four years and see no reason to depart from it now. Today across the country they seem to be regarding elections as a political game instead of attending to business." Last voted June 18, 1959.

British Columbia: Attorney-General Robert Bonner, Social Credit, in the absence of Premier W. A. C. Bennett—"We oppose the theory that we can go to the country on 24 hours notice." Last voted Sept. 12, 1960.

The raid there was between the town of Bomdila, which they captured earlier this week, and the foothills of Assam. They were partly dispersed and then together Xehru said, and had stopped.

Asked whether there was any sign of a Chinese withdrawal, Nehru said that the Chinese had promised to begin withdrawing Dec. 1 and "there has been no kind of advance reported or firing" in any of the battle sectors.

But informed sources said the Indians would use the Chinese-imposed lull in fighting to build up their military strength to give protection against a possible Communist attack in force.

WON'T TRUST CHINESE

The sources said Nehru had lost faith in Chinese promises and had no intention of being caught unawares again.

They said government leaders suspected the Chinese declared the cease-fire and made their peace-offer to consolidate positions already won and to win the goodwill of the Afro-Asian countries.

Missamari is about 30 miles from Foothills, which was almost overrun by the Chinese before the cease-fire.

DEGLAMORIZE SMOKING

LONDON (AP)—The British tobacco industry advisory committee said Thursday its cigarette-maker members have agreed to deglamorize their advertising in all media. A spokesman for the committee said future advertising will refrain from featuring heroes of the teen-age set, suggesting that it is manly or socially uplifting to smoke, or equating romance and smoking.

T. Burnside Acclaimed as Madoc Reeve

MADOC (Special) — Reeve Thomas Burnside of Madoc village, has received acclamation for another term of office as result of nominations held Thursday evening.

Reeve Burnside was the only man named for the position.

Thomas Rupert also received acclamation as public utilities member.

There were five nominations for the four positions on council. All of this year's councillors, Miss Oliver Ash, Walter Armstrong, Wesley Hulin and Keith Chambers were nominated, as was Percy Darryl.

Four were nominated for the three positions open on Public School Board. Nominated were: John Britton, George Fox, George Devolin and Durland Adams.

Considerable attention has been focused on the parliamentary divorce system in recent years by the campaign of Mr. Howard and Mr. Peters in favor of having the Exchequer Court of Canada handle Quebec and Newfoundland divorces.

They have blocked Commons passage of divorce bills, which come to Parliament at the rate of about 300 a year. Their blockade has resulted in a backlog of some 700 divorce bills in the current parliamentary session.

Both NDP members would be expected to halt their procedural blockade should the negotiations in reference get the question to a royal commission supported by all four parties.

"What is required is a willingness to plan the country's economic future—to intervene at every stage, if that is necessary, in order to provide jobs and security for all Canadians. . . . We ought to be prepared to regulate investment, to regulate the location of industry, to regulate the development of new products."

Mr. Berger said it isn't good enough to say that the federal government will come on the scene with its "adjustment" plans after all these decisions have been made in the top echelon of industry by "people who are not responsible to the country itself."

Only Christians Sang

By ROY L. SMITH

Let us give thanks for the fact that the Roman Catholic Church has kept alive the memory of the martyrs. No one can estimate what it cost in blood and tears to preserve the Christian Church and Gospel.

As one reads the book of Acts in the New Testament, he gets the impression that the Christians were forever fighting for something, and against something. The number of those who gave their lives for the faith, and have been relatively small, but the number of those who were willing to give their lives was co-extensive with the membership of the Church.

The times were so terrible that the timid, the ashamed, the unconvinced, the half-hearted were all drained off. No one joined the first century Church with the idea that membership therein was going to add to his prestige, and certainly no one ever came in with the hope that it would win votes for him. Anyone joining the Church knew from the outset that he was joining the persecuted, the tormented, the endangered, and the self-denying.

No Christian expected mercy at the hands of the Roman authorities. None counted on powerful friends coming to the rescue. There was no bill of rights to which any man might appeal, and no 5th amendment he might invoke.

Every person who joined the first century Christian Church knew the risk he was taking.

SINGING HYMNS IN JAIL

Paul and Silas had set out from Troas, in Asia, on their missionary journey to Europe, with such confidence, and with such high hopes.

Silas doubtless followed Paul in believing that the appearance of the "Man from Macedonia," whom Paul saw in his dream, was an actual messenger from God. And if God were calling, then was the right time to expect failure. But within months of days Paul and Silas were in trouble with the authorities, and in jail. It was a sorry ending for an adventure begun with such faith and confidence.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for November 25: "Redemption: Man's Response" Acts 9:10-25; 2:1-11; 10 4-13; 1 John 1:5-10; 2 Corinthians 11:24-28.

That jail was a terrible place, and the other prisoners there resented the off-scourings of a vicious world. There were no sanitary provisions, no food was furnished by the jailer, and no man "respected any other man. To make matters worse, every man in the jail had been flogged, as part of the jailing procedure, and as he crouched off the cold stone floor his back bled from scores of wounds.

And Paul and Silas were singing hymns! It is highly probable that the walls of that jail echoed to the sound of song that night for the first time since it was built. It was well acquainted with curses. But songs! Only Christians sang!

THE WOUND WASHER

Earthquakes are more or less common in all sections of the Middle East, and the tourist of today will be shown ruins after ruins, with the explanation that "An earthquake did it."

Roman law held the jailer responsible for the safe-keeping of his prisoners, and if one escaped the jailer might pay the forfeit of his own life. The wrecked jail, the unconfined prisoners, and the darkness which prevented the jailer from taking any precautionary measures, combined to make a terrifying situation. His frantic cry was, in all probabilities, the outcry of a man who could forsee death for himself and all his family.

But the Apostle Paul, calm and confident, seized the opportunity and turned it to an evangelistic account, with the result that the jailer and his household (probably including children) were baptized forthwith.

The reaction of the jailer is a thrilling and a profoundly meaningful detail. The man who had inflicted the wounds washed them. He would have been easy to have called a deputy and assigned him to the grisly task, but instead the flogger became the wound washer.

The most reliable test of the integrity of any man's conversion is his willingness to go about washing wounds. Zacchaeus, the Jericho tax-gatherer, did it: The Philippian jailer did it. The woman off the street did it for Jesus.

It now remains for any of us who have inflicted wounds to proceed forthwith to the washing of those same wounds. That is man's response to redemption.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1962

Aerial view of Belleville's new sewage disposal plant in Foster Ward is seen in above William E. Riley photo. Thousands of yards of fill were required to raise the level of the former swampy bayshore area. Plant is expected to be in full operation in about two weeks but there will be no official opening until next spring.

City Sewage Disposal Plant Costing Two-and-One-Half Million Dollars About Ready to Go Into Operation

After more than a year of traffic disruptions as city streets were dug up for installation of new collector trunk sewers, together with a costly construction program on the Bay front, Belleville's two-and-a-half million dollar sewage disposal plant is about ready to go into operation.

Already the plant is partly operative and gradually as the bugs are taken out, the disposal plant is expected to be in full operation within two weeks time.

Since last fall construction firms have been ripping up streets to lay big collector sewers to both east and west Belleville and north through the Coleman Flats to the College Hill area.

But that is all in the past and section by section the city sewer system will be tied in with the disposal plant on the city's waterfront.

To date only Newberry Street sewage is entering the plant. But within a few days the East Belleville trunk sewer will be tied in and others will follow.

SOON IN OPERATION

Alderman Jack Ellis, chairman of the city council special sewage project committee, said the plant is expected to be completely in operation by the end of November or early in December.

But there will be no official opening until the spring, as with the possibility of inclement weather and the local election it has been decided to delay the "official", opening until May or June.

Delay in the arrival of specialized equipment for pumping stations has held up completion of both the Dundas West station and the one at Firemen's Park in downtown Belleville. The West Dundas Street station was required to get the sewage "over the bump" to allow for gravity-feed to the Moira River.

This equipment is now in place and the Dundas Street station will be operative within a matter of days.

But the pumping station on Fireman's Park which receives sewage from the west side of the river is not quite complete.

And until this station is completed sewage from both sides of the river now discharging into the Moira, will continue to go into the river.

PRIMARY TREATMENT

With the completion of the Firemen's Park pumping station, sewage will be pumped along a new force main to the sewage plant.

The plant provides for what is known as "primary treatment" only. Secondary treatment in which a greater percentage of solids are taken from the effluent, will come later.

But this does not mean there will be an objectionable odor from the plant. On the contrary engineers claim this will not be the case.

The effluent with approximately 60 per cent of the suspended solids removed, will be discharged through an outfall pipe 1,500 feet out into the bay.

Operation of a sewage plant is largely automatic with a variety of specialized pumping equipment, dials and recording equipment to give a complete 24-hour picture of the entire operation.

Chief operator or supervisor of the plant is Don Little who currently has two assistants. Eventually five or six of a staff will be required.

KEEP TEMPERATURE HIGH

Sludge and solids from the primary tanks are pumped into the big circular digestion tanks where a constant temperature of about 90 degrees is maintained to complete the treatment operation.

Sludge from the digester tanks (containing from five to 10 per cent solids) will be sold as fertilizer and trucked away.

Methane gas from the digester tanks operation is forced back through the tanks to speed the treatment and excess gas is syphoned off to heat the plant boiler which in turn provides the heat to maintain constant temperature in the digester tanks. Plant buildings are also heated from the same fuel source.

When there is insufficient gas to provide adequate heat, supply will be drawn from the Lakeland Natural Gas distribution system.

But engineers feel when the plant is in full operation there will be no need to purchase gas.

NO MORE RAW SEWAGE

With the sewage plant in complete operation no more raw sewage will be dumped into the river and bay, thus realizing a long time dream of city officials and residents.

In fact a sewage disposal plant was proposed for the city away back in the late 1930's.

City taxpayers approved the project and Gore and Storrie, consulting engineers, were retained to prepare plans.

Estimated cost of the project at that time was around a million dollars. But the project was never carried out.

BECAME MANDATORY

A few years ago, however, the Ontario Water Resources Commission, alarmed at the increasing level, of pollution in Ontario waterways, made the installation of sewage treatment plants mandatory by the municipalities.

By that time, however, Belleville had grown from a city of around 12,000 to a municipality of close to 20,000 and servicing of newly annexed areas was necessary.

Expensive trunk sewers to the east and west and also to the north were required and this along with the decreasing value of the dollar, helped to swell the costs.

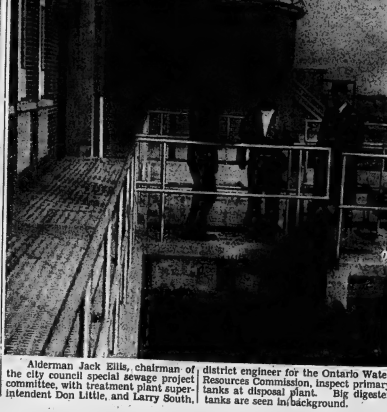
Of the overall two and a half million cost to date, approximately 10 per cent is being borne by the Federal Government.

But the city's sewage disposal project still has a considerable distance to go.

Main trunk sewers are still scheduled for servicing industrial land in the extreme north end of the city, south of 401 Highway, while plans also call for eventual secondary treatment of sewage.

Cost of the complete overall sewage project has been estimated at between four and five million dollars, but the Ontario Municipal Board has not feel the city was in position to do the complete installation at the one time.

So the initial phase of three trunk sewers and the primary treatment plant only was approved and it is this which is now getting into operation.



The remaining phases of the project are something for what city officials hope is in the not too distant future.

OLDEST FLAG

Recording gauges controlling operation of plant digester tanks is explained to Alderman Ellis by chief operator of plant. Treatment plant is composed of open primary tanks, digester tanks, administration building, grit remover and pumping stations.

Will Seek Seat Now Held by Kelso Roberts

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. Russell Taylor, 31-year-old vice-president of the Toronto and District Liberal Association, announced Thursday he will seek to unseat Lands and Forests Minister Kelso Roberts in the next Ontario election.

So, too, was Dr. Taylor's intention of forming a provincial Liberal riding association for Toronto St. Patrick.

Dr. Taylor issued a statement that he will start his campaign immediately in St. Patrick, held since 1943 by the former attorney-general.

Dr. Taylor said the nomination of provincial Liberal candidates for election in St. Patrick had previously been handled by Toronto St. Paul Federal Liberal association even though part of St. Patrick lies in the federal riding of Toronto Spadina.

Dr. Boyd Upper, assistant to Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer, commented: "This man is acting completely on his own. As far as I know he has not sought anyone's advice regarding what he plans to do."

Doukhobors Will Likely Settle Down for Winter

HOPE, B.C. (CP)—The trekking Sons of Freedom Doukhobors appear to be settling down in a summer camp here until spring, a member of the RCMP's (the Doukhobor) squad said Thursday.

The 1,000 sect members who left their farmed-out Kootenay homes early in September moved into the Seventh Day Adventist summer camp near here when forced out of nearby Coquihalla municipal park by the rain - swollen Coquihalla River.

Church officials said they offered the accommodation on a temporary basis only and asked government assistance for the Doukhobors.

Said a member of the D squad: "Their present quarters are near-ideal and no one expects them to continue the trek until the end of winter."

CARS DERAILED

OSWEGO, N.Y. (AP)—Twelve coal cars of a 104-car freight were derailed early Thursday and ripped up 200 feet of track just south of here. No one was injured. The New York Central train was carrying freight to Oswego to be shipped to Canada.

West European Businessmen Moving Closer to Free, Unrestricted Competition

After years of running industry for their own profit, Western Europe's big businessmen have switched to capitalism, North American style. This has helped produce the amazing European business boom. The problem now, says an Associated Press reporter in the last of a series, is how to get European labor to believe in capitalism, too.

By RICHARD O'REGAN

But, for the first time, West European businessmen are moving closer to ideas of free, unrestricted competition.

The radical change in their attitude has contributed to Europe's 300,000,000 people today living twice as well as before the war. They still live less than 60 per cent as well as Americans, however.

What makes capitalism in Europe different?

First, governments own almost 20 per cent of European industry.

Second, where private enterprise exists it is often controlled. Either the government, or it what it must do or businesses themselves get together to restrict trade and protect inefficient companies.

FEW OWNERS

Third, private investment is frequently subject to direct government supervision. Only a small hierarchy at the top of European society owns big business.

Up to the Second World War European companies mostly were owned by clannish, long-established families. International rage kept money inside the families. Nobody could break their hold.

In big business there were huge cartels. Some 1,500 of them in pre-Hitler Germany, price-rationing cartels. There were laws to protect small business.

The idea of prewar European capitalism was to make the biggest profit with the least production. Markups were enormous.

Nobody thought of mass markets in which mass cheap production meant more jobs, thus more money to spend and so more business.

BEGAN REVIVAL

In the disorganized scramble to exist after the war, capitalism began to revive on the continent. Overseas financial aid helped.

For a few years, European capitalists started off with their old practices. But in the last 10 years, changes described as revolutionary by some economists have taken place.

European capitalists opened their eyes to the idea of big mass markets and free, unrestricted trade.

This is why there now is general business support for the European Common Market. In the Common Market, France, Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg have agreed to abolish gradually all restrictions on trade. These countries will be wide open by 1970, according to plans.

Common Market bankers will be free to open up business in all the six member countries by 1966. Retail shops can do the same by 1969.

The Common Market authorities will have the right to fine any firm that tries to restrict free competition. Company mergers will be forbidden without Common Market permission.

QUICK CHANGE

This is a far cry from a few years ago.

Nevertheless, from tiny Switzerland, Europe's most capitalistic nation, to Norway's highly-socialized economy, public and semi-public government agencies have their fingers in banks, railways, airlines, electricity, coal-mining, steel, oil, transport and chemicals in varying degrees.

As for labor, the average West European worker has more cradle-to-the-grave security than the average North American.

Governments have huge outlays for old-age and unemployment benefits, health services and medical aid. French workers get up to 50 per cent above their regular pay in allowances for families.

West Germany spends 30 per cent of its budget in social services, including subsidized housing.

Kennedy's Aides Probe Possibility of New Pacts On Major East-West Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Kennedy administration leaders are investigating the possibility of new agreements with Russia on important aboub major East-West issues—ranging from Berlin to nuclear testing—now that the Cuban crisis appears drawing to a close.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev has given various indications to President Kennedy through personal and diplomatic channels that he thinks the United States-Soviet confrontation over Cuba should now be made to yield some more-permanent results for world peace.

From the end of, the first week of the Cuban crisis, nevertheless, U.S. administration policy-makers have been interested in the opportunity for new diplomatic initiatives which might be opening up.

SET UP GROUPS

As it became evident that the crisis would not lead to nuclear war, study groups were set up under the direction of Walt W. Rostow, state department chief of policy planning. Their work is continuing. They are assessing potential Soviet moves and searching for possible new U.S. initiatives.

The first test of what the future may bring is expected to come when the 17-nation disarmament talks reopen in Geneva Monday. The talks were recessed Sept. 8 in advance of the United Nations General Assembly meeting in New York. They were scheduled to be resumed Nov. 12 but were delayed two weeks because of the continuing Cuban crisis.

Other negotiations are possible. There could be, for example, a foreign ministers' meeting on Berlin in the coming months if exploratory talks showed there is something to negotiate about.

WATTS RUSSIAN MOVE

Kennedy is expected to wait for Khrushchev to make any new move on Berlin, however, for two reason: 1. It was the Russians who deadlocked the last talks by demanding that the Western powers abandon West Berlin; 2. U.S. Allies, especially West German Chancellor Adenauer and French President de Gaulle, are fundamentally opposed to Western overtures on Berlin unless Khrushchev shows signs of softening his stand.

Issues in other fields may prove more negotiable. Kennedy disclosed at his press conference Tuesday that he is definitely interested in the possibility of creating a zone free of nuclear weapons in Latin America. He said the same concept could apply to Africa.

Kennedy also is prepared to push for various types of nuclear weapons test controls.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

The record remains intact. To date it stands: Wrong, 986; Right, 0. Percentage, 1,000.

Yesterday this scion of a long line of C.G.C.P.'s (Crystal-Gazing Crackpot Carvers), added another feather to his cap of notable unpredictions.

Being one of the outer-space football fans who dwell just beyond the viewing perimeter of the embattled Canadian television networks, football-wise, that is, I figured the family crystal ball an authority on the American professional game.

After all one should be some authority after having the American game forced down one's throat because four Eastern Canadian football clubs sold outside-the-fringe fans down the river for a few thousand pieces of silver per team.

Let those metropolitan columnists loose their polished at the CBC—and let the CBC retaliate in like vein in the current Battle of the Air Waves!—the fact remains the whole trouble started when the four eastern teams decided to "sell out."

Outside the few fans who have told me they can get the Tornado channel that carries Canadian football, the rest of us took what was left of the gridiron shows—and we liked what we saw.

Television-wise we got to like the more rugged American game. We became accustomed to the Giants, Colts, Packers, Rams, Lions, Bears and the rest of the south-of-the-border gridiron greats.

As a friend told me the other day he asked his football-minded offspring what he thought of the Alouettes-Hamilton game.

"What's the Alouettes, pop?" the youngster asked.

"The Montreal football team. What did you think I meant?"

"I thought it was a song you and those men sing when you go to conventions," came the youngster's reply.

But back to the crystal ball. I dug out that glass Ananias yesterday afternoon just before the Green Bay Packers were thrown to the Detroit Lions. It was as plain as the vodka stains on Nikita's cravat. Green Bay by at least two touchdowns.

And as that overgrown pill shrunk itself in shame I saw what I believed was one of the greatest displays of two-way football the den private eye has shown to date. These Lions smelled raw Packer meat. They whistled them down to Cub size and looked practically helpless until the fourth quarter when the Packers showed some of the form that took them unbeaten to this phase of the season. The score: Lions 26, Packers 14.

So I carved another notch on the prediction gun. It ranges alongside such goofs as Patterson over Liston; the Dodgers over the Giants; Giants over the Yankees; Moore over Clay; Chicago over Maple Leafs; Jack Turcliff over Mayor Charlotte Whitton; Carry Back to win the International; Argonauts over anybody; Palmer over Nicklaus, and so on down the line.

And now to another big one. Tomorrow the Hamilton Tigers clash with the Montreal Alouettes in that all-important second game at Hamilton. The Tabbies hold an 11-point margin. Out in Winnipeg the Blue Bombers tangle with the Calgary Stampeders in the big sudden-death Cup semi-final.

So here we go. Hamilton over Alouettes and the Bombers to eliminate the Stamps.

Anyone got a ticket to the Grey Cup game between Montreal and Calgary?

Runs in Mile, Half Mile

Peter Snell Confident

PERTH, Australia (AP) — Peter Snell of New Zealand says he is convinced he can win the mile and half mile at the British Empire Games but not at world record times.

The 24-year-old apprentice surveyor, who holds world records for both distances of 3:54.4 and 1:45.1, plans to win gold medals here on his own terms.

Snell said he would be happy to win the mile in around 3:57 and the 880 yards in about 1:47.

"The mile will be the easier race and I believe I can win half mile overseas," Snell said. It comfortably," he said. The "I've met Kerr seven times boyish-looking Auckland ace re- since the Rome Olympics and gards fellow New Zealander beaten him six times. In Dublin John Davies as his chief rival. I ran 1:47.2 and he won by a Although Scotland's Mike Ber- yard."

Broadway Blues Blast Bruins ★★★★★

Chihawks, Habs Blank Leafs, Wings

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sparked by their big, smooth-skating first line of Earl Ingarfield, Andy Bathgate and Andy Hebenton, New York Rangers have quietly turned the NHL standings into a five-team tight.

Rangers pounded the hapless Boston Bruins 7-1 Thursday night before an incensed Boston crowd. The blasting Rangers have won four of their last five games to pull out of a race for the league cellar with Bruins.

Boston centre Don McKenney scored Bruins' goal with less than two minutes left to play, spoiling Ranger goalie Gump Worsley's shutout bid.

Chicago moved into a first-place tie with Detroit Red Wings by blanking Toronto Maple Leafs 1-0 while Montreal Canadiens, inspired by masked goalie Jacques Plante, shut out the Red Wings 3-0 in Detroit.

Montreal thus moved within a point of third-place Toronto.

Ingarfield counted two goals, his seventh and eighth of the season, Thursday night to dominate Rangers' attack on right wing, scored once when Boston was pressing in the second period and added two assists.

SPOIL MILT'S DEBUT

The Ingarfield-Bathgate-Hebenton trio upset Milt Schmidt's debut as Boston coach Wednesday night, each fireing a goal in the second period to shoot Rangers into a 4-0 win.

They had as little mercy on Schmidt Thursday night as Bathgate moved into a tie for second place in individual scoring with Parker MacDonald of Detroit. Each has 18 points, two behind league - leading Detroit centre Alex Delvecchia.

New York defenceman Larry Cahan also got two goals and winger Dave Balon and rookie defenceman Jim Neilson added singles. Rangers were held to a 1-0 lead during the first period on Ingarfield's first goal, but opened up a 3-0 lead in the second and riddled Boston's rookie goalie Ed Johnston for four more markers in the third.

At Chicago, Hawk defenceman Pierre Pilote's power-play goal during the second period was the night's scoring, but six five-minute majors for fighting were given out.

OUT FOR FIGHTING

Four of them were for a donnybrook which broke out seconds before the final horn between Chicago's Murray Balfour and Toronto's Ed Shack. Leafs' Tim Horton and Chicago's Reg Fleming drew four of the game's 10 penalties, spending 11 minutes in the sin-bin.

Montreal put on a strong show, with centre Phil Goyette opening scoring at 15 minutes of the second period and veteran defenceman Geoffrion and Dickie Moore scoring in the third.

Plante fielded 24 shots for the shutout.

Trimble Picks Bombers

Cats Confident, Als Have Problem

HAMILTON (CP)—Coach Jim Trimble is already interviewing who will be representing the West in the Grey Cup game, but he scoffs at suggestions his Hamilton Tiger-Cats might be getting overconfident.

After a fast trip to Winnipeg to watch the second game of the Western Football Conference best-of-three final, Trimble put the Tigers through a workout Thursday night, then said:

"It seems to me that our people have worked harder this week than they have in the last few weeks. We have confidence in our ability, but we're not over-confident."

But you couldn't blame Trimble or his players for feeling a little more at ease than Montreal Alouettes. The Tiger-Cats beat the Als 28-17 Friday Saturday in Montreal. They will carry an 11-point lead into the windup game of the Eastern Conference two-game, total-points final at Civic Stadium here Saturday.

The series winner meets the Western victor in the Grey Cup at Toronto's Saturday, Dec. 1. Trimble already is guessing which Western team will journey east for the classic.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers, he says. He bases his diagnosis on Wednesday night's battle in Winnipeg, won 19-11 by the Bombers, 1961 cup champs, over Calgary Stampeders. That tied the series 1-1 and the third engagement is set for Saturday.

"They (the Bombers) looked like their Grey Cup team in the second half," Trimble said. "They jelled in the fourth quarter and kicked the debey out of Calgary. It looked like they told 'em we're going to run over you,' and then did.

"Calgary conceivably can make it, but that last 15 minutes could well have decided the series."

The Ticats go into seclusion in a suburban motel tonight for lectures and to shake off fans. If Saturday's game, to start at 1 p.m. EST, is tied after regulation play the teams will play a full 20-minute overtime period. If still deadlocked, the game will proceed into as many sudden-death 20-minute overtime sessions as necessary, with the first point scored ending the game.

The game will be televised over the CTV network.

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Alouettes face the distinct possibility of having six players on double duty for the second game of their Eastern Football Conference final against Hamilton Tiger-Cats Saturday.

Als have 11 points to make up in the second game of a home - and - home series. They bowed 28-17 to the Ticats in the opener here last Saturday.

With the setback, Moss was left with a major disability problem that could leave six players for a double work-load —duty on offence and defence.

He said his entire roster—including those listed as injured—will make the trip to Hamilton. His lineup probably won't be settled until just before kick-off time.

Defensive tackle Ted Elsby is definitely out with a shoulder separation.

GAVE UP HOPES

But Clark and Oliver were so hampered they had to give it up halfway, and Wayte confined his workout to running sprints on the sidelines.

Clark injured his right knee last Saturday and, like Elsby, had to leave the game in the second quarter. He said Thursday night he can run a straight line, but the knee gives when he tries to turn on it.

Oliver has a severe rib injury and is taking whirlpool bath treatments.

Bobby Lee Thompson, who aggravated a charley horse in the opener, and Barrie Hansen, convalescing from a slight ankle sprain, appeared fit for Saturday.

Moss had Thompson figured as one of the six two-way men, working as Clark's replacement on the attack while carrying out normal defensive halfback job.

The others line up this way: On offence, Dick Dalatri at centre, Milt Crain at tackle, George Dixon at halfback and Marv Luster and Jim Reynolds at end. On defence, Dalatri goes to tackle and Crain to middle guard with Luster and Dixon as halfbacks and Reynolds as a corner-linebacker.

In previous games, Luster was the club's only regular two-way performer.

CANADIAN THIRD

BERWICK, Pa. (AP)—Kevin Quinn of the Delaware Valley Athletic Association won the 53rd Thanksgiving Day cross country marathon Thursday in 48 minutes and 26 seconds.

A field of 42 entered the 9.3-mile event, which ended in a driving rain.

Second place went to Lieut. Breckenridge of Quantico, Va., in 48:36. In third place was Robert Buchanan, of St. Catharines, Ont., in 49:24.

National League Names

Maury Wills MVP

At Least No One Was Killed

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League gave thanks Thursday, the United States' Thanksgiving Day—thanks they're alive.

NEW YORK (AP) — Maury Wills, mercury-footed shortstop with Los Angeles Dodgers and the first major leaguer in modern baseball to steal 100 bases in a season, today was named the National League's most valuable player of 1962.

The 30-year-old son of a Baptist minister won in a close race with Willie Mays, brilliant centre fielder of the champion San Francisco Giants. Wills drew 208 points to 202 for Mays in the annual poll of a 20-man committee of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

It was the fourth time in the last five years the award went to a shortstop. Ernie Banks of Chicago Cubs won in 1958 and 1959 and Dick Groat of Pittsburgh Pirates (now with St. Louis Cardinals) in 1960.

Wills clashed for 104 stolen bases, played in all 165 of his team's games, including a three-game league playoff, collected 208 hits, batted .299 and fielded more than adequately. He drew eight first-place votes to seven for Mays, and that proved decisive. First place counts 14 points, second place nine, third place eight and so on down to one for 10th.

Picton Jrs. Debut Here Tonight!

"Turk" Barclay's Belleville Juniors will not only be seeking their first win but also their first goal of the season here tonight when they play host to the pesky Picton Merchants in a nine o'clock game.

The locals have been blanked in their only two starts, 7-0 by Kingston and 3-0 in Peterborough and Barclay feels that the club is due to break out in a scoring rash.

The team played an improved game in Peterborough, compared with the Kingston encounter here, but it still took a top performance from goalie Sam Haskill to keep the score at 3-0.

Haskill will miss tonight's game, according to reports, because of a school affair in the Eastern Professional Hockey League standings. The top two teams, Kingston Frontenacs and Hull-Ottawa Canadiens, were idle.

COWAN IN LEAD

PORT ST. LUCIE, Fla. (CP) — Gary Cowan of Kitchener held the first-round lead after play Thursday in the 72-hole Perry Como invitational golf tournament. Cowan, former Canadian amateur champion, shot a five-under-par 67 over the St. Lucie Country Club course.

Pro Wolves Drop Pair To Amateurs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sudbury Wolves can relax. They return to their own kind tonight.

Thursday night they finished a three-game tour of the International Hockey League that gave them two losses and a close-shave victory.

Fort Wayne Komets defeated them 8-4 Thursday night. The Wolves were beaten 6-3 Wednesday night by Port Huron Flags and in their first IHL sortie they were hard-pressed for a 7-6 overtime victory over Muskegon Muskies.

Tonight the third-place Wolves are at home to the last-place Syracuse Braves, who walloped Minneapolis Millers 8-0 in the only other game Thursday.

The results made no change in the Eastern Professional Hockey League standings. The top two teams, Kingston Frontenacs and Hull-Ottawa Canadiens, were idle.

Aussies Win Two Gold Medals

Two 'Silver' To Canadians

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

PERTH, Australia (CP)—In a tremendous display of power, Australian swimmers won their first two gold medals of the British Empire Games today and set a world record each time while Canada finished second twice behind the Aussies to capture a pair of silver medals.

An Australian quartet anchored by world freestyle champion Dawn Fraser swept to victory in the women's 440-yard freestyle relay in the world record time of four minutes, 11.1 seconds.

Minutes later in the $1,000,000 Beatty Park Pool, Australia's men's 880-yard freestyle relay team established another world mark of eight minutes, 13.5 seconds.

And in the swimming heats, the Aussies also were virtually rewriting the record book. One Games record after another fell.

CANUCKS ADVANCE

In track and field, Harry Jerome and two other Canadian sprinters advanced to the second round of the 100-yard dash, and in fencing a New Zealander won the gold medal for the women's individual foils.

Tom Dinsley of Vancouver placed third after the compulsory phase of the men's springboard diving and the other Canadian entrant, Yugoslav-born Krnie Meianer of Kitchener, Ont., was sixth. The free choice competition next Tuesday will complete the event.

Lynn Bell, Robyn Thorn, Ruth Everuss and Miss Fraser gave the Aussies their first gold medal of the Games in the 440 relay.

The same four girls set the previous still-to-be - recognized world mark of 4:13.8 at Melbourne last Oct. 22. Miss Fraser also anchored the Aussie team that established the officially-recognized world mark of 4:16.2 at Townsville in 1961.

The new world standard also wiped from the books the Games record of 4:17.4 set in the 1958 Games at Cardiff, Wales by Australia. That quartet, too, was anchored by Miss Fraser.

CANADIANS LAG

The Canadians, anchored by world butterfly record - holder Mary Stewart of Vancouver, finished well behind the Aussies in 4:21.1 while the English team was clocked in 4:21.3.

Other members of the Canadian team were Patty Thompson of Hamilton, Ont., Sara Barber of Brantford, Ont., and Madeleine Sevigny of Montreal.

Miss Stewart did the last leg in 1:02.1. Miss Thompson was second behind Australia by a shoulder in the first leg. Miss Barber fell behind by about three lengths, Miss Sevigny lagged by at least eight lengths behind the Aussies and about half a length behind England.

Miss Stewart, who will be 17 next month, gradually cut England's lead and nipped Miss Wilkinson by the narrowest of margins.

Rose gave the Aussies a great start in the 880 by swimming a brilliant first leg which opened up a three-yard lead over Kelso and England's Pat Kendren.

Rose, a 21-year-old vegetarian, burned the first 110 yards in 58 seconds and seemed set to lower John Konrad's world record of 2:01.8, but he labored badly in the last 20 yards and could only get within 7-10th of the mark.

However, Rose set up an eight-yard lead that was increased gradually to almost a length of the 55-yard pool by the time Windle dived in for the anchor leg.

SENSES RECORD

The crowd of 7,000, sensing a probable world record, lost all interest in Canada and England as they battled gamely for second place. Gilchrist fought back from third position in the three-team race and drew away from John Martin-Dye to beat out the Englishman by five feet and nail down the silver medal for Canada.

Dot Coleman gave New Zealand its first gold medal by winning the women's individual foils championship. Joane Winter and Janet Hopper, both Australians, finished second and third respectively.

In the men's 880, the combination of Murray Rose, Tony Wood, Tony Straiton and Bob Windle, the anchor man, clipped 3.1 seconds off the previous world mark made by an Australian team in 1960.

The Australians finished about 45 yards ahead of Canada, clocked in 8:43.4. England was a yard farther back in 8:46.

Canada took the silver medal in the women's 440 on a great first-leg swim by Miss Thompson and the strong anchor by Miss Stewart in the opening swimming and diving competition.

WINS BY TOUCH

Miss Stewart battled England's Dianna Wilkinson to win second place by a touch after a great breathing battle throughout the final 110. But they lost ground to Miss Fraser, who was clocked in 59.3 seconds from a flying start in the last leg to give the Aussies the gold medal by about 10 lengths.

Miss Fraser's time was the fastest for the distance ever swum by a woman but cannot be recognized as a record because of the flying start. The Aussie star holds the 100-metre world record of 59.9 seconds. The 100 metres is slightly less than the 110 yards.

Score Stunning 26-14 Win

Lions Overwhelm Packers

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Despite a loss which shows that Green Bay Packers are human after all, coach Vince Lombardi's defending National Football League champions do not plan on wasting too much time in sewing up a third straight Western Conference title.

"This loss will make a better team out of us," Lombardi said following Thursday's startling 26-1 loss to Detroit Lions. "Look out for us now."

Green Bay's only second-place Detroit by a full game, has two left with the last-place Los Angeles Rams and one with San Francisco.

Detroit, with Milt Plum passing for two scores, jumped into a 23-0 half-time lead and never let the Packers off the floor of Detroit Stadium. For the second consecutive game, Green Bay's offence was held well below its 300-plus yards per game average, getting only 132 over-all, including only 47 rushing by fullback Jim Taylor, the NFL leader.

The Lions defensive front four of Sam Williams, Roger Brown, Alex Karras and Darris McCord, who have scored 20 points for this season, got eight Thursday. Williams scored his second touchdown of the year on a screen fumble and Brown racked up his second safety. Packer quarterback Bart Starr lost 112 yards trying to pass.

Defeat Hawks 5-3

Petes Lead Junior Loop

by THE CANADIAN PRESS

When the equipment was put on mothballs last spring, a suggestion that the last-place Peterborough Petes would be on top of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series in six months probably would have produced no more than a snicker.

They made it Thursday night, taking advantage of an idle night for Niagara Falls Flyers and Montreal Canadiens to vault ahead with a 5-3 victory over St. Catharines Black Hawks.

The win gives Peterborough 14 points, one ahead of the Flyers and Canadiens who are tied for second.

They have a better-than-average chance of holding on to the top rung for another day. Tonight they meet the last-place Guelph Royals who were beaten 7-4 last night by the fourth - place Hamilton Red Wings.

Niagara Falls' competition tonight is a bit stiffer—Hamilton —and the Canadiens are idle again.

Ron Naud was the sparkplug for Petes Thursday night, scoring twice. Kerry Bond, Dan Grant and Keith Wright each beat St. Catharines goaltender Jim Keough once.

Don Snider, John Brenneman and Archie Yurkiw tallied for the Black Hawks.

Paul Henderson, the series' leading scorer, got three more last night to pace the Red Wings. His splurge gave him 18 goals so far this season. Pit Martin added one goal and two assists to give him 29 points, also tops in the series. Bob Thomas added two goals and Bryan Campbell one.

The Greeks Had a Word for It

TORONTO (CP)—The touring Russian hockey team broke into rare smiles Thursday night when a woman interpreter stumbled over an earthy section of a speech by them by Oscar Brooks, veteran coach of minor hockey.

Brooks mentioned that Canadian boys once used lumps of manure for pucks when they played on frozen ponds.

The grins cafe at a banquet sponsored by the Canadian U.S.S.R. Association when translator Alice Jorowski sought words to express the term manure.

The Soviet players also smiled when Brooks told the story of Red McCusker, a Regina goalkeeper who always wore a towel around his neck at games in Prince Albert, Sask., for protection from fans who used to spit tobacco juice at him.

Lucille Ball of Desilu Takes Control of Company

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Lucille Ball of Desilu — described recently by an admirer as the "corporation president with the prettiest legs"—is winding up a short business trip to Manhattan and to date has not found her new added responsibilities particularly heavy.

A few weeks ago Lucy bought out the interest of Desi Arnaz, her former husband, and assumed his post as head of the big studios.

This puts her in the rather curious position of being the star of The Lucy Show, her own employee. And being an employee, she feels, is still her number one job still.

"Fortunately we've got a good roup working for us—the same ones who have been with us from the Lucy and Desi days. "There's the production head, the creative head, the financial head and the tax people. I'm be depending on them as we always have."

Lucy and her new husband, comedian Gary Morton, are staying in a hotel while Lucy holds conferences with her sors, submits to an endless series of newspaper and magazine interviews and tries to sublet a big Manhattan apartment she leased before her marriage.

Of the success of the new show, Lucy says, "I'm amazed, and so is Viv (Vivian Vance, her co-star). We were worried about not having the two men around, but we both feel that, somehow, the distribution of plot and the jokes give an easier feel to the show—much easier than it was with I Love Lucy.

Recommended Sunday Viewing: Art Carney Meets Peter and the Wolf, ABC, 6.30 - 7.30 p.m. EST—repeat of the classic with Carney's puppet music and Bill Baird's marionettes.

Rally to Win 7-4

Picton Jrs. Whip Gan.

PICTON (Special) — Picton Merchants, outscoring the opposition by a four-goal margin in the third period, downed the Gananoque islanders 7-4 in an OHA Eastern Junior League tilt before a good crowd here last night. Between 400 and 500 fans attended.

The Merchants, evening their season record at two-and-two, took a slim 1-0 lead in the first period but Gananoque moved ahead 3-2 by the end of the middle stanza. Picton knotted the count on Stacey's goal at the 30-second mark of the third and Fero's initial goal of the year put Picton in front to stay at 8.18. McNeil's marker made it 5-3.

Higgins got one back for Gan at 13.34 before Sainsbury and Stacey sewed up the Picton win. Stacey missed his second hat trick of the year with a few seconds left in the game when he roared in on a breakaway, pulled the goalie and missed the net.

The Merchants outshot the Islanders 40-33 overall and 16-7 in the first period only to be stopped by John Bristow's terrific play in the losers' nets.

Picton picked up nine minor penalties in all, to Gananoque's eight. Gord Dewan, of Picton, was given a misconduct sentence in the second period when he argued an obvious hooking penalty with referee Vern Goyer.

Rhodes was the lone scorer against Bristow in the first period and Eaton tied it after 36 seconds of the middle period. Higgins made it 2-1 for Gan and Haddock tied it prior to Young's lead goal for the losers.

Carl Stacey, with two goals and two assists, and Harold Haddock, with one goal and three helpers, led the Picton point-getters. George Sainsbury had one goal and two assists, Larry "Pocket" Fero and "Dusty" Rhodes one of each. Don McNeil a goal and Bill Haennel an assist.

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—What on earth has happened to American women?

This anguished cry is raised by Dewey Martin, back in this country after two years in foreign countries.

"It's not the styles nor the hairdos; it's the attitude," the actor declared. "After you've been away for a while, you notice it immediately. It's a decline in feminity.

"I'm not saying it's true of all American women. There are still many around, I'm happy to say, who remain feminine and appealing. But the others.

"I'll tell you when I noticed it. I went to a favorite Chinese restaurant of mine when I got back and I was sitting at the bar alone, talking to the bartender, a friend of mine. I heard some voices at the end of the bar. They sounded like a bunch of men comparing golf scores. But I looked down and saw that they were four well-dressed women sitting at the bar and getting stoned.

BOWL AND BOOZE

"Another time I went down to Anaheim to judge a contest. I happened to drop in at a bowling alley at nine in the morning and found if swarming with women. The manager told me it happened every day; the women got their husbands off to work and their children off to school, then came to the alley to bowl and drink beer.

"I notice it everywhere I look: American women are trying to move into the men's world. Now I see nothing wrong with women who choose careers and stick with them. But I think it's wrong for women who become wives and mothers and still insist on competing with men."

Dewey has spent some time in Japan, still owns a house in Tahiti and knows Europe from long visits.

"There is no one more feminine than the Tahitian girl, or the Japanese," he said. "They are schooled from childhood in the ways of pleasing a man."

Harry Jerome Wins 100 In 9.4 Easily

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

PERTH, Australia (CP) — Harry Jerome of Vancouver and sprinters from Kenya, the Bahamas and Australia equalled the British Empire Games record of 9.4 seconds in winning their heats in the preliminaries of the 100-yard dash today but the records were all disallowed because a tailwind of more than four miles an hour was blowing.

Jerome, considered the world's fastest human, breezed to an easy victory in the first heat, winning by a yard. He advanced to the second round—scheduled along with the semi-final and final on Saturday.

Canada's two other sprinters, Lynn Eaves of Saanichton, B.C. and Bob Fisher-Smith of Ottawa, also qualified. Eaves came in third in his heat in 9.9 while Fisher-Smith was fourth in another heat in 10 seconds flat. The first four finishers in each of the nine heats qualified for the second round.

The 22-year-old Jerome broke out in front after about 50 yards and romped home easily.

"I knew the wind was blowing and even if I had set a record I wouldn't have counted," Jerome said. "So I took it easy. Saturday will be different. I'll go all out."

Jerome's nearest competitor was Alistair McIlroy of Scotland who finished in a photo finish for second place with Australia's Ron Clay. McIlroy was clocked in 9.5 and took the runner-up spot.

Jerome's leading competitors for the gold medal also came through with flying colors.

Serapino Antas of Kenya, 25-year-old Kenyan who is considered one of the main threats to the Canadian co-holder of the word 100-yard and 100-metre records, and Tommy Robinson of the Bahamas also won their heats in 9.5 seconds as did Mike Cleary of Australia. But all had help of the wind and their performance did not go into the record books.

Fisher-Smith just made it into the second round with his fourth place in the heat won by E. Abey of Ghana in 9.7 seconds.

Ken Twigg of Toronto, manager of the track and field team commenting on the Canadian performances, said:

"Over-all, we did as we expected. We qualified three men for the next round. That's what we went out for...None ran all out."

Thirty-six of the 49 entries in the 100 advanced to the second round.

The Games had hardly been formally opened by Prince Philip Thursday when the first rhubarb cropped up. It was resolved today.

The leader of the Ghana team, Ohene Djan, said he was assured South Africa's Dr. Nat Hershmann would not officiate at any bout in which a Ghana boxer participates.

Djan had said earlier he would lodge a strong protest about the appointment of the South African as a ring official and would withdraw Ghana's boxing team if Hershmann officiated at any bout involving a Ghana team member.

In protesting Hershmann's appointment, Djan said "We are not against Hershmann personally or because of his color but we are definitely against the obnoxious system of sparthaid to which he is married—a system which is against the interest of the colored races."

South Africa, which left the Commonwealth last year after criticism of its racial segregation policy, is not taking part in the Games.

North Shore Hockey League

A couple of cliff-hangers provided the best action of the season in Prince Edward North Shore Hockey play at Memorial Arena last night.

Rossmore and Belch were scoreless in the first period and the winners went ahead 1-0 in the middle heat. Barton Durrant scored the first Rossmore goal and set Keith Osterhout up for the winner. Norm Boulter also had an assist. Ralph Plane potted the lone Belch goal, aided by Gord Young and Doug Hallam.

SACO led 2-1 in the first and held that margin in the second period of their game. Stinson came back for a 3-3 lead however and SACO bagged the tying marker with two minutes left to play.

Gary Genereaux had a goal and assist for Stinson with Larry Potter and Keith Dickey also scoring. Doug Bradshaw, Dick Knapton and Barry Portelous fired the SACO markers.

Both games were very cleanly played with but a couple of minor sentences in each tilt.

Million-Dollar Oakville Track

OAKVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Plans for a $1,000,000 harness-racing track for this area to be opened next August were unveiled Thursday by Hamilton lawyer Edmund Shaker.

He said the track, in the planning stages for two years, is to be located on a 200-acre site south of Milton on Highway 25. It will be called Oakville Downs.

The plant will seat 4,000 and will have a ⅝-mile track.

Stamps Coach Says

'Quiet-or No Football'

WINNIPEG (CP) — If the Grey Cup and Winnipeg Stadium continue to bother Calgary Stampeders, Saturday's Western Football Conference final may turn into a marathon.

The Stamps, who meet Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the deciding game of the best-of-three series for the Western title, have threatened to halt play every time crowd noise interferes with their signal-calling.

Calgary quarterback Eagle Day has been having trouble since the two-game semi-final against Saskatchewan Roughriders. Fans at Regina were making it difficult for the Stamps to hear Day's signals.

Bud Grant, Winnipeg coach, made a casual remark before the final series that he wouldn't mind seeing Bomber fans give Day the same treatment.

The usually sedate Winnipeggers reacted by transforming themselves into what Grant described as "the most boisterous fans in the league."

HAVE TROUBLES

Calgary took the opener 20-14 last Saturday at Calgary and had difficulties with the yelling here Wednesday when they lost 19-11. Saturday's battle to determine who represents the West in the Grey Cup game Saturday, Dec. 1, at Toronto, starts at 2:30 p.m. CST (3:30 p.m. EST) and will be televised over the CTV network.

Day claims the fans caused the Stamps to lose ground on one play Wednesday when noise resulted in a mixup on a Calgary play.

"Saturday afternoon we'll just keep walking away from the ball until they stop," said Calgary coach Bobby Dobbs.

Both teams are expected to be near full strength, with only Ernie Danjean and Tony Pajaczkowski not expected to play.

City Hockey League Statistics

A tight three-way pennant race and an equally close battle for the scoring championship are indicated after the first three weeks of action in the City Hockey League.

Three players, Stu Muirhead, of Welbanks, "Pug" Kellar and Wayne Fox, of Trudeaus, are tied for the scoring lead, each with seven points. Six other players are bunched right behind the leaders.

Following are the league standings and the scoring leaders:

	W.	L.	T.	PTS.

Aussie, Scot Break Record

PERTH, Australia (CP)—An Australian and a Scot broke Empire Games record today in winning heats in the men's 110 - yard freestyle swim at the 1962 British Empire Games. The three Canadians entered in the event all qualified for the final Saturday.

Aussie Peter Doak was the first to do it with a 56.3-second performance in his heat. The previous Games mark was 56.4, set by Aussie John Devitt in 1958. Devitt also holds the world mark of 55.1.

Dick Pound of Montreal and Peter Phelps of Australia tied for second place with identical 56.8 clockings and Sandy Gilchrist of Ocean Falls, B.C., was next with 57.1.

Scotland's Bobby McGregor bettered Doak's mark in a later heat with a 55.9 timing. Aldy Meinhardt of Vancouver finished third in this one at 57.6.

RUSSIANS ON TV

TORONTO (CP) — Tonight's hockey game between the touring Russian team and the Metro-B.C. all stars will be broadcast over the CBC television network Saturday starting at 8 p.m., CBC spokesman said Thursday. The Toronto team is made up of Metro Junior A players and several from the University of British Columbia.

Successful Living

Letter From Doris Helped Young Mother

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS—Thank you so much and I hope that in a few years we can adopt a baby (boy or girl.) I have kept the piece you put in the paper and think I get feeling rough again. I will get it out and read it over, because even now it has done a bit of good.

I guess I never really realized what could happen to my small boys because of my self-pity over not being able to have more children. I've had a reputation for being able to keep any child happy since I was twelve, and I hope and know I can do better since I wrote you and probably will keep on improving.

I just have a feeling that this is not going to be a very good year for me. My husband has now come up with something new that has many of the doctors puzzled. His hands, feet and even any part of his body swell up when it is touched by cold water, or anything else that is quite cold. It seems to be getting worse and can even interfere with his breathing. The doctor said he would have to be terribly careful with water from now on until they can find something to help him.

My biggest problem I guess is that I worry a lot and think of the worst that could happen all the time, but I just cannot help myself, though I do try to hide how I feel from him and the boys.—JUST 22.

DEAR TWENTY-TWO—If the good Lord has brought you through four pregnancies and at least one major operation, you've provided you with a first-rate husband and four fine boys, do you suppose He is through with you now?

It's your part to keep your husband serene. Panicking can even make medical care ineffective. Stop fretting and give the doctors a chance. (Just as with the boys, your own peace of mind is basic to change.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO NELLIE—Do you want sympathy or a shot in the arm? First of all, marriage at 40 takes skilful management for success. You expected heaven and came down to earth with thump. You had become self-centred and had to adjust to another self-centred person.

Resentment will get you nowhere. Your man is a good provider and has high hopes. If you still want to try Making Marriage Work, start communicating; giving is being cheerful. I am sending you the names of some fine paperbacks which can help your thinking.

TO SANDRA C.—As you did not give your address, I could not write you direct, and I am afraid this will appear in the paper too late for you. The invitation sounds fine to me. Be sure to introduce your escort to your mother and come home when you say you will.

• • •

Canada Proposes UN Investigate Red Colonialism

Heath Macquarrie Hits 'Record of Tyranny'

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Canada has proposed that the United Nations examine a searchlight on the "areas of darkness" under Soviet rule in pursuing its study of colonialism.

Canadian delegate Heath Macquarrie told the UN General Assembly Friday the Soviet Union is trying to conceal its own "evil practices" of imperialism by heaping criticism on the "sins" of Western colonial powers.

Forty-four countries, with a total population of more than 640,000,000, have won independence since 1939, said Macquarrie, parliamentary assistant to External Affairs Minister Green.

"But what about the position of subject peoples within the Soviet empire? Assessments may vary but there are about 96,000,000 people under Soviet rule who have never been permitted to exercise the right of self - determination which the U.S.S.R. so loudly proclaims for others."

The wording of Macquarrie's speech—terming Soviet colonialism a "record of tyranny"—was as sharp as has been heard here against Russian colonial policy and it caused Britain's Sir Patrick Dean to cross the assembly floor to extend congratulations. It is expected Canada will speak in much the same vein when he addresses the assembly Monday.

RUSSIANS WALK OUT

Three members of the Soviet delegation wandered away from their seats during Macquarrie's speech, leaving two junior diplomats to hold the fort. A Soviet press officer dismissed the Canadian position as "nonsense." White Russia's V. S. Tarasov, who addressed the assembly later, said the Canadian address showed colonial "backs are to the wall."

Macquarrie noted that Canada supported the declaration on colonialism approved by the assembly in 1960 and the committee of 17 established last year to hold debates on how the declaration was being effected.

The Canadian delegate's point was that the Soviet Union was using the committee as a propaganda place for attacks on the West. He said:

"When the United Nations is considering situations in many other areas of the world, why should it not turn its attention from time to time to the areas of darkness under Soviet rule? This assembly has no cause to hesitate to take up its denunciation of oppression."

Parliament At a Glance

FRIDAY, Nov. 23, 1962

Liberal Leader Pearson accused the government of trying to back down on its pledge to take the risk in credit sales of wheat to China.

Agriculture Minister Hamilton said he has only asked that Prairie farmers consider his idea that they shoulder some of the risk.

External Affairs Minister Green gave new assurances that a committee will be allowed to debate the Columbia River treaty.

Man and Boy Burn to Death

NEWMARKET, Ont. (CP)—A man and boy were burned to death today when fire swept through a two-storey dwelling house.

Earl Page, 45, and Allan Richardson, 9, were trapped upstairs. The boy's father, Henry Richardson, escaped down the stairs with minor burns, and his mother leaped to safety from an upstairs window. She was taken to hospital and was in satisfactory condition.

Deputy Police Chief James Leeder of this Toronto suburb and Const. Glen Phillips rescued two young children of Mrs. Audrey Brown from a downstairs bedroom, and Mrs. Brown escaped.

Liberals Win Another Seat

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Premier Joseph Smallwood's Liberal government won another seat Friday to increase its representation in the 42-seat Newfoundland House of Assembly to 34 and give it a 26-seat majority over the Progressive Conservative opposition.

The seat was Labrador North, where voting with the rest of the province in a general election Nov. 19 had been deferred because of bad weather.

Payment of War Damages Creates New Japanese Economic Empire

TOKYO (AP)—Two decades after its soldiers smashed southward through Asia, Japan still is paying for some of the damage.

Ironically, the payments may in the long run help create a Japanese economic empire rivaling the ill - fated "Greater East Asia Co - Prosperity Sphere" Japan tried to establish by force.

Japan is paying $1,000,000,000 in direct reparations to nine countries it occupied during the Second World War and $7,400,000 in loans and grants to two others.

These payments were designed to salve the consciences of post-war Japanese and to fulfill Japan's legal commitments arising from the San Francisco peace treaty.

The foreign office now feels the payments satisfy both those requirements and act as a bonus, open much of Southeast Asia to Japan's market-hungry industry.

Over varying periods, Japan is paying the Philippines $550,000,000, Indonesia $223,000,000, Burma $200,000,000, and South Viet Nam $39,000,000.

Laos is receiving $2,700,000 in grants and loans; Cambodia, $6,700,000.

The value to Japanese industry comes in the terms of payment.

Primary emphasis is on financing distribution of capital goods and construction of enterprises that could be linked to Japan's export-import plans for a long time to come.

This gives Japan's industry an advantage in the international competition to become primary supplier for the once occupied nations, all industrially underdeveloped.

OPPOSITION RAPS MINISTER FOR REGINA SPEECHES

Attack Proposals For Grain Exports

OTTAWA (CP)—A speech Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton to the Saskatchewan wheat pool two weeks ago has burned out to be a dynamite with a delayed fuse.

The dynamite went "Bang!" Friday in the Commons as Opposition Leader Pearson and NDP Leader T. C. Douglas led a harsh attack on the minister's proposals for bolstering grain exports.

Mr. Hamilton spiritedly defended his action, drawing an assist from Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson who saw merit in the minister's suggestions.

Mr. Hamilton told a meeting of the Saskatchewan wheat pool at Regina that he has asked farmers collectively might consider setting aside a certain percentage of their wheat because each year to underwrite future crop sales abroad.

SUGGESTS SALES GROUP

He also suggested that the three Prairie pools and the Canadian Wheat Board consider forming a grain sales organization to act as marketing agent for the farmers when buyers call.

The speech dominated Commons debate Friday on 1962-63 spending estimates of the agriculture department.

Mr. Pearson kindled the argument when he asked the minister to back down on its pledge to take the full risk of wheat credit extended to Communist China.

Mr. Douglas said the two proposals have "dangerous undertones and dangerous implications for the continued operation of the Canadian wheat board and for the maintenance of an orderly marketing system in the hands of the farmers."

He said farm leaders in Western Canada have expressed concern and opposition to the plan.

SHOUTS INTERRUPTION

"You have better stick to medical care," a government supporter shouted at the NDP leader at one point in his address. Mr. Douglas was premier of Saskatchewan when that province's medicare plan was formulated.

"I will tell my honorable friend who made that interjection that any Tory party representative who has gone out through Western Canada and tries to sell these two proposals to the Prairie farmers will be tarred protestatric care, never mind medical care," retorted Mr. Douglas.

Mr. Hamilton, who appeared to be more amused than perturbed by the Opposition's assault on his proposals, said that in Regina he was merely outlining ideas for discussion to the fact "that new opportunities exist."

The wheat pools were studying his ideas, which was all he asked for. He intended to go on making suggestions at the rural and file of farm organizations, rather than to farm leaders.

"I put my case before the people because I have learned to trust the people and not the politicians," said the agriculture minister.

Mr. Thompson, endorsing the suggestion for producer participation in finding markets, said: "The wider it can spread the responsibility of trying to solve our problem of distribution, the better."

Hopes to Tap Mining Royalties

Thant Drops Katanga Trade Boycott

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Hopeful of channeling Katanga's rich mining royalties into the central Congo treasury, UN Acting Secretary-General U Thant is reported to have dropped plans for a trade boycott against the breakaway province. The secretary-general was said to have abandoned the idea of sanctions to force Katanga into line after learning that U.S. Undersecretary of State George W. McGhee had worked out a deal for Union Miniere to pay part of its $40,000,000 a year revenue to Leopoldville.

Until now the huge European-owned mining company has handed over its copper and cobalt royalties and export duties to Katanga President Moise Tshombe. Diplomatic sources said McGhee had arranged to divert these revenues after talks in Brussels and London last week. The company's major operations are in Katanga.

Thant sent forth a plan last August to merge Katanga with the Congo under a federal constitution and place the central regime in control of its troops and finances.

Thant warned at the time that unless Tshombe went along with his plan, he would call on all UN members to stop buying Katanga copper and cobalt.

Tshombe accepted Thant's plan in principle, but he has balked over details and held to his secession definite a series of UN deadlines.

Seamen's Loyalty at Stake In Battle Before Inquiry

OTTAWA (CP)—A courtroom battle, with the loyalty of 7,000 seamen a major prize, is being fought here before a federal inquiry into labor violence and shipping disruptions on the Great Lakes.

It is a trade union fight with government overtones.

In essence, a British Columbia judge—60-year-old Mr. Justice T. G. Norris—sitting as Solomon in a showdown between the 1,070,000-member Canadian Labor Congress and one of its former affiliates, the 14,300-member Seafarers' International Union of Canada.

The CLC sought the federal investigation because it sees danger to democratic principles in the SIU and its American-born president, Hal C. Banks.

The congress, voice of organized labor in Canada, blames the SIU for much of the labor violence on the waterfront and claims the union is dominated by Mr. Banks.

The SIU denies the allegations, arguing that its membership has a voice in their union's affairs.

In the courtroom, the fight is with words and documents—legalistic clash of question and answer, direct testimony tested by ruthless cross-examination.

There have been sensational charges—that the SIU uses muscle men to enforce its will, blacklists seamen who oppose its policies, collects high dues to pad its pockets and makes sweetheart deals with friendly shipowners.

All the charges have been denied, in one way or another.

The SIU, in presenting its side of the story, claims its members have gained better working conditions and wages through militant unionism.

The federal inquiry was ordered by Labor Minister Starr after the inter-union rivalries exploded on the public last July in a retaliatory boycott of unmanned ships in the St. Lawrence Seaway—a boycott that threatened to tie up inland shipping.

The boycott came after the SIU, backed by American union allies, had tied up ships of one Canada Steamship Lines fleet that had severed relations with the SIU.

The firm—Upper Lakes Shipping Limited—signed with the Canadian Maritime Union, established by the CLC to destroy the SIU foothold. The company has been fined about $1,000,000 because of the SIU tieups in the United States.

The SIU argued that it was legally locked out by Upper Lakes last April—and is legally on strike.

Eight Ont. Cities to Vote On Fluoridation of Water

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

In addition to deciding who will run their local government, voters in many Ontario communities will express their opinion on a variety of topics in the municipal election.

At least eight Ontario cities have scheduled plebiscites on fluoridation under the municipal water supply alleged to be fluoridated.

Many communities will vote in a plebiscite for or against the implementation of a bylaw permitting Sunday sports or Sunday movies.

The provisions for a plebiscite vary under different legislation, the Ontario municipal affairs department points out, and is contemporary usage has blurred the meaning of plebiscite until it has become almost synonymous with referendum.

Municipal affairs department officials say the term plebiscite properly refers to a decision by all enfranchised voters. A referendum in the strict sense means a vote on a money bylaw by property-owners.

A referendum being held this year asks the property owners of Kirkland Lake whether they are in favor of establishing an old people's home.

The matter of whether or not municipal water supply shall be fluoridated.

India Asks Clarification By China Of Its Proposals; Attitude To War Hardens

British and U. S. Aid Officials Confer on Developing Situation

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—India has asked China for clarification of its cease - fire proposals, an external affairs ministry spokesman said today.

A Peking announcement said on Dec. 1 Chinese troops will withdraw to positions behind the lines controlled on Nov. 7, 1959.

This would restore to India almost all the territory in the Northeast Frontier Agency lost since the border war began Oct. 20, but would leave China in control of a large area of Ladakh in northern Kashmir.

Meanwhile, United States and British officials today compared notes on their reactions to a mission to India in light of the Communist Chinese cease-fire in the Chinese-Indian border conflict.

Averell Harriman, U.S. assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, met British Commonwealth Secretary Duncan Sandys following conferences with Indian officials on the current situation in the disputed areas.

American military experts in Harriman's aid group discussed the conflict with chiefs of the Indian Army and air staffs.

The Communist Indian attitude toward Communist China's peace moves in the border war has hardened noticeably.

A standing committee of Nehru's ruling Congress party decided Friday Chinese proposals for a cease-fire and withdrawal were not acceptable.

Committee sources noted that while the body's views have no binding effect on government policy, they are considered as representing party feelings.

Nehru told a New Delhi rally Friday against compromising, saying "we must not imagine that the matter will be over soon because of various diplomatic moves."

HOT DEBATES WILL FEATURE NEXT SESSION

Ontario House To Open Tuesday

TORONTO (CP)—Hot and heavy debates are expected in the fourth—and perhaps the last—sessions of the 26th Ontario legislature, which convenes here next Tuesday.

Although Premier John Robarts is also concommittal about the date of the next Ontario election, observers here are predicting that this session will be the last before provincial voters are again asked to choose a government.

The premier could wait until June, 1964, to dissolve the present legislature, but heaviest speculation is that the next election, like the previous two, will be held in the fourth year of a mandate given to the Progressive Conservative government in June, 1959.

Lieutenant-Governor J. Keiller Mackay will open the session with the traditional reading of the speech from the throne, a government-prepared statement of legislative policy.

Until the throne speech, the full shape of new legislation will not be known, but some indication has already been given that it will include labor law revisions and elementary school curriculum reforms.

CHANGE CURRICULA

Education Minister William G. Davis said in a public appearance this week that curriculum for kindergarten and public school grades 1 to 6 may be drastically changed during the next two years.

Mr. Davis said it might be an end to the biggest elementary curriculum reform since the present course of studies was adopted in 1937.

The youthful education minister is one of three new faces in the cabinet. The others are Get. for 25 cabinet shuffle which moved controversial Attorney - General Arthur Wishart to the post of attorney-general.

Former lands and forests minister J. R. Spooner, regarded as one of the ablest administrators in the government, took on the municipal affairs portfolio.

A select committee has been studying possible changes in existing municipal law and is expected to report during the present session.

Another select committee, on manpower, is also expected to report on its findings.

REVIVE LABOR BILL

A bill reviving labor arbitration procedures, passed at the last session but deferred for a year, will likely come up again.

The committee appointed to study the matter expects to report before the year end.

The bill, as presented last session, would create special arbitrators to handle labor-management disputes that currently fall to county court judges.

There will be new vacancies in the Legislature at the start of the session, all in ridings for-

Kennedy and Macmillan May Soon Hold Parley

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan may soon meet soon for a wide-ranging review of world affairs in a time of change.

Western strategists still are unsure of what lies beyond what Kennedy has termed a possibly "important turning point" in East-West relations. But they are agreed on the need to have the United States and Britain chart their course together.

Britain and the United States are each involved in major unresolved issues on the international scene—the India - China dispute, Berlin, disarmament and The Congo.

Both American and British sources expect that Friday or the likelihood of a Kennedy-Macmillan meeting in the near future, but said an exact time and place have not yet been worked out. London sources said Macmillan expects to cross the Atlantic shortly after Christmas.

At Hyannis Port, Mass., where Kennedy is spending a long Thanksgiving weekend, assistant presidential press secretary Andrew Hatcher would say only that "it is highly probable" that the two leaders will get together "some time soon."

No new Western initiative for a Berlin settlement is in the offing, although U.S. officials said a wider range of negotiations with the Soviets on cold war issues is now possible. During the height of the Cuba crisis, Washington concentrated its dealings with Moscow on just that issue.

New Judges For Victoria, United Counties

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fleming announced Friday night the appointment of W. K. Wright, a member of the Ontario cabinet from 1953 until last month, as judge for the county and district courts of Ontario.

Three other appointments:

F. W. Newman of Selkirk, Man., as judge of the county and district of Northern Judicial District of Manitoba.

Judge Walter J. Lindal;

Judge Alan W. Cornelly, as judge of the county court Northumberland and Durham, Ont., replacing retiring Judge Miller, who retires this month;

H. E. Richardson, of Lindsay, Ont., to replace Judge Cornelly who until his transfer was judge of the Counties of Victoria and Haliburton, Ont.

Argue College-Trained Teachers Not Necessary for Simple Life

INDEPENDENCE, Iowa (AP) Ten Amish parents, who say their children don't need high school training to live simple Christian lives, are appealing a $25 fine each for violating Iowa's compulsory education law.

"Why should we hire a college-trained person to teach when all we want is an eighth-grade education?" asked Andrew Kaufman, 56, who has five children in the schools.

Dan Boerhger, head of the Amish school committee, said: "We are trying to keep our children on the farm. We do not believe in sending them to town schools because we want to preserve our simple way of living. and we feel this would be lost if we went to town schools. The Amish were warned in their September they were violating the state law. Later 10 parents were arrested and charged. Convicted teachers because they are preparing only for a "simple life," face a court bail appearance.

The parents have been ordered by the court to send their children to schools with state certified teachers. Certificates now require two years of college.

Residents of an Amish community near this northeast Iowa town have established their own Amish schools. Classroom subjects include arithmetic, reading, writing, spelling, health, geography and history.

The Amish live on their farms, till their fields with horse - drawn implements and drive buggies for transportation. Their homes are generally without electricity and telephones.

In addition to the charges faced by the 10 parents, bigger trouble may be ahead for the Amish. The county school superintendent has asked the district court injunction to close.

No Evidence Discovered Of Fluorides Doing Harm

By Dr. McColl Mckenzie, M.O.H. for Belleville

Good oral hygiene is important not only in the prevention of dental caries but in health in general.

If it were possible to have a supervised oral hygiene program, daily supervision of the children as far as adequate brushing of the teeth after each meal, considerable reduction in dental caries would be expected. However this program would be virtually impossible to put into effect and to maintain.

The influence of nutrition during the period when the teeth are developing is of vital importance. Food habits once established are difficult to change. There are many families who are conscious of the values of a good and well balanced diet and attempt to control the foods eaten by their children. In their own homes they may manage fairly well however forced exclusion of certain habitual articles items outside of the home and even within the home is virtually an impossibility.

The roles of Vitamin D calcium, phosphorus and ascorbic acid (Vitamin C) in the prevention of dental caries are important factors.

From the number of cases that are seen in the elementary and secondary schools it is apparent that the above requirements for the prevention of dental caries are not being carried out in the average household or, if they are they in themselves are not sufficient to prevent dental caries. Now Belleville voters are being given the privilege of preventing fluoridation of the communal water supply fluoridation on December 3rd, 1962. It has been shown that fluoridation does reduce markedly the ratios of dental caries. The reduction of dental caries is a problem of prevention, not one of treatment.

NOT DANGEROUS

Many people are concerned about any possible ill effects which might result from the addition of fluoride to the drinking water.

The School of Public Health of the University of Michigan has brought forward the following evidence:

(1) There is no evidence to indicate that the risk of death by cancer is increased by drinking fluoridated water nor is there evidence that lower rates of cancer are produced by the fluorides in the water.

(2) There is no evidence that fluoridated water causes conditions or diseases of the gastro intestinal tract which include gastric or duodenal ulcers, colitis, nausea and vomiting, diarrhoea or constipation when used in concentrations recommended for communal water supplies.

(3) Fluoride does not produce any systemic disease or malfunction of the liver when water contains about 1 PPM of fluoride.

(4) No evidence exists that water-borne fluoride is associated nephritis or has any irritative effect on the kidneys.

(5) There is no evidence that fluorides in drinking water are related in any way to diseases of the respiratory tract nor do fluorides cause hardening of the arteries.

(6) High blood pressure is not a disease. It is only a physical sign of several diseases. However the factors known to contribute to the development of high blood pressures are not associated with fluorides.

(7) Scientific evidence has not revealed that fluoridated water in proper concentrations provides any hazard to health.

The question has been raised as to the alleged influence of fluoride on pregnancy. Evidence shows that the ingestion of water containing approximately 1 PPM fluoride has no ill effects on either the mother or baby and at the same time it does have a definitely beneficial effect in reducing the incidence of dental caries.

County Council To Hold Session In December

The year-end session of Hastings county council has been called by Warden Harold Varty for December 4-6-7, it was learned today.

Four regular sessions of council are held each year, in January, April, late August or early September and again in December, this year end session is customarily a three-day conference with the business agenda not being as heavy as earlier in the year.

Woman Named For Council in Thurlow Twp.

A woman could sit as the first female member of Thurlow Township council next year if one nominee named at yesterday's nomination meeting at Canniffton decides to stand and is elected.

Mrs. Helen Ash was nominated to run as councillor at a meeting which saw the Canniffton Hall jammed to capacity. Six names were nominated for the three open positions on council. Candidates have until 9:00 o'clock Saturday night to qualify.

Although 1962 Reeve Harry Pound had earlier announced his intention of retiring from municipal life, both he and deputy reeve Clayton Hall were nominated for the reeveship.

All school board positions were filled by acclamation. Named to the North Thurlow School Area Board were Arnold Ditts, Alton Goodman and Garnet Denyes. Fred Hay and Norman Howard received acclamation to the assembly for the South Township Board, and Charles Treverton and Dennis Hall were nominated to the Centre Township Board.

Good Seats Still Available For South Pacific

Rumor hasn't it that Belleville fans may have to miss at least one enchanted evening this year.

The rumor is wrong.

Happy as should the fact might be, the fact is there's no truth to it.

It appears Belleville residents might have got their stories wrong. The show is still on in Kingston; in Belleville seats are still available.

It's true that a visit to a tale of two cities—but it could prove a drawback in Belleville for the Kinsmen.

Up to press time seats were still available for this New York musical production of the musical classic.

Cost of Power To Be Increased $1.20 Per Kwh.

The cost of power to the Belleville Public Utilities Commission will be increased starting January 1st, it has been learned by the local commission.

Notification has been received by the commission that commencing January 1st the interim rate for power to the local utility will be increased from the present $35.00 per kwh. per year to $36.20 per kwh. per year.

Mr. E. H. Burnham, manager of the Belleville utilities said today that the cost of power to Ontario Hydro has been gradually rising but that the $35.00 interim rate for Belleville will not been changed for some years.

Due to the increase in power costs to Ontario Hydro, it was expected that the Belleville Utilities might have a slight deficit to make up in its 13th power bill, normally received some time in March.

It is through the 13th power bill that any deficit or surplus in power costs for the preceding year is made up.

One week after his disappearance, no trace has been found by today of 64-year-old Alex Weddell, Belleville ship's watchman.

Mr. Weddell was first reported missing last Saturday when he failed to return to his home on Street home from the "Bay of Quinte" coal freighter, moored at Belleville docks.

His disappearance prompted a week-long search of Belleville harbour, involving police, civic operations by city firemen, provincial police and volunteers—who failed to yield any clue to the man's whereabouts. Skin divers also were used in the hunt, but turned up no clue.

The search of harbor waters around the freighter has now been called off.

Mr. Weddell was last seen Friday, November 16. His family became alarmed at his disappearance when his pet dog returned home alone the same night.

Sidney Twp. Council Is Acclaimed

It was acclamation all the way around in Sidney township yesterday with the nomination meeting at the township hall filling all council positions without a contest.

Gerald Irvine, deputy reeve for the past four years received acclamation as reeve as the incumbent reeve, Harleigh Hamilton, bowed out of municipal life after 18 years of council.

The new deputy reeve is Ernest Kella, while council members are Jack M. Bush and Gordon Wilman, both members of the 1962 council, and John W. Sargent.

A good turnout of township ratepayers was on hand when Byron Harder, township clerk, called the meeting to order at 2:00 p.m. this afternoon.

Reports from this year's council members were heard.

Some Turkeys Offered on Local Market

A few vendors on the local farmers' market, indicated this morning that this would be their last trip for the season, mainly because the fresh, local produce has run out and they are finding the weather a wee bit chilly.

Only a few vendors were present on the local market here today, and the numbers of purchasers around them on Sidney day was surprisingly lower than usual.

Prices remained unchanged, with the usual produce being offered for sale. The festive season is near and turkeys were offered, selling from 45 to 50c a pound.

Very few vegetables were offered and a few apples were offered at 65c a basket, while potatoes remained at $3 a 75 pound bag.

Eggs were offered at 45, 50 and 55 cents a dozen for small, medium and large.

Hot Debates

merly held by the Progressive Conservatives. Former Labor Minister W. K. Warrender was returned to the bench Friday, and Sault Ste. Marie and Halton had been left vacant by deaths.

The latest by-election—for the Huron-Bruce seat left vacant by the death of veteran Progressive Conservative J. W. Murphy—saw the election of Liberal Murray Gaunt. The standing in the Shoe to the bench Friday, and gressive Conservatives 66, Liberals 24, New Democratic Party five and vacant 6.

Considerable debate is expected to be made on proposed redistribution of electoral ridings, which might involve the loss of Prince Edward's dozen seats to the House.

A report may come from the independent commission set up last year to study the redistribution question.

NO RAISE MEDICARE

From the opposition side, main issues of the session are expected to be medicare insurance, minimum wage rates and industrial development.

Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer has predicted there would be plenty of fireworks if the report of a royal commission on crime is tabled at the session.

It is not known when the commissioner, Mr. Justice W. D. Parker, will complete his evaluation of evidence given in this year's lengthy public hearings and subsequent private testimony.

Both the Liberal and New Democratic Party conventions this year approved the inclusion of a public prepaid medicare insurance scheme in their political platforms.

LABOR SUPPORTS PLAN

The Ontario Federation of Labor convention at Niagara Falls this fall endorsed the setting up of a campaign promoting a government - sponsored medical care scheme.

Premier Roberts and Health Minister Matthew Dymond have indicated the government's insurance firms and other organizations in medical care insurance.

"It has been an examination on all sides of the problem," the premier said. "These have been information-seeking consultations."

At a political meeting in Toronto this week, the health minister declined to talk about medical care insurance.

"It would be very unwise at present," Dr. Dymond said. "I don't know what my position is and I don't know what I would be at liberty to say for the government."

The opposition parties are certain to force debate in the House on the medicare issue in an effort to force a statement of government policy.

Qualifying time was 9 p.m. deadline were: Walter Steevie, E. M. Parker Jr., James C. Hamilton, Jack Hadley and Donald Sutherland.

Mr. Parker automatically disqualified himself as a parks' board member when he accepted the acclamation to the school board. He has served as parks' board chairman for a number of years.

Eight of ten nominees qualified to run for the three council seats in the December 3rd municipal elections. They are: George Greer, postal clerk; Edward Todd, railway employee, already a council member; Richard Whitley, contractor; Ross Burtt, retired railway employee, with completion of the present council; Dan Senik, civil servant; Gerald Vaughan, Alfred Vaughan, railway employee, and Arthur Collette, realtor.

Deputy Reeve Fight Assured In Murray

TRENTON — Twelve persons were nominated to fill the five positions on Murray Township Council— several of them for more than one position.

The nomination meeting in Wooler Town Hall yesterday, chaired by Councillor Norman Flindall was nominated for all three positions — Reeve, Deputy Reeve and Councillor. To end since he did not show up to file his preference by the 9 a.m. deadline, his name will stand for Deputy Reeve, the first nomination he received. He has until 9 p.m. tonight in which to qualify.

Deputy Reeve Fred Bruyea was nominated for Deputy Reeve and Councillor but qualified for nomination as Deputy Reeve. Present Councillor Leo McAuley was also nominated for both positions but qualified for Deputy Reeve.

Also nominated for Reeve this fall endorsed the setting up of a campaign promoting a government - sponsored medical care scheme.

Premier Roberts and Health Minister Matthew Dymond have indicated the government's insurance firms and other organizations in medical care insurance.

"It has been an examination on all sides of the problem," the premier said. "These have been information-seeking consultations."

Judge Anderson Calls Accused 'Anti-Social'

Described by his judge as "anti-social" 35-year-old Robert Vincent Orr was sentenced to three years in Kingston penitentiary yesterday for possession of more than $300. of stolen cheese.

Orr was convicted by a jury at the end of a two-day trial at the Hastings County general sessions of the peace before Judge J. C. Anderson. He had pleaded not guilty to illegal possession of 10, 90-pounds cheese stolen May 26 from the downtown Belleville warehouse of Black Diamond Cheese Company.

After reading Orr's record of convictions dating back to 1944, crown attorney John Pringle asked the accused man be sent to jail "where he cannot prey on society and expect society to support him."

He called Orr an "apparently idle, dissolute, non-productive individual who has contributed nothing during his years."

Orr, the court was told, had not worked in two years. In a strong demand for a prison sentence, Mr. Pringle said Orr "should be put away for a considerable period of time to prove to youngsters even that the fruits of this irregular, dissolute life are not worth one lots of the discomfort that may be thought to attach to this sort of thing."

Judge Anderson said previous suspended sentences had not had a salutary effect on the accused and his 'way of life has been fixed and established.

"At the present time at least, you are quite anti-social. You must realize that crime does not pay."

Orr's trial was the last of three criminal offences scheduled for hearing this week at the sessions.

Juveniles Face Series of Charges Some Sentenced

One 15-year-old youth has been sent to training school for a year after he appeared before magistrate T. V. Wills in juvenile court, charged with malicious damage and theft. His companion has been remanded for a hearing later next month.

Among the offences charged against the youths was the setting of fires in the Kinsmen swimming pool plant and a city recreation storage shed at the East Hill playground.

Possession of stolen goods yesterday was also alleged against two other juveniles who will appear later in court.

Meantime, say city police, charges are also pending against yet another pair of juveniles for theft from parked cars.

Dr. Marcus' subject will be "Motivating Groups and People in an Engineering Setting". Since this subject is expected to be of interest to management, supervisory as well as technical personnel, the Bay of Quinte Section will welcome anyone interested in attending this meeting.

Auld (left), provincial Minister of Transport, who presented the cheque from the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund, and Elmer Vandercook, MLA for Hastings West, look on.

Minister Here To Present Claim Cheque

Hon. James A. C. Auld provincial Minister of Transport, came to Belleville yesterday to personally present a cheque on the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims fund to Dale Archibald of Belleville.

The cheque, for $567.62, covered damages to Mr. Archibald's car Oct. 21, by an accident in which the other driver was uninsured. Mr. Auld presented the cheque personally because it was one of the largest cheques issued by the new fund so far, and the time lapse, two weeks, was one of the shortest on record for such a claim. The new fund was put into operation Oct. 1 of this year.

The Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund, replacing the Unsatisfied Judgment Fund, provides for the payment of undisputed claims against an uninsured driver without court action. It raises the maximum payment to $5,000 for loss or damage of property, and the total maximum payment to $35,000. The driver on whose behalf the payment is made is barred from operating a motor vehicle in the province until he has made arrangements to repay the fund and has filed proof of financial responsibility.

Ameliasburg Acclaims New Twp. Reeve

Nominations were held in Ameliasburg, yesterday, for the positions of reeve, deputy reeve, three seats in township council and three trustees for the Ameliasburg school district board.

The four nominations for reeve included the current reeve, Harmon Montgomery, who announced his intention to retire, after positions were closed. Of the four, only Arthur Miller, of R. R. 1, Carrying Place, has qualified.

Harold Bonter, of R. R. 1, Carrying Place, was the sole nominee for deputy reeve. He qualified during the meeting.

Eight names were suggested for the three council seats vacant, but of these, only Laird Adams of R. R. 1 Consecon, Elmer Young of R. R. 3 Carrying Place, and George Cunningham of R. R. 1 Consecon, have qualified.

Elections will not be required for these positions unless more of the nominees qualify. If other nominees qualify, by signing an oath of allegiance, and proving that their taxes are fully paid up, an election will be held December third.

The four nominees to the school board, none of whom has yet qualified, are George Martin of R. R. 1 Carrying Place, Twills Longman of R. R. 1 Carrying Place, Bert Simpson of R. R. 1 Carrying Place and Arnold Weatherall of R. R. 1 Carrying Place.

Acclamation In Tyendinaga Is Expected

An acclamation for all positions on council is expected today following the annual nomination meeting in Tyendinaga township.

Current council members were all nominated for another term and although there was one additional nomination it was not expected there would be an election.

Council members re-nominated were Bernard O'Sullivan, Delbert Harvey and Eugene Whalen. Carman Gibson was the fourth nominee for the three positions on council.

Tweed Woman And Two Men Seek Reeveship

TWEED (Special) — A three-way fight for the reeveship in the village of Tweed was assured today after the two qualifications expired Friday night.

Contesting the village reeveship will be Mrs. Barbara Allan, who has resigned her position on the Centre Hastings High School Board, Ted Courtepaw and Guy Hughes.

If Mrs. Allan is declared the winner following the election on December 3rd she will be the first member of her sex to sit on county council.

Robert Palmateer received an acclamation as school trustee as did James Halpenny who this year finished out the term of the late Samuel Curry as public utilities commissioner and has been re-elected.

But a problem has been posed in filling out the village council membership. Only one candidate, T. A. Thompson, qualified to run for council and another nomination will have to be held.

Scholarship Trust Plan Advisors Named

Mr. J. A. Day of Canniffon, and Mrs. K. Lett of Tweed, have been appointed and trained as counsellors to advise those in this area who wish to enroll children in the Canadian Scholarship Trust Plan.

The Canadian Scholarship Trust Plan is the new way to provide for the future university education of a child. Since its introduction in March of 1961, this plan has been firmly accepted and established by thousands of responsible parents in all walks of life across Canada who have already enrolled their children in it. Common bond for such tremendous enthusiasm is parents' recognition of the practical economy afforded them by the co-operative method of the plan whereby they need only save for the expense of the child's first year at university. Scholarships awarded under the plan will provide for the second, third and fourth years of university attendance.

This plan is administered by the Canadian Scholarship Trust Foundation, a non-profit corporation founded in 1950 whose executives and directors are prominent Canadian educators and businessmen, serving entirely without remuneration, including such people as: Peter Wright, QBE, QC, president, who is a partner in the Toronto law firm of Wright and McTaggart; Dr. A. C. Lewin, MA, D.Paed., vice-president, Dean of the Ontario College of Education, 1944-1958; Dr. C. C. Goldring, MA, D.Paed. director of education for the city of Toronto, 1945-1958; E. LeM. Carter, FCA, of McDonald Currie & Co., and Miss Margaret Neale a director of the Macmillan Co. of Canada.

MANY LEADERS INCLUDED

An Advisory Board of Directors includes many leaders from Canada's business, professional and educational ranks. Representatives on this board from Eastern Ontario include Dean A. R. C. Duncan of the Faculty of Arts and Science, Queen's University and John A. Pringle of Belleville, Crown Attorney for Hastings County. Trustee of the plan is the Eastern Trust Company, one of Canada's oldest Trust companies with offices in all principal cities.

A District Enrollment Office is located at 108 Bridge ton Street in Kingston under the direction of Air Commodore G. Ross (Retd.) to serve parents' interest throughout Eastern Ontario. He advises that enrollment in the Canadian Scholarship Trust Plan is open to all children up to the age of eight years. Children may be enrolled not only by parents but also by grandparents, other relatives, business organizations, service clubs, trade unions, fraternal groups and others.

The Truth About The Grey Cup

A week from Saturday will be Grey Cup Day. The squabble about arrangements to give all Canadians with TV sets an opportunity to see the game is not yet fully resolved. Meanwhile, though, we should like to commend Dr. George J. Langmyhr of South Porcupine for the most realistic appraisal we have seen of the hassle. His viewpoint coincides with our own, and this view is one of long standing. We have, however, hesitated to air it in the belief that it was unlikely to be shared by many. Dr. Langmyhr, by outlining it in a letter to the Toronto Globe and Mail, weakened this conviction and a quick check of the bellets of some other former followers of Big Four football made us realise that our attitude may be widely shared.

"If the Board (of Broadcast Governors) took the trouble to poll some of the fans who have not been able to see Big Four football for two years, they would find a surprisingly small number who really care if they see this game (Grey Cup)," he writes. "What I am pointing out is that the Big Four's decision to sell its TV rights to CTV two years ago has almost completely eliminated the bedrock of dedicated followers of Canadian football which once existed outside of Hamilton, Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal. This decision, as I understand it, was based on purely commercial grounds, which, according to my figures, meant that each franchise would receive $5,000 more for each of two years. This short-sighted policy has turned many football fans into dedicated followers of the National Football League."

If in any flaw in that argument, it must be in the last sentence. Personally, we have found that we cannot arouse the same interest in the NFL as we once had in the Big Four. On the other hand, many TV owners in Belleville have had an unusual opportunity to put the rest of Dr. Langmyhr's argument to an unusual test. While some district set owners get Channel 9 regularly, and others not at all, most find that reception varies greatly. Some days there is no picture, on others it is good. We have noted that, even when reception was good, the games seemed much less exciting than they used to do, when regular viewing was possible. As far as we are concerned, this is adequate proof of Dr. Langmyhr's contention, that dedicated football followers have been alienated as the result of inability to follow Big Four games regularly.

There is nobody to blame for this but the owners of the Big Four teams. Eventually, they may be punished in their pocketbooks, for they have lost a lot of potential customers at the gate and in any case a lower interest in televised games should eventually be reflected in the price they can get for the TV rights to these games.

It will serve them right!

Trade Curbs Working

Fresh proof, if any were needed, has been provided of the accuracy of the old saying that one man's meat is another man's poison.

U.S. authorities at Washington are reported to be concerned with the impact of Canada's austerity program on trade between Canada and the U. S.

In the July-September quarter, the U.S. had a favorable trade balance with Canada of only $6,000,000. During 1961 the U.S. had a favorable trade balance with Canada of $676,000,000. It is true that U. S. officials believe a rush to avoid import curbs may have reduced normal demands in the July-September period. Nevertheless, it seems there is sound ground for U.S. officials to "think that 1961 surplus will be substantially reduced."

We are often told trade is a two-way street. We often forget that on it buyer and seller are travelling in opposite directions. Yet, in the final analysis, their interests are identical—the continuation of a healthy trading relationship. If U.S. officials are prepared to be truly realistic, they will not be "perturbed" but rather pleased that Canada appears to be having some success in its efforts to bring its trade with the U.S. into balance.

If various phases of the U.S. economy stand to suffer greatly from the reduction in imports by Canada, the U.S. has open to it a second alternative, an increase in its purchases from us, which would make it possible for us to buy more U.S. goods without straining our economy.

It would be a splendid thing if a doctor who smokes cigarets before his patients, a teacher before his pupils, was regarded in the same light as a clergyman who keeps a mistress.—Geoffrey Flavell, a British worker.

How Would You Change Our Laws, If Given a Chance?

By RICHARD JACKSON
(from The Ontario Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA — Sheena's Frank Howard, Fort Arthur's Douglas Fisher and Winnipeg North Centre's Stanley Knowles are most fortunate men.

They are three New Democrats with the good luck — and likely the sage foresight to know the truth of the old saying "First come, first served" — to head the list of Parliamentarians introducing Public Bills in the Commons.

So many MPs each Session draft bills, and so few get to bear them debated.

With so few Private Members' Days, and so little time in the over-worked Parliament for Public Bills — the two doors through which an MP can bring a pet piece of legislation into the House — only a small handful of those in the Commons can come up to the top of the list in any Session.

So this is a chance that comes seldom to the few who are chosen for Parliament — and never to the many who are not.

Ever heard yourself say . . . "There ought to be a law . . ."

Then what would you do — what proposals might you have — what kind of legislation on what issue or problem would you draft — if, suddenly, you had this rare opportunity full of such delightful, if delicate, possibilities?

WIDE VARIETY

Take a moment to reflect—If asked such a question—how would you lay down the law?

Half a dozen people have been asked just such a question — a half dozen strangers — as a matter of fact, late-Autumn tourists—picked at random as they waited in the Hall of Fame of the Centre Block for the start of the guided tour.

"Given the floor of the Commons today, what would be the action of a bill, what Act of Parliament would you propose?"

No good asking such a question of the MPs themselves, for they are professionals and this is their business and all of them are bursting with ideas—there already long enough approaching 100 of their own personally-initiated bills in the legislative hoppers.

Not much use either in asking anybody who lives in Ottawa, for if they are not Federal Civil Servants themselves, they indirectly depend on this by-far the largest payroll in the Capital, follow national politics as closely as people in other parts of the country do Grey Cup football or NHL hockey, and are definite political-by-naked opinions on such things.

Sor, for the quick, spontaneously - off-the-top-of-the-head opinion of what the taxpayer thinks Parliament should do — or at least what it would be doing if he or she had the floor of the Commons—ask the touring stranger.

PAINLESS TAXES

Ask such people as, Jean Gregoire of Regina, Saskatchewan:

"I'd try and push through a sweepstakes bill. Not to make it easy for people to gamble. Nor even to finance hospitals. I'd figure that if sweeps were heavily taxed — like liquor — with the Government taking 50 cents of every dollar, we could pay off the national debt. Properly handled a sweep tax might even replace income tax — and that would make paying almost painless."

Mrs. Gerald Harper of Halifax:

"I would put through a bill to put an end to the hypocrisy of deer hunting. I once helplessly had to watch a deer swim out to sea from the place I had just went shore and prefer to die from hunger than to have face the baying mob - of humans as well as hounds - on land. A disgrace."

Miss Olive Carpenter of Peterborough:

"I feel very strongly about the absurdly small penalties often imposed on couples who have neglected or mistreated their children to a fiendish degree."

Walter George Parsons of London:

"What is retirement in an old age but unemployment? I would put the pension on a par with unemployment insurance. It is ridiculous that a young and able bodied man should get four times as much as an old age pensioner who probably worked hard all his life and never had the benefit of unemployment insurance in his day."

. . . Mrs. Spell Shipward of Hamilton:

"If I were in an MPs shoes, do you know what bill I would try to have passed? Very simple. Very straightforward. A bill that decreed that each time a boy or girl was sent to jail, one of their parents would have to go with them. I have a shrewd suspicion that juvenile delinquency would be wiped out in five years.

. . . Harold Wray of Sherbrooke:

"I would want to bring one piece of logic to our illogical traffic laws whereby at the same time make our streets and highways safer. A simple measure in my book would mean that anybody found intoxicated to any degree while at the wheel of a moving car is automatically would go to jail."

Six opinions . . . snapped off the cuff by six people in to tour the Centre Block and take in the question period, the lively hour that opens the daily sessions of the Commons.

You do not think much of them? Think you could do as well or even better? Better perhaps than some of our Parliamentarians?

What would it be?

How would you word it?

Exactly what . . . and about what, do you think "there ought to be a law"?

Take a moment out and drop a line to Ottawa Offbeat. Address it to Richard Jackson, Press Gallery, House of Commons, Ottawa. Use a nom de plume if you wish.

Could be interesting.

Blowing Top Danger Sign

Galt Reporter

Letting off steam, under pressure, is a good thing. It's good for boilers and it's good for you and me. But watch it. Don't let it become a habit, or your boss will think you're approaching a mental breakdown, or, in short, going nuts.

That's the advice of no less an authority than Dr. B. H. McNeil, chief of the mental health branch of the Ontario department of health. Addressing a conference in Toronto of the industrial medical section of the Ontario Medical Association, Dr. McNeil warned that threats of impending illness among workers are likely to be very subtle and difficult to detect in advance.

A number of warning signs are detectable, Dr. McNeil said and this is how he listed them: The cheerful efficient worker or boss may be on his way to a tragic breakdown if he slowly or all at once becomes hostile and bad-tempered; inefficient or accident - prone; stays by himself and becomes unduly silent; given to absenteeism.

The neurotic will with expert went on to say that workers with a record of stability and confidence may be on the brink of a breakdown if slowly or suddenly they become excessively fearful of losing their jobs, unable to good naturedly accept kidding from fellow workers; show a tendency to gripe about the boss and say he's being unfairly treated by his co-workers; show a shaky, erratic manner that indicates high physical tension.

If, the doctor advises, you are convinced a worker is on the verge of a breakdown, take it up with someone in authority immediately above you. Be completely tactful. Remedial measures may be started by your action, to help your fellow worker.

Now Are Days Of Regrets

Owen Sound Sun-Times

These are the days of regrets . . . regrets that we did not get all those storm windows on when the weather was bright and warmish; that we didn't get the dead annuals piled up either garden or cleaned up, and to add to the pile we like to term "humus," or to be burned, which, actually, does prove the best in the end. And we could continue with quite a long list of those about the house out of door activities which should be done before the snow falls and winter sets in.

Many, no doubt, will remain until the snow once more goes

With the completion of the expansion work at the Belleville subsistion, electrical users in Lan city will be served by an additional 1,000 horsepower it was reported at Tuesday afternoon's meeting of the Belleville Utilities Commission. Total horsepower now available to hydro users will be 8,000 horsepower and the increase will consicerably relieve the power shortage felt in the city formerly through the inability of substation transformers to handle additional loads.

Last night at the Armouries, members of the Belleville company 81 the Canadian Women's Service Force had their first experience of rifle shooting. Sergeant Majors Don Ridler and Walter Hardenberg are loud in their praise of the ability shown at the initial "shoot." Several bulls-eyes were scored by the lady soldiers of the city.

Two are, white Artic owls have made their appearance in this vicinity, and are disporting about in local woods. A scarcity of food in the far north is said to be the cause of the birds seeking their way so far south.

After their regular meeting last evening, the members of Belleville Council Knights of Columbus heard with much pleasure a travel talk on Ireland which was given by Miss L. Carroll who visited the Emerald isle last summer.

Dr. Jas. McNeil who had been practising his profession in Thessalon for some time, has returned to Belleville, his native city and will engage in the practice of dentistry here. Prior to leaving Thessalon, he and some friends spent some holidays at their camp on the White River and was successful in obtaining a fine specimen of the barren deer.

A frame house occupied by Ross Adams, situated about three miles north of Consecon, Prince Edward County, was completely destroyed by fire early this morning. Very few of the contents were saved.

Strictly Personal

The More We Learn, the Less We Know

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: Women who are taciturn and men who are garrulous have a higher proportion of the opposite sex in their natures than the average; the rate of verbal flow is a rather infallible feminine and masculine natures than looks, bodybuild or mannerisms.

The alcoholism of the rich consists in compulsive travelling; the poor express what his environment only internally, by narcotising himself through liquor, while the middle class best are able to alter their environment externally, by constantly travelling for no purpose except release from reality.

Most moralists think they are following God's will — but what they are really saying, in their strictures to society, is, "This is how God would have made the world if He had taken my advice."

All of us suffer, in some degree, from what I call the "delusion of magnitude"; that is, the false belief that because a thing may be good in small measure, it is even better in larger measure; if one vitamin pill will make up for a dietary deficiency, then surely a cat or cow will have us bursting with health and vitality. This is almost our national disease.

What young couples, deeply infatuated with each other, rarely realize until they are married (and then it is often too late) is the profound and simple truth of Saint-Exupery's observation that "Love does not consist in gazing at each other but in looking outward together in same direction." (This, by the way, is why so many couples who converse incessantly during the courtship find they have little to say to each other a year after the marriage.)

Many people accept what they call the "inevitability" of this trend or that movement or the other destiny, not out of any fatalistic resignation or conviction, but simply because such an attitude frees them from the embarrassment of choice.

A grasping man believes that everybody is greedy at heart; he could not live with himself unless he forced himself to establish a basis on the lowest level of cupidity. (And those who do not display any of the fruits of greed, are meticulously dismisses as "fools").

The paradox of thought is that as knowledge increases, ignorance increases; to one using his naked eye the sky at night seems fixed and limited, the stars countable; but to an astronomer using the most powerful telescopes, space is infinite, galaxies innumerable, and the cosmos is a mystery constantly receding before us.

To Your Good Health

One Should Not Follow Amateur Medical Advice

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband is recovering from a massive coronary (heart) attack. He is 70 years old. The doctor has ordered among other things "no fried foods." Friends say that in a few months he can eat anything he wants. — Mrs. P. N.

Why do you question your doctor's instructions? Or I might better ask why do you pay any attention to them? This is an old story — friends who butt in with their notions when they don't know what they are talking about. It happens all too frequently to the annoyance of the physician who doesn't give his instructions just for fun.

Your doctor may want to reduce your husband's weight to prevent it from increasing. Excess poundage is a strain on the heart, and after a coronary, the wise patient, while he remains as active as conditions permit, does not add to the burden placed on the organ. It has been damaged; it still ticks along loyally; but it shouldn't have pointless effort demanded of it.

Your husband may also have a high cholesterol level. Avoiding fried foods (or animal fats) may prevent further increases in cholesterol.

It is altogether possible that your doctor has detected some indications of gall bladder trouble and is quietly ordering a diet that will avoid unnecessary complications from that source.

These are reasons for such a diet that I can think readily. Some special circumstances, unknown to me, may be apparent to your doctor.

If I were you I would assume that the dietary restrictions probably will be permanent and certainly wouldn't disobey them on the basis of what "friends" say.

If your doctor had intended that in a few months your husband could start eating everything, he doubtless would have said so. If something is temporary, I want the patient to know it. It usually makes him happier about following instructions.

If I intend that some treatment, diet or practice should be permanent, I often would prefer to tell myself privately that I hope, for the patient's sake, that he doesn't fall for the advice of "friends" who countermand medical instructions as casually — and thoughtlessly.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can any precautions be taken to prevent diabetes when you know you are susceptible because of several cases in the family in the past? — E.L.G.

Yes. Avoid overweight if you are now normal. If you are overweight, reduce. Get a reasonable amount of exercise. Avoid sugar in the commoner forms — candy, frosted cakes and cookies, sweetened drinks. A blood sugar test, should be taken once or twice a year.

Dear Dr. Molner: Have you ever heard of "honeymoon neuritis"? — D.D.

It's a term somebody invented for the bridegroom who goes to sleep with his beloved's head cradled on his arm and he can't move the arm when he wakes up. It's a matter of cutting off circulation and pressure on nerves.

What are ulcers? How should they be treated? What can you do to help rid yourself of ulcers and stay rid of them? A mass raid by supporters of the United States Army Air Force wreaked severe damage to Tokyo 18 years ago today — in 1944. This was the first land - based attack on the Japanese capital and was launched from Saipan in the Marianas, 1,500 miles away. In spite of the great distance each aircraft carried six tons of bombs.

1929 — French statesman Georges Clemenceau died.

1943—A strike closed the Ford plant in Windsor, Ont. made 13,000 workers idle.

Waterway To the North

Ottawa Citizen

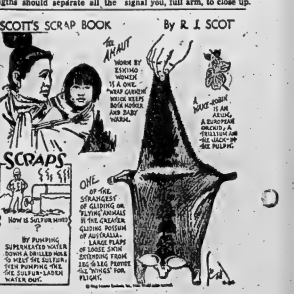
The North Bay District Chamber of Commerce proposes a 62-mile waterway to link Georgian Bay and Lake Nipissing via the French River. Work needs to be done only nine miles of the route to complete a modern date pleasure craft.

This might be a first step toward a deep waterway in that region, thereby making North Bay an ocean port connected with the St. Lawrence Seaway. And there are those who have still more ambitious aims — waterway for ships up the Ottawa River and beyond the height of land to Georgian Bay.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The safety councils of the world, the governments, the highways departments, the police, continually warn us to be idle, TV, newspapers and pamphlets that the correct distance to drive in behind the car in one car length in rear of the car ahead for every ten miles per speed.



In other words, at 20 miles per hour, you should be two car lengths behind the one ahead; at thirty, three; forty, four, and so on. When you reach the almost universal highway speed of 60 miles per hour, six car lengths should separate all the vehicles in motion.

I wonder if any safety expert ever tried to keep six car lengths behind, in actual fact? I do less so much as two, on the average highway, the indignant motorists behind would immediately move to fill up the hateful vacuum. He will move up, into that empty space, and even though there is a solid head to tail line-up ahead as far as the eye can see.

In cities, of course, it is ridiculous to attempt to keep even one car length behind. If you do, an irate traffic officer will signal you, full arm, to close up.

The Golden Years

Woman Says Retired Parents Not Always 'Lovely Creatures'

By THOMAS COLLINS

Voices from the Golden Years:

"When I read the 'Psalm of the Daughter-in-Law' it brought tears to my eyes — because I am married to one of those men whose mother thought she was the woman in the world was good enough for him.

"For 23 years I have been married to her son, and have given her three grandchildren, one now 20 years old. Yet for more than a year now she has not spoken to me ... it was because of a quarrel with my husband, and naturally she blamed me.

"Though I was not fit to marry her son, my mother-in-law thinks my 20-year-old is sheer perfection and tells her friends it's a pity he couldn't have been raised by somebody else. She doesn't pay any attention to my other two children. Neither does my own mother, who is more interested in her dogs and cats.

"Retired parents and older parents are not always the lovely creatures some people seem to think."

SUSPICIOUS HUSBAND

"For goodness' sake, don't tell any more wives to urge their husbands to make a will. I took that advice — and when!

"My husband got suspicious right away. He demanded to know what I knew about his health that he didn't know. I told him that was nonsense and to go and make a will. He began to suspect the doctor and I had some sort of conspiracy going, that maybe he had cancer or heart trouble, or something, and we wouldn't tell him.

"He went to see another doctor, talked to his insurance company, even had a talk with our pastor ... all the time glaring at me out of a corner of his eye as if I had advance notice that he was about to die. If I didn't he wanted to know, why was I yapping for a will?

"I finally gave up because there are three things you can't reason with — a mule, a bedpost, and a retired husband."

"My wife and I get a chuckle out of those poor, unfortunate people who show up in your column with only $20,000 or $30,000 in money, and a retirement income of only $400 a month. How sad. They're just going to wither away in want ... to bear them tell it.

"My wife and I are living handsomely, comfortably, and happily in a mobile home in Southern California on a budget of $190 a month."

THIS STRANGE MAN

"My husband has now come to retire, and at intervals I wonder who this strange man is with whom I am living 24 hours a day. He must wonder the same about me. People say "Have Fun!" but I think we've worked too long to know how. I often wondered how a woman knew when she was growing old. Now I now. It's when men don't whistle at you; when friends give you peppermints; when someone cautions you about steps and stairs; when children become solicitous; when the bored shoe clerk remarks you are getting a bunion; and when your husband comes home to retire.

"But am I disenchanted? No! We read, study, and keep awake mentally. We are more active than ever in our club and service organizations. We swim. We garden. We are now looking for somebody who will organize a College for Senior Citizens so we can enroll.

"Don't let the sour wives lead you astray — it's pretty nice to have a man around the house."

QUESTION: I am from Texas and have been a resident of Canada for two years. Naturally many of our recipes are very different from yours. I am anxious to get a recipe for fruit cake that contains condensed milk and mince meat . . . Mrs. G. H.

ANSWER: I am glad to give this for it is popular. It is not uncooked. It is baked for 1½ hours.

SATURDAY

Dinner Menu

Minestrone (Rich Main Course Italian Soup); C.M.'s Bran Muffins (see Friday); Generous Slices of Cheddar Cheese; Cassar Salad; Warm Homemade Custard Pie; Tea.

QUICK FRUIT CAKE

1 15-oz. can sweetened condensed (not evaporated) milk
1 1-3 cups mince meat
1 cup. butter
¾ cup flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup walnuts, coarsely chopped
2 cups mixed candied fruit, coarsely chopped

To sweetened condensed milk add mince meat and egg. Sift flour, baking soda and salt together and add candied fruit and nuts to completely coat with flour mixture. Stir into condensed milk and mince meat and egg mixture, until just blended. Pour mixture into 9 x 4 x 3" loaf pan which has been greased, wax paper lined and greased again. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. (see note) for 1¼ hours or until centre springs back when lightly touched with finger and top is golden brown. Note: If pyrex baking dish is used, reduce heat to 325 deg. Fahr.

QUESTION: I read your column every day and I sure enjoy it. I was wondering if you might have a recipe for Chocolate Cake with mashed potatoes in it, like mother used to make . . . Mrs. Stan E.

ANSWER: Yes, I have the recipe but I have not made this cake for over 20 years.

CHOCOLATE POTATO (SPICE) CAKE

2 cups sugar (white or brown)
¾ cup butter or margarine
4 eggs
1 cup milk
1 cup unflavored mashed potatoes
4 squares chocolate, melted but not hot
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups unsifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon cloves (optional)
½ teaspoon cinnamon (optional)
1 cup chopped walnuts

Cream butter and sugar well. Add eggs, beat well, then add potatoes and chocolate. Mix and sift dry ingredients until blended, alternately with milk until blended. Fold in nuts. Pour into large buttered and floured (paper-lined) 10" tube pan or two loaf pans and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 55 minutes.

Mr. H.A., I'm shocked at the casual way their son talks about sex.

Fred A.: At least he'll never consider sex a "dirty" topic, as I did.

Mr. H.A.: My wife and I are here on a visit to our son and his family. We live in Utah, but Fred keeps in touch with us regularly and we see each other once a year, taking turns on the travel.

This time I've spent a few afternoons and evenings with Greg my 10-year-old grandson. And I was way out over my depth when our talk got around to "sex education." But at least telling me syphilis is still a problem and boys must be careful! What happened to the birds and bees? I knew Fred's wife is French and maybe more casual about the facts of life than American women. But someone had better put the brakes on Greg's talk before he gets blackmailed by other parents.

Fred A.: Thanks to my wife's natural and relaxed attitude about sex, we can talk about it at home in front of Greg if there's something in the paper or on TV that raises the topic. We don't have to shush each other with that knowing look which says, "Be careful. Change the subject." I was brought up feeling that when-ever the conversation stopped abruptly it was because of sex-talk and that it was bad for a child. Naturally, I spent many hours in the library and in other kids' garages filling in the blanks for myself — filling them all wrong, I might add.

Our son has a clean, straightforward, factual background. He knows what most of the words, scientific and slang, mean. But we emphasize the best meanings and the moral side, always.

The Council: All depends upon young Greg's "brakes" when it comes to spouting his sophisticated sex knowledge. And the se brakes must be supplied just as assiduously as is the information, lest the latter be trotted out for its shock value, or as Greg picked the wrong pal — Grandpa — for a discussion of venereal disease. So Brake NO. 1, which Fred and his wife must tighten is Taste. Greg must learn that sex-talk has a place, a time and a person with which it will decide these.

Fred is aware of other brakes which should be used by side with sex education. He mentions the moral one. Mr. A., despite his amazement at hearing his grandson's precocious talk, may be reassured to learn that his own son has emerged with a responsible and respectful attitude toward the reproductive process. Even if he didn't get the facts at home Fred got the main message — that the sex act is sanctified by love and marriage. This he and his wife are imparting.

Telling me syphilis is still a problem and boys must be careful! What happened to the birds and bees? I knew Fred's wife is French and maybe more casual about the facts of life than American women. But someone had better put the brakes on Greg's talk before he gets blackmailed by other parents.

Demonstration Night Held On 'Nursing Education'

The fourth in a series of lectures on "Nursing Education" was held at Belleville General Hospital, Edmondson Hall, last Monday evening. The R.G.H. teaching staff gave a thorough and interesting demonstration of various important nursing procedures. This was followed by a fascinating discussion of orthopaedic equipment by Dr. Harold Williamson.

The fine attendance was welcomed by Miss Marguerite Hicks, president of the Belleville Community Nursing Registry.

Mrs. Ellen Burr introduced the members of the teaching staff.

Mrs. Marilyn McCoy of the teaching staff, divided the nurses into five groups, facilitating the observation of the five nursing situations and display of text books.

GLOVER CHEST SUCTION

The Glover chest suction, which is a closed drainage apparatus, allowing collections of fluid and air to escape from the pleural space around the lung, was demonstrated by Miss Joan Cooper. She discussed the basic and specific nursing problems and treatment of a patient with a chest condition needing chest suction. She also stated that students are now taught the patient, not only the problem-solving approach dealing with the 21 basic nursing problems.

Mrs. Allison Kuglin, at the library booth, displayed and explained the numerous text books used during the various years of the nurses' training course.

The isolation technique was demonstrated by Miss Marion Gomme, assisted by Miss Sylvia Mountain and Miss Lynn Nyrup Tyrell. They showed how the recent change to Wescodyne as the disinfecting solution has simplified the involved necessary precautions to prevent the spread of infection from the unit.

MICRODRIP

Mrs. Joan White demonstrated the microdrip which allows drops one-third size of regular intravenous drops to flow into the vein.

The new improved James tube was demonstrated by Mrs. Shirley Ackerman, as she explained Tracheotomy care, comparing it with the older cannula equipment. A tracheotomy is a surgical opening in the frontal section of the neck leading to the trachea where a tube is inserted for adequate breathing.

Mrs. Ann Jones showed how "croup air" is now sufficient to moisten the surrounding air, by rather than the moistened gauze over the trachea opening.

The group later returned to the auditorium where Dr. Williamson, specialist in orthopaedic surgery, demonstrated various types of traction and splints by using a skeleton, relating the theory for the use of each procedure. Both the circular bed and the Stryker Frame were discussed by the surgeon. He stated the large circular bed was especially for patients with paraplegics who could manoeuvre it into the position of a wheel chair, thus enabling them to the wheelchair, and back into bed again. The Stryker Frame is for the patients with neck and back injury.

FRACTURE X-RAYS

Dr. Williamson outlined various bone instruments and X-rays of fractures, showing plaster-of-paris splints and nailing boards used during the various years of the nurses' training course.

The isolation technique was demonstrated by Miss Marion Gomme, assisted by Miss Sylvia Mountain and Miss Lynn Nyrup Tyrell. They showed how the recent change to Wescodyne as the disinfecting solution has simplified the involved necessary precautions to prevent the spread of infection from the uni.

SPEAKING OF MANNERS — BY PATRICIA LEWIS

MAIL CALL

The subject of Christmas cards is currently the main concern of readers. Here are some questions that keep cropping up in our mail bag:

Question: Must cards be sent first-class, or is it permissible to send them unsealed and save postage?

Answer: Christmas cards come under the heading of social mail, so it's only proper that they should be given the same first-class send-off.

Question: Last year we received a number of unsolicited cards with the name of the husband mentioned first. I always thought that it was only men when the signatures were handwritten by the wife. Has the custom changed?

Answer: No. When the names are printed on the card, it's the wife's name usually is first. The husband's name gets top billing when a man and his wife signs the cards by hand.

Question: Use of colored ink for Christmas notes is correct, but isn't it permissible when signing Christmas cards and dressing envelopes?

Answer: Yes. Colored inks should correspond with the mood and color scheme of the cards may be used in signing cards and addressing envelopes.

Question: Is it considered good taste to send a Christmas card to a family that is in mourning?

Answer: A very simple card expressing the season's greetings, or a card with a religious nature, may properly be sent.

Question: Would like to see a current list of the approximate cost of family group to everyone on our mailing list. Have a list this year, but wonder if this would be appropriate.

Answer: Such a card may be sent to relatives and close friends who would appreciate it because of their interest. However, it would be inappropriate to send to mere acquaintances or to business friends who do not know the family.

Question, I'm having Christmas cards printed by the list of business associates. I'm an unmarried professional woman, and would like to know if I should sign the card (Miss) Jane Jones, as I do much of my regular correspondence.

Question: I'd like to send Christmas cards to various women I've met socially at PTA and church meetings. Would it be proper to address them to both husband and wife, even though I don't know the husband?

Answer: Yes. Cards being sent to home addresses should be directed to both husband and wife even if the sender does not know one of the couple.

SOMEWHERE NORTH OF LARAMIE

I thank You, Lord, that I am placed so well . . . Just let me live my life as I've begun, and give me work that's open to the sky. Make me a partner of the wind and sun, and I won't ask a life that's soft or high."—Badger Clark in "A Cowboy's Prayer."

Since early morning, we've motored through breathtaking Wyoming mountain country in pouring rain. Here in the Big Horns the road weaves itself through masses of blue, pink, yellow and white wild flowers, respectively. They carpet the wooded valleys and mountain grassy slopes. A dainty pool is alive with dancing raindrops. They sparkle like alives.

Not having breakfasted, as yet, it's good to draw near now to a town; this one of some 32,000 persons, named Buffalo. Banners arch the main street in honor of Lambo-Rama Week. Despite the rain, the atmosphere is inviting. Trim white frames houses (we note one spacious mansion, with a colonnade) gleam in neatly spaced squares of lawn and flowers. Here and there shopped cowboys walk nonchalantly about in high-heeled black boots, their levis tucked into the tops and straight above searching eyes that sweep you with a friendly smile. A restaurant called "The Table Store".

We park the car, pause for a meal is just around the corner from here", a youthful car attendant informed us.

With hesitant surprise, we stop before a most modest, family, low-roofed, white stucco cafe. We dart through the rain into a most pleasant, homey interior. "Restaurant" is an apt name; the tables and counter are crowded with non-hatless cowboys, mingling together in intimate groups of twos, fours or more, and the air of camaraderie is as if we were entertained as kin and kindred by a whole clan.

All the counter, bustling waitresses in spotless white uniforms expertly serve us delicious food, with one too large to their cowboy customers who merely state how many cups of coffee they own — and pay up.

A young, fair-haired, blue-eyed cowboy settles in and happens to sit next to my husband and myself. Soon we are chatting together, like everyone else! He stirs his coffee thoughtfully as he answers our questions.

"Oh, that big white house? It belongs to a well-known Buffalo family. Made their money ranching. Sheep. Big business in these parts. Most of the townspeople are retired ranchers. You noticed this is Lamb-O-Rama Week? A kind of annual "get-you-ck" for sheepmen in order to gather new ideas for wool and sheep consumption. Lectures, sales, exhibitions are stiff competition.

"No, these cowboys are not here in the summer. Off season, I count. They're drinking a little coffee with one another due to the rain. Chances are do on the ranch during a rainy period. All have driven in from ranches that are 50 to 150 miles away.

"Few ranchers ever take a so-called holiday, such as we Americans are having. Though one thinks nothing of driving 500 miles, say to Laramie, or even further for a weekend. The summer is actually a busy time: lambing, shearing sheep and selling lambs.

In the autumn many hunt and antelope in the mountains, since most families eat such steaks during the winter.

Then in the winter, it keeps cowboys busy feeding the sheep and cattle supplementary feed, and snowdrifts make it hard work after the stock's well-fare. While most ranchers use piper planes to keep in touch and do a couple of hundred miles from anyone is a chance no cowboy can afford to take.

"Yes, of course, I'm a sheep rancher. My brother, seven years my senior, and I run the same ranch." (said he modestly) "We've had 15 sections of land, 7,000 acres. Imagine!) "which has been in our family for three generations. Our ranch sixty miles from here. We've some 8,000 sheep (a band is considered 2,000 sheep) and around 240 head of cattle.

"I love this life. As a former Air Force officer in World War II, I circled the world three times. Lived in Germany, Japan and India during that time, as well in various parts of the United States. But I'm glad I'm part of the world for this wonderful free ranch life, that is my home, in Wyoming."

Pressures of Times Fail To Dim Berliners' Humor

By SHIRLEY AND BOB SLOANE

BERLIN: As the "New Yorker" of Germany, Berliners have always been known for their peculiar sense of humor, even before the days of Hitler. Berliners call it the Monument to the Little Fellow, whether it aptly described as Goldfish Reading Carpets.

Even the Convention Hall with its cantilevered wings looks like a butterfly torte, or two half-eaten dumbbells back to back. Locally it is referred to variously as the Pregnant Oyster, the Baby Seals, and the Berliner Opening His Big Mouth. Because it was built with American funds it is sometimes described as Uncle Sam's Hat Emptying Out Over Berlin.

Karrajal Circus is the monicker applied to the new Concert Hall in the round. The cobbled front of the Berlin Opera House is called the Turned Up Village Belly in Berlin. Because of the singers behind it, the Walling Wall. A jagged metal sculpture in front is the Stainless Steel Conductor, or the Shlahkeba.

The three-pronged concrete monument to the heroes of the 1948 Berlin Air Lift has been dubbed the Three Graces. The planes of the lift were referred to as the Raisin Bombers.

EXPENSIVE LADY

Because she gets a new coat of gold every year, the Winged Victory statue atop one of the Kaiser's massive monuments is known as the Most Expensive Lady in Europe.

A traditional name for doughnuts is Kurfurstendamm Apples because they resemble apples than for. the reason they resembled other objects found on this busy street in the days before Volkswagens.

When Berliners observe that the construction of the Reichstag building is going slowly and the government points out that there are 365 workers on the job, the response is likely to be that that is working one day of the year.

Even the Wall comes in for its jokes. It is called the Face Track, or sometimes the Saxon Ring, for the hand-picked East German goon squads from Saxony that guard it.

If a sense of humor is a handicap against disaster, nothing much is likely to happen to West Berlin after all.

Col. Nicol Smith to Present 'Australia' at Collegiate

Next Thursday evening, Colonel Nicol Smith, who needs no introduction to his Belleville audience, will present a new color-film story of Australia, the world's smallest and largest island, at the Collegiate auditorium.

Australia is an all-color motion picture showing the cities of Sydney, Melbourne; Dawin—Australia's northern gateway, Adelaide in the South, and Perth in the West. The unique fauna including the native bear, the hare-wallaroo, the Emu, the kangaroo, and the duckbilled platus will also be shown. The hard-working Aussie Jack Eager's Rock, the world's greatest monolith.

Colonel Smith, whose home is in Burlingame, California, graduated from Stanford University with a Bachelor of Arts degree. He is the author of several books: "The Burma Road;" "Into Siam-Underground Kingdom," and the "Golden Doorway to Peru" as well as a contributor to "The National Geographical Magazine," and "The National Geographic Magazine." In television he is exceptional winning awards for "Search the Seven Seas" and "The Golden Galleon."

During World War II he was a secret agent for the OSS in Vichy, France, and in Thailand, when he had many exciting adventures.

Colonel Smith's narrations are always a delight to all who hear him, and "Australia," promises to be one of his best.

'Millinery' Demonstration Given at Guild

The regular monthly meeting of St. Margaret's Evening Guild was held recently in the church hall.

The president, Mrs. Bruce Bishop, welcomed the members and guests.

Mrs. G. Mountford introduced the guest speaker of the evening, Mrs. Rita Minion, whose topic for the evening was "The Art of Millinery."

She began by saying that while her husband had been attached to the U.S.A. navy, she had attended a hat show in Philadelphia, had taken a few lessons, and became completely infatuated with them.

She had many beautiful hats on display, and explained that some of her ideas came from magazines, TV, and papers, and from other people. She will make hats to order.

Her daughter, Leslie, modelled the hats, also on display.

Mrs. Bishop thanked the speaker for a delightful and entertaining evening, and presented her with a small token of appreciation.

Refreshments were served by Margaret Shappee and her group.

Music Student from Cuba Wants to Study Eskimos

TORONTO (CP) — When the Mercy O'Bourke, a pretty, vivacious 20-year-old music student from Cuba, announced that her ambition was to study and catalogue the music of Canada's Copper Eskimos, she had trouble convincing others she was serious. But she is.

"Everyone thought I was crazy when I first mentioned it and they all tried to talk me out of it. They teased me about having to live on raw fish and blubber, the rough living conditions and the problems of language. But now, after writing many letters to many people and explaining the research I have already done, they are beginning to take me seriously."

Miss O'Bourke, who first became interested in primitive music while studying at the University of Havana, came to Canada in 1960 to enrol at the Royal Conservatory of Music and on a Canada Council scholarship.

Her curiosity about Eskimo music was inspired by reading an article on the subject while waiting in a dentist's office. From then on she spent much of her spare time reading and studying about Eskimos. She has been attached to the Department of Eskimos music and arranged to spend two weeks in Montreal talking to home Eskimos.

Miss O'Bourke has applied to the Indian and Eskimo Association of Canada for help in recording Eskimo music but it may be a year before she can make a trip to the far north. She has also applied for assistance from the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, the National Museum in Ottawa and the Wenner-Gren Foundation in New York.

The Copper Eskimos, who live along the Arctic coast of the Northwest Territories in the general area of the Coppermine River, were the last to come in contact with the white man.

Miss O'Bourke says their music is fascinating—"very guttural and rhythmic, constantly changing in beat but limited in range as they use a small number of notes."

She says the cataloguing should be done soon. "Unless this music is recorded and catalogued it will eventually disappear. Our Western civilization is taking over."

Latter Day Saints W.D. Lists Officers

The ladies of the Women's Department of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints met on Wednesday evening as guests at the home of Mrs. Larry Smith, of Bayside.

The worship period was conducted by Mrs. L. Smith using the theme "Temperance in All Things." The story of the beginning of the work of the church in Korea was told.

The lesson was taught by Mrs. S. C. Else using the study book, "What is Appointed Unto Me?" She explained that it is part of our stewardship to take care of the bodies, and mentioned ways to maintain health.

The business meeting was convened with Mrs. W. L. Cannniff presiding. A letter was read by Mrs. W. Harrison from Mrs. J. T. Westwood of the General Council of Women at World Headquarters in Independence, Missouri, outlining Women's Institutes for the coming years.

GOOD USED CLOTHING NEEDED

Mrs. Cannniff asked the ladies to hand in their money-gifts to be sent to the missionaries in Korea for Christmas. She explained that good used clothing is being collected for the Korean Mission and asked that the ladies donate to this collection. Small sizes are needed, as Koreans are smaller people than we of the Western world.

Mrs. Jack McCurdy was elected to be the secretary-treasurer as Mrs. W. Harrison is moving to British Columbia. The executive for the coming year is as follows: Women's Leader, Mrs. W. L. Cannniff; assistant leader, Mrs. S. C. Else; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Jack McCurdy.

It was decided that a special Christmas meeting will be held in December.

Following the meeting a social hour was enjoyed. Lunch was served by the hostess.

Says Canadian Women Lack Courage in Buying Clothes

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian women tend to be conservative in their choice of clothes, says Montrealer Arnold Scassi, now one of New York's leading designers.

Mr. Scassi, 31, whose designs have won him the Coty, Winnie and Neiman Marcus fashion awards, finds Canadian women "not as adventurous as the European or American women."

Canadians tend to wear grey, black and brown while other colors are just as becoming or more so, he told a press conference. In his opinion, the average Canadian lacks the courage to buy something a little different. The same criticism has applied to manufacturers and stores.

Mr. Scassi's clothes won't be found in Canadian shops. He said the reason is they're too expensive. Besides he has Canadian customers who come to New York.

"I don't design for the business girl," he said. "It's simply that anyone who is going to pay $400 or more for a suit isn't working in an office."

NOT MATRIARCHAL

When it was suggested that the appearance of brunettes at every major New York and Paris fashion collection perhaps indicated the rise of a matriarchal system in the United States, he disagreed.

If the matriarchal system is growing anywhere, it is right here in Canada, he said.

Surveying the newspaper women present, he remarked: "I see potential matriarchs right here in this room."

Mr. Scassi said he thinks the North American woman is marvellously dressed. "I don't see any reason why she shouldn't be —she knows within 24 hours what Paris is doing. Newspapers and magazines tell her what to wear."

But, he added, a woman doesn't need to invest a fortune in clothes to be well-dressed.

"Sometimes the woman who pays $100 for a dress buys with more taste than the woman who pays $500."

Bowling Party Planned By XI Beta

The November meeting of Xi Beta Zeta was held at the home of Mrs. D. Boyce. The program convener, Mrs. H. House, continuing her theme on "The Good Life," brought with her several books from which the members read aloud some interesting highlights in the lives of Tom Dooley, Marie Curie, Florence Nightingale and Victor Herbert.

While the hostess served refreshments it was decided to properly complete the program, in lieu of the next meeting, arrange a theatre party to see "Naughty Marietta."

The evening was most enjoyable and the music composed by Victor Herbert, delightful.

The group later met at Mrs. N. Desmond's home for refreshments and plans were made for the Christmas party when the members will bring their husbands along for an evening of bowling, followed by a buffet supper.

ask henry

Henry invites letters from readers. For the most interesting letter he receives each week, he will award a copy of his best-selling book, "Ask Henry," published by Prentice-Hall, Inc.

This week's winner is Miss R. Rogo, 126 Hastings Ave., Toronto, Ontario.

Dear Henry—I have a problem. I can't go to sleep at night. Sometimes I get up and say my prayers again. I turn my pillow over so it will be fresh and cool. But still no sleep. Then in the morning I am tired. I am 6 years old and in grade two. Mummy worries that I won't pass if I am tired at school. Thank you —S.

Dear S. — Before you go to bed tonight decide what you are going to dream about. If you are a boy, dream that you are the leader of a million soldiers and live in a fortress; if you are a girl dream that you've got millions of nice dresses and live in a castle of gold with a prince. Now you've got the specifications for a sleeping beauty.—HENRY

Dear Henry—I am 13 years old and I hang around with this gang. There are five boys and two girls. We hang around the alley where one of the boys works (he is 14). My mother doesn't think it's right. If he isn't working we walk around from street to street. That's all we do—J.N.N.

Dear Desperate — You didn't sign desperate but I just figured you were. You are. Just listen to these tips for happy moderns: 1. Quit hanging around with this gang; 2. Get cracking at play, at home and at school. — HENRY.

Dear Henry — My son got very good marks at school last year. This year, after looking at his first term report card I see it is not as good. Is this an indication of the year? Should I be worried?—A LITTLE WORRIED.

Dear A Little Worried — No need to be worried. A kid spends the first term finding out what the teacher's tests are like and what the TEACHERS are like. You should praise your kid and say that it is a good start and that a kid usually gets better as the year goes on.—HENRY.

Dear Henry—What should I do with my 2-year-old daughter who can't stay still for a second and gets into mischief all the time?—MRS. M.J.T.

Dear Mrs. M.J.T.—I don't know what's wrong with you parents. Now you worry what to do with a child that is in mischief and doesn't stay still. So when the poor kid doesn't get into mischief and stays still you think he is sick!—HENRY.

Dear Henry: I've got a problem. Whenever I am in a swimming meet I get service, even in a baseball game, that is practice. I would like you to tell me what I should do about being service.—CHRIS.

Dear Chris — All the big wheels in sport are always nervous before a game. And being nervous helps them keep alert. So if it is good for big wheels like them it's good for a little spoke like you.—HENRY.

Miss A. Reid Stirling H.S. Valedictorian

RYLSTONE — Several from Rylstone attended the commencement exercises at Stirling High School on November 18th, in the Stirling Theatre.

The students from Rylstone who won prizes and scholarships are as follows: proficiency prize for grade 13 Home Economics, Agnes McKeown; proficiency prize for grade 10 French, Marilynn Stewart; intermediate certificates, Marilyn Stewart and Ted Reid; grade 12 Secondary School graduation certificates, Brent Gray, Agnes McKeown, Patricia Spencer and Fred Spencer; grade 13 Secondary School honor graduation diplomas, Jim Gray and Anne Reid. She also received two scholarships for general proficiency and the highest standing in grade 13 awarded to students attending university.

A Rylstone student who is now attending Queen's University, Kingston, Miss Anne Reid, gave the valedictory address as follows:

Mr. Chairman, Mr. Good, members of the staff, the school board, ladies and gentlemen—

Can you picture yourself in your old age sitting beside the fire in a comfortable chair? You reach for a book, you that one, the one bound in yellow and black. You look for that title and find these words, "This is My Life".

Skimming through the earlier chapters you remember the carefree and irresponsible days of your childhood in the days when your time was spent in making mud pies with your friends and in making a nuisance of yourself to your parents. But these days were not long in last, for you come to a chapter entitled "Labor Omnia Vincet," the motto of Stirling High School.

This chapter of your school career begins with anticipation and apprehension. Soon you become established in a new way of life and in a new way of thinking. By participating in school activities, of sports, of the choir, of the student council, you make new friends with whom you share the fun, the excitement, the thrills of being a teenager.

But more important, you begin to discover who you as an individual really are. This is because the basic aim of any educational system is to teach one how to think. You are not alone in this process of discovering yourself for you have many guides. Always ready to give love, encouragement and understanding, your family is the mainstay of your life. Someone once said that your teachers are like your family-away-from-home. This is true and like your family, they are always willing to give evidence of their time and of their efforts to help you. Throughout the five years of high school, your teachers are not only instructors who lead you down the paths of learning, but are also friends — friends who are deeply interested in you as a person and in you as a student. Then there is the one Guide and great Teacher of all. In times of stress and in times of joy, you are also aware of the nearness of God.

With commencement this chapter of your life draws to a close. But as it is the end of one chapter, it is also the beginning of another — your entrance into the adult world. Whatever vocation you choose, whether it be teaching, nursing, technical work or university, you once again find your way of thinking broken down. But gradually the jig-saw puzzle that is you, is complete. With confidence you now enter the world to fulfill whatever purpose you may feel is yours.

Thoughtfully, you now close the book and lean back into your chair with a feeling of contentment. A sense of well-being floods you for you know it has been a good life, a satisfying one and a rewarding one. This is why you can thankfully say in the words of David the Psalmist "My Cup Runneth Over".

Has Lost the Art of Courting

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS—How does a 35-year-old widower with four children go about meeting a nice woman in her early thirties? I have always been shy and self conscious. It has been so long since I was eligible (18 years) that I have lost the art of courting (if I ever had it.)

I don't own a car. All I have to offer are friendship, understanding and affection.—LONELY.

DEAR LONELY—About the best things anybody has to offer are friendship, understanding and affection. With four children money is bound to be scarce.

What are your interests? Sports, camera, music, workbench. Ask your city recreation directors about where you can find kindred souls of both sexes. Give what talent you have and some new friendships will start coming your way.

• • • •

DEAR DORIS—I have been married for a few years and since then my husband has been running around. I have tried everything to make him stay home—but with little result.

What can I do to keep my home together with little affections from my husband and deep despair for the future?—THE WONDERER.

DEAR WONDERER—Perhaps your husband is incurable. But once you and he were in love. Could a trained person help you see where your marriage got off the track?

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—The six Kiper children, ranging in age from five to 13, had their tonsils removed in a mass extraction Friday. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Kiper, who live northwest of Tulsa, explained they felt it would be simpler to have all six tonsillectomies at the same time, rather than make repeated trips to the hospital.

SOME BILLS

Don't Look So Big at FIRST!

The real cost in heating with any fuel is not just FIRST COST . . . equipment and installation. IT IS THE TOTAL COST . . . First cost PLUS those month by month fuel bills that you must meet. While many fuels promise big savings at first, they cost you MORE than oil heat every month. OIL HEAT IS MORE ECONOMICAL, CLEANER and SAFER than any other modern automatic fuel. Check all the advantages of oil heat before you build or buy . . . or convert your present heating system.

The truth is . . . You Pay Much Less To Heat Better With . . . FUEL OIL!

No other automatic fuel "is just as good". Today . . . tomorrow or always . . . OIL HEAT sets the pace . . . OIL HEAT is chosen by the great majority of Canadian home owners

Imagination Always Wins In Conflict With Man's Will

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

Too often we treat the imagination as something slip and insubstantial. We sometimes "pooh pooh" an idea by saying of it, "Oh, that exists only in his imagination." Well, that is just about the most powerful position for an idea to hold, for when it gets into the imagination and stays there, it is pretty sure to produce results. In fact, so powerful is it that psychologists recognize the Law of Reversed Effort which reads like this: "When the imagination and the will are in conflict the imagination always wins." We may not believe that at first, but experience bears it out. As a person thinking about something, and even though you set your will against it, it is amazing how the image feeds the desire until finally you do it.

Realizing this power of imagination, Job said, "I have made a covenant with mine eyes." Job knew that he must control his image if he was to control his conduct. Jesus stressed this same truth in His warning against the lustful look. Our Lord knew that the imagination which protects the eye-gate and the ear-gate is character's first line of defense.

I have no hesitation in asserting that the imagination is person's first line of defense in protecting his virtue and integrity. Yes and I will add that the imagination of people is a nation's first line of defense.

INTERESTING CONTRAST

Even if we do not yield to the temptations conjured up by the imagination, the very consideration of them consumes our time and divides our energy. Harold Begbie once drew a very interesting contrast between the wives of two former foreign premiers. Both had characters above suspicion, but while one of them lived on such a high plane that unworthy suggestions never entered her mind, the other would flirt with temptation by inviting the questionable proposition into the vestibule of her thought.

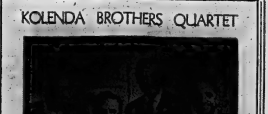
A temptation, you know, is like one of those slick house-to-house salesmen, who, if he gets one foot inside the door, can spoil your morning. To have such control of our minds' doors that we do not give even a courteous to an evil suggestion to preserve our imagination undefiled by degrading images, to keep our tastes so that they gravitate toward the things that are true and honorable and lovely and pure and of good report — that is a part of what Christ had in mind when He bade his followers possess their souls.

And such possession of the pure imagination requires patience and discipline to achieve. Our wills may be converted to Christ while our imaginations remain in bondage to devilry. We have to school our thoughts, cultivate the company of the best characters, live in the presence of the things Christ liked, until we learn to like them too. How do you interpret Our Lord's Prayer: "Lead us not into temptation"? For one thing, does it not mean asking God's help to guard our imaginations, to lead our thoughts away from those areas which arouse evil suggestions?

The imagination is not only a potent defense against evil but a necessary tool in working for good. Some years ago I spoke at a meeting to further goodwill among Protestants, Roman Catholics and Jews. After several had spoken, an interested woman came up to me and asked, "Why do you men make such a problem of this when all that's need is to practice the Golden Rule, Do unto another as you would that he should do unto you?"

SHEER IRRITATION

"Yes," I replied, "the Golden Rule contains the right formula, but the trouble is that most of us do not have enough imagination to see what we would want done to us if we were in the other person's place, with the result that we do to him what we think is good for him and that usually irritates him." The Golden Rule when practiced without imagination is often sheer irritation.



An American diplomat once declared that a major barrier to world brotherhood is that we people judge ourselves by our ideals and intentions, but we judge other people by their actions. Americans assert that they want peace but other nations judge them by their actions. Other governments declare their peaceful intentions but Americans judge them by their missile bases and fat breadshields.

How can we learn to judge others as we want them to judge us? It requires conferring together, working together and the cultivating of a Christ-like imagination by prayer.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

It was stated at the meeting of the Belleville Fish and Game Association the other night that some 20,000 deer-seeking nimrods roamed the wilds, haunts and runways of the Tweed district of the Department of Lands and Forests during the hunting season.

Bill Bittle of the Wildlife Division of the department in a release, "The Deer Hunt in the Tweed District as the Department Saw It," says: "If all the deer shot this season were divided equally among all the hunters, everyone would have about 20 pounds of venison at a price far beyond the choicest fillet mignon."

"At least," Bill goes on, "this is the way we see it when figures indicate a success rate of one deer for every four hunters in the Tweed Forest District."

That, according to my deep freeze is one heluva lot of venison. Arithmetically, it figures some 5,000 bucks, does and fawns bit the forest floor.

While in passing the announcement that the 1963 deer-hunting season opens on November 4th, does not mean the season is increased by a day. In 1964 it will start on November 2 (Leap Year) and so on. In any event the seasons will open on Mondays so that people who like a deer-hunting vacation can make their arrangements.

Generally speaking, the season was better than last year, Mr. Bittle says. The increased success extended eastward into the Kempville district and northward to the Bonnechere area.

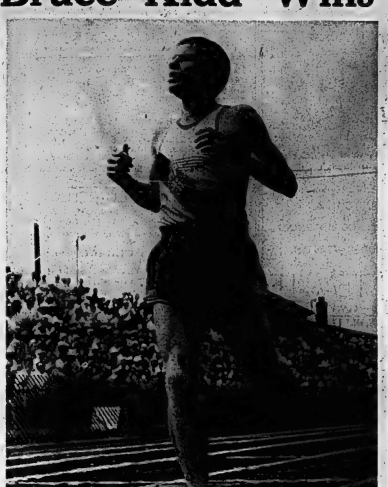
But while the overall picture was bright, there were ups and downs. East of the Mnaiuaw and around Black Donald the harvest was exceptionally good. Hunters in Grimsthorpe had a field day and Anglesea reported good hunting. The Denbigh area was down.

Some of the divisions of the invading "army" hunted in packs. Officers patrolling the Hydro line in the Sawyer-Stoll area northwest of the Mnaiuaw reported hunters on watch every 50 yards and others sitting around small fires waiting to take their place should a watch be abandoned. Some arrived before daylight, armed with guns and lunch-baskets.

"Persons travelling the remote areas by jeep, tractor, horses or on foot were no doubt the most successful," said Mr. Bittle. Many deer examined at check points had had the hide rubbed off and in some cases the vertebrae exposed after they had been dragged over hill and dale. All these deer were over 200 pounds."

That annual bane of department officials, the hunter gripes was missing. There were no complaints of the season being "too early, too late, too long, too short, too cold, too warm, too wet or too dry. Perhaps we hit it right for a change," commented Mr. Bittle.

The hunt had its humorous sidelights—and only one tragedy, reported in the Calabogie area. One hunter tried out a new scope sight and couldn't see a big buck that was running right at him. There, was the hunter who took his bride out for her first hunt. She saw the deer but making like "The Rifleman" pumped the shells out on the ground.



Then there was the novice who shot his first deer—and didn't know how to dress it. Department officers happening along helped him out of his difficulty.

"Dogs," said Mr. Bittle, "the same old story. Three dog pounds in the Millbridge area did a good job, but elsewhere it was the same. Two hours of deer hunting to four of dog hunting. Reported lost, a black and white hound, last seen going over Big Buck Mountain." Paid $25 for the dog—cost $100 to keep him—used for one chase and the man who would never use a dog shot the deer."

The trigger-happy boys, says Mr. Bittle, are on the decrease for there were fewer accidents... One man had a foot blown off, while a few minor accidents were reported. One member of a party shot their own little black dog for a deer. He is not a member of the gang any more."

Bruce Kidd Wins First Gold Medal

GOLD MEDALIST BRUCE KIDD

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

PERTH, Australia (CP) — Bruce Kidd gave Canada its first gold medal of the British Empire Games today, winning the six-mile race in record time, but Harry Jerome broke down in the 100-yard dash and finished last.

PERTH, Australia (CP)— Found of Montreal won the second gold medal for Canada at the British Empire Games today by winning the men's 110-yard freestyle swimming final.

Six finals were decided in the track and field competition and Australia grabbed a major share of the honors, winning gold medals in the men's 3,000-metre steeplechase, high jump and javelin. New Zealand snared the gold medal in the women's shot put and Kenya took the men's 100 sprint.

The University of British Columbia eight was beaten by New Zealand in the first round of the rowing trials but will get a second chance in the repechage, Monday.

The UBC four without cox entered Tuesday's final with an easy win over New Zealand, but the Canadian pair bowed to England and will have to try again in the repechage.

Kidd, running in temperatures of more than 100 degrees, scored a brilliant win.

BEATS RECORD HOLDER

With a magnificent burst of speed, the 19-year-old University of Toronto sociology student raced away from the star-studded field over the last two laps to win by 50 yards.

Kidd, a prodigy of distance running, set a Games record of 28 minutes, 28.6 seconds.

Dave Power of Australia, the defending champion, was second in 28:34.0—nearly eight seconds behind the Canadian. Power held the previous games mark of 28:47.8.

John Merriman of Wales, who was second to Power in the 1958 Games, once again chased the Australian home to finish third.

The official temperature reached 107.2 degrees for the hottest November day here in 49 years and one official said the thermometer in the open stands shot to an amazing 147. But it had dropped considerably when it came to Kidd's turn around the red clay track.

After the win, Kidd slipped off his shoes and cooled his feet in the steeplechase water jumps.

Jerome, the 22-year-old co-holder of the world record in the 100, pulled up badly after 80 yards and finished sixth and last in 10 seconds flat.

Serafino Antao of Kenya won the gold medal in 9.5 seconds. Tommy Robinson, the one-man team from the Bahamas, took the second-place silver medal and Gary Holdsworth of Australia the third - place bronze. Robinson and Holdsworth both were clocked in 9.6.

Jerome's defeat was one of two staggering upsets in the second day of competition.

Betty Cuthbert, Australia's golden girl of the 1956 Melbourne Olympics, was eliminated in the semi-finals of the women's 100 along with Yvonne Breedon of North Vancouver, who pulled a leg muscle and finished sixth and last.

Three Games records went by the board in the blazing, humid weather including Kidd's amazing performance that knocked 12 seconds off Power's mark.

The Australian gold medalists were Trevor Vincent in the 3,000 - metre steeplechase in 8:43.8, Percy Hobson who took the high jump with a Games record leap of six feet, 11 inches and Alf Mitchell, who tossed the javelin 256 feet, three inches, also the best ever in the Games.

England won the gold medal in the lawn bowling fours. Scotland and Rhodesia tied for second place and will play off Monday to decide the silver and bronze medal winners. Canada finished 10th among 11 countries.

The crowd of 18,000 went wild over Kidd even though he had beaten an Aussie. He never gave any of the field of six a chance.

Running in his usual floppy-armed style, Kidd stayed up close all the time and when the pace began to tell on many of the runners, Kidd and Power were alone to battle it out.

With a mile to go, it was Power with Kidd almost on his heels. Both had lapped the field.

Then Kidd brought the crowd to its feet when he broke into a sprint, a trademark that has made him a favorite figure on North American tracks.

Power tried to keep up with him but before he knew it he was at least 20 yards behind.

Amerks Nip Indians 4-3

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Jimmy Pappin and rookie Gary Jarrett have finally found the range, Rochester Americans could become serious threats in the Western Division of the American Hockey League.

Pappin and Jarrett had scored just four goals between them in the Amerks' first 16 games. Still, Rochester clung to second place behind Buffalo Bisons.

Against Springfield Indians Friday night, Pappin and Jarrett notched two goals each to lead Rochester to a 4-3 overtime win over the Indians.

Jarrett scored the deciding marker with a 70-foot bouncer from outside the blue line that skipped past goalie Jacques Caron.

Browns Meet Steelers

Giants, Skins Top Clash

The last time Y. A. Tittle ran into the Washington Redskins, he peppered them with seven touchdown passes, tying a National Football League record. He also launched the Sins on a dizzying downward spiral.

A month ago, when the two teams clashed, the Redskins, a crowd of Cinderellas, had not lost a game and were the talk of the league. Now their record stands at 3-3-2, and their back are to the wall.

The Giants (6-3), riding high on a five-game winning streak, are hurtling at full throttle toward their second straight Eastern Division title.

Besides Washington, two other clubs have mathematical hopes in the east — The Pittsburgh Steelers (6-4) and the Cleveland Browns (5-4-1). They clash in a telling struggle at Cleveland, with the loser eliminated.

Other games have Chicago (6-4) at Baltimore (5-5), San Francisco (4-6) at St. Louis (2-7-1), Dallas (4-5-1) at Philadelphia (1-8-1) and Los Angeles (1-9) at Minnesota (2-8).

Tittle, of course, is happily anticipating another shot at the Redskins. His passes accounted for all the New York touchdowns and 305 yards in the 49-34 victory.

But the Redskins also have something going for them in Norm Snead. He connected for four touchdown passes in the last game against the Giants. Two of them were to Bobby Mitchell, who hasn't scored since.

This is the second meeting for the Steelers and the Browns. The last time they met, Cleveland won easily, 41-14. The Steelers, however, have won their last three games. Fullback Jimmy Brown of Cleveland appears to be fully recovered from his wrist injury.

CANADIANS TO COMPETE

VANCOUVER (CP) — Coach Bob Hamilton of the Lethbridge Nationals basketball team said Friday the team will go to Manila to participate in an invitational tournament which starts Dec. 1.

Look what the Dixons just bought!

This strange-looking contraption was just purchased by Ralph Dixon to give him a high hand in the tree surgery business. At the same time, he and his wife decided to buy a brand-new TV set they'd been admiring.

Now in both cases, to avoid borrowing, their dealers recommended that they use "purchase credit" through the Traders Preferred Credit Plan. And so the Dixons are paying out of income, with their savings still intact and their credit at the bank untouched. The monthly payment plan was carefully explained to them down to the last detail ... including the life insurance on the unpaid balance.

When you are planning on buying an automobile or something new for your home or business, you'll find responsible businessmen in every community who can offer you the low-cost Traders Preferred Credit Plan. Just look for the Traders symbol on your dealer's window. Petes, Royals Tie 3-3

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Guelph Royals came from behind twice Friday night and finally took the lead. They could not hold on to it.

With a minute and six seconds left to play, Danny Grant scored for Peterborough and gave the Petes a 3-3 tie that pushed them a point further ahead in first place in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

Peterborough now has 15 points. Niagara Falls Flyers, who lost 6-4 to Hamilton Red Wings, are tied for second with the Wings and Montreal Canadiens, two points behind.

The Petes and Royals went ahead 3-2 with four minutes and eight seconds left in the game. Bryan Watson put Petes ahead late in the first period, Borden Smith tied it for Guelph in the second, Ron Nandi again gave Peterborough ahead at 10:06 of the third period but Trevor Fahey tied it again just 40 seconds later.

Flyers' goals went to Terry Crisp, Wayne Maxner, Gary Harmer and Gary Dornhoefer.

Another Boisterous Battle

Junior B's Down Picton 6-4

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

Belleville Junior "B"'s ended their scoreless streak after twelve seconds of play here last night and some 59 minutes later had cut Picton's initial victory of the 1962-63 season, 6-4 over the Picton Merchants.

A crowd estimated at 350 saw Gary Hull break the egg after two minutes had passed in from the opening faceoff to gun the disc past Picton's Don Brannenstool.

Belleville never looked back after that in a typical junior game, laced with chippy play and the usual flock of penalties. It was 5-2 at the end of the second period and 6-4 going into a scoreless third frame.

The winners outshot Picton by a comfortable margin with Bob Brownlee and Bill Belleville's Barry Duguid making some fine saves. Belleville missed a number of chances to increase their victory margin when they bemmed Picton in for minutes at a time in the second half of the game, without scoring.

Stu Muirhead and Gary Hull were two of the more effective players on the local squad. Muirhead scored two goals and assisted on another while Hull added a pair of assists to his opening goal. Garry Duvall, third man on the line, drew three assists.

Defencemen Paul Zakos, Ted Rowland and Gary Reid fired the other goals with single assists going to Don Goodfellow, Reid and Jim Rutherford.

Garry Hasenzil, Carl Stacey, Harold Haddock and Bob Brown were the Picton marksmen. Haddock, George Sainsbury and Bob Jackson drew assists. The club missed sparkplug Larry "Pocket" Pero, out with the flu.

Each club picked up nine minor penalties, including many foolish ones, plus a pair of fighting majors each. Duvall, of the winners, also received a misconduct sentence. Brown and Paquin tangled in a second-period fight, drawing seven minutes apiece, while Rhodes and Goodfellow also got minors and majors for battling in the third period.

After Hull's early marker, Brown and Muirhead went off together and Reid and Hasenzil scored in that order to make it 2-1. Blueline shots by Rowland and Zakos upped it to 4-1. Stacey and Muirhead closed the period scoring at 5-2.

PERTH, Australia (Reuters)—Canada today lost by one-third of a length to New Zealand in the second heat of the eight-man rowing competition at the British Empire Games.

New Zealand, finishing in seven minutes, 7.5 seconds to Canada's 7:9.5, qualified to meet England in Tuesday's final. England scored a upset win over the favored Australian crew earlier.

New Zealand led from the start and looked easy winners until the last stretch when the powerful University of British Columbia crew made a dramatic spurt and got to within one-third of a length.

The race was rowed under a cloudless sky with temperatures in the upper 90s and a stiff headwind.

ADVANCES TO FINAL

Canada advanced to the final of the ceniess pairs when the UBC quartet of Tommy Gray, Roy McIntosh, Tom Stokes and Elton Wornoblif easily defeated New Zealand over the 2,000 metre course in 7:19.9. The New Zealanders were clocked in 7:33.3.

Australian and English oarsmen joined the final in the ceniess pairs. Australia defeated New Zealand by 18 lengths in 8:37. England won by a bigger margin over Canada's Herb Chaffin and Bob Stubbs in 9:03.8. The losers also row against each other Monday for a chance to make the final.

Goalie Kept Score Down

Russ Blank Metro Squad

TORONTO (CP)—The Russian national hockey team, with tenacious checking, short passes and positional hockey, outclassed the Metro-British Columbia Junior All-Stars 6-0 Friday night.

The Russians now have won five of six games on their nine-game Canadian tour.

The Russians, who scored two goals a period, were led by Valentin Konin with two goals. Other marksmen were Yevgeny Mayorov and his brother Boris, Vladimir Yurainov and Anatoly Firsov.

The Russians didn't dress Vyacheslav Starshinov, centre of their top line, but didn't miss him. The team carries three extra players and rotates the lineups.

The Juniors, coached by Rev. David Bauer of the University of British Columbia, were picked from the UBC team and the Ontario Hockey Associations Metro Toronto Junior A series.

AWARDED SHOT

But for the goaltending of UBC's Ken Broderick, who stopped two breakaways and made other sparkling saves, the score would have been much higher. The Juniors couldn't score even when Gary Dineen of Toronto Neil McNeil Maroons was awarded a penalty shot early in the third period.

Dineen, pulled down from behind on a breakaway by Russian defenceman Alexander Ragulin, tried to pull goaltender Victor Konovalenko on the penalty shot but the Russian setup blinder shot on his right glove to make the save.

The crowd, a surprising 11,725, booed the Juniors after Dineen missed the penalty shot.

Entries Set All-Time Record

Eastern Ontario Minor Hockey Booms

STIRLING (Staff) — Upper brackets hockey may be having its troubles, but the "feeder-box" production lines are running at full blast.

And the Ontario Minor Hockey Association is seeing to it that the moppet understudies are steered through the proper channels of organization, coaching and training.

Don't let anybody tell you that Canadian kids and the men who look after them are losing interest in the game.

Other sports may be making inroads into the pastime in some parts of the country but down this way hockey still comes as natural to a youngster as snowballing or masquerading on Hallowe'en.

Concrete evidence of this was seen here the other night when coaches, managers and team executives set an all-time attendance record at the annual organization meeting.

"OMHA prospects in Eastern Ontario never looked better" commented OMHA second vice president Doug Patterson, who with first-vice Albert Watkin, Peterborough and executive member Jim Kinkley, Napanee conducted the get-together.

Over 100 team representatives from Bancroft on the north to Wellington and several intermediate points were present. Urban centres like Belleville, Kingston, Trenton operate their own associations locally.

The meeting established various groups or leagues ranging from pee wee to juvenile.

Two pee wee leagues, the first in Eastern Ontario, were set up. One league consists of teams from Norwood, Havelock and Campbellford, the second, Wellington, Frankford, Stirling and Napanee.

Plans were made to stage two Eastern Ontario Pee Wee Tournaments to be held in early February. It is expected some 30 district teams will take part in the tournament program.

Seven other groups, two bantam, three midget and two juvenile were set up. These constitute a total of 45 teams involved in league play.

In addition, seven juvenile, six midget, eight bantam and nine pee wee teams are expected to take a bye into OMHA playoffs commencing in mid-February.

Individual groups besides pee wee are:

BANTAM

Group 1 — Wellington, Frankford, Brighton, Picton, Stirling, Napanee.

Group 2 — Norwood, Havelock, Marmora, Hastings, Campbellford, Lakefield.

MIDGET

Group 1 — Wellington, Frankford, Brighton, Stirling, Napanee, Picton.

Group 2 — Norwood, Lakefield, Campbellford, Hastings, Havelock.

Group 3 — Bancroft, Marmora, Madoc, Cooper.

JUVENILE

Group 1 — Wellington, Frankford, Brighton, Picton, Trenton.

Group 2 — Norwood, Warkworth, Marmora, Campbellford, Stirling, Madoc.

Teams involved in provincial playdowns are:

JUVENILE

Gananoque, Kingston, Belleville, Trenton, Peterborough, Bancroft, Tweed.

MIDGET

Gananoque, Kingston, Belleville, Trenton, Peterborough, Tweed.

BANTAM

PEE WEE

The whole represents 75 teams, new record for clubs entered in OMHA playoffs in Eastern Ontario.

UNCLE JOE'S TROUBLE

Dad, I don't think you should keep offering Uncle Joe a drink when he comes here.

Why not, Bill? He can refuse if he likes.

I know, but maybe he doesn't want to—and you know what a lot of trouble he got into when he was drinking.

I certainly do—I just offer him a drink to be hospitable. He can have ginger ale if he wants.

He was practically an alcoholic wasn't he? It's no wonder that Aunt Jane left him.

Joe has had a lot of disappointments in his life. That's why he, drinks.

Maybe his drinking helped cause his disappointments.

That's true. It probably worked both ways. Now, since he's been off it for nearly a year, he does seem to be getting along better in every way. I really admire him for it.

Do you think it will last?

Yes, I think it will—because I noticed when I offered him that drink before dinner, he refused it without a second thought. I think he has his liquor problem licked.

DO YOU KNOW:

—what an alcoholic is?

—what are the danger signs on the road to alcohol addiction?

—what can be done to help a man or woman with an alcohol problem regain control over their lives?

Detroit's back-to-back weekend games with Chicago would well indicate whether or not Red Wings' pace-setting early season form was a flash in the pan, or represented a genuine rejuvenation of the same players that finished out of the playoffs last year.

Detroit has lost three of its last four games and dropped from sole possession of the National Hockey League leadership into a first-place tie with Chicago although Red Wings have played two less games than the Black Hawks.

The standings could undergo a major shake-up in weekend action with only seven points separating the first-place teams from fifth place New York.

Montreal Canadiens are in a position to press the league leaders after earning five of a possible eight points on their just-completed road trip.

After five weeks of lethargic hockey, Habs are only five points away from the co-leaders but six behind Detroit.

MAY PROVE TARGET

Coach Milt Schmidt leads his red and blue to Montreal tonight and could give muffled Canadiens' scorers quite a target if Boston Bruins improve over last week's showing when New York scored 11 goals against them in two games.

Jacques Plante has indicated he may be returning to form following his Thursday night 3-0 shutout of Detroit and coach Toe Blake hopes his big defence problem may be on the way to solution. The defence is tightening up steadily and the forwards are doing more efficient checking.

However, Montreal is the only team Boston has beaten this year. Bruins downed Canadiens 5-0 in the first game for both clubs this season, but quickly reverted to its cellar-dwelling form of the last few seasons.

Coach Schmidt doesn't believe in miracles and its just as well considering the team's defeats in New York since he took over from Phil Watson.

The Maple Leafs are up against a New York team which has given notice of staying very much in the race after winning three of their last four games. The host Toronto team has been able to beat Rangers only twice in five games.

Detroit travels to Chicago today for the first half of the first-place duel and hosts the Black Hawks Sunday.

Hull Ottawa Shades Fort Wayne

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It's been a while since Hull-Ottawa Canadiens and Kingston Frontenacs have had a chance to flex their muscles, and they'll probably be really bulging tonight.

Since the start of the Eastern Professional Hockey League this year, the two clubs have been jostling for a firm hold on first place. They've usually split in Kingston, and the winner will have won an important fight.

Since Nov. 9, when the Canadiens beat the Frontenacs 3-2, the clubs have been meeting the lower rung of the EPHL and International Hockey League clubs. While the IHL team's haven't been very impressive, they have only won two of 10 games against EPHL clubs.

Hull-Ottawa nudged a point ahead of Kingston Friday night with a 5-3 victory over the IHL's Fort Wayne Komets. Canadiens now have 24 points, Kingston 23.

The third - place Sudbury Wolves defeated Syracuse Braves 7-5 in Friday night's only other game.

Gary Cowan Tops Tourney

PORT ST. LUCIE, Fla. (AP) Gary Cowan of Kitchener will try to improve today on a three-stroke lead he carried into the second half of the 72-hole Perry Como amateur golf tournament.

The former Canadian amateur champion's first-round margin of five strokes, made on a five-under - par 67, was whittled down when he took a 73 Friday for 145 while second-place Bob Jewett of Fort Myers, Fla., was carding 75 for 148.

PETTY CRIMINALS

WORCESTER, England (CP) Magistrate Harold Watts said in sentencing a shoplifter here: "Napoleon said the English were a nation of shopkeepers. Today he would have called us a nation of shoplifters."

Beer Ran In Perth, Out, That Is

PERTH, Australia (CP)— As the temperature soared to 103.7 degrees, the hottest November day in Perth in 14 years, the beer supply ran out during the track and field events at the British Empire Games today.

Tom Browne, field manager at Perry Lakes Stadium, said 3,000 gallons of beer were consumed during the races.

"We ran out twice and had to send emergency orders for more," Brown said.

Gordie Howe Signs Contract

DETROIT (AP) — Gordie Howe, veteran star of the Detroit Red Wings hockey team, has signed a contract for the 1963-64 season, it was announced Friday.

Howe, who has been with the Wings since 1946, has been the National Hockey League's leading scorer for the past two years.

Patriots Wallop Bills 21-10

BOSTON (AP)—Emergency quarterback Tom Yewcic shook off the rust and passed for three touchdowns as he guided the amazing Boston Patriots to a 21-10 American Football League victory over Buffalo Bills Friday night.

Primarily a punter, Yewcic was thrust into the key role because of regular Bob Parilli's broken collarbone, and he staged a brilliant aerial show which rallied the Eastern Division's second-place club to victory.

After the Bills took a 7-0 first-quarter lead, Yewcic pitched touchdown strikes of 31 yards to Jimmy Colclough, 69 to Ron Burton and 18 to Gino Cappelletti.

Yewcic completed 12 of 177 passes for 220-yards as he duelled old pro Jack Kemp, getting his first start of the year for Buffalo.

Kemp showed no signs of the broken finger which had benched him, firing a 49-yard pass to Elbert Deubenion that set up his own six-yard scoring sweep. Cookie Gilchrist, former Toronto Argonaut fullback, kicked the convert.

Mack Yoho, former end and placekicker for Ottawa Rough Riders, accounted for Buffalo's scoring with a 36-yard field goal in the third quarter.

Ron Saylor Just Misses Perfect Game

Saylor spared the first frame, then tossed 11 straight strikes. He missed the headpin on the last frame and settled for a five—and 425.

It was the highest 400-plus score registered in the Bowl-O-Drome the past two years.

AT THE BELLE — Sophia Loren portrays Chimena whose tender love for El Cid (Charlton Heston) turns to an almost fatal hatred in the first of the biggest of motion picture productions, now in its second week at the Belle Theatre in Belleville.

Wants Games in Los Angeles

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)— Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown said Friday the United States Olympic committee's selection of Detroit to bid for the 1968 Summer Olympic Games means the Games probably will not be awarded to the United States.

Brown asked President Kennedy to intercede with the committee to bring the 1968 Summer Games to Los Angeles, which he said "will be quite acceptable to the International Olympic Committee."

In a telegram to Kennedy, Brown said he was advised that Detroit might be unacceptable to the international committee, and that the bid will be awarded to some other country.

"In order to avert the possibility," Brown said, "I urge you to prevail upon the United States committee . . . to reconsider its previous action . . ."

The committee selected Detroit over Los Angeles, Philadelphia and Portland on Oct. 16. Only one city in each country is allowed to bid for the Games.

Detroit has made unsuccessful bids three times.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Recent endeavor bears fruit. Be ready to accept rewards with tact. Emphasize modesty. Do not give in to temptation to say, "I told you so!" Get into rhythm of current affairs.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Check bank account, deposits, business details and budget. Wonderful for setting ideas to publishers, editors, senators. Cycle high. Conserve strength. Know that you may need "second wind."

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Like Gemmini, be aware of various trends, moods. Not wise to put all eggs in one basket. Be versatile, open - minded. Good Moon aspect now highlights day-dreams! Utilize interpretative powers.

If Today is Your Birthday . . . You has been your in which you faced obstacles, challenges. But you would not have it any other way. Future bright where new contracts, experiences are concerned.

General Tendencies: Special word to Scorpio. Creativity is key. Plan ahead. Be vigorous in approach to professional associates. Assert independence. Best relations up for Sagittarius and Capricorn.

Monday, November 26

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Key is practicality. Choice between "easy way and "right" way should not be difficult. Take course which you know from experience. Collect facts and be ready to present them.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May. 20) —Don't force way. This is period when you should hide your light under bushel. Be more than willing to help others. Love life is concerned. But not day to put over big deals. Be true to ideals, and have patience.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — You may find yourself "shooting for the moon". You may want too much all at once. Best to be moderate. Especially where relations with attorneys, law enforcement officers are concerned. Smile.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21) — Fine for dealing with animal lovers, for attending to own pets, or for purchasing "gift" for pet owned by friend or associate. Follow road leading to creative activity. Plan ahead.

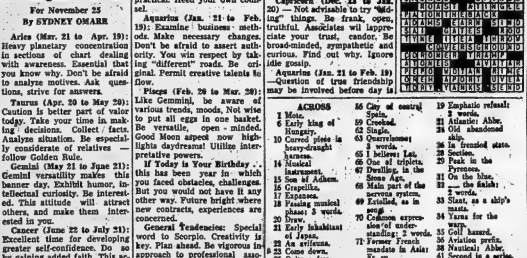
Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Best to remain close to work, if practical. Good time to deal with women. Catch up on details. Maintain positive attitude. There are minor obstacles. But they're soon overcome!

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Tendency is not for others to fool you — but you may imagine something which does not exist. Be practical. Ask to be shown. Individual who "sweet-talks" you is no friend! Progress indicated .

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Money matters require attention. But this should be no excuse for worry. Be alert, let sense of humor shine. Somehow you obtain what you really require. Say yes to request made by friend.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Exciting days in recent past and more in future! Get enough rest. Watch diet. Keep strong, capable. Important that you handle tasks yourself. Don't trust details to others.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) —Key is originality, independence, willingness to "try something new". Romance favored. Better for starting than for finishing. Stress leadership, self-confidence.



Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Not advisable to try "wedding" things. Be frank, open, truthful. Associates will appreciate your trust, candor. Be broad-minded, sympathetic and curious. Find out why. Ignore idle gossip.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) —Question of true friendship may be involved before day is over. Stick to the "tried and proven". Constructive criticism should be welcomed, not resented. Shake off tendency to be stubborn.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) —Listen to "inner voice". Your conscience speaks truth! Good aspects promise generosity, greater insight. Strive for freedom of thought, action. Give full play of creative abilities.

If today is your birthday . . . you love to develop special skills. Not for your own benefit, but to share those abilities with others.

General Tendencies: Cycle up for Sagittarius, Capricorn, Aquarius. But Gemini advised to take time. Losing temper would be serious mistake!

nicipality has the option of instituting of discontinuing fluoridation as it wishes but once the vote is held the decision of a majority of the electors is binding on the council.

In the case of Metropolitan Toronto, where 13 municipalities share a common water supply, the plebiscite was instituted by petitions in a majority of the municipalities.

St. Thomas, St. Catharines, Belleville, Welland, London and Chatham voters will also decide whether their drinking water will be fluoridated. Windsor electors will pass judgment on the continuation of water fluoridation in their city.

RE-ELECT JACK IRELAND for ALDERMAN

IRELAND Jack ALDERMAN X

My Experience

- Five Years as an active Alderman for Belleville.
- Chairman of the Traffic and Light Committee for past year.
- This year as Chairman and five years as member of the Industrial Commission.
- Served on Public Works and Parks Board.
- Member of Bus and Transportation Committees.
- Member of the Tourist Committee for the Chamber of Commerce.
- Chairman of the Y.M.C.A. Board for two years.
- Many years of experience in the Retail Business Field.

What I Have Done!

- As Chairman of the Traffic and Light Committee, approved the DeLeuw, Cather & Co. report and presented it to Council for adoption and final passing. This resulted in many traffic improvements in Belleville. For Example:
- New downtown parking lots on the way.
- Recommendation for the North Front Street Bridge to start in the immediate future.
- A five-year re-lighting program now at the half-way stage.
- Pre-engineering studies going forward on the Dundas Street bridge and arteries. Could be a reality in 1964.
- As a member of the Industrial Commission I have promoted Belleville. We purchased 56 acres of land on highway 401 for industrial sites . . . contacted many prospective tenants. Prospects are progressing favorably.
- All these plus many more accomplishments.

KENNEDY HOPES ARMS SPIRAL TO END

De Gaulle Wins Clear Majority In Assembly

Is First Such Victory In Modern History

PARIS (AP) — The long shadow of Charles de Gaulle stretched even farther across the French political landscape today in the wake of the president's resounding victory in national parliamentary elections.

In run-off contests Sunday de Gaulle's own party and others pledged to his support captured a clear majority in the National Assembly — the first time in modern French history that any cohesive force could claim such a margin.

Official results, combining first-round returns Nov. 18 and Sunday's second round, gave de Gaulle's Union for a New Republic 233 of the 482 seats in the new National Assembly. And 35 more successful candidates from other parties were pledged to support de Gaulle.

Thus the president had a combined support of more than 260 deputies, well above the 242 needed for control. In 1958 the UNR elected only 188 deputies although de Gaulle's popularity and the pressure of the Algerian war kept a majority of the assembly obedient to him.

MANY FAIL TO VOTE

With returns from six overseas districts still unreported, the other party standings were: (1958 result in parentheses): Independent — Republican and peasants 50 seats (120), Popular Republican Movement (MRP) 38 (44), Radical-Socialists and allies 43 (36), Socialists 67 (40), Communists 41 (10), other four.

The UNR collected 40.6 per cent of the vote, compared with

British Study Plans for Super Bomber

LONDON (AP)—The British air ministry is to study plans for a super bomber with movable wings enabling it to fly 15,000 miles an hour at an altitude of 47 miles, the London Daily Telegraph reported today.

The newspaper said the plans had been produced by Dr. Barnes Wallis, inventor of the "bouncing" bombs the RAF used in dambusting raids in the Second World War. Wallis, now 75, is chief of Aeronautical research and development for the Vickers Aircraft Company.

India Rejects Key Provision In China's Plan

CP from AP-Reuters

NEW DELHI — An Indian spokesman today rejected the key provision in Communist China's proclamation of a cease fire in the Himalayas and withdrawal of Chinese troops.

Peking's withdrawal plan would leave its troops deep in Indian territory, the spokesman said, and India cannot allow China "in reward of aggression to extend their unlawful control of Indian territory."

Since the cease-fire was put into effect by China last Wednesday, Indian troops have observed it. This was the first direct comment on the Chinese proclamation, although there have been government indications that its terms were unacceptable.

The spokesman said after reading a prepared statement that the Chinese proclamation is still under consideration. Their statement appeared to leave no room for India to accept it.

Peking's plan would leave the Chinese "sitting on a further 2,000 square miles" that they did not control before the latest aggression, the spokesman said. That area is in Ladakh at the northeastern end of the disputed border.

Former Editor Of N. Y. Tribune Takes Own Life

His body was found in a cabin where he did most of his magazine writing after returning to his native Texas from a brilliant career in journalism in New York City. A shotgun was found nearby.

Walker had been in failing health for some time and Saturday there was a report that he was suffering ill with a throat ailment and faced an operation.

Sir Winston's Grandson Stirs Up Storm Over Bomb Throwing

LONDON (AP) — Julian Sandys, grandson of Sir Winston Churchill, has stirred up a storm by urging that one hydrogen bomb a day be dropped on the Communist Chinese until they withdraw from India.

Sandys, a 25-year-old prospective Conservative candidate for Parliament, is the son of Commonwealth Relations Secretary Duncan Sandys. He made his suggestion in a political speech at Petersfield last week before Peking announced its cease-fire.

Brig. P. R. Antrobus, chairman of the Petersfield Conservative Association, said:

"I think everybody at the meeting agreed with what he made the statement. We were all astonished because nobody has suggested such methods before."

Sandys told the Petersfield meeting:

"Our trump card is the H-bomb, which the Chinese have not got. And my personal plan is to deliver an ultimatum to them that if they do not withdraw from India we will wipe out one city a day until they do.

"I think the Russians would be grateful if the Chinese were taught a lesson."

Sandys is proposing to run for the House of Commons at the next election. In the last national election, Sandys, one of the youngest candidates at 23, was defeated by his Labor party opponent by 20,000 votes.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis — Sunday's fine weather will continue today. Afternoon temperatures will approach the 50-degree mark over Southern Ontario and into the mid-40s in northern sections. Skies will be mainly sunny in the south and partly cloudy in northern localities. There is no evidence on the weather map for any change in this pleasant pattern for Tuesday.

GOVT. REQUESTS $200 MILLION 'POCKET MONEY'

Amount Will Pay A Month's Bills

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament is being asked today to vote another month's "pocket money" advance to the government—an amount in excess of $200,000,000.

It is just to tide the government over, so it can meet its day-to-day bills, until Parliament gets around to approving the revised 1962-63 spending program in detail.

So far, Parliament hasn't voted a penny in the specific formal appropriations for the fiscal year which started last April 1.

But the interim money supply already granted amounts to $2,611,188,443 out of the total amount to be voted for the current fiscal year of $3,649,772,211. In addition to the latter amount, the government is authorized by existing statutes to spend $2,038,442,339.

'JUST ENOUGH'

The amount being asked for in the Commons today by Finance Minister Fleming is just enough to carry the government through the month of December.

When the bill passes the Commons and Senate, the government will have authority, out of interim spending authority three - quarters' of the total spending estimates for the fiscal year which ends next March 31.

With statutory appropriations added, the government will have spending authority for over $5,200,000,000 of the $8,046,214,560 it contemplates spending this year.

Parliamentary control over government spending is safeguarded, despite the large proportion already spent, by government undertakings that in none of the appropriation measures is the full amount of any one appropriation.

And a new parable "blue book" for the 1963-64 spending year, which starts next April 1 already is in preparation. It is expected to be tabled in Parliament late in January or in February next year.

Guatemalan Army Crushes Pro-Red Air Force Revolt

GUATEMALA CITY (AP)—The Guatemalan army quickly crushed a Sunday morning revolt in which the government said pro-Communist air force rebels strafed the presidential palace and an army barracks with machine-gun and rocket fire from two planes.

President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes, 67, charged that the abortive coup was "one of the many" directed at his banana republic by Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

Three civilians were reported killed, a nine-year-old girl, a woman and a man, the government said.

Mrs. Philip Snare, wife of the political attache to the American embassy, was among some 30 persons injured. A bullet struck her in the arm as she stood by a window.

Anti-aircraft batteries downed one plane. The pilot was presumed killed.

The shooting started at 9:30 a.m. About 2½ hours later all shooting ceased and the government reported "the situation is well under control."

Several rebel air force officers were arrested by counter-attacking army troops. Other rebels, including four colonels the government said led the up-

Canada Is Seeking to Share In U.S Jet Fighter Orders

WASHINGTON (CP) — Canadian authorities are exploring prospects of getting part of a new multi-billion-dollar U.S. jet fighter program diverted to Canadian factories.

A Canadian official associated with defence production said Canadian plants are unlikely to get any of the major contracts but it does look hopeful that Canadians may be able to share in some of the subcontracts. Final decisions on these may take about six month.

He said Canadian plane makers are actively aware of the opportunities in the Pentagon's decision Saturday to begin first-phase production of what eventually may turn out to be a total of 1,500 flexible-wing tactical fighters at a cost of some $5,000,000,000.

The Pentagon awarded the prime contracts for the 1,000-mile-an-hour jets to two U.S. firms, General Dynamics Corporation, Canada's Canadair Limited of Montreal, and Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corporation. They'll will produce 22 test planes during the next 30 months before mass production is approved. This first-phase contract is valued at some $750,000,000.

81st Birthday Celebrated By Pope John

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John XXIII, celebrating his 81st birthday Sunday, said he does not know if he will live to see 82—and is not excessively worried about it.

The Pope was up with the dawn to travel to the Pontifical University of the Congregation for Propagation of the Faith.

"We are at the start of our 82nd year," he said in a talk to four cardinals, dozens of bishops and hundreds of seminarians and alumni from 60 nations.

"Will we arrive at the end of it? We are not excessively concerned. Any day is a good day to be born and any day is a good day to die."

He began his remarks by saying that Saturday night, as he was reading in his breviary to offer thanks to the Lord, he came upon a phrase from the Book of Job (Chapter 10, Verse 12):

"Thou hast granted me life and mercy, and thy visitation hath preserved my spirit."

That prayer is contained in the Roman Catholic Office of the Dead.

It was the second time within a month Pope John had spoken of his advancing age and his readiness to meet death. He told a general audience Oct. 31 that he was growing old and added:

"I always think of that other shore and submit to the will of the Lord, whether he decides to keep me here or call me to Him."

Macmillan And de Gaulle To Hold Talks

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Macmillan and President de Gaulle will hold talks next Thursday, 15-16, it was announced today.

An authoritative source said a meeting between Macmillan and President Kennedy in the United States also is expected in mid-December some time after the talks in France.

The Franco-British talks will be held at de Gaulle's country home and shooting lodge 30 miles west of Paris at the close of the NATO ministerial council meeting is Paris—from Dec. 13 to 15.

U.S. Statement To Arms Talks Urges Test Pact

Hear Russia Continues Tests Beyond Deadline

GENEVA (AP) — President Kennedy expressed the hope today that the new round of east-west disarmament negotiations will end "the upward spiral of weapons competition."

The president's statement was read as the 17-nation disarmament conference resumed after an 11-week recess. He said the talks should give priority to ending nuclear weapons tests once and for all.

"A moment may be at hand to initiate the beginning of the end of the upward spiral of weapons competition," the president said.

Kennedy noted that the United States has completed a recent series of atmospheric nuclear tests. There is hope, he said, that Russia will conclude its test series soon and this suggests that the time may be ripe for a real start toward halting the arms spiral.

Meanwhile, the New York Times in a dispatch from Geneva quoted an American diplomat as saying that the Soviet Union had been testing nuclear devices beyond the Russians' self-imposed deadline for testing.

Khrushchev had pledged to end the tests Tuesday. The American diplomat was quoted as saying the Soviet Union had been conducting a test every two days since then.

Another American predicted the Soviet tests would continue testing into December and "even longer if necessary," The Times reported.

Resumption of the conference today was expected to show whether the Cuban crisis and the India-China border war has pushed any of the eight non-aligned of the conference toward the West's position of insistence on disarmament inspection.

TWO OTHERS SURVIVE

The other Patton children were not injured in the fire. Cindy, 14, had stayed the night with Mrs. Patton's sister, while Kenneth, 8, was in hospital recovering from leg injuries received when his bicycle was struck by a truck about two months ago.

Flames had enveloped most of the house by the time firemen had arrived. Large clouds of smoke pouring through the roof could be seen for miles away.

Firemen believe the fire had been smouldering for some time before it broke into full flame. Platoon Chief Harold Walters said it was "a straight fire," with no indication of an explosion.

CABBIE KILLED

NEW YORK (AP) — Cab driver Nathan Glick, 57, was found shot to death Sunday. He was the first fatal victim of assaults on cabbies since police began driving taxis as decoys in the face of a wave of such robbery attacks two years ago.

FIVE CHILDREN DIE IN BLAZE AT LONDON

Believe Victims Were Suffocated

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Five children died in an early-morning fire which swept through the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Patton, in London's northeast section Sunday.

The children, whose bodies were found in and near their beds on the seven-room, frame house's second floor, are believed to have suffocated as smoke billowed into the upstairs rooms.

Dead are Teena, 2, Sherry, 4, Carmen, 6, LaTarra, 8, and Randy, 12.

Mrs. and Mrs. Patton were in satisfactory condition in hospital recovering from burns and shock.

Mr. Patton, prevented from climbing the burning stairs to the second floor, climbed into the roof outside in a futile attempt to rouse his sleeping children.

Child Beaten By Juveniles At Hamilton

HAMILTON (CP)—Two eight-year - old boys were charged with juvenile delinquency Sunday after a two-year-old boy badly beaten, was found under a 45-gallon oil drum in a Hamilton alley.

Police said Kees Hamrath, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hamrath, had been poked in the back and struck with an instrument similar to an ice pick.

Discovery of New Disease Gives Hope to Schizophrenics, Retarded

REGINA (CP)—Discovery of a new disease by two Saskatchewan psychiatrists is giving new hope that many schizophrenics, alcoholics and children afflicted with retardation may lead normal lives.

Identification of the disease "malvaria" — described as a major breakthrough in research into the relationship of schizophrenia to biochemical upset in the body—was announced by Dr. Abraham Hoffer, psychiatric research director for the Saskatchewan health department, and Dr. Humphrey Osmond, former superintendent of the government hospital at Weyburn, in a recent issue of the Canadian Medical Journal.

The scientists were able to isolate certain chemical substances from the bodies of schizophrenic subjects which were not found in the bodies of normal subjects.

A study was launched with chemical tests and psychological card tests to diagnose the substances and follow the patient's progress.

It became clear that many people classified as schizophrenic, alcoholic or retarded, had a single ailment in common.

It is estimated 40 per cent of those suffering from mental retardation are caused by physical disabilities, about one fifth of all alcoholics tested and in many schizophrenia patients have malvaria.

Treatments effective in schizophrenia, such as massive doses of nicotinic acid and niacinamide, with or without other forms of treatment, were tried on the malvaria sufferers and showed good results.

As a result of these findings, Dr. Hoffer said that the 40-percent group of mentally retarded children suffering from malvaria and without physical defects now have hope for treatment leading to recovery.

It is also predicted that other people who would spend their lives in and out of mental hospitals will be able to lead lives as well-adjusted human beings.

Dismantling Rebel Bases Castro's Price

States Terms for Allowing Inspection

HAVANA (AP)—The Castro government offered today to allow inspection of Soviet withdrawal of offensive weapons from Cuba if the United Nations confirms dismantling of bases from which counter-revolutionaries are operating against the Castro regime.

The government also repeated that Premier Fidel Castro's five-point package, including U.S. abandonment of the Guantanamo naval base, remains "indispensable to a true and definitive solution of the crisis."

The government issued the statement as Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan prepared to return to New York from Havana today.

It said:

"The demands that the United Nations verify in the territory of the United States, Puerto Rico and other sites where aggression against Cuba has been prepared the dismantling of training camps for mercenaries, spies, saboteurs and terrorists, of centres where subversion is prepared and the bases from which pirate ships sail against our shores."

The statement added that unless the "United States and its accomplices of a part of Latin America" agree to the inspection by the United Nations on their territories, Cuba will not accept "any concept inspection."

Mikoyan, who has been in Cuba 10 days, probably will leave New York for Moscow Tuesday after talks with UN, U.S., and Cuban officials.

The Cuban statement, some 2,000 words long, said that if an agreement along Castro's lines is reached "Cuba would not have need of strategic weapons for its defence, foreign military personnel ... would be reduced to a minimum, and conditions would be created for a normal development of relations with the hemisphere's nations."

The statement added, however, that Cuba reserves the right to acquire arms of any type for its defence.

Signed by Castro and President Osvaldo Dorticos, the document labelled American policies warlike and insolent and declared that "U.S./Aggressions" against Cuba forced the country to arm.

Two Juveniles Arrested After Wild Police Chase And Three Cars Stolen

A stolen car spree that began in Kingston early Saturday night with a wild police chase and the arrest of two 13-year-old juveniles in the washroom of a crowded Belleville bowling alley.

The fact neither youth had much driving experience may have been the undoing of a series of thefts that saw three cars stolen — one of them heavily damaged — before the dramatic end to the search.

Police say the pair stole their first automobile in Kingston. Just west of Napanee on High-way 502 the vehicle ran out of gas. Ditching it, they returned to Napanee, stole a second car and continued into Belleville.

Near the city limits the motor of the vehicle started burning. A motorist, seeing the car afire, tried to stop the youths. They turned off into the Belleville shopping plaza on Dundas Street East. Police believe they were heading back to Kingston at this point when the car motor burned out and quit. Abandoning the vehicle, they fled on foot.

Meantime, police in the area, already on the lookout for the stolen cars, were alerted by the scene by the motorist, who had tried to be helpful. The car was recognized and city and provincial police converged on

HUNCH PAYS OFF

Police theorized that the youths may have taken to swamping ground south of Dundas Street, but figured they might attempt stealing a third car from the nearby company car park. Constable Carbide (Bakelite), a cruiser was sent to the area.

The hunch paid off. As OPP constable Don Thoms drove into the parking lot an automobile take off with two youths and head back towards the highway.

He alerted OPP constable Bob Grieves with city police at the shopping centre. As officers moved to halt the car, it turned onto the plaza car park. Constable Grieves gave his cruiser pursuit. As the police car manoeuvered to halt the wanted vehicle it struck a parked car, went parking marker, crashing to a stop.

The two youths fled on foot, disappearing into the bowling alley where local players were just finishing off late-night plays.

Officers, close behind, followed them and in the washroom area where they were apprehended.

The juveniles were taken to Belleville police headquarters for questioning and detained.

Around The Tee

Although there were only eight rinks in play at the first men's one-day spiel of the year at the Carling Club on Saturday, the play was excellent and the boys had a wonderful time. There were only three drawns and the games were finished before the supper hour. Between the first and second games the members of the women's section of the club served a delicious luncheon.

A rink of Wes Andrews, Cliff Neill, Harold Mott and Ron Benn with 24 points was the first game and the spiel, while two rinks were tied for the consolation prize at 19 points and the same number of rinks were tied for the one-game high at 14 points. A playoff was required in each category, each player on each team throwing one stone. Harold Wilkinson and his brother Ernie tied for the two-game high and Harold's rink of R. Baker, Carm Lowther and Ken Pinker netted first prize. Monson, Jr. McConnell, Lloyd Lants and Ernie Wilkinson.

In the other fle, Charles Tuck, Ken Barrett, Dave Tobe and Gil Wamboldt defeated W. Weymark, H. Thompson, Harold Mott and Ron Benn ruthers in the playoff. R. L. Smith was the convener of the spiel and distributed the prizes at the end of the spiel.

On Saturday evening the mixed rinks had their innings and every ice was filled for the evening session. Both players and some guests enjoyed a social evening. The ice was again quite busy over the week-end.

The boys and gals are getting ready for the curling of cards and some excellent matches are now being seen in the weekly competitions, including the Bill Gault competition and the Turnabout contest, in which the skips change positions in every other game.

Fluoridation Film Shown At H-S Meet

Dr. Harold Craig gave an explanation and showed a short film on fluoridation at the regular meeting of Prince Charles Queen Mary Home and School Association. He also answered questions and placed pamphlets much informative advice.

Business consisted of installation of officers.

The next meeting is scheduled for December 5th in Queen Mary School, and will take the place of a parent education night.

Sidney Street 401 Cross-Over Is Now in Use

Scene of a number of serious accidents since the opening of the four-lane highway north of the city, the intersection of Sidney street with 401 has now been eliminated.

The Sidney street cross-over, under construction since early last spring, is now in use although the structure is still not entirely completed.

Permanent railings on the structure are not yet in place and only the primary surface — the first layer — of asphalt has been laid on the ramps and on the bridge structure.

With the completion of the crossover, motorists will no longer be able to exit or enter 401 at Sidney Street.

Boarding Home Rates Raised by Children's Aid

As of the first of next year, the Children's Aid Society will pay increased boarding home rates. This decision was reached at the regular monthly meeting of the Children's Aid Society board held on the Corporation Public Library, last Thursday.

Beginning the 1st of January, the society will pay $2.25 per day for the care of infants up to one year of age, $1.50 per day for children between the ages of one and eight, $1.18 per day for children between eight and twelve and $1.50 per day for children over the age of thirteen.

The local director, Mr. Bruce Kerr, was also given authority to pay any amount necessary over and above these standard rates to ensure a high standard of care for children with special physical and/or mental handicaps. Mr. Kerr in speaking of the reasons for the increase said that the cost of living over the past few years has risen and long over due and will undoubtedly stimulate more interest in foster homes and particularly in teen-age children for whom the need is great."

He also stated that at the present time the Society was conducting a campaign for more foster homes and that advertisements were being placed in the rural weeklies and The Ontario Intelligencer. Next week spot announcements will be heard over radio station CKWS.

"At the present time we do not have a sufficient number of homes available to allow a choice — only those that are necessary. If we are to be able to select what we believe to be the right home for the child who is ready for foster home placement, we must have a wide selection available to us. If we do not have this choice, much of our effort is in vain."

MORE IN CARE

There are now one hundred and seventy-five children in the care of the Society, an increase of twenty-five from the beginning of the year. The C.A.S. intake for 1962 would be considerably higher than for the year previous but this is misleading as there was no cause for alarm.

The Society will have placed about fifty children in boarding by the end of the year. To date thirteen children, mostly infants, have been brought in from outside areas for placement with local families and numerously wards of the Society from whom there were no homes available in this area have been placed elsewhere.

A new handbook for foster parents is being prepared by the director and staff and approval was given for the printing and distribution of the manual.

Fire destroyed a pick-up truck at Shannonville this morning—as its owner drove it away.

The truck, owned by Joseph Samain, Trent Road motel operator, was parked earlier outside the home of Joseph Coleridge near Shannonville Cemetery.

No Sanction Given to Cover "Bun Feed"

The possibility of the members of the Wharf Street Debating Club being used as substitute for a film on Canadian political traditions by the National Film Board was hotly debated this morning by "Senator" Harry Rollins, president of the club which is now a local institution of free speech.

"Senator" Rollins suggested that various members who had been attempting to cover the annual political debauch known as the "bun feed" so far as sanction had been given any of them so do because it was felt their people might "misunderstand" the traditions and nature of the occasion with resultant "misinterpretation" of both remarks and actions made by the members and visitors.

The club's president felt that the personnel of any news incident about the establishment of the traditions of the institution by attending several annual political debates before attempting to interpret its true purpose in the medium of film or radio. These people are more than welcome to attend, subject to only two conditions — they must be male and pay the admission "Senatorial" Tee, advised the "Senator".

The club spokesman criticized the lack of interest displayed by the set in the Wharf Street Debating Club's activities by various members of the press, "they shown no interest before! We have been here for over half a century," he said.

Queried as to whether there had been any discussion on television coverage he replied that such could only be considered after the members had such time as a ruling on the matter was given the Board of Broadcast Governors and the Canadian Executive board. "Senator" Rollins refused to comment further on this matter.

Returning to the original issue he concluded that/ merely because the club members had the Barrymore profile suitable to the cinema screen although perhaps certainly have the command of the English language".

The annual "bun feed" is being held Wednesday evening commencing sharp at 8.00 p.m.

Officials Check Out Four More Cases of Rabies

At least four more cases of rabies in wildlife in Prince Edward County were reported during provincial police during the weekend.

The reports came from widely scattered points through the county, last week declared a "disaster area" by county health authorities as rabies took a sudden upswing.

Two of the weekend reports were close to Belleville.

Provincial police were dispatched to the Roxmore area Sunday afternoon after local residents warned that a rabid fox had been seen loose in the district, about a mile south of Roxmore.

A patrol of the area failed to show any trace of the animals. However, the fox was shot on the second concession of Ameliasburg Township. A coon, also believed rabid, was killed at Green Point at the southern end of the county.

"They were shocked, but were buried on the spot", said an officer. "There's no doubt they were rabid".

Santa Parade On Saturday Great Success

TRENTON — Workmen from the Trenton and Belleville public works' departments were at the forefront in Saturday's Santa Claus Parade in Trenton.

First prize for the best executed float in the parade went to the Belleville P.W.D., for its backwoods cabin on wheels "Bed-Rock." Trenton P.W.D. got under the wire for second prize with another mobile backwoods cabin, owned and occupied by the "Beverly Hilly Billies."

Belleville Shriners imported some exotic livestock from the deserts of Arabia and came through, camel and all, for the third prize.

And the 6 RD "Squares and Pairs," got honorable mention with their authentic presentation of country-style rock 'n' roll.

Most comment - provoking float in the parade was a mobile (sometimes) crescent moon entered by the Whitley Insurance Company.

Leading off the parade were Stetson-hatted riders, large and small, from RCAF Station Trenton. Horses entered into the spirit of the day and pranced merrily to the strains of Jingle Bells on martial music, given out with great gusto from the seven or more bands in attendance. Majorettes, too, from the tiny two-year-olds to the teenagers, stepped out in a lively fashion, twirling their batons in a truly professional manner.

The Trenton Fire Department got into the act with the aerial ladder truck—the department's pride and joy — and the siren added to the general din as the parade ambled slowly down the main street, and to the delight of the thousands of children, escorted by parents to the annual event.

SPLENDID BANDS

Worthy of comment was a sleigh load full of children, with an outrider on a bobby horse, entered by McPherson Tire Sales.

The pipe bands—Quinte and the RCAF—the latter making its first public appearance—swirled and skirled, kilts swaying, bringing out a rash of applause from the Scots in the crowd.

"Little Red Riding Hood," entered by the Trenton Kinsmen's Club, and complete with Grandma and the most ferocious looking wolf on record, was an attention getter and the Chamber of Commerce "Snow Queen", following along, succeeded in giving the dual entry a beauty and the beast implication.

And in and out among the floats and on-foot entries, were the clowns, an everything from penny farthings to pint size Fords, provoking laughter from the nine-months to ninety kids on the sardine packed sidewalks.

Anyhow, as Santa Claus Parade chairman Nostrand Sprague said, "It was the biggest and best parade on record."

Bridge Tender Drowned in Murray Canal

BRIGHTON — William Thomas Horsley, 66, bridge attendant at the west end of the Murray Canal, died by accidental drowning in the canal near Presqu'ile Bay sometime Friday afternoon.

An employee of the Department of Transport for a number of years, Mr. Horsley's absence was first noted shortly after 4:00 o'clock that afternoon when he was expected home from work. A search was instituted and his body was found at 8.15 p.m.

Ontario Provincial Police Sgt. Lloyd Lyle of Brighton detachment stated that it was believed Mr. Horsley accidentally slipped into the canal whilst cleaning his dinner dishes as a broken plate was found at the side of the canal near his bridgekeeper's office. No inquest is to be held.

Mr. Horsley is survived by a wife, Jenny and family.

Hope to Assist Retarded to Obtain Jobs

TRENTON — There are good prospects for finding employment locally for mentally retarded adults, if and when a scheme for rehabilitating such adults comes into being, it was revealed at Thursday evening's meeting of the Trenton-Brighton and District Association for Retarded Children.

Mrs. K. J. "Bobbie" Reid said that K. Vytopil, general manager of the Bata Shoe Company of Canada had told her that he would be interested in hiring some retarded adults when a program for assisting them gets underway. It was also announced that Victor Matteucci will act as advisor on retarded adult services for the Trenton-Brighton district.

The Trenton - Brighton District drive for funds had had very good results, said Mrs. Reid, and added that more than $700 had come in to date, with all results still not in.

Robert Smithrim suggested that the executive have full powers to deal with the association's transportation problem.

Plans were formulated for the children's Christmas party to be held at the school on December 20, when members of the Mount Carmel Church will cater.

This Pairs and Squares float got honorable mention in the annual Santa Claus Parade at Trenton on Saturday.

O.F.A. Results Outlined at Annual Banquet

"Farmers should have their best people represent them in an organization and support them; they should be willing to work and co-operate with their leaders to make a strong organization," said Mr. Art Musgrave, Clarksburg, president of Ontario Federation of Agriculture, speaking at Hastings County annual banquet at Carmel Thursday evening.

In welcoming the guests the president Russell Sills, West Huntingdon extended an invitation to all to attend the annual meeting where a full report of the year's work will be given.

Mr. Wilfred Forestell, Madoc, reported on the co-operative insurance. He displayed an award presented to Hastings for outstanding efforts in promoting insurance in 1961.

Mrs. Percy Ray, Halloway, gave a report of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture convention held in Toronto dealing with the theme, "The Challenge of Change." Ontario farmers must be prepared to adjust their operations to a point where they will be in step with the general progress of the nation.

Mr. Musgrave outlined just a few of the results of the Federation of Agriculture as follows: flashing lights on school buses as a safety measure to insure the safety of youth; wonder drugs can be brought in feed stores at a great saving for livestock; OFA suggested to the Ontario Government that things that produce food should not be taxed; short courses and farm forums are available to members, and that Canada joined the food bank. Fear is not to be feared but faced.

A private plane, flown by Belleville James Marker, also has made several sweeps of the Bay of Quinte in the immediate city area.

So far, no clue to the man's possible whereabouts has been found to explain his disappearance during a watch on the coal freighter Bay of Quinte, moored at the city docks.

The Gentle Art of Insult

We sympathise with Mayor Jack Kemp of Montgomery, Alberta.

Others may accuse Mayor Kemp of conduct unbecoming the dignity of his office, of being dictatorial and cantankerous and other things of that sort—and on the evidence they are right.

Nevertheless, we sympathise with Mayor Kemp.

The other day he tossed a former council member, Glen Misner, out of a council meeting—for grinning.

Mayor Kemp says he was acting under the authority of section 48 of the Town and Village Act, Revised Statues of Alberta. This section gives the mayor the power to expel spectators for "improper conduct."

But all Mr. Misner was doing was grinning like a cat, a Cheshire cat in the mayor's words. (The mayor apparently knows his Lewis Carroll; we imagine the grin remained to haunt the mayor long after Mr. Misner himself was evicted.)

The law is not likely to uphold the mayor in his interpretation of "improper conduct." We shudder to think what his fate would be if he had to argue his own case before a Supreme Court judge—who would not have the least hesitation, himself, of interpreting even a kitten's grin, let alone a Cheshire cat's smile, as contempt of court.

A grin, of course, is not the only weapon which can be wielded with impunity, against those in authority over us—always excepting, as noted, Supreme Court judges. Even those who merely think they are important are vulnerable to this type of attack, which can be even more subtle than a grin. It can, indeed, consist of nothing at all.

We recall one instance in which a reporter did nothing with devastating effect. It was in the early days of the depression, when ratepayers' associations were springing up like dandelions on a newly-sodded lawn, busily making sure that nobody in the municipal employ should have even a spare penny to pinch. The organizer and president of this particular ratepayers association was a dignified old gentleman with a goatee, so he built into everybody's business to the tune of a few thousand carefully enunciated words. This spun ratepayers' meetings out to midnight, kept the reporter up to 2 a.m. on nights when he was not trying to draw to an inside straight and threatened to sour a sweet disposition. The reporter's solution, discovered in a moment of inspiration, was to glance up alertly whenever the said ratepayers' president started talking, lay down the pencil, lean back and look at the ceiling until he had finished speaking—then to write just enough from memory to refute any charge that the meeting was not being adequately reported. A couple of evenings of this treatment produced the desired reform, particularly when shortened speeches were greeted by a bowed head and a racing pencil.

Wealth Key to Health

"The rich get richer and the poor get children" ran a popular song of the depression days. This is now revealed as a doubly deplorable situation, since science has discovered that rich parents are a definite asset if children are to be emotionally healthy.

Science thus chalks up another victory as an ally of common sense and another body blow at sanctimonious old hypocrits who endeavor to persuade the poor that the necessity for struggle is a great boon for their offspring.

This particular debunking of the advantages of an upbringing in humble circumstances was delivered by Dr. William Westley, chairman of the department of sociology and anthropology at McGill University, as he reported on the finding of a McGill human development study.

"A boy's emotional health is directly correlated to the status of his family," he announced.

Some may protest that this is not the same thing as saying that the sons of rich fathers enjoy superior emotional health. Social status and financial status, they will protest, are not the same. But apparently the McGill scientists decided that they were. This shows the advantages of a scientific education, which prevents one from clinging to such absurdities as a belief that in our society the opinions of Bertrand Russell, for example, carry more weight than those of Jack Paar.

In some companies, the management team must resemble a medical clinic in which one doctor bases his diagnoses and prescriptions on the germ theory, another relies on the virus theory and a third practices voodoo.—Prof. Dale Yoder, of the Stamford Graduate School of Business.

Watching Trains Go By

By A. M. Pennie in the Medicine Hat News

Some of our simplest and happiest boyhood pastimes are often carried forward into manhood and even after the passage of many years still remain thrilling and pleasurable. Perhaps the greatest of these was our interest in the giant locomotive and the thrill of watching the giant express trains thunder past by day and by night.

To the young enthusiasts the train was always a thing. It was symbolic of great mechanical power and represented the steel engine at its finest form. It sparked dreams and ambitions. Ambitions to take the place of the engineer as he swaying and rocking foot plate and dreams of a night journey through snowy and cities with enchanting names, lulled by the rhythmic clicking of the wheels on the rail joints. Hearts were lifted and thrilled by the impressive iron horse as it hammered out of the darkness into reality and then receded leaving behind that aroma of spent steam, the fire glow from the flashing piston rods, the rocking valve gear, and the beat of the mighty drivers. Engines constituted a symphony that has outlived the locomotive itself.

Some of those early dreams and ambitions were realized but have never dulled the delight of watching the trains go by.

The demise of steam has without doubt detracted from the pleasure. Gone are the diesel locomotive seems to be devoid of life and personality.

Out here on the bald prairie one can see the "Canadian," the crack trans-continental train, at the straight reach eastward through our station it is running almost at maximum speed on a straight track and on a good night, summer or winter, the oscillating head lamp can be picked out several miles away.

Suffield, little more than a flag stop on the main line, is our vantage point and frequently we gather there around 8 p.m. According to the timetable, No. 2 is due through Suffield at 8.02 p.m., but an earlier arrival at the station is always the practice in order to chat with the agent, check whether the train is on time, and to absorb the atmosphere of anticipation. We have found that it is to our advantage if The Canadian is invariably a few minutes late. When the engineers is making up time the extra speed adds greatly to the excitement.

By now the children know what to look for. First of all the sudden and silent appearance of the red block light at the 2nd limit indicates that No. 2 is now into the block at Alderson some nine miles away. The triggering of the red block light is confirmed by the buzzer in the agent's office and the telltale light on the wall. The "Canadian" will cover the nine miles from Alderson to Suffield in approximately eight minutes, less if it is making up time. Attention is now focused to the west and all the keen pairs of eyes has picked up the headlight as it rises above the horizon.

Rapidly and silently the distant light develops into a thundering monster blowing its warning whistle for the grade crossing just east of the station. With the last sound of the warning trailing in its wake, the "Canadian" thunders through Suffield with a deafening roar, a clattering of rail joints, a swirl of dust and dirt, flying ballast and frequently a private hoot of the whistle at the engineer and his mate recognizing a band of eager train watchers.

In a matter of seconds it is all over and that shiny and stainless chain of cars headed by three diesel units disappears rapidly to the east. The warning, red tail light and friendly wave from the trainman's lantern are the last we see of No. 2 eastbound as it heads up the grade to Bowell.

Homeward we go as always thrilled and delighted. No. 2 eastbound has come through, but there is the happy thought that we can go down another night and all experience the pleasures felt some decades ago.

Hackles Rise At Old Cry

Montreal Star

"Germany first, and then the world". The cry raises the hackles of memory.

It was heard in Kassel, West Germany, at the first congress of the reorganized German National People's Party (D.N.V.P.), an extreme rightist, ultranationalist, group which is numerically small but has some large and powerful antecedents.

The D.N.V.P. was born in the political turmoil of Germany after the War and allied itself with Hitler's Nazis in the late 1920s. It became the strongest party in the Reichstag. Its leader, Alfred Hugenburg, in 1933 was Hitler's minister in his first economics minister.

All the old phrases were revived at the Kassel Congress. "The biological unity of the German folk"; rid ourselves of foreign cultural influences"; were some the leading, the serving, the order-bringing role in Central Europe.

The significance of all this can be overestimated. After all, West Germany is still — 17 years after — engaged in the big end of the job of being reborn in 1945 as "denazification", routing out the more active forms of Hitlerism in government service, sending some to trial. After all, Britain has Sir Oswald Mosley and his neo-Facists; France had the O.A.S.; and still bar its political successors under Georges Bidault, even the United States has George Lincoln Rockwell's American Nazi Party. The Germans have no monopoly on wild-eyed bully-boy sentiment.

Stable parliamentary democracy is still young in a German whose built in 20 years ago, had never really experienced it, but its roots are hardening. Almost everybody they are no longer tender enough to be endangered by the revival of things like the D.N.V.P.

And yet . . . there are some of us who still remember dismissing Nazism, as late as 1929, as a sort of Chaplinesque movement played for laughs.

Law's First Obligation

Vancouver Sun

We've heard before that physical punishment makes prisoners more bitter. Now we're hearing it advocated by the executive director of the John Howard Society protests against two youths each being sentenced to five strokes of the paddle.

The youths robbed an aged woman out of bed, beat her over the head with a lead pipe, bound, gagged and robbed her.

The argument against paddling is that it makes them less rehabilitate the criminal. It simply humiliates him and makes him more bitter.

If there were any way to prove this, we'd be more inclined to believe it. But how can you prove it? Because prisoners who have had the lash or the paddle do not reform as readily as others? But then, only the most brutal and hardbased of criminals are sentenced to the lash or paddle.

Is severity the right going to reform husky youths who beat old women with lead pipes?

So the paddle is going to make them more bitter. What are they bitter about now? Because an elderly, hard-working woman had $135 and they wanted it? Isn't it their fellow-banked victim who should be bitter.

It is highly fashionable in today's penal theory to condemn punishment. But why should there not be punishment for a crime —particularly a brutal and disgusting crime?

The punishment can justly be severe. It need not be brutal.

A good deal of the sentiment against physical punishment arises from its traditional association with a prison system that was brutal. It is an emotional reaction. There is no hard proof that in appropriate cases it is not an effective deterrent. There is a good deal of experienced opinion that it is effective.

And a deterrent is essential here.

The first obligation of the law is not the rehabilitation of brutal prisoners. It is to prevent aged women being beaten with lead pipes by brutal criminals.

A total of eight-one births were registered in the city during the month of October. It was reported by city hall officials on Friday; 40 births being male and 41 being female.

Following a concerted effort to advance the attendance in Belleville public schools, on the part of the Belleville Board of Education, the percentage of student attendance for the initial two months of the fall semester was given at the meeting of the Board on Friday evening. An average of 95.9 per cent of the pupils were in attendance in October, while during the month of September the percentage was 93.7.

Airmen at "Mountain View Bombing and Gunnery School are busily engaged practicals, and women have been included in the station trumpet band for the past two weeks and now number approximately eight. "There would be more only difficulty had been encountered in obtaining the necessary instruments", commented an official. Graduation or the transfer of former male band members resulted in the depletion of the band, an dit was necessary to invite the women to complete the establishment of the band.

Although ice has been forming on the bay and harbor for the past week, the gale which have been here along the river during the past summer have shown no signs of leaving, but actually have added to their number. Sailors on the waterfront declare that the ice will stay here all winter.

Upwards of seventy-five nets are frozen in the ice in local waters between Telegraph Point and Big Island, which are now the nets, are unable to break through the ice with their catch. Many spaulders and they know are filled with fish. The powerful boat, owned by the Black Fish Company, endeavored to break through but had to turn back at Massassaga. The ice is from 18 inches to 24 inches in places. It is hoped that the recent rain will cause the ice to weaken so that it will be possible to get at the nets. Black's boat will try again shortly to break through and the fishermen with smaller boats are waiting to follow the trail of the breaker.

Meals Will Come From Computers

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

An official of the General Electric Co. said a convention group that within the next decade the "houses of tomorrow" will have family-size computers to program meals, and an electronic accounting system for bills.

I can hardly wait. In our house, it would take something vaster than Univac to program meals, so that they are rotated equally, with each member of the family getting his favorites and avoiding his aversions.

What we would have to feed into our home computer would be a mass of variables, including peanut butter, raspberry preserves, raw onions, cheese, fish, spaghetti, and a hundred other items — all arranged so that Barbie can have the French toast when Michael has pancakes and David has crisp bacon and I, but the mind boggles at the complexity.

I have often fazed wistfully at pictures of pioneer families sitting around the kitchen table, with the communality from a large pot. This sort of thing has disappeared along with the blood feud in most families nowadays, in our teeming prosperity, family meals tend to be a divertissement of entertainment—except in those increasingly rare cases in which the parents have kept a firm hold on the dietetic reins.

If one of the children won't eat anything with meat, and another is resistant to fat on meat, and still another prefers fried potatoes with gravy, it requires both the wisdom of a Solomon plus the mathematical precision of a computing-machine to arrange meals that satisfy everyone without outraging the delicate sensibilities of any of the children.

Europeans say lovingly that the American is the only great civilization run by its children, and while this is somewhat cruel, there is a glimmer of truth in the charge. Anyone who has watched children persuptorily ordering food in a restaurant cannot but cringe at their bland assumption of despotism.

In desperation, most parents settle for hamburgers, French fries and soft drinks — which is what most American children seem to live on. What our parents used to call "a nice green vegetable" has been programmed right out of the children's diet, by their own fiat.

As for that "electronic accounting system for bills" in the household, the thought brings a tear to these watery old eyes. If there is one thing a wife wants to do to death, it is an impeccable and implacable system of accounting for all the money spent. She will find a way to jam that machine — possibly by feeding into it some of the peanut butter and limp bacon strips left over by this morning's programmed breakfast.

Calcification Causes Painful 'Heel Spurs'

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Questions occasionally arrive in streaks, with a lot of people suddenly asking about the same thing. This has happened on heel spurs. Here's a typical inquiry:

"I suffer from a spur on my heel and nothing I can do seems to help it. What causes this and what can I do? — M.P."

A "spur" is a calcification of a tendon in the heel. As you know, calcification is part of the natural process of healing a wound, injury or inflamed area. Calcium is a necessary ingredient of "scar tissue" of all kinds.

Unfortunately sometimes the lumpy scar area may be in a place where it is painful. It is, in principle, something like a corn or callus. It forms to protect us; it can be a nuisance, though.

Principle causes of heel spurs are excessive pressure, such as from a blow or infection in the area, of which bursitis is an example. The tendon is damaged and then heals.

Some spurs cause no discomfort, and people can go on about their way. They show up when the foot is X-rayed. If they don't bother you, they're best left alone.

If the calcification is so located that it is painful when you walk, that's time enough to take action.

Fortunately, in most cases cushioning of the heel is effective. This must be designed to support your weight and yet not let the pressure force the hardened, calcified area against sensitive tissues.

For that reason I suggest that the best and-quickest, and perhaps even the least expensive way, is to consult a specialist in foot ailments to get cushioning that will really do the job. Your shoeing by the calcified spur will of course help him solve the problem.

THE PACKSACK

At a friends house, one of the small children came down with a scratched hand. It was not a serious scratch, only a trace of blood showing. But the young fellow made a big thing of it, and expected and obtained the greatest sympathy and prompt attention of his elder. Why not? He was only pretty antiseptic and a small adhesive bandage and brought the incident to a suitably dramatic and satisfying conclusion.

"When I was that kid's age," said the daddy, when the small boy was out of earshot, "we were scared to report a scratch. You would have had iodine on it. The worse the scratch or cut, the more frightful did we attempt to conceal it from our elders. No running to them for sympathy. You got sympathy, we got iodine; and they had to hold us down, or sneak on us, in order to apply the curative and burning antiseptic, with us howling bloody murder. It wasn't fear of the stinging alone that we howled. Involved in our emotions were the mysterious and lack of sympathy of our parents, together with grief over our sin of being found out. The wisest and least painful thing to do, when I was a boy, was to keep your injuries to yourself."

Tommy-Gun Stops Attempt To Jump Wall

BERLIN (AP)—Shots from a Communist East German guard's tommy-gun stopped a daring attempt by an East German to escape over the wall into West Berlin early today, west police reported.

The guard also fired a flare to call up reinforcements. Within 10 minutes a search party of six men and a dog found the would-be refugee crouching at the foot of the wall opposite the French sector. He was taken away. West Berlin police could not see if he had been hit.

Six East Germans had better luck Saturday. They broke through at various places along the 101 miles of barricades surrounding West Berlin, taking advantage of the cover given by a snow storm. Three of them escaped by swimming the icy water of a canal on the border.

Govt. Likely To Introduce Medical Plan

TORONTO (CP) — The Telegram says legislation for a medical care plan probably will be announced by the Ontario government during the Legislature session that opens Tuesday.

The paper says legislation to set up the plan would be ready by April, "shortly before the Legislature is dissolved," for a general election.

The plan, as outlined by The Telegram, "will probably use existing medical plans like Physicians' Services Incorporated and Associated Medical Services foundation. And it will probably be compulsory where there are more than say, 15 employees."

The paper says:

"Govern m e n t participation will vary mainly at direct subsidies to look after indigents and those of 65. And through a committee of government members, doctors and medical insurance officials, the government will set premiums and extend services, when it can afford them."

The Telegram says Health Minister Dymond has had "considerable success in recent talks with the Ontario Medical Association and top officers from medical insurance firms and associations."

Two Ministers, Five Choristers Held Hostages

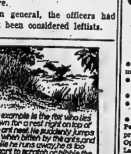
FOLSOM, Calif. (AP)—Three life-term convicts held two ministers and five choir singers hostage in the Folsom prison chapel for four hours this afternoon but released them unhurt and surrendered to guards.

Prison officials said the trio stabbed and killed a fellow prisoner, Conrad N. Becker, 41, who was sitting in the congregation and tried to stop the trio from taking the hostages by tackling one of the convicts. He was stabbed in the upper abdomen, apparently with a pair of scissors.

Brother Robert A. Heinze identified the trio as Edward William Maher, Farrell H. Fenton and Edward Vaughn, all serving life sentences.

Rev. Frank Lopes of Sacramento, a Protestant Christian minister, said it was his group's first visit to the prison. He said the convicts did not harm any of the hostages or threaten them.

The fish shown on the chest of oil members of the animal world.



His next move is to deliver a mouthful of dried grass and then he'll have the largest mouthful of grass in the world.

Slowly he submerges and then lets out the grass on which he ones have, by that time, taken refuge.

He backs into the water slowly and as soon as the ants reach the green covey in the centre instead of the fish's head.

Another wonderful stories showing the intelligence of this animal are based on fact.

An example is the fox who lies down for the night on top of an ant nest. He suddenly jumps up when bitten by the ants and while he runs around as fast as he can to scratch or nibble the itching bites.

While the ants drift asleep on their backs the fox climbs out of the water feeling very much relieved to be rid of them.

Kilroy Is No Longer Here

BOSTON (AP) — James J. Kilroy, 80, who became a Second World War legend with the slogan "Kilroy was here," died Saturday night in hospital.

The words "Kilroy was here," scrawled with a picture of a man peering over a wall appeared all over the world.

The Kilroy legend had an unpretentious beginning.

Kilroy went to work as an inspector at the Bethlehem Steel Company's Fore River shipyard in Quincy, Mass., two days before the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7, 1941.

Kilroy started marking "Kilroy was here" on equipment to show test gangs he had checked a job.

The words caught on at the shipyard and Kilroy soon found his slogan written all over the installation.

It wasn't long before the name Kilroy became one of the most famous to come out of the war.

When the war ended the American Transit Association sponsored a contest in an effort to discover who originated "Kilroy was here."

Kilroy submitted his claim and proof and was declared the winner. His prize: A 22-ton trolley car which was delivered to his home in Halifax, Mass.

Ydigoras told the nation in a broadcast that Arnulfo Parada Tovar, former director of the Guatemalan Democratic Youth Association, had received $200,000 from Cuba to finance the coup.

The government said the four leaders of the rebellion were Lieutenant Col. Giron Serrano, often mentioned as a possible presidential candidate in elections scheduled next March; Marco Asturias Sobral, a former deputy and the inter-American defence board to Washington and formerly second-in-command among chiefs of staff of the Guatemalan army; Carlos Marroquin, a deputy, and Jose Batres, a brother of the Guatemalan ambassador to Nicaragua, Luis Gonzalez Batres.

They were reported to have escaped to neighbouring El Salvador or to have sought asylum in the Salvadorean embassy here.

In general, the officers had not been considered leftists.

Strauss Wins New Strength In Bavaria Vote

MUNICH, West Germany (Reuters) — Defence Minister Franz-Josef Strauss appeared to have gained a temporary new lease on political life today on the strength of a victory by his Christian Social Union party in Sunday's Bavarian state elections.

The prestige victory came at a time when Strauss appeared on the verge of being dealt out from the federal cabinet because of protests over his role in the controversy over Der Spiegel magazine.

Strauss, however, now can claim a strong measure of popular support as a result of victory by the CSU which campaigned on a "vote for Strauss" ticket.

The poll gave the CSU absolute control of the Parliament in Bavaria, largest land (state) of West Germany's 11 states. The CSU, which is led by Strauss, is the Bavarian affiliate of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's ruling Christian Democratic party.

The CSU won 108 seats in the 204-seat state house, compared with 101 in the previous Legislature which the party ruled in coalition with the Free Democrats.

The opposition Social Democrats showed a slight gain in seats than the CSU, winning 79 compared with 63 in the last election. The Free Democrats received nine seats while the Bavarian party eight. They previously had 13 seats each.

The right - wing all - German party, which previously had 12 seats, failed to retain one.

Small Talk

By Xena Cherry

Mr. and Mrs. Beefeater were in our land.

Eric Burrough, board chairman of the firm which distills philloophy of the program is the Beefeater product, and Mrs. Burrough were here from London on their annual visit to Canada — one of 120 countries where the potation is sold.

"Where did the name come from?" I asked Mr. Burrough over my Beefeater and tonic.

"My grandfather who founded the company waged a name symbolic of England. The Yeoman of the Guard is the oldest military body in the world and therefore theirs is the oldest uniform. They were bodyguards for Henry VII in 1407 and from time to time some of the men would be detached from duty to help wait on table. Because there was much French spoken at court in those days they were called Buffeteirs. This of course was too much for the London cockneys, so he twisted it to Beefeaters. They're still on guard in London proud."

There are Beefeater Clubs in England, Australia and the United States and how they've come to be started in Canada. One rule is you must wear the club another member on the first day tie on Fridays and if you meet without your tie, you buy him a drink. Sounds martial, I presume.

The ties are good-looking tiny costumed guard motifs on navy, black or grey. I suspect the all part of a thing called soft-sell, but every cent made by the club goes to charity. Yes, there are bow ties too.

W.I. Holds Community Banquet

MOUNTAIN VIEW — On Friday evening the community banquet sponsored by the Mt. View Women's Institute was held in the church parlour.

The tables were graced with lovely autumn flowers. Around 75 sat down to a delicious supper. Yellow colored slides were shown by Mrs. Wallis of rural life, pictures which she had taken herself were beautiful and interesting and everyone enjoyed the evening much.

Pretty Princess

By VERA WINSTON

The Princess dress, so youthful of line, is always a favorite with the young, and rightly so. Even a young figure likes to look grown-up when it has what this dress accomplishes.

Of deep grey or black spongy wool, the dress has asymmetric seaming to relieve the otherwise stark silhouette. There is one jeweled button below the smartly slanted pocket formed by the seam.

The dress is fitted, but not too much so.

Joint Effort

by Mary Moore

Eleanor and I had a joint project. She had some guests who wanted to talk to me so because it was a working day we cooked fore and aft working hours.

The menu was Hawaiian Chicken Oven-Fried (see below), Buttered Noodles, White large Silverskin Onions with Green Pea Sauce, Tossed Green Salad, Pyrex Cheese Buns (see tomorrow) and Lemon Puff Squares (see below).

Yoh would be justified in criticizing me for giving you so many chicken recipes recently but while there are "specials" at 35c per lb. I'm going to cook chickens every known way.

The purpose of giving you the Lemon Puff Squares is that it was a hit with all of the guests and may be prepared 24 hours in advance. Excellent for banquet conveners.

½ cup cornstarch
½ cup margarine
2 20-oz. cans pineapple chunks
½ cup lemon juice

Place chicken pieces in large bowl. Combine soy and Worcestershire sauce, onion and ginger and pour over chicken. Let stand at least 30 minutes, turning chicken to coat all sides. Drain chicken and shake in cornstarch in paper bag. Reserve sauce. Place margarine in 2 large shallow baking pans and set in oven at 375 deg. Fahr. until melted. Place chicken in pan, skin side down, making sure pieces do not overlap. Bake 30 minutes, or until bottom is well browned. Turn chicken over. Combine pineapple, pineapple liquid, lemon juice and reserved sauce; pour over chicken, distributing pineapple chunks evenly. Bake 50 minutes, or until tender.

LEMON PUFF SQUARES

1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats
½ cup packed brown sugar
1-3 cup not sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
1-3 cup melted butter or margarine
1 package (1 tablespoon) gelatine
¼ cup cold water
4 eggs, yolks and whites separated
½ cup sugar
½ cup lemon juice
1½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
½ cup sugar

For crust, combine oats, flour, brown sugar and salt in a shallow 8"x8" baking pan. Add melted butter and mix thoroughly. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes, tossing with a fork once or twice. Cool. Soak gelatine in cold water for 5 minutes. Combine egg yolks, sugar, lemon rind and lemon juice in saucepan.

Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture boils. Remove from heat. Add soaked gelatine and stir until dissolved. Chill until it begins to congeal. Chill a mixing bowl and large bowl of ice water and stirred it often.) Beat whites with sugar until mixture stands in peaks. Carefully fold cooled and partially congealed gelatine into beaten egg whites. Remove half of crumbs from bottom of pan. Pat remainder evenly on bottom. Gently pour filling on top. Sprinkle remaining crumbs on top of filling. Chill until set. Cut into 9 squares or 16 oblongs and serve with unsweetened whipped cream.

SPEAKING OF MANNERS — BY PATRICIA LEWIS

KEEPING CHILDREN IN TOW AT PARTIES

When the clan gathers for a big family reunion during the holiday season, a good part of it usually is children.

Many aunts and uncles and cousins - several - times - removed often haven't seen the youngsters since they were in diapers or just getting a toehold on the sofa. Parents always are anxious to show their offspring to best advantage on these occasions and, with a little advance planning, often are able to accomplish what seems like an impossible task.

When the house is full of people, children just naturally love to show off and will take upstage anyone to get attention. One little three-year-old we know always adopts a special mincing way of talking which, on top of her natural immature lisp, usually brings the whole house down, to the envy of her siblings.

While something like this adds to the fun of a family getting together, major breeches of behavior usually can be warded off by holding a council-of-war before the party. Young children have notoriously short memories, so it's well to stress, before company comes, what constitutes good manners and what sort of behavior will not be tolerated—like snapping bubble gum in front of Aunt Aggie or jumping into a chair just as old Uncle Jeff starts to sit down in it.

Many mothers — because of past experience, no doubt — even hold a full-scale dress rehearsal a day in advance. Youngsters are reminded how to greet guests politely — addressing them by name instead of just saying "Hi." Boys are reminded about saying "Sir" when addressing aged relatives, and girls are briefed about how to kiss grandmothers and aunts on the cheek, preferably while not munching on a lollipop at the same time or shortly before.

Other reminders go this way: Children should stand when grownups enter a room. Don't interrupt when grownups are talking — they'll pay plenty of attention when they're through. No running through the rooms or roughhousing on the floor. Possibly the children know full well what is considered desirable behavior and what is not but a few reminders in advance do help to prevent a lapse of memory under such stimulating circumstances.

One child psychologist even advises mothers to explain to their children that her behavior sometimes might seem "different" when company is present. Naturally, she'll have her offspring on her mind and the children might feel that she's overlooking them or is cut and dried. Explaining in advance that she'll be busy taking care of guests and won't have time to listen to everything they say or spend time reading or playing with them helps prevent the tears and temper flare-ups children often use as attention-getters when they think mother's just ignoring them.

Talking the situation out in advance and setting up specific rules of conduct usually brings out the best behavior in young children, and certainly helps ease the job of entertaining when there are excited youngsters about.

Nfld. Woman at 96 May Get Both of Her Wishes

By JAMES HUSSEY
Canadian Press Correspondent

North West Brook, Nfld. (CP) A short time before Newfoundland's provincial election Nov. 18, Mrs. Mary Brown, 96, mentioned two things she would like to do—vote in the election and live to be 100.

She has realized her first wish. And her chances of seeing her second come true are boosted by a combination of good health and a family tradition of longevity.

"It's hardly necessary to ask her whose party she supported in the election which returned Liberal Premier Joey Smallwood.

Pictures of the premier hang on her bedroom wall and she says that when she dies "one of Joey's pictures will go into the coffin with me."

Her coffin is in her bedroom and she says she's "ready anytime to die." But she is quick to add that "there's not a thing in the world wrong with me," a statement borne out by her looks and actions.

Her eyesight and hearing are good. She keeps busy with unmarried son and, still takes an interest in farming. She grows vegetables and keeps hens, ducks, sheep and a horse.

SPINS OWN WOOL

"I never bought an ounce of wool in my life," she says, cards and spins the wool from her sheep and uses it to knit sweaters, socks and mitts.

Mrs. Brown walks with a limp, the result of a back injury suffered several years ago. She says she's unable to walk as far as she used to, but still does pretty well. When she was young she often walked 18 miles from her home to the railway station at Clarenville.

As a young woman she made several trips to Labrador to cook for crews of fishermen. On the return voyage one year the vessel carrying her ran into a storm off Newfoundland and drifted across the Atlantic to England. She'd like to return to England some day, this time by plane.

Born in the Conception Bay community of Job's Cove, she came here as a bride in her early 20s. Her husband Abraham died several years ago.

Two sons and a daughter live here. Another daughter lives in St. John's.

"Longevity is a mark of my family," she says, although she has helped with her own formula—hard work, good Newfoundland air, retiring and rising early, shunning worry and trusting in God. Many of the family reached the 100-year mark and an aunt lived to be 102.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Editor's Note: The family council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, three editors and a women's editor. Each article is a summary of a family disagreement presented to the Council. The Council deals with problems, major and minor, encountered by guidance counselors and social workers.

Dorothy U. — Ed is a smart fellow but you'd never know it unless you could follow him around for a few weeks. On a visit or at a party he's Mr. Sphinx himself. Everyone tries to come up with some interesting remarks, but Ed's like one of those Indian Chiefs, only instead of saying "ugh" he screams out "Hmmm."

He's not so talkative at any time, I admit, but why does he freeze completely in the circle of people?

Edmond U. — I can't keep up with those easy-gab guys. I admire them and I sit around with Betty, hoping some of their smoothness will rub off on me. But ever since I was a kid, my tongue played tricks on me and I learned to shut up. It was safer.

I don't think people mind it as much as Dotty says. They need a good listener in every crowd, and when I'm with them they all get a chance to talk. And I don't make a fool of myself.

The Council: Ed reminds us of the fellow on the spot to make a speech at a retirement dinner, who said, "I'd rather say nothing and have you think I'm a nitwit, then open my mouth and leave you no doubt of it." Some people just don't have the gift of gab, and it's a good thing, too. Their gifts often lie in the deep-think and deep-feel and steep-work departments, where they can't handle their way out with blinding palaver. They include the the "strong silent" types whose "aloofness" can make more sense than a spellbinder's hour-long harangue. We need them to clear away the hot air.

Being a dud socially isn't the worst calamity, Dot. But Ed can be aided to feel more at ease by 1.) placing him among people of like background and interests with whom he speaks the "same" language; 2.) by politeness and appreciation for the little he does say; and 3.) by girding him with a few easy stock comments which are always safe and right.

For instance, viewing some one's new furniture, Ed, you can't go wrong saying, "This is what I call a real living room!" Or, to the proud parents of a newborn, "That's a baby!" Rather than risking letting gremlins nobble his tongue, Ed can be ready with noncommittal comments before he's on the spot, at an art show, for example, he won't go wrong commenting, "Hmmm decorative." Other satisfying and harmless words would be "dynamic" or "vital."

Sometimes a tied-up tongue brings laughs, as when the lady in the candy store wanted fig paste and called to the salesman, "Pig-Paste!" But usually it designates a thoughtful person who has learned that banter isn't his forte.

Ed will never have the loose lips that sink ships, but for Dot's sake and to share more of himself with their friends he might try to be less tight lipped. Each utterance needn't be meaty, dynamic, all it need add up to is the two most important words in any land: "Ma, friend!"

Canada

program in post-war years, the new twin - engined turbo - fan plane, for use by the U.S. air force and navy, will employ a flexible swept-back wing that can be narrowed during flight for increased speed. It will be able to fly to relatively thin air, at about 70,000 feet, just about where the American U-2 spy planes now operate.

SEEK SUBCONTRACTS

While the two U.S. firms will have a lead in manufacturing, the program will involve thousands of items to be purchased from other companies, as in this field of turning out small, specialparts—the "nuts and bolts" of the plane—that Canadian firms are concentrating their main hopes.

Canadian authorities also are looking into another possibility of increased Canadian production of parts of the F-104G Starfighter plane for the U.S. government. An official described this prospect as "very hopeful."

Under a 1961 plane swap, Canada agreed to acquire 66 U.S. F-101B Voodoo fighters in return for a U.S. agreement to buy certain of Canada's awesome $200,000,000 worth of the F-104G planes. The U.S. put up $100,000,000 of the $200,000,000 and Canada the other 25 per cent.

That production contract may terminate in 1964. But in the meantime the U.S. Lockheed Corporation, which manufactures the F-104G, has turned over all its machine tools for the rear part of the fuselage and tail piece to Canadair.

Lockheed is awaiting a Pentagon decision on extension of present U.S. production by some several hundred planes. Officials said here that if this extention is approved—and the prospects look favorable — all the rear fuselage and tailpiece sections of this additional production will be turned out in Canada for Lockheed.

Teen-Age Canada

Junior Red Cross Doing Excellent Job

By JACK HUTTON

Last summer a little crippled 15-year-old girl walk away from her in the hospital. Then she turned to a friend.

"You know what," she said, "I like her just as much as my regular nurse."

She paused, pursed her lips, and added, "Maybe better."

The story sums up the progress of the splendid experiment in human relations by the Canadian Junior Red Cross and its 18,000 girls and boys "volunteen" who work in hospitals across the country.

Teen-agers across Canada have been proving for the last 12 months that they can handle the responsibility of helping out their local Red Cross in hospitals blood donor clinics or other areas.

In British Columbia teenagers have been working in children's hospitals in blood donor clinics and in special Christmas programs. Most are either 16 years old or older.

In Alberta up to 100 teenagers have welcomed nervous adults to blood clinics, entertained youngsters in deaf-and-dumb classes, visited with elderly persons—and this Christmas are planning an Eaimo "toy-land airlift."

Probably the most active "volunteen" groups so far are in Montreal and Toronto. But Red Cross officials say that the movement is gradually spreading into every province.

An official explained the his way.

"Junior Red Cross has accomplished a lot in Canada in 40 years," he said. "But we've felt for some time that we'd like to strengthen the link between it and the senior group. That's where teenagers come in."

"Hospitals discovered soon after our program began," he added, "that teenagers are actually better than adults in some situations."

"A teenager working with children is far more flexible than an adult. He or she can be on the child's level for a few minutes and then shift to being an adult supervisor again. Only the rare adult can do that."

Is every teenager eligible? "It's hard to decide which age would be the minimum to do work like this," the official said. "One teenager may be far more mature at 14 than another is at 17."

"But we feel that 16 is a good minimum age for the average volunteer. A teenager who starts with us before then usually works for some time in a hospital before coming into contact with the patients."

Junior Red Cross now lists 68 "volunteer" groups working across Canada. It might be a good spare-time project for you in your community if you're interested.

A few of you wrote just after Hallowe'en with the same message: Don't think that the teenage misfits who made the headlines after Hallowe'en were typical of all teenagers in Canada.

Bob Marshall, 15, of Montreal, wrote: "It makes my blood boil each year to hear that a minority of teenagers have been breaking windows, tearing down gates — or even trying to derail trains."

"In many cases, they probably weren't even teenagers. Or, even if they were, people forget that other teenagers raise money for charity or work on community projects all year with no recognition."

I can add one personal observation Bob. On Hallowe'en night a few friends and I stroll leg several blocks noticing how some people had gone to a lot of trouble carving unique pumpkins for their young visitors.

There were jagged tooth jack-o'-lanterns. There were others with eyebrows, some with broad grins, some with only one tooth and one that was winking rakishly.

All of them looked like they were enjoying their night of glory as much as we were. So we turned and slowly walked back to look at them again.

We were too late. Every one, glowing defenceless in the night had been smashed.

A young Montreal singer is thankful today that he gets mixed up about addresses.

A show business magazine reports that Neil Pincus walked into the office of a New York agent, signed a "writing and management" contract — and then discovered he wasn't in the office he'd headed for.

George Pincus, who signed up Neil described him later as "a sensational singer and comperer." Let's hope he's right.

Focus on Health

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Ten years ago, a Nobel Prize scientist turned his lively curiosity to a gland which seemingly held three structures.

The object of Dr. Albert Szent-Gyorgyi's interest was the thymus gland, located in the chest. Little was really known about it. It reaches its largest size when a person is growing most rapidly. Then it shrinks, and by old age may disappear altogether.

Now Dr. Szent-Gyorgyi and associates have discovered three intriguing chemicals in the thymus gland.

One is a powerful growth stimulant, and has been named Promine.

Another helps or slows growth, including cancerous growths in animals. It's been named Retine.

The third chemical makes male and female animals sterile, for as long as they get injections of it. It acts as a contraceptive.

HOPE FOR TREATMENTS

The discoveries may in time lead to new treatments for human diseases, including cancer.

Dr. Szent-Gyorgyi, native of Hungary, won the Nobel Prize in medicine in 1937 for isolation of vitamin C, and is director of the Institute for Muscle Research at the Marine Biological Laboratory, Woods Hole, Mass.

He and Drs. Andrew Hegyeli and Jane A. McLaughin discovered the two growth regulators in thymus secretions.

Promine, the stimulator, spurs the growth of tumors in mice and Retine, the brake, makes tumors regress, Dr. Szent-Gyorgyi reported in the proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences.

TRY FOR SEPARATION

Promine also made mice sterile, but recently the researchers found strong evidence the sterility-producing activity was not due to Promine but a different substance closely associated with it. They now are trying to separate the two chemicals.

Retine, the growth inhibitor, is found in high concentration in the thymus, but also appears to be present in other body tissues, Dr. Szent-Gyorgyi says, and he speculates it may be part of the body's natural defence against cancer.

Retine may be mobilized to stop cancers—possibly started by cosmic rays or other causes—before they can get started. With less Retine produced in older age, this might explain the higher incidence of cancers in old age—part of the defence is gone.

This is speculation, and Retine's possible role waits upon further testing in animals against different types of cancer.

De Gaulle

26.6 per cent in 1958. Of more than 21,000,000 registered voters in districts voting Sunday, 13,420,348 went to the polls. The percentage of stay - at - homes, 36.7, was one of the highest for a legislative election in this century.

De Gaulle is expected to call on Premier Georges Pompidou to form a new government. The elections were precipitated by the previous assembly's vote of no confidence in Pompidou, a vote that resulted from the politicians' anger because de Gaulle insisted on a popular referendum to provide for direct election of the president instead of referring the constitutional change first to the assembly.

The vote was a clear mandate for de Gaulle to carry on with policies which have given the country a measure of degree of political stability for the last four years. The electorate in effect refused in return to the "chaos and confusion" of the Fourth Republic and its numerous old-line minority political parties.

Pops Papalia Being Treated For Tuberculosis

NEW YORK (CP) — John (Johnny Pops) Papalia, 38, of Hamilton, Ont., awaiting trial here on narcotics conspiracy charges, has been released on bail and is in hospital undergoing treatment for tuberculosis his lawyer confirmed Friday.

His lawyer, David Markowitz, said Papalia was set free on bail of $75,000 by the New York Appeals Court after U.S. district court had refused earlier to grant a bail reduction. Bail was originally put at $250,000.

No date as yet has been set for the trial. Papalia was indicted in May of 1961 with a seven group of other men on narcotics conspiracy charges arising out of the investigation of a ring that allegedly smuggled more than $150,000,000 worth of heroin into the U.S. during a 10-year period.

Papalia at that time was listed as a fugitive. However, in March of this year the Canadian government announced an 18-month sentence he was given for assault and turned him over to U.S. authorities.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

By WINIFRED WILSON

A TINY MITE

The genus to which kinglets belong is called "regulus", which in translation reads "petty king." The "petty" is because they are much tiny mites, the "king" because of the crown-shaped patch on their heads. We think of warblers as being unusually small; but only one other bird nesting in Canada is as diminutive as the golden-crowned kinglet, which is never more than four inches long and occasionally just 3¼ inches and one might reach 4½. Even the first cousin of the golden-crowned, seldom shows his diminutive ruby crown and his wife has no headdress whatsoever.

Rather confusing is the fact that a male one day apparently wears a deep orange crown bordered by a fine, gold line, while the next day the crown of the male is gold — and, by the way, "gold" rather than "yellow" is the right word. Both sexes have a black border outside the gold or orange patch and a white line outside or very pale grey below the eyes. Olive grey above and buffy dusk, causing right down to death, they are easier to see in late autumn than amidst green summer foliage.

Breeding in the spruce belt, golden-crowned kinglets migrate in autumn, some as far as as far as the Gulf of Mexico, others remaining throughout the cold weather near Canada's southern border. Those of us who live in settled Canada anywhere from the Gulf of St. Lawrence to Alberta might come across a flock in deciduous woods right up to Christmastime. The ever highly gregarious mites could be alone or in the company of or downy woodpeckers. Like those other little birds they are able to survive because they enjoy insects that infest bark, including the larvae, pupae and eggs.

Naturally, we need not expect a song at this season. Nevertheless, it is quite probable that we hear them calling "see, see, see" to one another with high-pitched, hissing notes.

It is pretty much a mystery how such very tiny birds can withstand our severe winter storms. Apparently size has nothing to do with it. Think of how a hummingbird can, in a single flight, cross the Gulf of Mexico (a distance of more than 500 miles) where it is impossible to land and refuel.

Too Nervous - - Refuses Date

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS—Two years ago this single fellow had asked me to go out and as I did not know him very well, only casually, I had turned him down. I am 34 and he is about 40.

He asked me several times, but as I am very nervous and shy, I did not give him any encouragement at all. He had even said he would wait for me.

I feel now that I might like to start going out, but as I had a heartbreak several years ago, I am afraid to let him know. I haven't been out with anyone for several years and it seems hard to get started.—NERVOUS.

DEAR NERVOUS—Faint heart ne'er won fair Romeo! Here he is ready and willing and all you can say is no. With emptiness staring you in the face, it's high time you got moving.

Write a note inviting him for tea. Or a Christmas card sent ahead of time might include an invitation to drop in for a piece of Christmas cake. Name a date you'll be home. Go on, do it!

DEAR DORIS—I am an extremely natted up girl. I am 15½ and have been dating about one year. First, boy friend Number One was loads of fun, but after a while his kind of fun wasn't my type. I think you know what I mean. Boy Friend Number Two is wonderful. He is kind and considerate, except he never (or hardly ever) phones. School has started and he has completely ignored me.

At dances, I and Number One again, and he said he was sorry about everything and wanted me to go back to him. So I went to Number One. I asked Number Two to give me my ring back, and he said he would, but I haven't got it yet and I haven't the courage to give it to me. I really like Number Two better, but he has his faults like Number One has. I just can't decide.

All my friends like Number One Better. Should I try for a Number Three? I hope you can understand what I am talking about.—MIXED UP.

DEAR MIXED UP—What good is Number Two if he's never there? Try for a Number Three by all means. Next time don't be so ready to pass your ring out.

DEAR DORIS—From reading the letter from Still Hoping, who knows how to be the master of the two sons trying to bring them up to be respectable, honest children? The one who works and saves to see they amount to something is the time this divorcee on government assistance keeps bribing and baiting my husband into her home for afternoon coffee or ? ? ?

She is fortunate to be on government assistance and not have to work and be a "double wife." I tell this government assistance was investigated and she had to work for four children, maybe there wouldn't be many places for suckers to go for coffee.

Maybe his two children and wife are living a lonely and unrewarding existence while this goes on for her pleasure. Maybe she would be better employed spending her money on her own four children who are "longing for and envying" what his two sons deserve.

(Just a thought for those victims who are helping to destroy innocent men's lives who haven't got "backbone" to fight back.)—HOPING STILL.

DEAR HOPING—True. The Other Woman has a good deal to answer for.

• • •

DEAR DORIS—I will be mother of the bride at a wedding in December and I haven't a clear picture of what is expected of me.—ROBYNE.

• • •

DEAR ROBYNE—Along with your husband, you are responsible for the following:

1. Invitations and announcements.
2. The bride's outfit.
3. The reception.
4. Flowers at church and reception.
5. Music.
6. Other decorations for church.
7. Transportation to and from church for bridal party.
8. The wedding gift for the bridal couple.

And any other little thing that happens to crop up. It is your job to see that your daughter's day is a success. Then after the last bit of confetti has been thrown and the rattle of tin cans fades away in the distance, you and your husband collapse in each other's arms saying triumphantly (if somewhat weakly), "Mission completed."

• • •

TO TEEN-AGER INTERESTED IN NURSING—There are special courses for nursing assistants being offered by provincial governments. Ask about this at your own General Hospital. If you would like my leaflet on the profession of nursing, write again enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

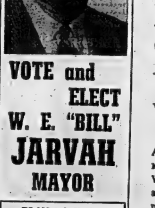
Rotarians Hear Talk on Japan Trade Centre

CAMPBELLFORD — Mr. S. Hayakawa of the Japan trade centre at Toronto spoke to the Campbellford Rotary Club at their regular meeting this week and explained the purpose of the centre. He has been with them for over three years and said it is their business to assist Canadian business men interested in trading with his country.

The ties of banking, free nations together will be strengthened greatly by the lowering of trade barriers and the resultant expanding trade, he said. The Ashiguan economic harvest countries have caused Canada considerable anxiety and Canada seemed loud to Asia where there are a large population and in all ten years or more world



Japan, he said, "is a group of islands where 92 million people live in a space about the size of Saskatchewan. Of this area, only one-seventh is fit for use as a source of food." Japan's principal exports are of the required foods in relation to the size of the market of imported foods from Canada".

Two questions arises "where do they get the money?" Japan exports such items as textiles, sugar manufactures, transistor radios, to Canada and other countries, mainly the United States. Canada is a large importer but only two per cent of the Canadian imports come from Japan. The import of transistor radios, for instance, is as quoted in Canada and the number admitted is only 300,000, whereas 11 million are sent annually to the United States. Mr. Hayakawa said that Japan is not getting a fair share of the Canadian market. On the other hand, of the 1096 items listed, all but 263 are admitted free to Japan.

Japanese industry is making every effort to give the customer what he wants. The Japanese institute in Toronto is studying the demand for parts of various sorts and seeking to promote their manufacture in the country for Canadian use. Parts will be cheaper and Canadian products more competitive if many of parts are procured in Japan.

In conclusion, Mr. Hayakawa stated that Canadian exporters will find an ever-increasing market in Japan, where every effort is being made to raise the standard of living to be comparable to that in Canada.

He was introduced by past president Hector MacMillan and thanked by Rotarian T. E. Hackett.

Several Thousand Soviet Troops Will Be Removed From Cuba Under Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—An executive dismantling of non-nuclear Soviet military bases in Cuba now is expected by United States officials to follow President Khrushchev's withdrawal of weapons with nuclear capability.

Russian diplomats are reported to have told U.S. representatives in recent days that several thousand more Soviet troops will be removed from the Caribbean island.

Russia, it is believed, may also disarm and abandon 24 surface - to - air missile sites which could offer formidable opposition to U.S. reconnaissance planes flying patrols over Cuba. Evidently because Russian man the anti-aircraft installations, they have not been used against American planes in the last 10 days despite warnings by Cuban Premier Castro that surveillance flights would be fired on.

Both the U.S. and Russia, Washington authorities say, are now trying to restore better relations to more normal, pre-crisis conditions. This may lead to efforts to give powers in the United Nations Security Council in New York next week to take over the waning crisis off the docket.

President Kennedy and State Secretary Rusk, it is understood, would be willing to inform the security council that the U.S. has a policy of non-invasion toward Cuba under present conditions but will continue strict watch over the island in the absence of international inspection arrangements, which Castro has blocked.

Khrushchev pulled out big nuclear-capable missiles from Cuba and agreed to permit U.S. warships to look over the deckloads of missile-carrying Soviet ships. Last Tuesday he promised to take out 30 or so IL-28 jet bombers under a similar compromise United States system.

U.S. officials profess to be satisfied that Khrushchev has removed or will remove the weapons specified in the missiles and the bombers. They do not know what he might have smuggled into Cuba that aerial surveillance would never discover—or what might be hidden in the countryside to escape view. Thus, they say, pressure for inspection within the country must be continued. But they are sure now will be brought to bear more on Cuba than on Russia since U.S.-Soviet tensions are easing off.

VESSEL SINKS

Y's Man Bert Hiles shows six-and--a-half-year-old Jimmy Pearson, son of Y's Man Jim Pearson, of Belleville, how auctioneers take bids in the Y's Men's Radio Auction over CJBQ tonight. Ten telephone operators, working at the YMCA building, will take bids in the auction tonight, but Jimmy won't be one of them. The auction will continue past his bedtime.

Ten Extra Phone Lines Used for Y's Men's Auction

Ten extra telephone lines have been installed in the YMCA building on Campbell Street, for the Y's Men's Radio Auction, tonight. The lines will be staffed by volunteer operators, accepting bids on the 247 items offered up for sale in the auction.

Bids coming in over the telephones are noted, with the bidder's name and address, by the operator. The paper listing the bid will then be passed on to men, who will chalk the bids on prepared blackboards, changing the bids as the price goes up. The bids are then relayed to the six auctioneers, located in another room, who will conduct the auction over CJBQ radio.

The telephone operators will also tell customers the highest bid to date on any item, over the telephone. Walk-in-table radio sets will provide communication between the auctioneer's room, with the broadcast microphones, and the "floor," where the calls are received and the bids recorded.

Advance bids on all items will be accepted from 6 p.m. on. The auction itself will continue from 7.06 p.m. until all items are sold. The auction is sponsored by the Y's Men's Club of Belleville, and the merchants who donated the goods being auctioned. Proceeds are to be used for the club's service work.

Believe Plane Hit Large Bird Before Crashing

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (AP)—Federal investigators said Saturday that an airliner which crashed Friday killing all 17 persons aboard hit a large bird shortly before the crash which "could have had a serious effect on the plane."

Edward Slattery of the civil aeronauts board told The Associated Press that remains of a large bird—probably a goose or swan—were found on the left stabilizer of the United Air Lines Viscount. He said the stabilizer had been punctured by the impact.

The main carcass of the bird was found near the stabilizer, Slattery said.

He said the tail, which houses the stabilizer, was found a quarter of a mile away from the main wreckage and "this leads investigators to believe the tail was damaged before the plane crashed."

The play will be presented to the public Tuesday through Saturday of this week.

Parliamentary Notebook

OTTAWA (CP) — Premier Jean Lesage of Quebec is being mentioned more and more in political circles here as the top potential successor to Lester B. Pearson as national Liberal leader.

Mr. Lesage's stock among Liberals began an uninterrupted rise when he and his Liberals knocked the Union Nationale out of office in Quebec in 1960.

Since then, he has seemed to make no overt effort to foster this vision of his future as national leader and has confined himself to his own bailiwick. Yet his actions in Quebec, especially his second election victory last week, have given impetus to speculation that he may ultimately succeed Mr. Pearson.

One factor in his favor, and in the favor of any French-Canadian Liberal of outstanding ability and reputation, is that since the days of William Blake in the 1800s the Liberals have alternated from French- to English-speaking leaders.

CHANGE EXPECTED

Because the electorate and the party itself have become conditioned to this practice, it is generally assumed that whenever follows Mr. Pearson as Liberal leader will be French-speaking.

The question of timing hinges on the result of the next federal election. If Mr. Pearson leads the Liberals to victory, chances of a change in leadership for several years appear slim.

However, if the Liberals are defeated in a third election under Mr. Pearson, now 65, he himself may propose a change in leadership.

Speculation gives Mr. Lesage now 50, an edge at the moment as a Pearson successor. But he is by no means alone in the field.

Liberals mention two Ontario natives—Paul Martin and Lucien Cherrier—both of French-Canadian parentage, fluently bilingual and with solid reputations among Liberals as senior cabinet ministers in the former federal government.

CONSIDER ROBICHAUD

Perhaps only a step behind them is Liberal Premier Louis Robichaud of New Brunswick who led his party to victory over the Progressive Conservative administration of Hugh John Flemming, now federal minister of forestry and national revenue.

Up to now, Mr. Lesage has not been too closely identified with Mr. Pearson and Pearson-led Liberal campaigns. This may stand him in good stead if the Liberals fare badly in the next federal election and he continues not getting involved in their campaigning.

However, Mr. Lesage is likely to be under considerable pressure to make greater support in the next campaign than was apparent for the June 18 election.

Federal Liberal MPs and workers campaigned vigorously for Mr. Lesage in the Nov. 14 Quebec election. Mr. Pearson said this was because they thought it was the right thing to do.

And Mr. Pearson said he is confident Mr. Lesage, when it comes to the next federal election, will "do the right thing," which is being interpreted as actively campaigning for federal Liberals.

Pakistan Will Remain Friend Of Red China

RAWALPINDI (Reuters) — Pakistan's minister of natural resources, Zuli Ikar Ali Bhutto, said today friendship for Communist China is a "fundamental principle" of Pakistan's foreign policy.

"Our friendship (for China) is unconditional and we will not barter it or bargain it away for anything," the minister told an emergency National Assembly meeting which was debating Western arms aid for India in its border war with China.

Six speakers in the debate—all but one in the opposition ranks of Parliament—urged that Pakistan withdraw from Western military pacts because the United States and Britain had "betrayed" Pakistan by aiding its hostile neighbor.

They charged the government side urged caution in any moves involving Western aid. They stressed that aid in the Central Treaty Organization (CENTO) by friendly Moslem countries of Iran and Turkey were also involved.

DANANG, Viet Nam (AP)—"It was like a slaughter pen," one U.S. officer said. "The enemy dead were stretched out in a solid line for 50 yards."

The American, a military adviser, was describing the scene of a major Communist rout Sunday 50 miles south of this corps headquarters near the coastal city of Quinhon.

At least 124 Communist guerrillas, including two battalion commanders, were killed in the predawn repulse of Viet Cong attack.

Capt. Graham Vernon of Tallahassee, Fla., was the only American involved in the battle and helped to direct the government defence, military sources reported. Vernon arrived in Viet Nam only a week ago. He emerged unscathed.

Government forces suffered 10 wounded and no dead, according to the official report.

"It was the most d-e-a-ding blow the Viet Cong has suffered in months," an American adviser said. "What makes it worse for them is it was the Viet Cong that attacked."

Premier Lloyd Claims Medical Plan Will Last

WINNIPEG (CP) — Premier Lloyd of Saskatchewan has challenged a statement made by the president of the Canadian Medical Association to the effect that his province's four-month-old health plan will not last.

The Saskatchewan premier in an interview here Saturday, after speaking to more than 300 New Democratic Party members, said "these are most surprising statements from a man who is supposedly dedicated to scientific thinking."

Dr. Malcolm F. MacCharles, president of the CMA and professor of surgery at the University of Manitoba, said in Toronto Friday that Saskatchewan's medical care plan "will not last."

The CMA president said doctors have support of 90 per cent of Saskatchewan residents, that only 30 doctors of 600 are operating—under the agreement—and that only with professional freedom can doctors maintain high professional standards.

JUDGES FROM NOISE'

Premier Lloyd said: "What he is doing (in claiming 90 per cent support) is what some others did . . . judging the support by the amount of noise that was made."

He recalled that at one time during the implementation of the plan 30,000 persons were supposed to march on Regina, but only 3,000 persons took part in the demonstration.

"The thing that the doctors always overlook is the expression of support that the government got from trade unions, co-ops, farm unions and many other groups in all levels of the community. It is common sense to judge (support for doctors) on the noise that is made."

He said that while Dr. MacCharles claims there are only 30 doctors working voluntarily under the plan "there are more than 100 as well as another group of 40 in the northern health unit."

The premier said of the 650 doctors in the province "it can be said that all of them receive payment" from the plan.

Four Bearded Youths Held For Entering

MIDLAND, Ont. (CP)—Provincial police said Sunday four bearded Toronto youths arrested for breaking, entering and theft here Friday will be members of an anti-Castro band training for guerrilla warfare in Florida.

Police said seven men and two girls formed the band which had a hideout on Beckwith Six Mile Lake area. Officers from Victoria Harbour are continuing their investigations.

Charged with breaking, entering and theft are Peter Schierle, 19, Douglas Claud Tilley, 22, and Steve Ralph Nodilla, 21, are to appear in court here today.

Police said they have been investigating the group for several weeks and the four men have been held in custody for more than a week.

They said the men were all growing beards and used code names instead of their real names. Two of the leaders were called Digger and Gig.

John A. Pringle, Former MLA, Dies at Kingston

KINGSTON (CP) — John A. Pringle, 70, Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario Legislature for Frontenac-Addington from 1943 to 1955, died in hospital.

Mr. Pringle was admitted four days ago and underwent surgery for a "stomach condition," hospital officials said.

After he announced his retirement from politics shortly before the June, 1955, election, Mr. Pringle was appointed registrar of Deeds for Frontenac County and Kingston. He was appointed sheriff of Frontenac County late in 1956 and held the position until his death.

He is survived by his wife, a daughter, four step-children, a brother and three sisters.

Anglican Bishop Says Doctor Has Right to Withhold Life-Prolonging Drugs

LONDON (AP)—An Anglican bishop says it is sometimes right for a doctor to withhold life-prolonging drugs "at the last hour of life."

Dr. Geoffrey F. Allen, bishop of Derby, told his diocesan conference Saturday:

"It may be possible with modern drugs to keep the body alive when the mind is in a state of coma and when there seems no probability that consciousness can return.

"The prolongation of what is in fact a living death may be causing intense strain to relatives, themselves perhaps in advancing years?

"What is the duty of a doctor under such circumstances? To withhold a drug which might prolong life seems too great a responsibility for any one individual to take alone.

"Yet if we have faith that death—under God—is the end of the everlasting mercy of the creator, then it would seem that a time comes when it is right to accept the natural death of the body."

Nehru Warns Lack of Firing Does Not Mean India Accepts Chinese Proposals

A squadron of U.S. C-130 Hercules transports flew off toward the mountains while U.S. and British diplomats went ahead with talks with Indian leaders on future military help.

Prime Minister Nehru was quoted as telling leaders at the meeting of the National Defence Council Sunday that India cannot accept or reject the Chinese terms because she does not yet know enough about them.

Under questioning from council members, Nehru said the fact that Chinese troops are observing the cease-fire—in its fifth day today—does not mean acceptance of the Peking government's conditions for peace in the Himalayas.

The prime minister told Parliament today the Chinese had not yet answered India's Monday request for clarification of the cease-fire proposals.

WAVES NO HOURS

He said India wanted to make sure there was no doubt about the proposals before giving a reply.

(In Peking, usually reliable sources said today Indian charge d'affaires P. K. Banerjee was summoned to the Chinese foreign ministry Friday night and handed the Chinese reply to the Indian request for clarification, but no details were available.)

Nehru told Parliament India did not plan at present to raise the question of the Sino-Indian dispute in the United Nations. He said the position in Tawpur, in the Northeast Frontier Agency, was almost normal. About 1,000 Indian troops, cut off by the Chinese outflanking movement between Se La and Bomdila, had returned, although not all the way to the Indian headquarters in Tawpur.

Well - informed sources said there were still more than 5,000 men behind Chinese lines.

The Chinese cease-fire and withdrawal proposals were termed a "clever manipulation" by an Indian affairs ministry statement Sunday in the strongest official comment so far on the Communist move.

The prepared statement said the Chinese were trying to use the proposals to gain additional territory in the mountainous border area.

REMAIN IN LAOS?

TOKYO (AP) — Radio Hanoi said Sunday a Pathet Lao leader has charged "more than 900 American military personnel" and 7,000 other anti-Communist troops are still in Laos. Under the Geneva agreements on Laos, all foreign military personnel were to leave the country by Oct. 3. North Vietnamese Communist troops are reported to be still in the country.

Teen-Agers Seen Revising Views on Sex

LONDON (AP)—Teen-agers are the leading modern society toward a concept of sex as something to be enjoyed, one of Britain's top psychologists says.

Charity, not chastity, is the supreme moral virtue, Professor George M. Carstairs said Sunday night.

"It seems to me that our young people are rapidly turning our own society into one in which sexual experience — with precautions against conception —is becoming accepted as a desirable preliminary to marriage."

It is a preliminary, he said, which increases the probability that marriage, when it comes, will be a mutually satisfying partnership."

Carstairs, professor of psychological medicine at Edinburgh University, was giving the third of this year's Reith lecture over the British radio network. Subject of the lectures: This Island Now."

MAY BE MISTAKEN

"I believe we may be quite mistaken in our alarm — at times mounting almost to panic—over present-day sexual experimentation," said Carstairs.

It is frequently asserted that teen-agers today are precocious early active in sex relationships, he went on.

"On purely biological grounds this need not surprise us because one of the consequences of improved health and nutrition has been a steady lowering of the age of puberty."

The average marrying age has gone down, said Carstairs, but there still is a gap of several years between the time young people are physically ready for sexual experience and the time they become emotionally mature or economically independent.

A new concept is emerging, said Carstairs:

"A concept of sexual relation ships as a source of pleasure, but also as a mutual encountering of personalities in which each explores the other and at the time discovers new depths in himself or herself."

But, he added, the full realization of this new concept of sex could be possible only in a society where women enjoyed social and economic equality with men.

Sensitivo Wins Handicap

NEW YORK (CP)—Sensitivo took command near the head of the stretch Saturday and won by three lengths over Nickel Boy in the $64,800 Display Handicap.

Nine distance runners competed in the race on the final Saturday of the New York horse racing season. Jockey Manuel Yzaga was content to let the pace-setters burn themselves out before making his challenge with the bay five-year-old son of Sideral-Yernura.

Sensitivo, owned by Robert F. Bensinger of Chicago, packed top weight of 121 pounds.

The winning entry paid $3.10, $2.80 and $2.30. Nickel Boy paid $2.50 and $2.20 and Hy-Nat paid $3.10 to show.

WELL OFF RECORD

The winning time was three minutes, 26 seconds—well off Kelso's track and American record clocking of 3:19 2-5.

At Baltimore the Mrs. Ada L. Rice entry of Right Proud and Delta Judge earned $94,527.50 by finishing first and second, respectively, in the $117,000 Pimlico Futurity.

Right Proud, under Jack Leonard, was kept close to the pace and then pulled away in the stretch. Harbor View farm's Master Dennis ran third.

The time was $4.80 to place and $2.80 to show. The show payoff on Master Dennis was $3.

At Cherry Hill, N.J., John E. Hughes' Vitamin Shot, which raced coupled with Harold H. Polk's State Dear, scored a victory in the $20,800 South Jersey Stakes at Garden State Park.

After scampering the middle route in 1:48 2-5, Vitamin Shot and her running mate, paid $19.80, $8.80 and $9. Tona returned $8.60 and $6.40 and Charspiv paid $8.60.

Climax Engines Withdrawn From Grand Prix Racing

By PAUL WESTBROOK

LONDON (CP) — Coventry Climax's—withdrawal from motor racing knocks out half Britain's cylinders in the bid for future grand prix laurels.

Leonard Lee, the British firm's chairman, has told the chiefs of the four British teams using the £2,500 V-8 engines that racing no longer is economical.

Colin Chapman, head of Lotus, described the decision as "disastrous" for Britain. John Cooper said for his team "it is an awful blow . . . the outlook is gloomy."

Ex - world champion Jack Brabham has put Climax engines in a string of races he is building to his own specifications. His manager, Phil Kerr, said it placed the Australian's future in jeopardy.

Climax engines, developed from those used in wartime fire pumps, took Britain to the top in recent years. When Germany's Mercedes combine dropped out of racing, the firm engaged in a three - cornered battle with Italy's Ferrari and the other German factory, Porsche.

BIG WINNER

In five years of racing Climax racked up 22 wins in 50-odd grand prix races. Using a Climax-powered Cooper Brabham won the world championship in 1959 and 1960.

Climax's departure from the sport leaves British drivers and manufacturers with two choices —continue using the 1962 engine in future seasons while others' factories develop better machines, or switch to rivals.

It is unlikely that they will use foreign units or that a third British factory will turn its technicians to building for motor-racing.

London garage owner Hill put the table with 36 points and Clark, a Scottish farmer, is second with 30. The deciding race is December's South African Grand Prix.

Due to the complicated scoring system Clark, by winning in South Africa, can take the world title. But if he doesn't Hill will be home.

WHAT WE OWE:

DEPOSITS: While many business firms, manufacturers, merchants, farmers and people in every type of business have substantial deposits with the B of M, about half of the money on deposit with the Bank is the savings of private citizens. The total of all deposits is . . . $3,712,565,329

OTHER LIABILITIES: Miscellaneous items, representing ordinary commitments undertaken by the Bank on behalf of customers in their foreign and domestic trade transactions . . . 80,447,309

TOTAL OF WHAT THE B of M OWES ITS DEPOSITORS AND OTHERS . . . $3,803,012,638

TO PAY ALL IT OWES, THE B of M HAS TOTAL RESOURCES, AS SHOWN ON THE LEFT SIDE OF THIS STATEMENT, AMOUNTING TO . . . $4,015,164,576

WHICH MEANS THAT THE B of M HAS RESOURCES, OVER AND ABOVE WHAT IT OWES, AMOUNTING TO . . . $ 212,151,938

This figure of $212,151,938 is made up of money subscribed by the shareholders and, to some extent, of earnings which have from time to time been ploughed back into the business to broaden the Bank's services and to give added protection for the depositors.

Edmonton Junior Grid Champs

HAMILTON (CP)—Edmonton Huskies edged Montreal Notre Dame de Grace Maple Leafs 7-3 Sunday to win the Canadian Junior football championship in a sudden-death final.

Quarterback Tony Rankel scored the Edmonton touchdown on a two-yard keeper play and punter Jon Sterling kicked a single for Maple Leafs to tie the score in the third quarter and the other Montreal points came on a safety touch.

In the third quarter, halfback Clarence Kachman took a 41-yard pass from Rankel and ran to the Montreal twoyard line on an identical pass-and-run play.

It was the first play after Barrette's single off a field goal attempt from the Edmonton 18-yard line had given Montreal a 1-1 tie.

Montreal's Gary Morley, the man Kachman got behind to take the pass, made a spirited chase to haul Kachman down. Rankel went over on the next play.

The safety touch came when Sterling was rouged after recovering a fumble in his own end zone.

PERTH, Australia (CP)—Australia continued to dominate the British Empire Games today, winning seven gold medals in track and field and swimming. Bruce Kidd of Toronto finished a gallant third in the three-mile race despite Clarke of Australia ailing Harry Jerome of Vancouver made plans to fly home for an operation on his leg.

Two great New Zealand runners stole the spotlight in winning their specialties but neither was pushed near his own world mark in the nearly 90-degree heat.

Peter Snell, the half - mile and world record-holder, won the gold medal for the 880 and Murray Halberg romped home first in the three miles.

The Australians just about clinched the unofficial team championship by sweeping the three swim finals on the day's program—the women's 440-yard medley relay, the men's 440-yard individual medley and the men's 220 - yard breaststroke. They also took firsts in the women's highboard diving, men's discus and 440-yard hurdles and the women's high jump.

Canada picked up secondplace silver medals in men's springboard diving and weightlifting, a third-place bronze in diving, two bronze in swimming and one in track.

NO DOUBLE FROM KIDD

But it was the three-mile run that provided the thrill in track and field as Halberg, an Auckland schoolteacher with a withered left arm, played a cat-and-mouse game with Kidd, the 19-year-old sensation who easily won the mile event Saturday in Games record time.

Halberg won by about 12 yards in 13 minutes, 34.2 seconds — more than 19 seconds slower than his own Games record. Kidd, a student at Toronto, came from a bunched field with a terrific drive to grab the silver medal in 13:36.2 and Kidd wound up third in 13:38.4, Bruce Tulloh, the bare - footed Englishman, fourth.

Snell beat George Kerr of Jamaica to the tape in the half-mile in 1:46.6—1.7 seconds over the Games record set by Herb Elliott of Australia in 1958.

The Australian coach said that Kidd's feet were so sore after the gruelling six-mile race that he was ordered pain - killing drugs before today's race but turned them down with the comment "I don't believe in that dope."

JEROME FLIES HOME

Jerome wrote a final chapter in another disappointing international competition when he made plans to fly home at mid-night tonight Perth time (11 a.m. EST) for medical treatment.

The 22-year-old Canadian was withdrawn from the 220 - yard trials today after doctors found he had damaged thigh muscles, apparently as a result of his sprints in the 100 - yard dash eliminations and final Saturday. He finished last in the final.

An orthopedic doctor who examined him said that if he tried to run the 220 he might endanger his track career permanently.

Dr. George Bedrock of Perth examined Jerome's left leg and said treatment "is urgent."

Charles W. Wayland of Montreal, general manager of the Canadian team, said the sprinter will undergo leg surgery.

He also is suffering from tonsilitis and is expected to have his tonsils taken out.

Without Jerome, the men's 440-yard relay team is given little chance for a gold medal. Jerome was its anchor man and he also was scheduled to run in the mile relay.

In the three-mile battle, the stringy, sandy - haired Halberg was content to stay in seventh place behind Kidd until the 10th of the 12 laps when the Canadian sprinted in front with one of his typical bursts.

Halberg came up with Kidd on the 11th lap—880 yards from the finish — and both spurted ahead. Halfway through the last lap with some 350 yards to go Halberg astounded the crowd when he sprinted past the Canadian and opened a 15-yard lead, and Clarke and Tulloh moved ahead of Kidd.

Around the homestretch with Halberg 10 yards in front, Kidd passed Tulloh but couldn't catch Clark in a driving finish.

The 33-year-old Halberg said afterward that he just "sat in a box seat" waiting for either Kidd or Tulloh to make a break. "I knew I would win because I was the fastest man in the race," Halberg added. "So it didn't matter whether the race was run slow as it was or fast. I was ready."

Kidd said "Murray Halberg is dumb like a fox."

"I knew I made a mistake in the race by not making a move earlier and trying to run Halberg out. "If I were to run the race again I would run it differently — but the results might not be any different."

Kidd acknowledged that he had to learn more about racing tactics before he could beat established champions.

"I didn't have confidence to set my own pace. That's what I should have done."

"I like to learn," he added, and a reporter declared "you will."

But, said Kidd, "I would like to do it now."

In the 880, Snell turned on a terrific finishing kick to beat the veteran Kerr, who was semi-retired until he went into training this year with the aim of upsetting Snell.

Kerr drew abreast just 30 yards from the tape, but Snell pulled away again to win by nine feet. Tony Bliss of Australia was third.

In the men's 440-yard hurdles, Ken Roche of Australia won the gold medal in 51.3 seconds. Klamath Somkok of Kenya was the silver medalist and Benson Ishepal of Uganda the bronze winner.

A games record was broken in the men's discus when Australia's Warwick Selvery came up with a toss of 185 feet, 3½ inches. He topped the previous mark of 183-6½ set by a South African, Stephanus du Plessis, in 1958.

The men's broad jump went to Mike Abey of Ghana with a leap of 26 feet, 5 inches, breaking the games record of 24-8¾ held by Ken Wilmshurst of England.

Australia swept the first three placings in the women's high jump, won by 18-year-old Roby Woodhouse with a leap of five feet, 10 inches, bettering the Games record of 5-7 set by Michelle Mason of Australia. Helen Frith was second in 5-8 and Miss Mason third in 5-8.

Dot Hyman of England captured the gold medal in the Women's 100-yard dash in 11.2 seconds. Doreen Porter of New Zealand won the silver and Brenda Cox of Australia the bronze.

Familiar Cast In 62 Grey Cup Show

By MEL SUFFRIN

HAMILTON (CP) — Bobby Kunzi got his wish and Hamilton Tiger-Cats are in the Grey Cup final for the fifth time in six years.

Their 30-21 victory over Montreal Alouettes here Saturday wrapped up the two-game total-point series 58-38 and set the stage for another meeting with Winnipeg Blue Bombers who have won three of the four Grey Cup games between the two clubs since 1951.

Kunzi, the 187-pound, 30-year-old fullback who retired from football after six years with Toronto Argonauts but was lured back before the season by Cats, had said on several occasions he agreed to turn out because he had always wanted to be with a winner.

And before an estimated 21,000 fans Saturday he did a lot more than just wish. The Ticats picked up 261 yards rushing and Kunzi was the man who made the ground attack go, blasting for 166 yards on 26 carries and diving over from the one-yard line in the third quarter for Hamilton's fourth and last touchdown.

HENLSYE GETS TWO

The team that will represent the east in the 50th Big Bombers is one that has rounded into an exceptionally well-balanced club since Labor Day. Kunzi, the great quarterback, was injured early in the season.

It although this balance as quickly maturing rookie quarterback Joe Zuger directed an attack that netted 223 yards passing along with 251 on the ground. Garth Henley, a defensive specialist, Saturday played brilliant on offence, caught two passes, one thrown by Zuger and the other by fullback James Caleb, for the first two Hamilton touchdowns.

In all Henley gained 81 yards on four passes. Halfback Hal Patterson also helped set up the Hamilton scores by making two good catches for a total of 68 yards and end Paul Dekker caught three for 51. End Dave Viti was on the receiving end of two for 14 yards including a short one for the Ticats' third touchdown.

A fairly brisk wind appeared to have a lot to do with the flow of the play as all seven touchdowns were scored by the team with the wind at its back.

TRAIL UP

Alouettes, who lost the opener of the series in Montreal 28-17, were down 14-0 in the game and 42-17 on the round when the second quarter opened. They tied the game score when quarterback Sandy Stephens hit Meco Polizzani with a pass into the end zone from the Hamilton 23 and full-back Larry Hickman capped a drive that covered 65 yards in 13 plays by diving over from the one.

Ticats got their two other touchdowns, including one on which Don Sutherin missed the convert, in the third quarter. They added a single on Zuger's punt to go ahead 28-14 in the game and 56-31 on the round.

They added two more points in the fourth quarter on a missed field goal by Sutherin and another Zuger punt before Montreal got its last touchdown. Stephens passing from the 56 to Marv Luster who rolled over from the five-yard line.

The final minutes were enlivened by a free-for-all fight which saw players of both teams rush on the field from their benches.

THREE EJECTED

Kunzi said it started when Ed Nickla of the Als hit him on the back of the head, "just like he did last week in Montreal." Ticats' Ellison Kelly said he tried to break up the match between Kunzi and Nickla but tripped and fell and then felt a foot on his shoulder.

"I looked up and I saw Billy Ray Locklin. That's when I quit trying to be a peacemaker."

Kelly, Kunzi and Nickla were all thrown out of the game.

Jacobs said "we had injured players but it was the healthy guys who weren't carrying their weight."

Montreal quarterback Sandy Stephens connected on seven of 18 passes, four to Luster for 80 yards, two to Polizzani for 40 yards and one to halfback George Dixon for 20, as Montreal gained 153 yards in the air.

Dixon, the regular season rushing champion, carried the ball 20 times for 76 yards and Don Clark, not altogether recovered from an injury suffered in the series opener, carried 10 times for 55.

Hickman picked up 16 yards on four carries and Stephens, flirly successful on roll-out options, ran five times for 41.

Wylie Misjudged Kick

Wild 'Boot' Gave Bombers Victory

By GRAHAM COX

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Calgary Stampeders battled for 179 minutes and 59 seconds of bone-crushing football to declare Western Canada's representative in the Grey Cup. But it was all decided on a frantic kick at a bouncing ball in the last second of the game.

A misjudged boot at the crazily spinning ball by all-star safety Harvey Wylie in that nightmarish moment plunged the Stampeders into oblivion for another season and propelled the Bombers into their fifth cup classic in six years. Winnipeg won the deciding game of its best-of-three series 12-7.

The winning, the most dramatic in the West in years, started as the Bombers lined up on their Calgary 17-yard line, trailing 7-6.

Gerry James, watching the seconds tick off to indicate it was the last play in the game and with 19,175 frenzied fans wailing assistance, was going to try for the winning field goal. A single would send the series into overtime.

WINDFALL FOR FUNSTON

James missed the field goal—but teammate Farrell Funston showed an unexpected touch down.

The turn of events sent Winnipeg into the Grey Cup game at Toronto next Saturday against Hamilton Tiger-Cats, champs of the East.

Wylie, declining to concede the tying point, tried to save the situation and send the Stamps into their first Grey Cup game in 17 years. He didn't have time to pick up the ball and run it out or kick it.

The bestialness Bomber players closed in, then tried to dribble it out of the end zone to safety. But not only a piece of the ball and it hit Funston, charging in to rouge him for a single, on its chest and fell to the ground.

Funston fell on it for the touchdown and the fans poured onto the field, making a convert attempt impossible.

It provided armchair quarterbacks with ample material for off-season discussions and left Wylie a dejected man. He was chosen as the most popular Stampeder player by Calgary fans this year and is a candidate for the Canadian player-of-the-year award this season.

Winnipeg coach Bud Grant later said later a single wouldn't have been enough — Calgary probably would have won in overtime. His players, despite their big win, were exhausted in the dressing room.

The Bombers, who lost the first game of the series 20-14 and won the second 19-11, led 1-0 at the end of the first quarter and 5-0 at half time. They scored their other points on a field goal by James and three singles by punter Charlie Shepard.

The Stamps forged into the lead in the fourth quarter when fullback Lovell Coleman, subbing for injured Earl Lunsford, crashed over from the two-yard line and Larry Robinson kicked the convert.

MONTREAL (CP)—The Russian national hockey team put on a fast-paced display of lightning-like passes and positional hockey Sunday to defeat Montreal Junior Canadiens 5-2 in an exhibition game.

The Russians now have won six of seven games played so far in their nine-game Canadian tour.

Boris Mayorov and his brother, Evgeny, scored two goals and an assist each while Konstantin Loktev accounted for the other Russian goal.

Centre Gary Peters, borrowed from Regina Pats and the leading scorer in the Western Junior Hockey League, scored one for Canadiens goal and Bob Charlebois, a Canadiens regular, got the other.

The Russians thoroughly outclassed the Montreal team, taking and early lead and holding it until the end.

Boris Mayorov and Loktev both beat Montreal goalie Jocelyn Cardinal with backhanders in the first period.

SCORES OF PASS

Peters tallied for the Canadiens early in the second period when he picked up a pass from defenceman Roland Campeau at the Russian blue line, cut in behind the defence, and shifted goalie Victor Konovkenko out of position.

Russia came back a few minutes later with Evgeny Mayorov driving a hard 30-footer past Cardinal.

The Russian team showed its strength when Boris Mayorov scored his second goal of the game while Montreal had a manpower advantage near the end of the second period.

Charlebois brought the score to 4-2 with 12 seconds remaining in the second period when he cut out from behind the Russian goal dipping the puck between Konovkenko and the post.

The crowd of 6,184 gave the Russians a two-minute standing ovation at the end of the game.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Down under in the land of the kangaroo, the billyhong, and "Waltzing Matilda" our athletes are going all out to bring back those 16-carat medallions for Canada.

Bruce Kidd, the 19-year-old Varsity undergrad, who is as much at home at the Empire Games or Olympics as in a stroll to the corner grocery, was carried shoulder-high by his mates after he tucked away our first gold medal with a brilliant 3-mile performance.

To the victor goes the spoils, the accolades, the glory, hero-worship and odd mementos. But what of the vanquished?

As Kidd was taken in triumph to the interview quarters, another Canadian star walked dejectedly to his quarters. He was Harry Jerome, rated the "fastest human in the world" who proved a keen disappointment to his host of admirers and to Canada as a whole in the 100 yards.

Jerome was second to the ultimate South African winner at the 220 and when he suddenly faltered, swayed up and finished an out-of-the-medals pitch. The story at the time was that he had pulled a muscle and was forced to slow up.

Later Jerome denied this. He told reporters "I was trying for the treble (the winner). When I saw him ahead my whole edge went off and I sort of collapsed. There was no pain. I don't think I pulled a muscle. I tried to catch him but just couldn't make it."

Jerome said he thought he could have taken a silver medal if he had hung on, "but why whole heart went out. I was aiming only for the gold."

Jerome's performance recalls the 1960 Olympics when he failed to qualify for the 100 final and afterwards was criticized by Canadian observers. Later it was disclosed he had suffered a leg injury.

In many parts of the country the ugly word "quitter" has raised its nasty head. I don't buy that mess of garbage. Jerome has performed brilliantly in Canada and the United States under similar pressure—and has come through with flying colors. They don't as a rule call "quitters" the fastest humans.

However Jerome's statement that he could have taken a silver medal if he had hung on, may cause some head-scratching. I don't think it was a matter of quitting but a snap lightning decision. After all when a race is run in 9.5 seconds a runner hasn't time to go to the coach and ask him what to do. It may have been a fierce pride and a sense of security stemming from the ease in which he won his qualifying heat.

A report from Perth this morning gives the answer to the "quitter" faction.

Physicians found that Jerome injured thigh muscles as a result of the 100 sprint and is being flown home for treatment and surgery.

Bested By Australians

UBC Eights Eliminated

PERTH, Australia (CP)—The favored University of British Columbia eight was eliminated today in the major upset of the rowing competition at the British Empire Games when Australia defeated the Canadians by half a length in the second chanes repechage. The Aussies will row in the final Tuesday against England and New Zealand.

The Australians were clocked in six minutes, 3.7 seconds for the 2,000-metre course on the Canning River in the suburbs of Perth. UBC's time was 6:06.3.

New Zealand qualified for the final by upsetting UBC Saturday, winning the trial heat by one-third of a length in 7:07.5. Zealand was the winner over England captured the other heat the same day over Australia in 7:23.1.

SOLE 1958 WINNERS

UBC eights won gold medals in the 1954 and 1958 Games, and in 1958 it was the only gold the entire Canadian team was able to win.

This year's entry took a favored role on the basis of its world-record performance of 5:30.7 over 2,000 metres at the Games trials in St. Catharines, Ont., Aug. 4.

UBC this morning held the lead until the halfway mark. But the Canadians couldn't maintain it when the Aussies put on a powerful spurt near the finish.

Canada also lost out in the repechage of the pair oars. New Zealand was the winner over Bob Stubbs and Marty Giffnet of Vancouver by 2½ lengths in 7:42.2. The Canadians were timed in 7:42.8.

Peruvian Wins Over Hank

NEW YORK (AP) — Mauro Mina, Peruvian light - heavyweight, made an auspicious debut in the United States Saturday night by winning a split decision over Henry Hank of Detroit in a 10-round boxing feature at Madison Square Garden.

Mina weighed 170½ to Hank's 170¾.

At the outset, Hank seemed to have Mina figured out but Mina's superior strength plus a punishing body attack weakened Hank and made him almost a standing target in the late rounds.

Don't change horses in midstream, runs the old adage.

But Boston manager Lynn Patrick was of a desperate bent this week, and he fired coach Phil Watson, replacing him with veteran Milt Schmidt.

Now, the doom that had been gathering over Boston all season is beginning to clear.

The last-place Bruins were the big surprise of the weekend's NHL action. They snapped a 14-game winless streak by whipping Toronto Maple Leafs 5-2 Sunday night in Boston, a night after they held the league champion Canadiens to a 5-5 tie in Montreal.

In other weekend games, Detroit Red Wings, paced by their high-flying veteran line of Alex Delvecchio-Gordie Howe-Parker MacDonald, beat back a challenge for first place by Chicago Black Hawks.

They edged Hawks 3-2 Sunday night after tying them 3-1 Saturday night. The Wings' win on Sunday, in six minutes of extra games, enabled them to open up a two-point lead over the second - place Hawks. Detroit now has 26 points and Chicago 24.

RANGERS SLIP

Meanwhile, Toronto swarmed all over New York Rangers 4-1 in Toronto Saturday and Canadiens whipped the Rangers 3-1 in New York Sunday.

Jacques Laperriere, Jean Beliveau gathered six assists for Canadiens over the weekend, sparking the club to a third-place tie with the Leafs at 21 points each.

Boston's three points gives them a season total of 19, six less than the fifth-place Rangers.

The Bruins came from behind five times Saturday night for a 5-5 tie with Canadiens. Center Don McKenney's back-hander with less than eight minutes left to play was the tying goal.

Tom Williams, Murray Oliver, Jean-Guy Gendron and Godfrey Matheson got Boston's other goals. Leaf Frank Mahovlich, who had scored twice for Canadiens—his ninth and 10th of the season—and Montreal teammates Don Marshall and Phil Goyette added singles. Ralleaun assisted on four of Montreal's goals.

"We're on the way up," was Schmidt's prediction after the Bruins' win. The team had taken two losses in their first two games under him, but battled well and stuck to their positions against Canadiens.

"We've got the youngest team in the league," he went on, "and once we snap out of this streak we can skate with any team in the league."

WORSLEY SHINES

In Toronto Saturday night, it was no contest. Leafs clubbed Rangers by a lopsided 45-18, and only rugby Gump Worsley in Rangers net kept the score down to 4-1.

Three of Leafs' goals were scored through Worsley legs on the ice. Centres Bob Pulford and Dave Keon scored on rebounds in the first period, and left winger Frank Mahovlich scored on an empty net when Worsley came out and stopped him once during a power play.

Bob Nevin scored Toronto's fourth goal on a power play as well, picking the corner. Dean Prentice and Don Simmons had chances for a shutout when he fired the loss New York goal back into the Leaf zone.

In the 1-1 tie between the Wings and the Hawks Saturday night in Chicago, high scoring came in the second period.

Detroit rookie Larry Jeffrey gave the Wings a lead at the five-minute mark with his second goal of the season but Chicago centre Bill Hay tied it up a minute later when he steered a deflection past Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk.

In Detroit Sunday night, the Wings had a 4-0 edge in play, out-shooting the Hawks 35-23.

MacDONALD SCORES

Detroit took a 1-0 lead in the second period on a goal by veteran left winger Vic Stasiuk. Then Delvecchio, the league's leading scorer with 23 points, and MacDonald, a native of Sydney, N.S., scored within eight seconds to give Wings a 3-0 lead. Howe assisted on both goals.

The Hawks stormed back with two goals by rookie Chico Maki and Eric Nesterenko in the last seven and a half minutes, but couldn't even the score.

In other NHL games, Chicago's Reg Fleming and Detroit's Howie Young—had a brawl in the first period and were given minors for roughing early in the third.

In Boston Friday night, the Bruins roared back from their horrendous 10 - game winless streak. They took a 3-1 lead in the first period on goals by Cliff Pennington, Johnny Bucyk and Charlie Burns.

Veteran Jerry Toppazzini made it 4-0 for Boston in the second period. After defenseman Carl Brewer scored Toronto's first goal early in the third period, McKenney scored his eighth goal of the year to make it 5-1 edge. Mahovlich scored his ninth goal in the last minute to end the scoring.

Boston's rookie goalie Bob Perreault made 28 saves, compared with only 20 for Simmons.

Western Hockey

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The all-Alberta contest for a record Western Hockey League losing streak has swung from Edmonton to Calgary.

While Edmonton Flyers took themselves off the hook Saturday, snapping their streak at 10 with a 5-3 win over Spokane Comets, Calgary Stampeders moved up to 15 with a 3-1 defeat at the hands of Seattle Totems. Seattle then started the Flyers off on another bid by trimming them 4-2 Sunday night.

The double victory moved Seattle within two points of the leading Vancouver Canucks in the Northern Division as Vancouver fell 4-3 to San Francisco Seals Saturday. Portland Buckaroos ran their Southern Division edge over Los Angeles Blades to three points by playing to a 3-3 tie at Spokane.

Athletics Top Seniors

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Woodstock Athletics have forged into a three-point lead atop the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A standings as a result of two weekend victories, 5-3 over the winless Sarnia Sams Saturday and 8-6 over Windsor Bulldogs Sunday.

Results from the weekend the Athletics were tied with the Bulldogs and the two teams a point ahead of Chatham Maroons and Kitchener-Waterloo Tigers. Galt Terriers, in turn, were only a point out of third.

But the two Woodstock wins, combined with Galts' 4-3 win over Windsor Saturday and Chatham's 4-0 shutout of Kitchener-Waterloo Sunday, left the As three points ahead of the second - place Maroons with Windsor and Galt tied for fourth and the Tigers one point back in fifth.

Big Seven

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion registered two goals and two assists for Montreal Canadiens in weekend play to move into second place in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race.

The Boomer's performance in two weekend games increased his goals to eight and assists to 15 for 23 points overall.

The top spot still belongs to Detroit's veteran centre Alex Delvecchio, who added a goal and an assist to his account for 22 points. Delvecchio's playmaking abilities account for his league leadership in assists, with 16.

Tied for third spot with 19 points are Detroit's Parker, MacDonald and New York's Andy Bathgate, both players picked up one point on the week end. MacDonald a goal and Bathgate an assist.

MacDonald and Gilles Tremblay of Montreal led the pack in goals scored this season with 10 apiece.

Agelas Gerdie Howe, who set up two goals for Detroit in Sunday night's against Chicago, is sixth with 18.

In a three-way tie for sixth spot with eight points are Johnny Bucyk and Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita of Chicago.

Howe has 10 points, but Bucyk has the edge technically on the strength of his seven goals. Both Chicago sharpshooters have six.

The leaders:

	G	A	Pts
Delvecchio, Detroit	6	16	22
Geoffrion, Montreal	8	15	23
MacDonald, Detroit	10	9	19
Bathgate, New York	7	12	19

Hull, Chicago	6	11	17

Canadian Women's Swim Team

Breaks World Record But Finish Third

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

PERTH, Australia (CP) — They broke the world record and, still finished third if you can imagine that," exclaimed swimming coach Bud Hall of Montreal today after the Canadian women's team won the bronze medal in the 440-yard medley relay at the British Empire Games.

"Those kids have nothing to be ashamed of. They're great, simply great."

Australia, England and Canada finished one-two-three as all three countries broke the world record for the distance set by the Australian women in heats Saturday night.

Dawn Fraser took part in her 31st world record-breaking race, pacing the Aussies to a four-length victory with a tremendous 59.9 anchor final leg.

The Australians set a world mark of four minutes, 45.9 seconds, wiping out their previous record of 4:48.8. England just nosed out Canada by one-fifth of a second. England was clocked in 4:47.9, Canada in 4:48.1.

ARMS TOO SHORT

Healy figured Canada lost the second-place silver medal by a few inches because of the short arms of 16-year-old Patty Thompson of Hamilton.

"Just a couple of more inches on that little girl's short arms and we would have been in for the silver," Healy said.

"She takes very short strokes and with those short arms of hers she was up against the big, strapping, long-armed Fraser.

"We knew this race was going to be tough and we weighed somebody who could finish strong. That is why we substituted Patty for Madelaine Scrigny."

Canada's other bronze medalist in the swims today was Jack Kelso of Ocean Falls, B.C., who finished third in the men's 440-yard individual medley.

Kelso was so exhausted at the end that he had to be helped to the dressing room and later he was taken to hospital in the athletes village.

Dr. George Elliott of Vancouver, manager of the swimming team, said: "Jack was trying too hard. He is resting in hospital because it is more convenient but he should be all right tomorrow."

LED AT LAST TURN

The 22-year-old Kelso was leading at the turn when he suddenly faltered and was overtaken by Australians Alec McGregor and John Cavanagh.

Tom Dissley of Vancouver took the silver for second in the men's springboard diving and Eric Meismer of Kitchener captured the third-place bronze. The gold was won by Brian Phelps of England who had 154.14 points. Dissley was given 147.22 points and Meissner 145.03.

The one silver and three bronze today gave Canada a total of nine medals after three days of swimming and diving competition. The gold, three silver and five bronze.

Sandy Gilchrist of Ocean Falls, B.C., Canada's other entry, easily qualified for the finals in the men's and women's 440-yard freestyle relay Monday.

ANOTHER MARK FALLS

The women's medley swim was the second world record set as the Aussie swimmer of the first leg, Pam Sergeant, broke the world mark straight Engineland's Mary Cotterill.

Canada had a five-foot lead going into the final freestyle leg as Miss Fraser caught the five-foot-two Miss Thompson to win by about four yards.

Miss Fraser's 59.2 leg does not go into the record book because it was made from flying start.

DIDN'T LOOK AROUND

Miss Thompson, who now has one silver and one bronze medal, said she had hoped to peak at her competitors during the race—"I knew where I was and was just hoping to stay with them. Of course, I was up against a world champion (Miss Fraser) and all I knew was that she was beside me."

Miss Stewart, teamed with two bronze and one silver, said her time "was a little slower than my best (it was 2:08.1) and I'm a little disappointed about that." Her pending world record for the 110-yard butterfly is 1:07.2.

Miss Barber said she and Alison Glendenning scored a swam against world champions — Miss Ludgrove and Miss Grinham.

"I guess they are a little too fast for us," chipped in Mrs Glendenning with a smile.

Australia grabbed the gold in the other swim championship held today, the men's 220-yard backstroke. Ian O'Brien won it in 2:33.2. Bill Burton of Australia was second and Neil Nicholson of England third. Steven Rabinovitch of Montreal finished sixth in 2:48, considerably over his fastest clocking—2:44.6.

Hull Ottawa Beaten by Frontenacs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The hapless Syracuse Braves, mired in last place most of the season in the Eastern Professional Hockey League, aren't doing much better in their interlocking games against top teams from the International Hockey League.

The Braves dropped their 12th and 13th games of the season this weekend, both to IHL teams. Saturday night it was Muskegon Zephyrs Saturday night and Sunday it was Port Huron Flags Sunday in a disastrous trip to Michigan.

Muskegon Kingston Frontenacs took over the league lead by whipping Hull Ottawa Canadiens 4-1 at Kingston Saturday to stretch their winning streak at home to 18 games. The loss dropped the Canadiens to seven-game win string.

Sudbury Wolves, moving further away from cellar company, walloped Minneapolis Millers of the IHL 11-4 at Sudbury Saturday as every Sudbury player picked up at least one scoring point.

US College Football

NEW YORK (AP)—Southern California and Wisconsin survived upset threats and made their way into the Rose Bowl Saturday while Louisiana State and Oklahoma nailed down their major bowl berths in U.S. college football's last full weekend of regular season play.

Top-ranked USC, unbeaten, untied, trailing 3-0 going into the fourth quarter against Notre Dame, pulled out a 14-3 victory and clinched the Big Six title. A contender Syracuse lost 6-2 to Pitt, and Wisconsin also was forced to come from behind in the final period to edge Nebraska 14-0 and cement the Big Ten title. Several hours later the coaches' poll representatives named the Badgers to the Rose festival.

Louisiana State rolled over Tulane 38-3 and, as expected, immediately accepted a bid to the Cotton Bowl.

Oklahoma crushed Nebraska 34-6 and won the Big Eight title and the accompanying trip to the Orange Bowl. Oklahoma is expected to meet Alabama, idle this week.

Browns Whip Steelers, Eagles Win

Giants Defeat Skins, Colts Beaten 57-0

NEW YORK (AP)—The sophisticated New York Giants are up to their even older habit—grabbing titles in the National Football League's Eastern Conference.

The Giants all but stapled away their second straight conference title and fifth in seven years Sunday with a 42-24 victory over Philadelphia Eagles who dropped to third from second place in the eastern race.

The Packers, who beat the Giants for the title going in Sunday following the Lions' 26-14 victory Thursday.

Cleveland Browns (6-1) moved into second in the east by beating the fourth-place Pittsburgh Steelers (4-3) 33-14, while the surging Chicago Bears (5-2) held the western title hopes alive with a 37-0 walloping of Baltimore Colts (5-6). The Giants and Bears face each other next Sunday in Chicago.

EAGLES PULL UPSET

In other games, Philadelphia Eagles upset Dallas Cowboys 28-14, San Francisco 49ers defeated St. Louis Cardinals 24-17 plus and Los Angeles Rams and Minnesota Vikings battled to a 24-24 tie.

Houston Oilers defeated San Diego Chargers 33-27 and Dallas Texans beat the winless Oakland Raiders 35-7 in American Football League battles.

The Giants (8-3), fed up with hearing how old and lucky they were to dominate the Eastern Conference, once more used the perfect blend of experience and youth to win. Veterans Yelberton Tittle and Frank Gifford scored two touchdowns apiece, 10 coming against the Redskins, and is only eight short of even breaking the NFL mark of 32.

Fullback Alex Webster, former star with Montreal Alouettes of the Eastern Conference, scored a touchdown for New York on a 29-yard run.

The Trots

TORONTO (CP) — A record crowd of 17,460 bet a record $959,128 at Old Woodbine race track Saturday as Ontario's 196-day racing season ended.

The day's wagering, a record for thoroughbred racing in the province, brought the total mutuel money at Fort Erie, New Woodbine and Old Woodbine this year to $30,417,564.

Whitebrough's win in the featured Hambletonian Stakes, the seventh race, was almost an anti-climax, but the second-place finish of Stafford Farms Windy Ship decided the race between money-winning owners. Windfields Farm, with total season earnings of $244,727, shaded Stafford Farms by $613.

Gets Scouting Job

Dodgers Sign Dressen

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Los Angeles Dodgers announced Sunday the appointment of Charlie Dressen as the National League club's scout and troubleshooter.

Dressen managed Toronto Maple Leafs to second place in the International League last season.

Dressen, a former Dodger manager and coach, will scout players in other major league clubs. The post is similar to that held by Hugo Bezdek of New York Yankees and for which Chicago White Sox recently hired Charley Grimm.

Dressen, 64, formerly managed Brooklyn Dodgers, Cincinnati Reds, Washington Senators and Milwaukee Braves. He guided the Dodgers to the National League pennant in 1933 and 1953 and was a coach on the Dodgers' pennant-winning club of 1959 in Los Angeles. He was a coach for New York Yankees in 1947 and 1948.

Dressen quit the Dodgers after the 1953 season when Walter O'Malley refused to give him a long-term contract. He left the Dodgers again in 1960 to manage the Braves, who fired him in August 1961.

The combination of the Quebec win and Hershey loss left the teams tied with 24 points.

No Third Party Candidates in Sight in P.E.I.

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — Unless a dark horse suddenly appears, the provincial election in Prince Edward Island Dec. 10 will be one where there are no third party candidates.

Nominations close at 4 p.m. (3 p.m. EST) today. A few hours before the deadline only Progressive Conservatives and Liberals were in the running for 30 legislature seats.

Premier Walter Shaw's Conservative government seeks re-election 36 months after replacing a Liberal regime that held office for 34 years up to 1959.

Up the third of four provincial elections called in a month. Quebec and Newfoundland returned Liberal governments Nov. 14 and 19 respectively. Manitoba passes judgment on its Conservative government Dec. 14.

PCs and Liberals have named candidates for each of the island's 15 two-member ridings. The few Democrats, still in the organizing stage here, say they won't contest this election.

Mr. Shaw, at 74 Canada's old est premier, says he has three main reasons for calling an election now with almost two years of his statutory term to go.

"You may mark down as the number one reason . . . and the major plank in my party's platform, the use of every single available facility, for increasing the real income from one end of this province to the other."

The other reasons, he says, are government proposals to abolish hospital insurance premiums and "spend well over $2,500,000 in the next three years for economic and resources development."

Alex Matheson, 59, Liberal opposition leader and former premier, says his party is in agreement with the government's programs and that these are not issues at all.

The legislature standing at dissolution was 22 Conservatives and six Liberals with two vacant seats.

NOSE FOR TV—Christopher Plummer, the 33-year-old Canadian-born actor who will play the title role in NBC's adaption of "Cyrano de Bergerac" December 6, is ready for a fight. He played the uncut version of the Rostrand play at Stratford, Ont., last summer and isn't happy with the editing for the 90-minute TV version. He says he'll fight to keep the death scene from being cut. (CP from AP).

Christopher Plummer Feels Years Spent in England on Small Pay Not Wasted

By CYNTHIA LWORY

NEW YORK (AP) — Christopher Plummer is probably considered to be some kind of ageacting nut by his affluent peers in San Fernando Valley of California and Rockland County of New York.

In 1956, after a busy season in which he had co-starred in a Broadway play and was much in demand for a star of talent-scion specials, the 30-year-old actor hustled to his native Canada for a summer season with the Shakespearean Festival Foundation at Stratford, Ont.

And then, still a very hot property, he went to Britin for a year with the Royal Shakespeare Theatre at Stratford-Upon-Avon and in London. During this year's engagement his salary was £60 a week—about $168 a week before taxes, which is hardly pocket money for a Hollywood- or New York-based star.

PLAYS CYRANO

After this two-year holiday with the classics, Plummer is back in the U.S. steam of American show business, however briefly. On Dec. 6—and in his own, home-grown beard but with a putty nose—he will play the title role in NBC's adaptation of Rostand's Cyrano de Bergerac. After that he goes to France to play a leading role in a film, The Greatest Story Ever Told.

"Certainly I was delighted to have a chance to go to England for a year," said Plummer with a forgivable degree of self-satisfaction. "I think that every actor should play London—and if I was perfectly willing to give up anything to do it."

"What modern playwriting can compare with the classics?" he asked, gesturing toward broadway with a half-filled wine glass over the luncheon table.

"I wish some could, but most available plays here are so dreary, so dull—so commercial, in this atmosphere there is little room for the young performer to develop himself or his craft. And how can he with all this unthinking business of typing people and throwing them always into one role."

FAR-SIGHTED ACTOR

Plummer, at 33, may not be the richest actor in the world—a situation which obviously is not of any concern to him—but he may be one of the most far-sighted.

"I feel that the time I have spent in Canada and England is an investment for later on," he continued. "An actor's body is, of course, his only tool, and the way he sharpens it is to learn, to improve his voice, his movements.

"And once you learn all this, you are free, as a performer, to find your own truth."

Plummer, dedicated to his craft, believes that "acting styles change every five years."

"I saw Laurence Olivier in a World War II version of Henry V and he made it a propaganda picture," Plummer said. "He played the character with a St. George - and - the - dragon slant. Now, to Olivier, that would seem naive—he'd play it in a psychological area, with emphasis on the wastrel playboy growing into his responsibilities as a leader of men."

FAVORS CLASSICS

Plummer, incidentally, sees nothing wrong with playing the classics for pay. "In England the actors are good enough to handle the verse well."

He is not completely happy with the edited TV version of Cyrano. He played in the full, uncut version in Canada.

"If we had two whole hours we could do the whole play," he mourned. "But as it is, I shall fight to the last ditch to keep them from cutting up the death scene."

Plummer was born in Toronto and grew up in Montreal. His career started when he helped backstage in amateur high school shows.

Sid Caesar Had Three Good Sketches on Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Appreciation of a comedian is a very personal reaction. It simply boils down to whether you think he's funny.

Sid Caesar usually amuses me at the beginning of his sketches, and I invariably wind up wishing he would quit before he beats an idea to death.

His ABC show Sunday night, for instance, consisted of three sketches, each based on imaginative or fresh ideas. The Cape Canaveral scientist transplanted to a cosmetics factory, working on a cure for chapped lips, was great in concept, hilarious, also, in execution. And the same was true of the man brooding about splitting a restaurant tab with a couple who ordered the $1.25 shrimp cocktail while he and his wife were stuck with the 25-cent tomato juice.

But speaking of comedy, what on earth made Edward Kennedy and his wife decide to go on a variety program such as Friday night's "Jack Paar show"? The serious young senator-elect fielded Jack's awkward questions as though he were on Meet the Press.

NBC's contemporary western, Empire, will be around all year, the network having ordered a full season of shows. The series got off to a shaky start.

The program is mostly a showcase for star Richard Egan, but other regular characters have had a pretty thin time of it, in spite of a promising start to fatten the roles of Terry Moore and Anne Seymour.

An upcoming episode of CBS' The Nurses will be the story of an unwitting nurse who is engnlied by a patient as one who assisted in medical "experiments" in Nazi concentration camps. By a curious coincidence, a recent episode of CBS' The Defenders concerned a former concentration camp inmate who recognized—and killed—a same bone.

AT THE PARK—Stuart Whitman is starred as a deputy prison warden in Allied Artists' "Convicts 4," fast-moving story of prisoners' intrigue laced with rich humor, opening tonight at the Park Theatre. On the same program, "The Force of Impulse," starring Robert Alda, J. Carrol Naish, Tommy Anthony, Judy McCrea and Teri Hope.

That episode, incidentally, was a flurry of complaints to CBS about the theme, rather fuzzily exploring the question of whether a man could be blamed for carrying out higher orders.

Recommended tonight: Saints and Sinners, NBC, 3:30-9:30—Paul Muni in a rare acting appearance, playing an aged man.

Miss Toni Wahl spent the weekend in Toronto with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kelly of Toronto spent Thursday night supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Mitts of Stirling.

Suspect Foul Play in Death Of Dieppe Vet

TIMAGAMI, Ont. (CP)—Beulah Lahaie says she suspects foul play in the death of George Legros whom she found in a pool of blood in a storage shed near his home Sunday.

Mrs. Lahaie, 53—a well-known Northern Ontario prospector—told police she found the 66-year-old Dieppe campaign veteran about 7:30 a.m.

Legros, half Iroquois Indian and half French, was decorated by King George VI in 1943 for service in Canadian machine-gun post from capture by the Germans. He received the British Empire Medal.

Cpl. Hugh Garry of the provincial police said an autopsy showed the part - time guide, prospector and trapper died from loss of blood and possible shock. An inquest has been ordered for Dec. 5.

"We now have been charged a provincial police spokesman. "No cyrtic reason to believe that the man was murdered," Cpl. Garry said.

"However, investigation is continuing."

DIVERSITY OF OPINION

"I don't care what anybody says . . . . I think there was foul play," Miss Lahaie insisted.

She said Legros returned to his home about 5 p.m. Saturday night.

"His hand was so badly hurt and bloody that he couldn't even light the Coleman lamp," she said.

"I asked what had happened but he didn't say anything. He just left the house . . . He had been drinking but he hadn't been drunk. He was not in anything—he just wouldn't talk," Miss Lahaie said.

Police said the man's hand was badly slashed but there were no other marks on the body. It is not known where or how Legros gashed his hand.

Legros was an active possession of about $100 a month for a bronchial condition and hypertension, said Miss Lahaie.

Neighbors describe the man as "easy going . . . never bothered anyone." He had lived in this area for 35 years.

Baptist Preacher Fined $500, Jailed 90 Days

HENDERSON, Tex. (AP)—A Baptist preacher has been sentenced to 90 days in jail and fined $500 for running away with a blonde, teen-age choir singer.

Rev. LeRoy Daniels, 27, of nearby Tatum had pleaded guilty to contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Daniels also signed papers agreeing to divorce action brought by his bride of four months.

The minister left his wife and fled with 16-year-old Flora Jean Cole at halftime of a football game in which the girl was a band drum-major. The couple was found in Wichita, Kan., this week.

Judge Charles Langford said Friday Roy Cole, Flora Jean's father, had told him the couple planned to be married as soon as Daniels is divorced.

Criminologists Told Penal System Useless

MONTREAL (CP)—Putting a man in jail without considering his individual problems is "the surest way to keep our crime figures at their present fantastic level," Stephen Cumas, executive director of the Quebec John Howard Society, said Friday.

He told a research conference on criminology and delinquency that such an approach is simply playing into an offender's hands.

His attack on Canada's present penal system was the second of the day presented at the conference.

Earlier Justin Ciale, professor of criminology at the University of Montreal, called for a "drastic revision, from every point of view," of Canada's methods of dealing with convicted offenders.

Both speakers called for the building of small units where prisoners could receive better treatment and be helped to rehabilitate themselves.

DIGESTS BALANCE

Mr. Cumas said putting a man in prison—"and we know this is at times necessary"—should be balanced by giving him a more normal daily social routine as well as treatment.

The John Howard Society is an organization that tries to help prisoners released from prison.

Mr. Cumas said an offender usually is seeking to be taken away from society and to lose his identity, because of his firm belief that he is worthless and is a failure.

"We have up to now met this need of his by incarceration in over-crowded, impersonal and dehumanizing maximum security institutions.

"This is what he wants and for centuries—at a tremendous increase in crime—we have given him."

Mr. Cumas said that a man driven to crime should not be punished and to escape from responsibility.

"When he asks us to (let him) flee from his responsibilities and to remain anonymous we give him a sanctuary and let him loose to lose himself in a crowd of anywhere from 500 to 2,000 other social misfits . . . ."

One alternative to such an approach was much wider use of probationary services.

Mr. Cumas said no person who can be trusted or contained on probation should be sent to jail. Under probation men "are able to retain all bonds with families, friends, groups or employment."

TWEED

Reeveship Will Likely Be Contested

TWEED (Special) — Residents of Tweed gathered at the municipal hall here Thursday evening when the annual nomination was held for Reeve and five councillors, for this village.

Three well-known residents were nominated for the position of Reeve, Mrs. A. G. Allen, Ted Courneyea and Guy Hughes. Mrs. Allen and Mr. Hughes indicated that they will let their names stand but Mr. Courneyea would not commit himself at the time.

There were five nominations for council, but only four to be elected. Nominated were Guy Hughes, Ted Courneyea, Thomas Thompson, Emerson Hodgins and Ronald Way.

Mr. Way and Mr. Hodgins indicated they will not let their names stand. If Mr. Courneyea and Mr. Hughes run for the position of Reeve then this will automatically disqualify them from running for council.

In this event, it will leave only one nominee for council, and another nomination will have to be held. Keith Colten chaired the meeting.

Garden Notes

Bulbs Ideal Christmas Gifts

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

Last November our Amaryllis made such spectacular growth that we decided Amaryllis bulbs would make good Christmas gifts. The new Holland hybrids are very large and are easy to care for. We ordered them from the dealer and had them sent direct.

One was sent to friends in Elliott Lake, Ontario. We had letters from all who received them and each was impressed with the immense bulb and later with the big flower stock which produced flowers up to 10 inches across. They were pleased with the long lasting qualities too.

This year we have looked for other bulbs to send as gifts and find there is a wide choice, aside from the usual Holland bulbs. The Amaryllid family has many members that make good house plants. Most of these come originally from south of the Mediterranean Ocean and include the Nerine, Sprekelia, Imene, Valcotta and Haemanthus.

All of these need a fairly rich soil, high in humus such as leaf mold or peat and a portion of sand to insure good drainage. Planting directions come with the bulbs.

ONE OF BEST

Nerine Bowdini Pink Triumph is one of the best. It blooms soon after potting in temperatures of 45 to 55 degrees. Keep in a sunny window. Rest in cool basement after flowers die off. Do not repot but keep only barely moist enough to keep from shriveling. Next fall start into new growth again in sunny window.

Sprekelia Formossisima Superbis called the Orchid Amaryllis and the Jacobean lily is easy to grow and has rich deep crimson flowers. It will bloom several times each year.

Imene bulbs can be planted outdoors or potted for indoors. This has large white lily-like blooms, sweetly scented.

Valotta, also called Scarboro lilly because, these bulbs from a wrecked ship washed ashore at Scarboro, England, looks like a dwarf Agapylis plant. Plant four or five in a five-inch pot and keep in a cool sunroom or bay window where the temperature will stay quite cool.

Haemanthus or Blood Lilies may be red or white. This is another spectacular with a crown of many blooms. The foliage is also good. The English hybrids are as fine as the African types.

Other indoor bulbs include Clivias, Veltheimias, Oxalis, Fritillarias, Ixias and Cape Hyacinths.

Clivias are rated among the aristocrats of house plants. Large umbels, or clusters, of ten to twenty five blooms in soft yellow with orange tips are thrown up on sturdy stocks. There may be several of these, stocks in bloom at the same time. With ordinary care these plants will last a life time.

EASY TO GROW

Veltheimias are easy to grow too: They push up fifteen inch spikes year after year. These spikes of bloom resemble Tritomas or red hot poker. The blooms may be yellow, salmon or white tinged pink. The foliage is light green, ruffled and quite handsome.

Oxalis, or wood sorrels, these are small bulbs with clover-like foliage. They come from Africa to Bermuda and you can have a dozen bulbs for $1.00. Flowers may be rose, lavender, white or yellow.

Ixias are known as Corn lilies in England and are old favorites there. Stems 15 to 18 inches. The long racimes have many blooms. Through yellow pink and white.

Fritillarias, known as Crown imperials are for the garden only. The Meleagris (Snakehead) is fine for pots. The good high stock is crowned with lovely bells.

Most of these bulbs will last for years with little care and they make welcoming gifts.

Forger Forges His Release From Prison

RIPLEY, Tenn. (AP)—Embarrassed officials fear a man serving a forgery sentence has written his way out of the Fort Pillow state prison farm near here.

Howard Lee White, 33, of Memphis was released late last Saturday after the necessary papers were received by prison authorities. The papers proved to be forgeries.

"Nothing like this has ever happened here before," said Warden Bill Hunt.

White gained freedom after the prison received official-looking documents from the Central Records Office at Nashville showing White had served federal time which would have counted toward his state prison sentence.

The names of several judges had been forged to the documents, Hunt said. He said White apparently got the papers while assigned to work in the farm's clerical offices.

How the forged papers turned up in prison records is a mystery.

But that's not all. Officials say a man answering White's description has left a trail of cheques forged on the prison account.

Your Car

Lubricants Thicken in Cold Weather

By EUGENE R. MILMOE

When cold takes hold, car parts become stiff and more resistant to movement, lubricants tend to thicken and flow less freely, and battery strength is drained. Yes - even a new, fully charged battery is substantially weakened by frigid temperatures . . . and, at a time when maximum power is needed.

To promote prompt starting in winter, therefore, the entire ignition system (from battery to plugs) should be capable of delivering a strong spark. The fuel system should provide the rich mixture required in cold weather, and the lubricants used must be those formulated very low temperatures.

A potential cold weather troublemaker rarely considered is water diluted fuel, which makes the fuel less volatile. This water is a product of condensation, encouraged by allowing the gas tank to run low or near empty.

Poor technique is a common winter-starting fault, too. Failure on the first one or two attempts often leads the driver to pedal pump excessively and flood the engine.

"From S. L.: "My 1960 wagon is hard to start and there's a miss in the engine, except when it is idling. Could this be the battery? I've never had to replace the original."

(A) A low or failing battery, which resulted in a weak spark, could be responsible. Spark plugs are likely suspects, too.

L.T. writes: "When my engine idles or runs below 30 mph, the oil pressure light flickers on and off. Could this be due to valve trouble? I've also been hearing a rapid clicking noise at all speeds."

(A) Evidently, low oil pressure, as indicated by the warning light, is the cause, not the result. Inadequate oil flow to the hydraulic valve tappets causes the noise.

K. H. asks: "I was surprised to learn that some cars do not have electric motor-operated windshield wipers. Isn't it better to ask a little more of the battery than have wipers die out whenever the car must be fully accelerated?"

(A) Today's vacuum operated wipers, employing a piston type booster, as opposed to the diaphragm type - will maintain wiper action under acceleration.

From R.R.: "I want to get one of the 'Fix' units for my car radio which will then give me both AM and FM reception. My dealer quotes a price of $80, installation included. How much could I save by buying and installing it myself?"

(A) About $10. The tuner you mention retails for approximately $70.

Second Glassco Report Covers Seven Fields

Recommends One Body Manage All Property

OTTAWA (CP) — Creation of two central organizations to handle purchasing and to manage property for the federal government is recommended in the second report of the Glassco royal commission on government organization, issued today by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

The 200,000-word report takes a careful and sometimes critical look at seven fields in which the government has found itself with goods and services. It is divided into sections dealing with real property, purchasing and supply, transportation, telecommunications, printing and publishing, the "make or buy" problem, and legal services.

The report is a long list of recommendations are that the public works department be relieved as the construction agency in charge of property and that a department of purchasing and supply be fashioned out of the present defence production department.

The report, result of more than two years of study by teams of experts, goes into detail on the government spent nearly $3,000,000 a year on supplies and services. These range from shoes to ships, and from lawyers to charwomen.

Its authors are J. Grant Glassco, 57, Toronto chartered accountant and business executive who heads the commission; Walter Sellar, 58, of Ottawa, retired auditor - general of Canada, and Eugene Therrien, 56, of Montreal insurance company executive and lawyer. They recruited 197 specialists to make detailed studies of government operations.

Their initial report in September dealt with the broad issues of financial and personnel management. It set out a plan for stripping away much red tape and putting each government department on its own control.

The first report is still under study and it is considered unlikely there will be any action until after the commission's

97 ARE KILLED, BRAZILIAN JET LINER CRASHES

Wreckage Found South of Lima

LIMA, Peru (AP)—A Brazilian jet airliner, flying with 97 persons aboard was found wrecked 75 miles south of Lima today with no sign of survivors Peruvian officials reported.

The Varig Airlines 707 jet had disappeared eight hours earlier as it headed for a landing at Lima on a flight that originated at Porto Alegre and Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, and was to have ended in the United States.

A search plane sald the Boeing plane seemed to be destroyed. It was sighted 75 miles south of Lima near the Pan-American highway.

The plane was bound from Brazil to Los Angeles, with intermediate stops scheduled in Peru, Colombia, Panama and Mexico. Varig said it carried 80 passengers, nine of them bound for Los Angeles, California and the remainder for Latin American points.

CARRIED LARGE CREW

The 55,000,000 plane carried a crew of 17.

Authorities here said it radioed a normal position report five to seven minutes before the scheduled landing and gave no indication of difficulties. However, Varig officers in Rio de Janeiro and New York said an emergency call had been heard.

Lima Airport said the plane apparently was flying at 12,000 feet near the Pacific coast.

Varig is one of South America's most progressive airlines, with a fleet of $5,000,000 Boeing

HOUSE GROPES FOR WAY TO SPEED PROGRESS

Govt. Blamed For Slowness

OTTAWA (C)—Burdened by business, the Commons groped for a way Monday to speed its progress. Everybody appeared to agree on the need for less talk, but no action was taken.

When the Liberals proposed all-party co-operation to limit debates on individual subjects, Prime Minister Diefenbaker agreed and went further to suggest internal reforms that would include longer sitting hours and shorter question periods.

However, what began as a debate on efficiency soon turned into a political skirmish. The opposition blamed lack of government leadership for slow progress. Mr. Diefenbaker denied this, accusing the opposition of "fog-fighting" in search of an election.

The debate came when the government asked for $469,471,276 in interim supply for December. This is one-twelfth—in some cases more—of the individual items in the current year's spending estimates.

ESTIMATES INCREASED

These estimates for the current fiscal year were increased by $148,162,624 to a total of $6,196,369,134 Monday when Finance Minister Nowlan tabled supplementary estimates asked in the House, at the same time seeking an immediate one-twelfth of the extra amount.

Although the original estimates were brought in last April, none of them has yet been approved by Parliament. This is one of the biggest cloffres still facing the Commons after all-

Russia, U.S. Still Differ on Cuba -- Mikoyan

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan said Monday night that sharp differences still exist between the United States and Russia. He indicated there was no certainty of Fidel Castro's stand.

The Kremlin troubleshooter talked to reporters after attending a dinner that Acting Secretary General U Thant gave for U.S. and Soviet negotiators on the Cuban crisis. Mikoyan returned to New York Monday after a 24-day visit to Havana.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, who also attended the dinner, said he expects to resume discussions on Cuba Wednesday with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov. Stevenson said he expected the meeting to be "quite important."

Mikoyan said "very sharp questions" were discussed at the dinner with Stevenson and John J. McCloy, head of President Kennedy's Cuban co-ordinating committee.

"But there was no quarreling," the Soviet leader said.

Mikoyan said the possibility of his going to Washington for a meeting with Kennedy was not discussed. The Russian earlier were said to have put out feelers concerning a White House visit for Mikoyan, and Stevenson had indicated he would bring the matter up at the dinner.

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's Progressive Conservative government will introduce a bill on medical health insurance at the current session of the legislature and set up a non-legislative committee to study it.

The announcement was made today in the throne speech opening the fourth, and probably last, session of the 28th legislature.

The section of the speech opened with a declaration that the government "endorses the principle of medical health insurance." It said:

"In realization of the present-day concern of our people about the crippling costs of illness and their desire to be able to obtain proper medical treatment when required, legislation will be introduced which will ensure that medical health insurance from insurers, by arrangement with the government, will be available to all our people, regardless of age and physical condition.

"The government will also accept the responsibility of providing coverage for those who, for a variety of reasons, may be deemed not to be able to provide for themselves.

"Because of the many groups

SUGGEST GOVT. PURCHASE MORE AND MAKE LESS

Could Save Money By Hiring Service

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government should "buy less" more of its goods and services and "making"fewer of them itself, the royal commission on government organization said today.

Federal spending on these goods and services now runs to $3,000,000,000-a year, the commission said. This takes in everything from operation of power plants and bakeries to the repair of boots and ships, from bait-freezing to roadbuilding.

One example cited by the commission:

The transport department spends $2,500,000 annually to overhaul its fleet of 36 planes and 20 helicopters, ferrying each craft to its Ottawa plant for the job, although good overhaul companies are located elsewhere. The copters spend 20 to 30 per cent of their flying time shuttling to and from Ottawa for these jobs in a plant where the commission found "true costs" 35 per cent higher than in private industry.

Another case:

The commission said the works department now spends $2,000,000 annually on staff cleaning of the 2,350 federal buildings across Canada, contracting out only $1,000,000 of cleaning. It estimated a saving of around $1,000,000 a year in public funds if the department would do more contracting.

The government can often—though not always—get its requirements from private enterprises, the report said.

Part of the build-up in government "make" activities was attributed to the attitude of senior civil servants.

NOTICE QUESTIONED

Some favor self-provided services due to "motives of self-interest, including consideration of such matters as the opportunities for advancement as well as the challenge of new undertakings."

Throne Speech Cites Need For Dynamic Change

26th Legislature Lieut.-Governor Opens

TORONTO (CP) — Medical health insurance legislation, a portable pension bill and establishment of a provincial development agency were among measures promised by the Ontario government at the opening of the fourth session of the 28th legislature today.

In a 7,500-word speech from the throne, read by Lieutenant-Governor J. Keller Mackay, the Progressive Conservative government also pledged itself to set up a provincial council of the arts, a civil service arbitration board and a food advisory council.

The speech cited a need for "orderly and dynamic change" in a period when "world trade patterns and industrial methods are shifting in ways whose full import is not yet clear and whose complete effect may take some time to work out."

It expressed the belief that "with the continuation of our present growth policies, we may look forward to further improvements in production, sales, employment and income in all sectors of the economy."

On the proposed medical care insurance legislation, the speech said, the government recognizes the deep concern of our people about the crippling financial costs of illness and its desire to be able to obtain proper medical treatment when required . . ."

ENDORSES PRINCIPLE

The government "endorses the principle of medical health insurance," and legislation would be introduced "which will ensure that medical health insurance from insurers, by arrangement with the government, will be available to all our people, regardless of age or physical condition."

In addition the government would accept responsibility for providing coverage for those persons who "may be deemed not to be able to provide for themselves."

Before any considera-tion can be given to benefits broader than those mentioned, the report of the (federal) royal commission on health . . . and any recommendations it may contain, particularly in regard to participation by the federal government, must be examined."

Before the provisions of the medical insurance plan take effect, the speech said, the legislation will be examined by a committee of the house and labor and other representatives. The committee would receive representations from any interested party.

The speech also announced that the government will propose continuance, for a third year, of a provincial plan to stabilize premiums for the existing hospital care plan at their present rates.

TO AID GROWTH RATE

The proposed Ontario development agency was termed as important to the government's economic policy, intended to achieve a growth rate sufficient to provide jobs for a

Ontario Will Spend $200 Million In 20 Years for Land for Parks

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario government is embarking on a 20-year, $200,000,000 land acquisition program for parks and recreational facilities.

The throne speech opening the present session of the 28th Ontario legislature said one park projected for the Killarney area near the northeast shore of Georgian Bay will cover 4,000 square miles.

"Land will be needed . . . necessary," the speech said, "if we are to provide future parks and recreational areas for the growing numbers of our industrial population."

Some of the lands to be purchased will go to other uses, such as forestry, but the bulk of the lands and forests depart-

China Provides Clarification Of Truce Plan

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Communist China has replied to an Indian request for clarification of Chinese proposals last week for a cease-fire on the Chinese-Indian border and the reply is under consideration, an external affairs ministry spokesman announced here today.

India had requested the clarification on points in the proposals "which she said to be assertedly obscure.

China last week declared a unilateral cease-fire in the border fighting and said it would withdraw its troops 12½-miles from the line of control that existed in 1959. India has insisted on a withdrawal from the line of last September.

SIGN AGREEMENT

Earlier today, Britain and India signed a lend-lease arms agreement as India continued its military buildup despite the six-day lull in the border war.

The agreement, signed by Britain's Commonwealth Secretary Duncan Sandys and Indian Defence Minister V. B. Chavan calls for Britain to supply India with arms and military equipment "for the purposes of defending India against Chinese aggression."

Few details on the scope of the agreement were immediately available, but it calls for British observers to watch the use of British arms in action—as United States observers now are doing with American arms.

Under the agreement, India will not transfer the arms to another country and British consent and will offer to return arms to Britain when they are no longer needed.

HOPE TO CALM PAKISTAN

The wording of the agreement was evidently designed to allay Pakistan's fears that Anglo-American military aid to India could be used against Pakistan in the dispute over Kashmir.

Sandys was to fly to Rawalpindi, Pakistan, today for talks with government leaders and Averell Harriman, U.S. assistant secretary of state for far eastern affairs, in India with an American aid mission, is to go there Wednesday.

Producers, Processors, Consumers All Will Sit on Food Council

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario is to have a government-sponsored food council comprising representatives of producers, processors and consumers.

Plans for the council were announced today in the throne speech opening the fourth session of the 28th legislature.

The speech said the government's objective in establishing the council is to enable greater understanding by each group of the others' problems and to obtain recommendation on policies for food.

The speech also heralded reinstatement of the Junior Farmer Establishment Loans Act and introduction of amendments to the act which will "greatly increase its scope and effectiveness."

"These amendments will also recognize the changing aspects of the family farm unit and the need to provide the province's farmers will also be dealt with.

A provincial Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act to be introduced at the session will be designed "to foster our natural resources of land and ensure the development of a healthy agricultural economy

The plan would encourage such projects as development of community pastures, drainage, reforestation and alternate land use.

'Nobody Asked You, Sirs,' She Said

CBC-TV Denied Coverage, Debating Club Stands Firm

An official spokesman denied that CBC-TV would be allowed to acquire the exclusive television rights for an on-the-spot telecast of the Wharf Street Debating Club's annual meeting or "Burn Feed", to be held tomorrow night, following a recent enquiry as to what channel this production might be seen over.

In view of the confusion which has existed over various "rights" among various networks to cover various notable public events in Canadian life it is the feeling of the executive board of the club that so hallowed an institution of free speech and thought should not be submitted for possible use as a political football no matter how durable the hides of some of its members might reputedly be, the spokesman advised.

Club president Senator Harry Rollins has been reported as saying the club will ban CBC-TV national coverage of the annual political debates because it was felt, in view of both the past and present performances of the organizations involved, that freedom of speech would be "grievously curtailed" in a CBC broadcast and that speakers would not be allowed to "adequately express their deepfelt opinions."

"The Wharf Street Debating Club is a place where freedom of speech is a fundamental bulwark. Censorship will not be tolerated," advised "Senator" Rollins.

Convener of the session, J. A. "Snipe" Matthews, has stated that he was not, in his official capacity, prepared to allow the sharp probe of public criticism and enquiry be tempered by or modified by the intrusion of a government agency.

"I am not prepared to allow any speaker on our platform to be subjected to the McCarthyism implied by the presence of an agency which would broadcast his remarks coast to coast," said Mr. Matthews.

MUST PAY DOLLAR

Secretary - treasurer "The Honorable" James Maurice Callaghan has stated that television crew men would be allowed admittance to the premises on the purchase of the required one-dollar membership card, which fees were paid for each member of the viewing audience.

Several observers have suggested that this would produce a case of the tail wagging the dog for if procedures were placed on hand to cover this extended membership, there would be no room in the Wharf Street Debating Club's quarters for either politicians, speakers, reporters or technicians.

Others have suggested that the sudden affluence might turn the heads of the executive board to a position which would favor the installation of a new heating system.

President "Senator" Harry Rollins has emphatically denied this possibility, declaring loud "fiery coals, hot air, warm cokes and cold cogs" would always remain the tradition of the club on this festive and responsible occasion.

Responsible male citizens and those seeking election are urged to be on hand promptly at 8.00 p.m. in order to ensure they at least have standing room. There will definitely not be any unsolicited television piped to the overflow crowd of latecomers.

Special Event Celebrated by French Club

Over one hundred people have helped local French-Canadian residents of Belleville celebrate a traditional event.

The occasion was "La Ste. Catherine"; the group, "Le Club Pere Marquette" of Belleville, and the place, the Kiwanis Centre.

The main event of the local celebration was a banquet centred on the dish of traditional French-Canadian fare — pork and beans. This was preceded and followed by other typical cuisine.

Added exhilaration was given the occasion by a side event — the sale of home-made foods and household articles, turned out by ladies and friends of the club.

The food tables — which met a heavy market demand — proffered, among other delicacies, pea soup; home-made bread; tourtiere, (meat pie); Cretons (made from residue of rendered tallow); tete-fromage (head - cheese); croquignoles, cakes, pies, maple syrup and other traditional delicacies of treat known as "Tire Ste. Catherine."

Doll clothes, children's mitts, toques, sweaters and slippers, also sold readily, along with other domestic wear items.

Two draws saw Mrs. C. Hall, 6 Montgomery Boulevard, win a quilted bedspread, and Mrs. A. Berrigan, 333 Charles St. receiving a giant turtle cushion.

Three Windsor Youths Unable To Secure Bail

Three Windsor youths, charged with break-in at a Belleville service station, this morning were remanded to Friday when they said they could not obtain bail.

In magistrate's court were: Elie Seremack, Reggie Boufard and Roger Michael Boufard, all in their early teen ties.

Crown attorney John Pringle suggested bail of $1,000.

"If you cannot get bail I think it is my duty to do everything I can to expedite whatever kind of hearing is necessary in your cases," Magistrate T. Y. Wills told them.

After a brief conference in the dock, the trio agreed and replied there was "nowhere we can get bail no matter how hard we try."

However, he said, he expected to be represented by lawyer Robert Temple.

After a survey of the racial structure of South Africa, which has a heavily predominant proportion of blacks and some "colored" peoples, the speaker traced the history of South Africa since the days of the first white settlers.

He asserted South Africa had been built to the point where any racial group selected had a much better economic and material position than any similar group anywhere else in Africa or India. The blacks and colored people enjoyed advantages which would be quite unavailable to them in any other African country or state, he said.

The whites, Dr. Coubrough stated, had achieved and maintained their own standard of living during the past years and currently were protecting their position in a fashion which would allow the colored and black peoples to aspire to such a level without pulling down the whites.

WANT MIDDLE CLASS

It was hoped by the whites that a large middle class would develop from those aspiring to the same economic level as they themselves enjoyed, said the speaker. Such a developing trend would be said, be the "salvation" of the nation's problems.

During the interim, however, the natives were being treated in a "thoroughly honest, scrupulously fair" fashion by the white ruling class; Dr. Coubrough insisted.

The speaker was introduced and thanked by Rotarian Joe Demeza and Mayor Haig, respectively.

Two new members, William Finkle and Norman Moore, were introduced to the club. Guest student for the day was Don Allen, president of the Key Club at Moira Secondary School. The meeting was conducted by President Dr. Harry Burns.

"You consider that a reasonable?" demanded the magistrate sharply.

"Yes sir."

"Well, that is your way of taking it, but it is not mine," retorted Magistrate Wills, reminding Bennett that any such request would be facilitated when it was possible for authorities to meet it.

"There will be some effort to see they do it at their convenience—and not yours."

REV. AND MRS. R. G. FLEMING

Rev. R. G. Fleming Inducted As Rector of Christ Church By the Bishop of Ontario

A most impressive institution and induction service was held last evening when the Rev. Richard Gordon Fleming, M.A., B.Sc., B.D. LTH, was formally received and welcomed as the new rector of Christ Church, Belleville.

In an atmosphere of sacred solemnity, with hope and prayers for the future—the gathering was represented by the fast growing and deeply interested congregation with their friends, guests and clergy of various parishes.

With an historical record of strong supporters of the truly dedicated clergy, its extension program, the new facilities Christ Church for years has been most outstanding in its beautiful interior, its dignity of architecture and landscaping and well-kept property.

Large vases of white chrysanthemums adorned the Lord's table, and the organist, Mr. John Croydon Withers presided for the processional and recessional hymns and for the anthem, "Christus and Powerful God," (C. V. Sanford) by the surpliced choir.

Much of the planning of this service was under the direction of the assistant rector, the Rev. Everett P. Smith, and the assistant curate, the Rev. M. J. Caswell, B.A., LST., who was licensed to officiate in church sacraments.

The Rev. R. G. Fleming, having for six years served in the Marmora parish, beloved and respected by all, brings a record of successful ministry. He received his M.A. and B.Sc. degrees at Bishop's University, Montreal and his M.A. at Cambridge University, England.

Mr. Fleming married Miss Eileen Green of Lyn, Ontario, and has two children.

The Archdeacon of Ontario, the Venerable Archdeacon A. S. McConnell, B.A., B.D., read the mandate of induction.

The Bishop of Ontario, the Rt. Rev. Wm. Kenneth Greene, aloud the letters of Institution and license. The induction was read by the Archdeacon of Ontario, the Rev. A. S. McConnell.

Rector's warden, Mr. John Fletcher, and people's warden, Mr. D. McLaren, presented the incumbent with the keys of the church, to which Rev. R. G Fleming replied, "I receive these keys at your hand as your pledge of recognition of me as your appointed minister," after which he was led to his seat by these words from the Bishop, "The Lord preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forward."

The period of "admonitions" was conducted by the Rev. Canon R. B. Wright, LST., rector of Picton and rural Dean of Prince Edward.

DELIVERS SERMON

The Rev. Barry Valentine, M.A., B.D., a former director of education in the Diocese of Montreal, and a capable leader of the staff for revision of the Anglican Church school curriculum (for Canada addressed the congregation, Mr. Valentine is active in the youth movement and rector of a parish at St. Lambert's, Quebec.

QUOTED SCRIPTURE

He quoted from several passages from the Book of Ephesians — especially in the fourth chapter where the scriptures define choices between good and evil.

He dwelt upon the glory of Moses — who, being offered a life in the wealthy and autocratic courts of Pharaoh, chose rather, to heed his call from God, to lead his people out from bondage over the long trek to reach the promised land. He spent years of sacrifice — and endured the despair and doubt.

The speaker referred to the self denial of the early Christians — their determination to answer the "Voice of God."

Christ died for your redemption— that we might have everlasting life, Mr. Valentine said.

All are called to sacrifice, to share our joys, our sorrows and out material gains.

A growing minister must be aware of the needs of others, should spend hours in study and prayer. He must keep abreast with changing times. He must search for the opinions of others — to carry on workshops of ideas — and above all to keep Christ and His way of the Cross ever before him. The world is crying out for young people in every branch of Christian ministry — the choices is solemn and rewarding.

Closing the service, the benediction was pronounced by the Right Reverend K. C. Evans, Bishop of Ontario.

An enjoyable social time followed the service, when coffee and cookies were served from long tables, buffet style. The arrangements were under the Contact Club with its president, Mrs. R. Sands, supervising; and The Evening W.A. with the vice-president, Mrs. J. H. Spencer, as leader.

A number of ladies graciously poured coffee and tea and the opportunity was given to all to meet Mr. Fleming and his charming wife.

After a happy get-together, Mr. and Mrs. Fleming thanked all for their wonderful reception and welcome, and the Bishop added the best wishes of the different parishes.

The Rev. C. W. Coleman of Holloway Street United Church and president of the Ministerial Association, B.A., B.D., brought courage and well wishes to the new rector of Christ Church parish and his family.

Rabies Outbreak Not 'Alarming' In This Area

While the general incidence of rabies is up over last year in the Quinte district, the outbreak is "not alarming" as reported, reached "alarming" proportions, a federal health official said today in Belleville.

While the greatest number of rabid animals have been reported, the outbreak is fairly general in Hastings and Northumberland counties.

"The general picture appears to be the same," an official said.

The three Quinte-district counties share with the Bruce Peninsula region a higher rate of confirmed rabies cases than the rest of the province," he added.

"It seems that the fox popu lation has increased and with it the incidence of rabies."

In recent weeks, reports of rabies in the Quinte area have been received at an average of about one every three days, he said.

"The disease has been reported mostly in foxes, while the incidence among domestic animals has been low to date. We have had some rabid cattle and cats—but fortunately few dogs."

Mayor, Councillor Answer Questions by Ratepayers

TRENTON — Mayor James MacDonald and Councillor Ed Todd have come up with some answers to questions posed by the Trenton Ratepayers' Association at last night's council meeting.

"Why haven't the residents of Devere Garden been obliged to pay the annual $200 fee for the use of the sewage in the past two years?" asked the ratepayers, in effect.

Mayor MacDonald explained that pending annexation proceedings, town council had thought it prudent to waive collection of the fee. He said that invoices for the fee had been sent out by the town office and ignored by the Devere Gardens residents.

The $200 in two cases; for the case and $75 in another case is the difference in billing based on arrangements made with individual owners, prior to the passing of the by-law, requiring the residents to pay $200 for the sewerage.

As to the ratepayers' query regarding the welfare administration, the mayor said he was by direct elderly patients to out-of-town nursing homes rather than to the existing nursing home in town. Councillor Todd informed the ratepayers that relatives or friends of the patients arrive at the final decision as to nursing homes, not the welfare officer. He invited the ratepayers or any other interested citizens to visit the nursing homes named in the ratepayers' complaint, and form their own conclusions as to whether the taxpayers' dollar was being spent wisely and the patients properly cared for in all these homes. Councillor Todd stressed the fact that the welfare department told all interested parties that there were at least two nursing homes available in the immediate vicinity of the town, and in the case of Pande's Villa, within the town.

Mayor MacDonald took up the question of the town's right to ask the local school board $4,000 (the assessed price) for a piece of property adjacent to Queen Elizabeth School.

The mayor said that the Ontario Municipal Board, when asked, had said that town-owned land should not be transferred to one of the town's boards for less than the market value. The market value, said the mayor, was $4,000, according to the town's assessment commissioner.

The mayor went on to explain that in the midst of council making up its mind whether to stick by the assessed value of $4,000 or not, the councillors had learned, by rumor, that the school board had acquired land north of the school, at half the price, and council had now decided to put its land up for sale.

"Council," said the mayor, "is sympathetic to the request of the ratepayers association for a recreational park site from Bay St. south to the Community Gardens".

The mayor went on to say that the road had been treated to lay the dust and would be completed in the summer.

As to the ratepayers comparing the state of the road from Bay St. north to Wood with the paved road on Mount Pelion, the latter work was done by the Trenton Board of Public Management", said the mayor, "over which council has no control. Council is required to contribute one mill to the board, which is endeavouring to provide the citizens of Trenton with recreational and parks facilities.'

Homeowners' Assoc. Critical Of Ameliasburg Official Plan

TRENTON — General acceptance of the need for planning, but criticism of the proposed Official Plan for Ameliasburg township, was the sentiment expressed last night when some 200 persons met in the township hall to officially establish a Homeowners' Association and to elect an executive.

Speaker after speaker stressed the need for co-operation between the homeowners, the township planning board and Ameliasburg council.

Acting president Stanley Bartlett was quickly elected as that position last night, told the meeting that a petition from the township residents is now before the Ontario Department of Municipal Affairs in Toronto. The petition followed continued criticism of the plan, even though it had been revised after initial complaints. Residents said the plan, drawn up by a firm of planning consultants, restricted their rights as property owners.

Mr. Downing, who said he was in favor of plan, "since we must accept progress," said the association suggested that the proposed plan be amended to allow homes to be built on lots of 15,000 square feet with only 100 foot frontages on the bay, and on one acre lots instead of two in the low-density areas. But he said it was disturbing that the association had not been informed of what changes had been made after the revised plan was approved by the Ontario Municipal Board. That, he said, was the reason for the petition, to which no answer has yet been received.

"What protection should an individual have when buying a home?" asked Mr. Downing. "We feel there should be water and sewage facilities available before building. It would be bad business to do otherwise."

The new president said the wrangle over the proposed plan had made Ameliasburg a "laughing stock" among surrounding municipalities, and many people were reluctant to buy land in the township. He called for renewed interest in township affairs on behalf of all residents, and thirty new memberships were received during the evening. The association membership now stands at approximately 65.

NEGLECTFUL

At the outset of the meeting, outgoing executive member Ed. Bartlett charged that township council had been neglectful of its handling of the proposed plan. When council members discovered that property owners disliked the plan, he said council had discussed general meetings on the subject "while the planning board chairman was away looking past his own front lawn."

Reeve Arthur Miller of Ameliasburg township, in declamation at the weekend, told the meeting that changes in the plan were to be limited to the number of lots that can be built on. However, he said the reason which council has no control over is that people looking for someone to place an out house beside a $100,000 home, thereby reducing property worthless. He said he was against mentioning any specific figures in the plan regarding land usage, since the plan was primarily designed to protect the individual. He pledged co-operation between council and the homeowners.

Others elected to the executive last night were Elmer Rointer, vice-president; Donald Redner, treasurer; and Mrs. Dean Churchill, secretary.

Directors-district representatives of the association were John Wammamacher and Jack Jones, Ameliasburg; Reginald Barber and Ron Lough, Rossmore; Jack Jones and Arthur Bellow, Massassaga; Bob Weese and A. Leslie Albury; Blake Young and Edward Bartlett, Carrying Place; and Douglas Skinkle and Harry Chase for Consecon.

Temple Plans To Oppose Sills

There promises to be a two-way fight for the nomination as Liberal candidate in the next federal election in Hastings South tonight at the Liberal nomination convention at the Belleville Collegiate Institute.

Robert Temple, the party's standard-bearer in the last election, and Roy Sills, president of the riding association, have both announced their intention to seek the nomination.

The guest speaker will be C. H. "Bud" Drury, M.P., Deputy Minister of National Defence from 1940 to 1955. Mr. Drury's topic will be "What Is Happening To Canada."

Sparsely-Attended Meeting Hears Municipal Candidates

TRENTON—The theory that Trenton is in a sort of "political limbo" as far as concessions from the federal and provincial governments go, was advanced by Mayor James MacDonald last night.

The mayor was speaking to a sparsely attended meeting of Trenton taxpayers at the annual citizens' meeting in the high school auditorium.

Mayor MacDonald said he felt last year's heads of municipal levels had to report to the people of Trenton, and he felt he attended that at the beginning of the meeting, clerk-comptroller O. W. Larry suggested that the audience join the members of council for a meeting, as there "no one would have to raise his voice." However, several who were interested in meeting straggled into the hall after he had made this suggestion, and the audience, as such, addressed candidates for public office, not just called to the platform.

Mayor MacDonald told those present that while other municipalities expected to be able to collect an almost 90 per cent subsidy for such projects as the erection of sewage outlets, all indications to date were that Trenton, as a separated town, would only be able to get a one-third allowance from the provincial government towards the new bridge across the Trent. However, the mayor said, there was some hope that the present minister of highways, the Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, might succeed in making the government realize the town's needs.

The mayor also said that in spite of Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's austerity program, he had hopes that Trenton might get a new federal building this year.

ON SOUND BASIS

Trenton, he said, was on a very sound basis, financially speaking. Mr. Larry and town council are presently considering a five-year capital spending plan which will be presented to the Ontario Municipal Board for approval. Towns and cities across Ontario have been asked to submit similar budgets. An interesting point is that Trenton submitted a tentative five-year capital budget plan to the OMB three years ago, which, while not officially "approved," has served as a guide to the provincial body when the town made application for the approval of specific works.

The mayor outlined council's program for curbing, street repairs, extension of water mains, location of sewers and storm sewers. He said that council was doing everything it could for the town within the capacity of the town to pay for these works. He explained that council hoped to approve any such projects, authorization and figures must be submitted. In this way, the town comes in for various grants and subsidies on all public works.

Following the mayor's report the members of 1962 council, all committee chairmen were seated on the work on their committees.

Councillors Ross Burtt and Ed Todd, the only members of the present council who are making an appeal for re-election in the Dec. 3 voting, said, in effect, that they would stand on their records and guarantee a continued interest in the affairs of the town.

Last year's PUC chairman, Charles Hilton, also reported briefly to the meeting and ended his address with an appeal for re-election on his record.

HOT DEBATE OVER BILL

Mr. Hilton's speech was highlighted by a hot debate with an irate taxpayer, who was protesting payment of a bill for water services. Mr. Larry, as chairman, was forced to intervene in the debate and suggest that the matter could be handled at another time and place.

Councils, candidates Arthur Dingwall, George Dean, Dan Senik, Alfred Vaughan, Gerald Weaver and Richard Whitley told the audience of their experience and asked for a vote.

Mr. Larry brought the meeting to an end by reminding those in the audience that the election would be held on Monday, Dec. 3, with voting hours being 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. and that an advance poll would be held in the town hall on Dec. 1.

The name should have been Joseph Callingrige. Mr. Samain was the owner of the vehicle.

Frank Rabel Again Reeve At Frankford

TRENTON — In Frankford last night, Reeve Frank Rabel was elected by acclamation for another year, when the only other nominee, H. W. Rose, declined to stand.

Nominated for councillors were Carman Mikel, Earl Bonisteel, Earl Hamilton and Jack Reid, all members of the present council, and Douglas Brown and Harry Wilson. There are four councillors to be elected.

Orval Berry was acclaimed for the village hydro commission; Gerald Vasey, Harry Wickens, Boyd Williamson, Donald Croft, Douglas Bastedo and Harry Sadler were nominated in contest three seats on the Frankford school board. As Mr. Williamson and Mr. Croft were not at the nomination meeting to signify if they would let their names stand, they were automatically eliminated from the list. Mr. Wickens received the nomination for council first, so he was eliminated, also, so far today, Mr. Bastedo has failed to say whether or not he will stand; otherwise, he, Mr. Sadler and Mr. Vasey would be considered acclaimed.

Nominees have until nine o'clock tonight to qualify.

'South Pacific' Enchanting, Enjoyed by Capacity Crowd

By HARRY MULHALL

"South Pacific" is the first falls in love with a small-town nurse. Last night, if anything, he dominated in the scenes shared by the two leads. Mrs. Arber was her vital self, and scored as audience bully-boy with "I'm in Love With a Wonderful Guy" — a standard obstacle course test for all musical actresses. (It's believed in some places if an actress can do that she could even play Macbeth in Macbeth). There is no doubt that Joan Free as the ubiquitous Bloody Mary and Ken Eeyes as the incorrigible Luther Billis won immediate acceptance with their opening lines.

Once again, the male chorus, the firm rock to which the show is anchored, came through in lusty style. Within four bars of their musical entrance the evening was a success and the audience had settled back.

If there was any disappointment for the Belleville patrons it may have been the absence of encores. Gower, Rodgers and Hammerstein, among other things, were well ahead on that score by covering a musical bridge that at once quiets the audience suddenly — then carries on the action.

However, there was enough to appreciate in last evening's presentation for one night, well-organized by the Kinsmen of both cities.

Performing on a strange stage didn't deter the Kingston amateurs. They might have been using it for rehearsals since they first planned the production six weeks ago. In fact, so fast did some of the 25 odd scenes blend into each other, some of the performers were still slipping into the wings while the actors for the next were launching their dialogue.

At times, the pace even left the audience behind. Some encores, of the subtler humorists of the Rodgers and Hammerstein epic drew little reaction. Indeed, however, the whole evening—audience and production—lived up to the "South Pacific" tradition.

The house was packed, the show enchanting, the audience pleased and enthusiastic to demonstrate its pleasure.

And a lot it had to applaud in this demanding show, which saw every member of the enthusiastic Kingston group.

Despite a week's presentation in their home town, the company, both principals and chorus, was in top form for the last night of their production.

Sharing the honors were Pat Arber and Garry Roberts as the two leads. Mr. Roberts seemed more polished than on opening night in Kingston as the middle-aged French plantation owner who falls in love with a small-

Some Taxation Principles

Premier John Robarts has appointed a five-man committee to investigate Ontario's tax structure. This committee will co-operate with the Federal royal commission on taxation.

The Toronto Telegram sees three paramount problems facing the Ontario committee, the heavy reliance of municipal financing on property taxation, the fact that councils must collect taxes levied by school boards without having any control over the amount of these school taxes and "the incidence of double and treble taxes—taxes on taxes."

One might just as well write off the latter problem. It is insoluble, unless we are prepared to depend entirely on one definite system of taxation—whether this tax be on property as with Henry George's single tax, on income or on sales.

No matter what may be said in favor of any of these alternatives, none of them will be adopted. So, in large measure, we shall continue to have taxes on taxes.

The other two major problems mentioned by the Telegram are really one problem—as the Toronto paper itself hints when, in referring to the reliance of municipalities on property taxes, it specifically mentions education as a major burden for payers of property tax.

There is no reason why the cost of education should be borne by the holders of real property. The way to correct this situation is not to devise some alternative tax which can be levied on a local basis, but to have the province take over the full cost of education. The objection that this would eliminate local control over education is largely misleading. In the first place, it is questionable whether local control is desirable. In the second there is now very little, if any, local control over large areas in the administration of our educational system. And in the third place it is quite feasible to design a system which would retain local control of certain phases of school administration in which it still exists, and in which its continued existence is desirable.

The solution here suggested for the problem of relieving property owners of the costs of education provides the pattern for other adjustments which would be necessary to give the property owner the relief he needs.

"The trend," says the Telegram, "has been to greater and greater reliance (by municipalities) on aid from the province. But for the most part, this has been patchwork on a system fundamentally bad."

No reasonable person with any knowledge of municipal financing will quarrel with these assertions. One of the difficulties that has been that the province has been assisting the municipalities to meet some costs which should be properly borne solely by the property owners of a municipality. If these property owners were relieved of the necessity of paying a share of the costs of other services, they would be able to pay for those services which are properly their concern, without provincial assistance.

There was little or nothing wrong with the principle of property taxation when it was instituted. In those days, almost all the services provided by a municipality benefited property owners directly, increasing the value of their property or increasing revenue they could obtain from it. The same is no longer true today.

Property owners should be relieved of sharing in the cost of not only education but such social welfare expenses as provision for the care of the aged, neglected children, deserted families and unemployables. Some new taxation field or fields of relatively minor potential should be opened up to them to meet the cost of such things as providing recreational programs, supporting public libraries and the like. Then taxes on property, at a reasonable rate, would be more than adequate to meet the cost of services directly affecting property - - - such as police protection, fire protection, street maintenance, sewage and waste disposal and the like.

This does not mean that the solution of our taxation problem is easy. Quite the reverse. It will require considerable ingenuity to devise, and more courage to institute, a system of taxation which will distribute the burden properly, making certain that those who must pay certain taxes are those who are able to pay, and those who will benefit from the expenditure.

Today's Youth Not Fired By Ambitions of Past Ages

By RICHARD JACKSON
(from The Ontario Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA — That crusty old curmudgeon, Senator Tom Reid, has said it before, but as with many of his basic home truths, it bears repeating . . .

". . . trouble today isn't that there's so little room at the top, but that so few want to be there."

Happened that there were three bus loads of high school students in from Montreal, making a tour of Parliament Hill and listening to Prime Minister Diefenbaker's inspirational speech for visiting delegations on what a great land it is and a Canadian in this land of endless opportunity to stake a claim in the sun.

This is the speech the Prime Minister always makes to as many of the thousands of visiting students as he can possibly crowd into a House of Commons too-crowded days.

It is a good little speech, and both they and he seem to enjoy it, for he tells them if they keep their noses to the textbook and their eyes on the stars, they can make it to the top.

Any of them, if they apply themselves, he assures the students, might even get to be Prime Minister 30 or 40 years from now.

And, you know, some of them must get the idea, indeed.

WHO WANTS IT?

Senator Reid, who has been around Parliament Hill 33 years and seen even more students than the Prime Minister, wonders.

He questions not that one of them, with the luck and the breaks could be Prime Minister, but that any of them, in this soft and easy day and age, would want it.

He tried it out for size on one of the students who had been listening to the Prime Minister.

"How'd you like to be PM some day?" he asked the boy.

"Sell you the job for a dime", cracked the student.

And he wasn't kidding.

Sure, the old political warhorse agrees with the Prime Minister, there is plenty of room at the top, but that's because boys no longer want to be there.

He has made a point of talking to them as they've come to the Capital to tour the halls of Parliament and watch democ-racy's leaders at work.

And he's been a bit shocked to find so few of them want to be scientists, air marshals, admirals or Cabinet Ministers, that so many of them would prefer to be Government clerks, paper-pushers in big "safe" corporations, even mechanics or truck drivers in any organization large enough to provide a pension.

Everybody wants to be in the rank and file — nobody wants to take the risk and responsibility of leadership.

The blame for this lack of drive and ambition, Senator Reid puts on the parents and what he calls today's "Big Daddy" form of Government.

COZY AND SNUG

Parents, says he, advise their children to get a cozy job with a snug pension.

Schools give them an image of society being firmly secure, permanently in safe and orderly hands, with a built-in guarantee of the Government supermarket basket, continuous, if innocuous television diversion and protection from the envious and dangerous world outside.

Small wonder, shrugs the Senator, that the fires burning can, at 17 and 18, hordes of premature pensioners.

He sums it all up with a small revision of the cynical old prayer.

"God bless the squire and his relations

"And keep us in our proper stations."

The Senator's version:

"God bless 'Big Daddy' and the nations

"Which indicates our proper station."

Trouble is, the Senator feels, challenge has been lacking, and inspiration, with no gleaming vision to fire the imagination.

In the classrooms of his day —and he got his learning in the age of the little red school house — he remembers how "they used to use the inspiration of Empire, pride of race and the glory of national heroes."

Nowadays, Nelson, Drake and even Champlain, Laura Secord and the RCMP have become opened the Canadian West are squares.

When chances go that cheap, it could be, as the Senator says, that the boy just would not want to be Prime Minister . . . or anything else at the top.

CLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

Construction on an auxiliary landing field for the Trenton Station of the Royal Canadian Air Force at the former Camp Mohawk, near Deseronto is proceeding apace. The work has resulted in a large boom for the bayside town and several new residents, who are connected with the construction job project have taken up residence there.

Three persons sustained injuries as the result of being knocked down on city streets over the week-end. While crossing Front Street at the Victoria Ave. intersection, George Wannop was struck by the Y.M.C.A., walked directly into the path of a motor car driven by a resident of Plainfield. Earlier on Saturday eleven-year-old Cliff-ord Hughes of Sidney Street, was knocked off his bicycle at the upper end of Front Street. And while attempting to cross Front Street, Mrs. James Hudgins of Dunbar Street was struck by a motor driven by Fred Bray, Bradshaw of this city.

Dog licenses for the year old should be something of a novelty, but that is exactly what Thos. Hewitt, secretary of the city dog pound found attached to the collar of a beagle hound that he picked up wandering at large over the weekend. The tag had been issued in Sophiasburg Township, Prince Edward County.

Letters to the Editor

Fluoridation Cost Statement Welcomed

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

I was very happy to see John Weese's letter in last Thursday's edition of The Ontario Intelligencer with the true cost of fluoridation to the ratepayers and water users of the City of Belleville.

Mr. Weese states that present facilities are sufficient for now and the immediate future needs but if fluoridation is voted in a new building and equipment costing $36,000 will be needed. Dr. Letersky addressing the East hill ratepayers association said this would have to be debentured over a period of fifteen years with added interest. Mr. Weese states fluoridation would cost $6,000 per year, this is double the cost as stated by the Ontario Fluoridation Investigation Committee report. This states 10c per person per year and in Belleville this figures out to 20c per person. In a letter circulated to all the voters of Willmington, Illinois, in September, 1962, the superintendent of waterworks asked the voters to vote for discontinuing fluoridation which they had had since 1953 because of the numerous breakdowns at the pumping station due to severe fluoride corrosion. He also stated they had found it impossible to maintain one part per million added at the pumping station as in tests it varied from .04 to 14 part per million at taps. The voters of Willmington threw out fluoridation by an overwhelming majority.

Here again the Ontario Fluoridation Investigation Committee report states there is no corrosion from fluoridation and that the present set-up can be maintained.

Referring back to costs, $56,000 plus $6,000 a year or $90,000 for fifteen years makes double a city sum. If the profluoridationists really want to help our children this money could be used for:

1. To help add the badly needed addition to Belleville Collegiate Institute.

2. To add extra school guards at crossings where needed.

3. To add extra stop lights at other busy crossings.

4. To add more recreational facilities and more park and playground facilities.

Any or all of these could save the life of one of your children while fluoridation may prevent them from having a tooth ache.

An editorial in the Toronto Star admits that fluorides cause mild discoloration of children's teeth but states that this only adds to the natural beauty of a child. How gullible do they think people are?

If we are going to add fluorides to medicate our water let's add castor oil, this would bring relief to many. For pennies a day we could add all the vitamins we could also add cod tablets and then we would add flavoring. Mark which flavor you prefer on your ballot. Last but not least we would add aspirin to help clear up all the headaches caused by fluorides etc.

Let's keep Belleville's water pure.

Wm. G. Rowland.

Mr. H. W. Sierchs of New York City, an old Belleville boy is home on a visit.

The Rev. A. S. Kerr, minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church here, will preach in Kingston on Sunday next.

Merchant Opposes Unfair Competition

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

Recently, the city council has been asked to approve the extension of water service by the Utilities Commission to a proposed commercial development to be located outside the city's western limits in the township of Sidney. At the present time, this request is being considered by the finance committee which will make some recommendation in this regard in due course.

It is the writer's understanding some type of discount store is planning to build in this location its plans being predicted on being able to secure city water through an old agreement with Sidney township dating back to a long time before annexation took effect on January 1, 1959, of areas of Sidney and Thurlow townships which then adjoined the city.

At the time of that annexation award, all of the water serviced areas in the townships were included in the award to the city except for a few customers at the west end along No. 2 Highway. I think that all parties concerned regretted, at the time, that this small area had not been included in the city, largely because we knew that problems of the type confronting us now would surely develop.

Belleville merchants are rightly concerned about commercial development just outside the city limits in an area which, at present, has no early closing by-laws. We feel that we can properly consider our interest to be of considerable importance to the city as a whole, pointing out that the downtown area provides about 17 per cent of the total assessment of the city and when the assessments of the plaza and corner merchants are added to this figure, about 20 per cent of all city tax revenue is obtained from commercial properties. If businesses are not successful and close their doors, this percentage goes down and the residential proportion goes up.

I do not wish to imply that we should be free of competition, only that we should be free of unfair competition, and until such time as our neighboring townships pass conforming by-laws as strict as ours, I do suggest that competition from outside our borders should not be allowed to the provision of city services, which we in the city have had to provide and pay for.

When annexation took effect, it gave the city several hundreds of undeveloped acres of land, land which will gradually be built up and require the maximum of services. Perhaps more, of the existing filtration plant and water mains.

Recognizing this fact and recognizing the importance of ensuring growth within the boundaries of the city then as the best means of offsetting continually rising municipal expenses and property taxation, the council in 1959 passed unanimously a motion which established as a matter of policy that no services should be extended to surrounding areas. This policy decision should still be in effect.

In considering the application the committee should remember that during the annexation proceedings conducted in 1959 the councils of the affected townships vigorously opposed, on behalf of the majority of their ratepayers, application of the city, and in so doing, accurately reflected the majority opinion of the properties involved at the time. While they may have felt the eventual result was inevitable, they nevertheless battled for their respective interests as they saw them and as was certainly their right.

In today's circumstances it seems to me that Belleville's council has no choice but to resist, through the means necessary, the provision of further services outside the city limits, services which would lead to the establishment of a commercial enterprise which will provide no revenue to the city and which, indeed, would likely be injurious to 20 per cent of Belleville's assessment base and, indirectly, to practically all other taxpayers in the city. I have learned, in my travels, that there are always two sides to every question. We will no doubt hear alternative views from others when this question returns to council for decision.

The only reasonable answer to unfair store competition is provincially - regulated business applicable to all municipalities alike. If the merchants and their employees would unite along these lines we might yet see this come to pass.

Food and Drug Act Quoted on Fluoride

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

There are many facts concerning fluoridation which seem to be entirely disregarded by the people who are clamoring for the addition of sodium fluoride to the drinking water.

The facts are these: the first of which was clearly stated by Mr. Weese in his letter to the Belleville people, and is the important enough to repeat:

1. The addition of sodium fluoride to drinking is prohibited by the Canadian Food and Drug Act. See division 13, section D15(702. Table B.

2. The Department of National Health and Welfare Food and Drug Div. states in Sect. 2 (9): potable water is a food as defined in Sect. 2 of the Food and Drug Act.

These two facts should be ample reason to vote no on Fluoridation.

Griseofulvin Drug Acts As Antifungal Agent

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is yeast fungus and why does anyone get it? I've had it over a year and have taken arm and it doesn't seem to get any better though several medications have been prescribed.
—Mrs. W. T.

Fungus is a low order of plant life. Like a siderobe, it is found and we have to get along with it as best we can.

Why it infects one person and not another is hard to explain. Some people seem to be more sensitive than others, and certain areas (armpits, groin, feet) are particularly vulnerable.

We might keep in mind that funguses have their uses, too. Penicillin, you know, comes from a form of fungus.

When a case of fungus is feeble to as stubborn as yours, the wise course is to make certain that it is really a fungus infection. This can be done by laboratory cultures and microscopic study of scrapings from the affected area.

Too-vigorous treatment of some cases can irritate the skin even more and add to the infection, so sometimes it has to be a long and difficult process. In the last few years an antifungal agent, griseofulvin, has been discovered which works wonders with many cases, but since there are about a dozen funguses (or fungi, if you are a stickler for Latin plurals of the word) which cause the principal mischief, it is important to be what form is causing you trouble.

Preparations containing griseofulvin in some cases have put an end to infections that had stubbornly resisted treatment for years. They must be taken under medical supervision, and sometimes must be continued for a relatively long time although there are exceptions.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is endocarditis? Does it recur? I know it is a heart disease.
—Mrs. L. C. H.

Right. Endo means within. Cardis is heart. Itis means inflammation. Hence endocarditis is inflammation of the inner lining of the heart chambers, usually caused by streptococcus. Like strep infections elsewhere, yes, the trouble can recur.

Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter, 17, has complained of a lumpy feeling from under her arm down to her breast. It does not hurt but sometimes there are so many reports on breast cancer she is worried sick.

She won't let me take her to a male doctor, and I don't know of a female in this area. I think they are lymph glands. What is your advice?
—Mrs. J. B.

I suspect (just from your letter, and from the fact that she's 17, and because I have spent some time studying anatomy) that what she feels is probably fibs. Or that she is just imagining everything. Or that there may be some enlarged glands. Or she may even be jabbing her overwrought fingers into muscle or two.

At her age, the chance of cancer is remote and you know it. But if she's going to fret that much it is better learn now, instead of later, to decide whether she does or she doesn't have a symptom warranting a visit to the doctor.

And she had better realize that a male or a female doctor looks at symptoms with identical eyes. In short, if she's worried enough to find the right words as well make up her mind to go to a doctor regardless of whether the doctor wears shirts or trousers.

The canal was deepened in 1841, and later further enlarged, but was replaced by a new Welland ship canal with a depth of 27 feet in 1932.

Cattle Now Free to Roam

Windsor Star

This is the time when the stables in the big barns of old Ontario take up their annual seasonal duty. This is to house comfortably and warmly, the cattle and other livestock. The stables which were largely empty during the warm months now are filled to overflowing with every thing from tricky calves to the cows. The warmth of each contributes to the warmth of all. They eat and sleep and keep warm, or both, going outside only for water or exercise.

The reason for many Ontario stables has been changed in the past couple of years. Many their own stall, attached by chain or rope to a manger in front of it, are less have had all or most, of their stalls removed. The cattle now run loose,free to move about at their will and to eat at feed racks at their pleasure. Often the stable doors are left open so they can go in and out as they wish. This means less work for the farmer and the cattle seem to do well.

Underwriters Donate Books To Libraries

As part of a program of public relations local Life Underwriters' Association branch has donated a number of books to the public libraries in the district. The object is hot to try and make experts, but to keep the public well informed so that they can ask the agent questions and have a better understanding of the life insurance they now own.

"Life Insurance Speaks for Itself," by M. Albert Linton, deals with such questions as: Why do you charge different prices for the same thing?; A person is foolish to buy anything but renewable term insurance? When I borrow my own funds you charge me 8 percent!

Other books, The Logic of Life Insurance" by Paul Speichet and "Is It Any Wonder" by Edward Ruse, B.A., F.S.A., answer questions on savings, investments and taxation.

"Life Insurance Applied To Business Needs," published by the Insurance Research and Review Service provides valuable information to the businessman. The problems of sole proprietorship, partnership and close corporation are discussed. This book is regarded as a standard reference for businessmen and their needs.

If anyone is considering life insurance as a career, "Invitation To A Career," by Kenneth Anderson, available at the library, gives an inside picture of the industry and its opportunities.

Members of the association are dedicated to a code of ethics in dealing with the public. A copy of this is also available at the library. Its constitution and by-laws date back to 1906. This story is contained in a book called "The Story Of the Life Underwriters Association of Canada 1906 to 1956."

Welfare Costs Up, Recipients Show Decline

Compared with the month of August and also for the same month last year, the number of persons receiving general welfare assistance in Belleville was down for the month of September, according to a release from the Ontario Department of Public Welfare.

At the same time, however, there was an increase in welfare costs, these reflecting more generous allowances to recipients, particularly in shelter.

Total assistance paid out in Belleville in September of this year was $16,790, as compared with $21,223 in August and $20,436 for September last year. This is a decrease of 20.9 percent.

According to the report there were 662 persons receiving welfare assistance in the city in September. This was a drop from 690 in August and from 718 of the list in September last year.

The decrease in numbers receiving assistance was due to better employment conditions, it was stated.

Lasting Caribbean Peace Likely by Recent Action

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Prospects of a lasting Caribbean peace have not been improved by Fidel Castro's just revealed demands on the United States. What Castro asks, in the view of Washington, is that the United States assure his political survival. This the Kennedy administration is unlikely to do.

Castro's demands include one calling for United Nations inspection to confirm the dismantling of bases for guerrilla operations against Cuba. Castro mentioned Puerto Rico and other areas as alleged centres of activity directed against his regime.

In return Cuba would allow United Nations inspection of military bases in Cuba.

Castro is well aware that what he asks would undoubtedly raise cries in the U.S. Congress that President Kennedy was protecting Cuba's Communist regime from its exile enemies.

In repeating his pledge to keep his troops out of Cuba if Castro agrees to UN inspection, Kennedy has emphasized the pledge does not rule out "the intent to launch a military invasion of the island."

He has said nothing about blocking sneak attacks by civilians armed with weapons obtained from non - military sources or the discouraging of saboteurs and guerrilla forces which may slip into Cuba under cover of darkness.

The heart of American policy on Cuba is to get rid of Castro, perhaps through some combination of economic and social pressures or perhaps through some form of internal political aggravation in which guerrilla operations would play a part.

Although Soviet Premier Khrushchev at first agreed to have his offensive weapons in Cuba removed under the eye of the UN, Khrushchev now appears to be siding with Castro in support of the Cuban contention that the UN has no right to violate Cuban sovereignty by inspection of its military bases.

The U.S. will continue to press for such inspection, but in a rather subdued way. There will be no great outburst—perhaps because of some secret understanding between Kennedy and Khrushchev to cool off the Caribbean crisis.

The U.S. appears sure to continue its aerial surveillance over Cuba and likely will keep the threat of an invasion hanging over Castro's head. The situation may continue virtually unchanged for a long time.

Acclamations For All Offices In Stirling

It was acclamation all the way around for the mayor, at the village of Stirling as all members of this year's council, public utilities commission and public school board were returned without a contest.

Re-elected for his second term as reeve is Graham Moock, with councillors James Chambers, Bert Jones, George Nobel and Robert Anderson.

James Wright received acclamation as public utilities commissioner.

Receiving acclamation as public school trustees for a two-year term were Donald Williams; and Ralph Jeffs, both members of this year's board, and Dr. Peter Briggs, who replaces Ed Warren, who has retired.

Although there will be no election for municipal offices, the village of Stirling will hold a liquor plebiscite on Monday, December 3rd, when residents will be asked to say whether they want liquor and beer stores. Six years ago the same two questions were defeated.

We've got 40 horses that run on chicken feed
The Volkswagen will cruise all day at 72 miles per hour.
Is the city, and on the highway, it averages 38 miles to a gallon of gas.
What's the secret? How does the Volkswagen do so much for so little?
We wish we had a good, simple answer. Instead, there are a lot of reasons that explain the VW's amazing performance.
To begin with, the Volkswagen is lighter than conventional cars. Not only because it's compact, but because of the way it's designed.
For example: there is no radiator or plumbing. (We use air instead of water to cool the engine.)
The Volkswagen has no long, heavy drive shaft that runs from the front of the car to the back. The VW engine is in the rear where it gives direct power to the drive wheels. The weight of the engine provides better traction on ice and snow.
And the engine weighs less because it's made with magnesium. (Magnesium is one of the many products we buy in Canada.)
Take a look at the front of the car and you'll see how we've reduced wind resistance. Instead of a flat grill, like the bow of a barge, the Volkswagen is streamlined.
Enough talk. Your Volkswagen decker has 40 horses all saddled up and ready for a test ride. (Don't be afraid to go for a good run. It costs us chicken feed.)

Cheese Buns and Tulips

by Mary Moore

Ever since I watched the National Bakeoff in New York in September I have wanted to give you the recipe for the Cheese Buns which won first prize in the senior division. You may remember that an Apple Pie won the Grand Prize (25,000.) and I gave you that recipe on October 11th.

TUESDAY

Dinner Menu

Oven Barbecued Spareribs; Mashed Potatoes; Spinach; Tomato and Head Lettuce Salad; Pineapple Chiffon Pie; Tea.

We have made these now and I will give you the recipe. While they were baking I stole time out to plant my Fall 1962 tulips. To make sure my White Triumphators will still look triumphant next Spring, with great caution, I dug in and added some white Giant Darwins to the flower bed on my side wall. In the front I planted alternate groupings of Fosteriana Red Emperor—"fiery red" because the bulb book said they were the crowning achievement of the growers in Holland and that they bloom early. I also planted Lily-flowering "Pootsi" (violet) and "Fascinating" (tall creamy yellow). I found tulip bulbs at least 2" below the surface sprouting. It gives me a tremendous lift to know that down below the ground these precious bulbs are getting ready right now for the Spring of 1963.

Meanwhile, my yeast buns were sitting like mad in the warm kitchen.

CHEESE BUNS

1 package granular yeast

¼ cup warm water
¼ cup instant potato
¼ cup shortening (room temperature)
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cayenne pepper
7/8 cup boiling water
¾ cup evaporated milk
1 cup shredded Cheddar Cheese
1 unbeaten egg
3 1/2- cups sifted all-purpose flour

Soften yeast in warm water and let stand 10 minutes. Mix together instant potato, shortening, sugar, salt, cayenne pepper and boiling water, mixing well. Add evaporated milk, cheese and egg and yeast mixture and mix well. Gradually add 3 cups flour (reserving remainder for flouring board), using hands when it becomes too stiff to stir. Form into ball on floured board (using reserved 1/3 cup). Knead 200 times on board. Place in greased mixing bowl, cover with clean tea towel and place in refrigerator until ready to use. (Or allow to rise until light). If chilled, remove from refrigerator and let rise in warm room until light to touch. Knead down 50 times. Divide in two. Roll each half into long even roll about 15". Cut each into 12 uniform pieces. Smooth top of bun, folding under edges. Dip top of 8 of these in egg white then in poppy seeds. Dip top of 8 more in egg white then in sesame seeds. Place in buttered muffin tins. Shape remaining 8 and place in muffin tins and make deep depression in each with forefinger. Fill holes with mixture of 2 tablespoons each grated cheese and soft butter and 1 teaspoon caraway seeds. Let rise until very light. Bake 20 to 22 minutes at 375 deg. Fahr.

U.C.W. Meetings

WELLINGTON U.C.W.

WELLINGTON — On Tuesday evening, November 15, the meeting of Unit 3 of the Wellington UCW was held in the centennial parlors of the church. Mrs. K. Lane, unit leader, presided and opened the meeting with a poem, "Take Time."

The devotional was given by Mrs. D. McKenzie, accompanied by Mrs. T. Nash at the piano. The theme was "Praise Ye the Lord for Power of Reconciliation and Redemption." Scripture was taken from Colossians. "Be willing to forgive and be forgiven, to love and to be loved." Thus a Japanese philanthropist, Mr. Soda, got his wish to return to Japan after serving over 40 years at the Korean branch of the Kamakura Orphans' Home, Seoul, Korea. Returning, he was building a bridge of love and acceptance between the nations.

Mrs. J. Dart was in charge of the Bible study. Questions were discussed in group, the theme, "The Word and the Way." "What if religion? What turns men to it? What turns people against it? What was Moses escaping from when he met God, and what did his experiences in Exodus 3 make' is religion an attempt to escape from other troubles or a response to the call of God?"

There were one hospital and five home calls made.

In the business period, the leader reminded that there were still 17 boxes of Christmas cards left to sell. Don't forget the bazaar on the afternoon of November 28th; each member is responsible for an item for the tables. Unit 3 is responsible for music for Christmas general meeting, December 11. Unit group is selling United Church Calendars.

Guest speaker for the evening was Mrs. George (Vera) Greer, from Trenton, who was introduced by Mrs. Tom Nash. Bible reading of the Ten Commandments and clippings from the papers, "Is Our Society Lowering Its Moral Standards?" and the theme and group discussions followed.

A film of interest "The Test," taken so study from the "Word and the Way," was shown. Mrs. Greer closed with this food for thought: "Can we be Christians without Pentecost?"

Mrs. Truax favored with a lovely piano solo.

Lunch and a social hour followed.

International Program Given At Carmel W.I.

Mrs. George Graham was hostess on Tuesday evening to the Carmel Women's Institute with 30 members present.

Mrs. Thompson presided and the meeting was opened in the usual manner.

Business was dealt with. A delegate was elected for the area convention to be held in Belleville on December 4th and 5th.

The Christmas meeting is to be held on November 27th when the ladies will eat out. They will have as their guest, Mrs. Keilty, district president.

Mrs. Percy Reynolds, public relations convenor was in charge of the international program. Mrs. Ron Badgley accompanied the singing on the accordion.

The motto, "Give your best to the world and the best will come back to you" was given by Mrs. Reynolds. This was followed by two selections on the accordion by Mrs. Badgley. Mrs. Reynolds' contribution was the highlights of an Institute meeting which she attended in England while visiting there this summer.

Mrs. A. Whitmore gave highlights of the Women's Institutes in Scotland. Mrs. Reynolds gave a short history on the continent of Australia stating it was the last one to be discovered. A humorous outline was given of the size, climate, people, lands, animals, sports, the government and the flag. Following this she read a letter from Mrs. Burle Summers (Kay Homan) who with her husband has spent two years in Australia.

Mrs. Summers outlined the various tasks of the Australian women. The group there are named "Country Women's Association". She said that English customs and way of living are still strong in the homes. Mrs. Summers ended by reading "Best Wishes" to everyone.

Mrs. Homan showed slides of Australian pictures sent to her by Kay which were much enjoyed.

Mrs. Reynolds thanked each and everyone who in any way had helped during the evening and on the lunch committee.

The lunch which was different for this special meeting represented several nations. It was a diplomatic menu.

The lunch table was centred with a globe which was encircled with small flags representing many countries and the menu consisted of "English Fizz" (punch) which was used for a toast for international peace, proposed by Mrs. C. Barlow. The main dish, Seafood Normandy made from a French recipe. The salad was Dutch Apple Sla'. The bread was Swedish bread made from whole rye flour. Cake was Kugelhupf which is Austrian. Cheese, raisin bread and cookies completed the menu along with coffee. tea.

If an Australian had been in the room he would probably say the party was "Bonza" or "dinky dye"! The Australians have a great many words for "terrific".

A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Reynolds for the program.

Parkdale W.I. Enjoys Slides On Japan

The November meeting of the Parkdale Women's Institute was held in the Community Centre hall with 31 members and five visitors present. Mrs. W. Brown opened the meeting.

A most enjoyable potluck supper, convened by Mrs. Priest, Mrs. Hamilton and Mrs. Street, highlighted the evening.

The members were pleased to welcome five ladies from S. Sidney Smith.

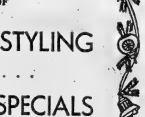
The president, Mrs. Brown, invited the members to her home for the Christmas meeting which will be held December 12th.



Program for the evening included games, current events by Mrs. Wilson, and an interesting motto was given by Mrs. Street entitled, "You May Often Regret Your Speech, But Not Your Silence."

Mrs. Priest introduced Mrs. MacKibbon, who was speaker for the evening. Mrs. MacKibbon gave a most informative talk, assisted with colorful slides, on "Japan."

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

HENRY M. — I hate school. It's so boring.

MRS. J. M.:— There's a good reason for every subject.

HENRY M. — I'm 11 and in the fifth grade. Why must school be so terribly boring? I met a boy at camp last summer who loves school, because he's good in a farm where they don't bother with books. They learn swell things like fixing wagons, and taking care of animals, and gardening and things like that.

Instead of studying things I want to know, I must memorize the latitude and longitude of Newfoundland and practice penmanship. I wish my mother would talk to the principal, so school wouldn't be such a waste of time.

MRS. J. M. — That's what I hear at 8 a.m. every morning and at homework time in the evening. I'm not going to attempt to insist that they teach what Henry wants, or what I want. I have enough confidence in the Board of Education to feel that they know, from long experience, what subjects will help a boy most.

School was boring for me, too. I tell Henry that many a boy who knows farming well whizzes by me more book-learning. Now's the time for the three R's and books, and if he's bored, well too bad. He should be patient. In junior high school he'll get new subjects. I'd like him to study French, etiquette, religion—many things. But it's not up to me or to him.

THE COUNCIL: If everything which people think should be taught in school were added to the curriculum, there'd be no time for the 3 R's—which is the primary reason for school. But if anything is added, we wish to put in a bid for the "Survival Subjects," that is, skills to produce an adult who is "safe."

Recently a Director of Traffic Safety proposed that Driver Education begin in kindergarten, so that the child can become a safe driver, and also a safer from other drivers. This raises a similar argument for the teaching of Psychology in Grade One. Henry would explore what makes Sammy cry so fast! Why does Daddy drink? And how about a neat syllabus in Sex Education, say for Grade Five, and on? This would be real safety education, in the widest meaning of the term. Not merely the physical and chemical aspects of this force would be examined, but also the social, legal and economic ramifications. That's there's the example of France where they teach boys of Henry's age how to help with household tasks.

Come to think of it, the new "teaching machines" being introduced via automation advances may enable children to learn themselves most of the old three R's leaving time and the live, human teacher, for exploration, enrichment and experimentation.

British educator A. S. Neill —Headmaster of Summerhill, a progressive school in Suffolk, England — feels that traditional schools stuff the kids with useless knowledge, such as quotations from the classics, while neglecting vital fields, such as their outlooks on life. "They have been taught to know," he writes, "but have not been allowed to feel."

It should console Henry and his mother to know that curriculums and syllabuses are constantly under scrutiny and up-dating under fire, by some powerful quarter. While doing his lessons, even under protest, Henry may rest assured he's acquiring time-tested tools, through her PTA and other groups, however, his mother can campaign for more, or different, ones. After all, we've come a long way from the early British classes which offered boys only Latin. Greek and football!

Christmas Party Planned

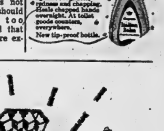
The November meeting of the C.A.R.S. Auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. A. Fewtrell with Mrs. Ross Miles and Miss Hilda Collier, presiding. Final plans were discussed for the bake sale which was held this month.

Arrangements were completed for the patients' annual Christmas party. Entertainment was planned for this occasion.

Patients' welfare report was given by Mrs. A. Fewtrell.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess and co-hostesses, Mrs. A. Gemmell and Mrs. D. McKinney.

SPEAKING OF MANNERS — BY PATRICIA LEWIN



MAIL CALL

QUESTION: We are planning a wedding reception in the near future. It is to include cocktails and dinner in a restaurant. We would like to exclude all children under sixteen. They would generally run around the floor all evening and spoil fun for the adults. Is there any way we can indicate this on invitations? Although we adore them just to bits when other and son. What's designation would be used after the name of a child named for his great-uncle, to show the relationship? — Mrs. L.B., Neepawa, Man.

ANSWER: There's no way of indicating on the invitation, if told, that young children are not invited — although the late hour of the reception should be the necessary tip-off. However, indicating on the inner envelope the names of the children who may attend would help solve the problem somewhat. The outside envelope may be addressed to the parents—omit "and family," which is incorrect anyway and indicate come one, come all — and, under their names on the inside envelope, list names of the children old enough to be included. If one couple, for instance, has three children, and one of them is a five-year-old, the inside envelope should be addressed to "Mr. and Mrs. Jones" and underneath, "Susan and Edward" Since the five-year-old is not included, the couple should correctly assume she is too young to be invited, and that the two older children are expected to attend.

QUESTION: If our next child, due in a month, is a boy, my husband and I would like to name him after an elderly bachelor uncle, who, I'm sure, would be delighted to have his name passed down. When a child is named for his father, we know "Junior." is added to the name to differentiate between father and son. What designation would be used after the name of a child named for his great-uncle, to show the relationship? — Mrs. L.B., Neepawa, Man.

ANSWER: If no one else in the family bears the identical name of your uncle, then your son would use "II" or "2nd" after his name to show that he is the second living member of the family with the same name. The number, of course, would be dropped completely upon the death of his great-uncle.

CRAIG — WALSH

Baskets of white poms and rose carnations formed a lovely setting in St. Charles Borromeo Church, Read for the recent wedding of Monica Ellen Walsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Phillip Walsh of Corbyville, to William John Craig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Joseph Craig, R. R. 6, Belleville, Ontario. The Rev. W. V. Hamilton of Read officiated at the ceremony.

Traditional wedding music was rendered by Mrs. Adrien Callaghan of Read who also accompanied the soloist Miss Roseanne McAvoy of Ivanhoe, cousin of the bridegroom who sang "On This Day O Beautiful Mother", "Jesus At Thy Feet Is Kneeling", "O Lord I Am Not Worthy" and "Ave Maria".

The bride, given in marriage by her father was radiantly lovely in a flowing white nylon over taffeta gown, featuring a scalloped key hole design neckline, adorned with cluster of French Chantilly lace and highlighted with a tightly fitted bodice and full hooped skirt caught up with small nylon bows and French Chantilly roses. Her headdress was a half-crown effect trimmed with seed pearls and sequins from which flowed an elbow length veil of nylon tulle dotted with sequins and pearls. She carried a Bible of Pearl prayer book crested with red roses mingled with ivy and cascading streamers knotted with rosebuds.

Miss Irene Dowling, Belleville as maid of honor wore a rose colored ballerina length dress of organza over taffeta featuring a scooped neckline and enhanced at the back of the full skirt with organza roses. She wore matching headpiece, gloves and shoes. The bridesmaids Miss Mary Craig and Miss Rose Craig of Belleville, sisters of the bridegroom were dressed identically to the maid of honor and all carried bouquets of white Shastas and rose carnations. The little flower girl, two-and-one-half-year-old Miss Karen LaBarge, of Welland was sweet in a similar frock of rose organza over taffeta and she carried a tiny basket of white poms and rose carnations set in trailing ivy.

Mr. Leo Craig, R. R. 6 Belleville, brother of the bridegroom, was the groomsman, while Mr. Maurice Walsh, brother of the bride of Corbyville and Mr. Joseph Craig, brother of the bridegroom were the ushers.

A wedding dinner for about 250 guests was served at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Front Street, Belleville, where the bridal table was prettily appointed with white cloth and centred with a three-tier wedding cake with white swans as pillars, topped with two white doves holding wedding rings and misted about the base with whimsy tulle. Tapering white candles and the bridal bouquets added to the nuptial setting. Following the dinner dancing was enjoyed.

The bride's mother received the guests attired in a medium brown double knit suit; beige accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother who wore a dark green double knit suit, black and gold accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

For the wedding trip to Algonquin Park and other northern Ontario points the bride chose a turquoise double knit suit trimmed with a white agora collar, white furry hat, red black patent shoes and purse.

Guests were present from Detroit, Michigan, Peoria, Welland, Windsor, Midland, Toronto, Belleville, Read, Ivanhoe, Kingston, Lonsdale and Roblin.

Previous to the marriage the bride was honored at a surprise party held at the bride's home-to-be by fellow employees of the Northern Electric, at which time she was presented with a brown Kroehler chair. The bridegroom was presented with an electric frying pan by his fellow employees of Wilson Concrete Products and at happy couple were honored at a reception in the Read Hall by members of the community and were presented with a purse of money and many other useful gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig are residing at R.R. 6, Belleville.

Mr., Mrs. R. L. Zufelt Mark Golden Wedding

An unbroken record of more than 50 seasons in the fall deer hunting camp in Grimsthorpe township was recalled here today by Raymond L. Zufelt, 34 Octavia Street, who with Mrs. Zufelt is observing a half century of married life.

Mr. and Mrs. Zufelt are "at home" this afternoon and evening to a wide circle of friends in Belleville and the immediate area.

A former grocery store operator on Front Street and for many years a car salesman with J. B. Boyce and Sons, Mr. Zufelt returned home from the hunting camp 50 years ago to marry Mabel Helen Wallace, daughter of a fellow Front St. confectionery and bake shop operator.

The couple was married in a quiet ceremony at the home of the bride's uncle in Picton.

"We didn't go on a honeymoon," recalled Mrs. Zufelt. "We took the night train home to Belleville from Picton. Honeymooning wasn't the style then."

"All I remember about the trip is that it was a beautiful moonlight night."

GUESTS AT DINNER

Last Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Zufelt were guests at a family anniversary dinner at the Tops Motor Hotel which was attended by 46 members of the immediate family and other relatives and friends.

Since then the postman has been bringing congratulatory messages from all parts.

Among those sending congratulatory messages were: Prime Minister John Diefenbaker, Premier John P. Robarts and Provincial Secretary John Yaremko, as well as Lee E. Grills, MP for Hastings South, and W. E. "Sandy" Sandercock, MLA for Hastings West.

LOVES OUTDOORS

Fishing and hunting have been mutually enjoyed pastimes for Mr. Zufelt since he was a teen-aged lad.

To help recall the early days in the hunting camp, he has dozens of professional-class pictures of moustached hunters and trophies of the chase.

This year Mr. Zufelt's hunting gang was able to shoot but one moose. No deer were killed.

For many years the couple has owned a summer home on Lake Northport on the Bay of Quinte.

Now 78, the groom of 50 years vividly recalls earlier days in Belleville when Front Street had only a gravel surface and wooden sidewalks.

And he also recalls when as a young boy in school he worked after hours and on Saturdays for Front St. grocery store operators, receiving a salary of $2 per week.

He worked with such former grocery store men as Wallbridge & Clarke, and H. E. Fairfield, before buying out the business of A. J. McCrodan, which he sold in the late 1920's to become a car salesman.

He was with Boyce's for about 25 years, retiring in 1955. For many years he was the official tester for driver's and chauffeur's licences at Belleville.

A former member of the Belleville Board of Education, Mr. Zufelt is also past president of the Belleville Progressive Conservative Club and the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club. He is a member of the Belleville Lodge and affiliated Masonic organizations. Mr. and Mrs. Zufelt are members of Bridge Street United Church.

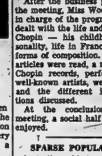
R.M.T. Discuss Life, Works Of Chopin

The monthly meeting of the Ontario Registered Music Teachers Association was held at the home of Mrs. Egerton Boyce. Sister Mary Avila, president, opened the meeting.

To commemorate Canada Music Week, which was from November 18th to 25th, posters were placed in the library and downtown stores; Eugene Lang devoted his program, "The World of Music", to the furthering of interest in Canada Music week and an article was placed in the Ontario Intelligencer.

The winter and spring C.J.B.Q. Scholarship Series, was announced.



Mrs. Martin will convene this coming series.

After the business portion of the meeting, Miss Woodard was in charge of the program which dealt with the life and works of Chopin — his childhood, personality, life in France and his forms of composition. After the articles were read, a number of Chopin records, performed by well-known artists, were played and the different interpretations discussed.

At the conclusion of the meeting, a social half hour was enjoyed.

Federal Govt. Is Nation's Biggest Owner and Renter, Yet Poor Property Manager

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government has $4,000,000,000 invested in land, buildings and structures and pays out $300,000,000 being added every year. It owns more property, and rents more, than any other organization in the country.

Yet, says the Glassco royal commission, the government lacks a proper concept of good property management.

The commission today recommended that the government get itself a property manager by stripping the public works department of its current role and giving it the property job.

Under the proposed setup the works department would become a super-landlord for the whole federal service. It also would take on a fuller construction role, handling all civilian construction responsibilities.

The report says almost every department and federal agency is in the property and construction field, each with its own policy. The result is confusing and wasteful.

The royal commission is critical of the lack of attention to disposal of surplus land.

The revenue possibly could be greater than the outlay on new property, "but there is added public dissatisfaction in storing such properties to productive use and thereby causing them to become a share of the tax burden."

MANY RENTS TOO LOW

A host of federal properties across Canada were being used by others. "Every type of arrangement exists and no consistent policy has been developed." Rents appeared unduly low in many cases, usually because true value was not being considered in setting them.

One of the oddities the report turns up is that the lawn of the Quebec legislature building is owned by the federal government.

As an example of what could be avoided, the report says that on a selected date in 1961 there were 2,347,000 square feet of vacant space in buildings occupied by government. "Information of this sort is needed constantly for property assignment and reassignment and for prompt identification of excess property and surplus property."

SALMON CROWDS

SALMON ARM, B.C. (CP) — Crowding conditions were worse on land than in the water causing salute to sockeye celebrations here. Cars reached bumper to bumper for miles as the salmon ran up the Adams River. The run was estimated at 1,000,000 fish.

'LONG-TERM' LEADER

BELFAST (CP) — Lord Brookeborough has become Northern Ireland's longest serving prime minister. He recently passed Lord Craigavon's record of 19 years 176 days. The Commonwealth record is the 21 years served by Canada's Mackenzie King.

Check Given Regulations 'Perfunctory'

OTTAWA (CP)—At times only "a somewhat perfunctory check" is made of draft federal government regulations before they are put into force, the Glassco royal commission on government organization said today.

The reason is that the volume of the regulations sometimes exceeds the legal facilities for reviewing them, the commission group reported. In one recent year there were 578 federal regulations which filled 1,618 pages of the official Canada Gazette.

Although it cited no case where a regulation may have exceeded the government's power to make it or infringed on anyone's rights, the commission reminded the administration:

"Regulations reflect the delegation of discretionary power to ministers and their officials and, as part of the law of the land, warrant the most careful attention being paid to their form, and to consistency with statutory powers and the Canadian Bill of Rights."

In its second of five reports to the government, the commission took a close look at the federal legal service embracing about 320 lawyers. The report found that only 42 are in the justice department.

There are 72 in the defence department—"possibly the largest number of lawyers working within a single organization in Canada"—and the others are scattered through various departments and agencies.

With interdepartmental transfers rare, the commission found many federal lawyers are in "professional isolation." Some also were getting so involved in departmental policy - making that their capacity for impartial legal advice became impaired.

For this among several other reasons, the commission recommended creation of an integrated federal legal service in which most of the isolated lawyers would be brought under justice department.

The practical result would be to add 100 lawyers to that department.

The report revealed the justice department has promoted 13 of its lawyers to supervisory positions, thus creating "an unrealistic hierarchy of managerial positions as an escape from the restrictions on top professional salaries."

Aim of the department was to keep its senior lawyers from moving out into private practice.

Justice department lawyers classified as advisory counsel now are ranked in three salary grades ranging from $4,740 a year to $9,540. An added class of senior advisory counsel commands a top salary of $13,750.

In 1950, average income of Canadian lawyers was $14,123.

Communication Systems Hit For Overlaps

OTTAWA (CP)—Overlapping and duplication in federal communications systems was reported today by the Glassco royal commission on government organization.

Its report, second of five, called for central planning and authority of the systems. The lack of it so far was described as "damaging to the public purse and to the efficiency of federal administration alike."

The report covers the administrative-as distinct from operational—facilities of the armed forces, the various networks of the transport department, the RCMP, the external affairs department and the CBC. All told these cost $52,000,000 a year to operate.

Excluded from the investigation were those of the telegraph and other communications facilities, those of TCA and Canadian Overseas Telecommunication Corporation.

In general, the three-man commission found existing government communications for administrative purposes to be "barely adequate for the present needs and inadequate for the immediately foreseeable future."

Defence communications were reported to be in better shape, mainly because financial limitations were less stringent. However, the report also said:

"... But here the lack of unified planning and failure to take account of non-defence needs—both governmental and public—has inflated costs, curtailed flexibility, and may delay modernization or make it excessively expensive."

The commission praised the technical strength, engineering and efficiency of most of the systems, such as they are. But its blue ribbon went to the CBC. There CBC makes extensive use of commercial facilities for its radio and TV networks, renting circuits for eight or 16 hours a day on contracts lasting five or 10 years. It calls tenders two years in advance, leaving suppliers free to integrate CBC and other services.

"In all aspects of this operation — planning, procurement, utilization and quality control—consistently high level of efficiency was found. Adequate planning and control have ensured virtually full utilization."

'DRESSING-UP' URGED

"Simply to print does not guarantee that it will be read.

"The true demand for a publication will not be realized unless the style attracts attention, potential readers know of its existence, and copies are made conveniently available. Without the publisher, the author may have limited success in supporting departmental objectives."

Publishing was defined as the whole process of selecting and editing the material, arranging for its printing and binding and finally promoting the sale.

Government publications now range from the parliamentary debates to a pamphlet on mushroom collecting for beginners, from the Bill of Rights to local tide tables, and crop reports to an atlas.

In 1961 an interdepartmental committee was set up to check on the contents, need, quantity and distribution of all this material. Today's report says that committee hasn't even met for three years and has been "largely ineffectual."

Meanwhile, published titles are growing at the rate of 10 per cent a year. Someone has to catalogue, stock and sell "the publications, the commission said.

"At present, few even within the government know what a storehouse of information the government has available, and often do not know how or where to find it."

Suggest 'Queen's Publisher' To Promote Greater Sales

OTTAWA (CP) — Exit the Queen's Printer. Enter the Queen's Publisher.

This scrapping of one historic job and creation of another was recommended today in the second report of the Glassco royal commission on government organization.

It said printing should be left to the printers—in the government's case, a printing bureau operated as a "separate industrial activity" that would use half its capacity to supply official papers and the other half in competitive printing.

The Queen's Publisher then would emerge, free for the first time to devote his talents to publishing. The present $20,000-a-year job of Queen's Printer—held by Roger Duhamel—now requires supervision of both printing and publishing.

The Glassco commission said many public servants are doing research, compiling statistics, analyzing problems—the results of which will benefit the public only is they are communicated to others.

Civil Service Makes Phone Status Symbol

OTTAWA (CP)—Add the telephone to the growing list of status symbols.

The Glassco royal commission on government organization reported today that phones are being allocated in the federal civil service on the basis of rank and arbitrary rules, instead of need.

Said the commissioners:

"Instead of regarding the telephone as an efficient tool to be placed in the hands of the worker who needs it, it is still in government circles regarded somewhat as a slightly extravagant status symbol—the sort of attitude which would award the shovel to the foreman and leave the laborers to dig with their hands."

The report also said that existing standards of equipment and service in federal departments and agencies are "seriously deficient."

A government private line connects officials in Ottawa, Montreal and Toronto. But it takes so long to place a call on the line that urgent calls commonly are placed on commercial lines.

In one building—not identified in the report—federal officers operating 13 separate switchboards until, on one department's recent initiative, they were consolidated. Initiative of this sort was described by the commissioners as exceptional.

Glassco Report Suggests National Parks Commission

OTTAWA (CP)—Removal of national parks from direct government control through establishment of a national parks commission is urged in the second report of the Glassco royal commission on government organization.

It suggests a review of national park policy to make the parks self-sufficient, give residents of parks more say in the operation of their townsites and strengthen the authority of park chiefs.

The new commission should be made up of people from outside the government service. Their job would be to develop the parks on a self-sustaining financial basis.

The report, released today, is critical of the low revenue from parkland timber harvesting.

In 1960-61, timber permits and royalties yielded only $24,000 — a meagre return indeed from almost 12,000 square miles of park lands.

The National Parks Act was called a "contradiction" in that it dedicates the parks to the people "for their benefit, education and enjoyment," then goes on to state that they must be maintained so as to leave them unimpaired for future generations.

These two aims "may well become increasingly irreconcilable as public use increases, with an accompanying further development of the nine existing townsites and continuing construction of roads and trails," the commission reports.

'DROP ONTARIO PARKS'

Reviewing the 17 parks, it notes that the three small ones in Ontario are particularly useful and suggests they be dropped from the federal system.

Because most of the major parks are in Western Canada, the proposed commission should make its headquarters close to them. A regional office could be located in the Atlantic region to look after the eastern parks.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Plenty...

If it happens to be the name of your community. Yours and mine is Belleville and you will place the future of Belleville in the hands of elected representatives Dec. 3rd. In this respect

I SEEK ELECTION AS MAYOR

In so doing, I do not seek the name of the office only, I seek its function to enlighten a situation I honestly believe is building up in city hall, and one which eventually will do little to enhance progressive administration in this city of ours. It strikes at the very roots of our principles of local government — and it must be halted.

(I do not here outline all my reasons for seeking office. I have time to tell that story both personally and in more general fashion through newspapers, TV and radio in the days before election. You will be hearing from me about those reasons regularly — and insistently).

"Honest and efficient government" is a tired old phrase. But, in a way, it can be applied to my reasons for contesting any re-election this year and to this city's mayoralty. I am not questioning any downfall of honesty of staff efficiency at city hall. After these years on council I believe that such a suggestion would be ridiculous. But I do seriously question if there is enough attention being paid to the responsibilities of government by representation in city affairs.

The mayor of such a large business corporation as the City of Belleville has become, must be prepared to give his undivided attention to the affairs of his municipality. It is a demanding task, yes, but it must be faced.

He must be prepared to shoulder the responsibility of laying a decision before his council and backing it up openly and publicly.

All this requires several attributes in a candidate: Honesty, Efficiency, Vitality, Decisiveness; above all, the ability to be available at all times.

My time is readily available and I guarantee that time in the interests of you, the citizens and taxpayers.

I SOLICIT YOUR SUPPORT AND VOTE ON DECEMBER 3rd.

Plan Medical

who will be affected by it, a committee composed of representatives of medical, hospital, labor and other groups will be appointed to examine the legislation and to receive representations from all interested parties before the provisions of the bill are brought into effect.

"Your government is also of the opinion that before any consideration can be given to benefits broader than those mentioned, the report of the royal commission on health appointed by the federal government and any recommendations it may contain, particularly in regard to participation by the federal government, must be examined."

Both the Liberal and New Democratic parties have unveiled schemes which involve prepaid, government - sponsored insurance similar to that in force in Saskatchewan. Each of the parties has indicated its medical care scheme will be a major plank in its platform for the next provincial election, expected next year.

The throne speech statement indicated legislative action in keeping with suggestions by the government in a brief to the health commission Oct. 16.

Premier Robarts said in a preamble to the brief that he did not believe a medical care plan should be compulsory. He later added that "from a practical administrative standpoint it might also be necessary to require a certain degree of group participation as was found in the case of our hospital insurance plan . . ."

The throne speech also announced that enrolment in Ontario's hospital insurance plan has reached 97 per cent of the province's population. The speech said that the legislature will be asked, for the third straight year, to provide $30,000,000 to prevent any increase in subscribers' premiums.

In a section on welfare the speech said a Children's Institutions Act will be presented to the House "for the purpose of extending the provincial assistance provided to charitable institutions to those that provide instructional care for children who require specialized attention and services in a group setting."

The act will also provide for an increase in provincial assistance to all such institutions and encourage development of new facilities for treatment of the retarded.

Another bill will place assistance to Indian mothers on the same basis as that given the rest of the community.

TO AID CHILDREN

Several new measures are to be introduced providing greater assistance to "less seriously retarded children"—those not requiring care in an Ontario Hospital.

The Homes for Retarded Children Act will provide for grants of $2,500 a bed to local associations which provide residential facilities for retarded children. Maintenance assistance will also be provided under the act.

The speech said the government plans to incorporate as part of its tuberculosis treatment program a system of follow-up care for patients discharged from sanitoria.

Must He Take Her to the Door?

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS—I do not have a car but whenever I meet my girl friend down town and have coffee with her, we get into a little problem about my taking her home by bus.

You see, the bus stop is in front of her house, about a fifty-pace distance, and she feels it's ridiculous for me to escort her home and make a double trip.

My argument is that I don't like to see her go home alone, especially at night. I'd rather see her home safely myself. — RIGHT OR WRONG?

DEAR RIGHT—Ridiculous though it may seem, you are right. She should be seen safely inside her door before you go home yourself.

* * *

DEAR DORIS—As I'm a mother-to-be, where could I get a booklet of names for babies, both girls and boys?—MOTHER-TO-BE.

* * *

DEAR MOTHER TO BE—Your nearest public library or book store can obtain this type of book for you.

DEAR DORIS—I have been married for twenty-eight years and have a family of five. Ever since we've been married, my husband has been running around with other women, but each time I found out about it, I tried to forgive him and take him back, however each time it hurt a little worse. The last part is, now he is having an affair with a woman whom I thought was my best friend, and it has been going on for over three years and now she has a child by him.

The knowledge of this affair is just tearing my heart out. I can't eat, I can't sleep and I'm a complete nervous wreck. The children, all boys, the youngest is 12, have heard about this affair as this is just a small town and they are thoroughly disgusted with their father. They have tried to talk to this woman, she's 44, and she says it is nobody's business what she and their Dad are doing.

I have tried to make my husband see that he needs help, but he just scoffs at the idea. He has even gone so far as to beat me up, knocking out several of my teeth, and I hate to go to the police as it would cause a lot of nasty gossip. — I. M. F.

DEAR I. M. F.—He banks on your not making a fuss. Right now gossip is doubtless going on about how blind and stupid you are.

Make your choice. Either you take no action and condone the wrong; or you demand a showdown. If he beats you up, call the police. Your children deserve a better set-up than your present one.

Turn the gossip in your favor.

DEAR DORIS—I have been going steady now for three weeks with a wonderful guy who lives eighty miles away. My problem is that he finds it very hard to write, as he is in grade 12, and does work on the weekends. I try to understand that he doesn't get much of a chance to write, but still get annoyed with him in taking so long to reply.

We liked each other very much, but I am getting a little depressed with waiting for him to write. What should I do? —DEPRESSED.

DEAR DEPRESSED—Try enclosing an envelope with a stamp on it and a blank sheet of paper. Then learn to put up with some neglect.

Inability to write letters is practically universal. This habit is hard to come by. But where the distant correspondent is your Nearest and Dearest, daily letter writing and receiving can become the greatest joy in life.

costs less for a department to do the job itself—was tackled vigorously by the commission. Many public servants believe government work is cheaper than private enterprise.

"They ignore the fact that true costs exceed the figures provided by their accounts by 50 per cent or more."

Some specific points made in the report:

The publicly-owned CBC, with 865 employees in Montreal and Toronto to stage its TV programs, including 100 carpenters, should adopt a "positive rather than restrictive" policy for working with private enterprise and divest at least one-third of its staging work to outside contractors. The annual volume would be about $1,000,000.

The National Film Board, set up to promote film production, obtained only $144,723 worth of films from private firms in 1961-2 while turning out $3,824,551 worth itself. Even the CBC was promoting the private film industry more than the board, whose outside contracts were are only half what they were in 1957.

CAFETERIA COSTS HIGH

Although government policy is to provide cafeterias for civil servants only if it doesn't mean loss of public funds, the works department has provided the cafeteria operators — without charge — $10,000,000 worth of equipment from light stocks to coffee urns, plus free services worth about $2,500,000 a year.

The army is spending $13,000,000 a year to maintain the 1,200-mile Alaska Highway. The job fell to the army originally because there were no private facilities in the area. These facilities would never appear unless the army progressively shifted the job to outside contractors. Anyway, in event of war the maintenance would have to be moved to civilian management or continued by the army at the expense of more vital jobs.

National defence headquarters in Ottawa has 20 photographers turning out black-and-white photos for use in public relations, when nearly all the work could be done equally well by commercial photographers.

The transport department could realize savings "not only of money but in administrative distraction" by ending its $250,000-a-year job of making and repairing navigation aids. The work now is being done in 20 shops, but the commission found that "the present plant is too large, the equipment obsolete, utilization far from efficient, and the working tempo low." Numerous industrial shops could do the work.

One Govt. Dept. Pays $2 for Oil Another Gets It for 47 Cents

OTTAWA (CP) — Government agency X buys a certain size oil tire for $24.44. But government department Y buys the same tire for $12.94.

One department gets hibrietsing oil for $2 a gallon. Another is paying 47 cents.

With these and other examples, the Glassco royal commission on government organization suggested today that it is time for the federal government to set up a single purchasing agency.

It proposed that the present defence production department, which does all the country's defence buying, be renamed the department of purchasing and supply and given the job of civilian purchasing as well.

The report notes the vast range of government purchases. "These vary from paper clips and pencils to icebreakers and jet aircraft, from missiles to school books and from gasoline to warships."

They cost $1,000,000,000 a year.

RED TAPE COSTLY

Government purchasing policy lacked uniformity, the report said. Huge costs were created by unnecessary red tape. For every $100 purchased, the salary of purchasing personnel was $1.34. Some departments had 32 steps in processing a purchasing order.

GOOD HUNTING

HALIFA X (CP) — Wildlife biologists say Nova Scotians can expect to harvest indefinitely one deer per square mile in the province each year. This would be about 21,000 a year, some 4,000 or more than last year, but well below the average for the last 20 years.

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

National Hockey League owners are holding a special meeting in Detroit tonight where they will consider plans to draft junior hockey players annually when they reach 18 years of age.

Observers feel that if adopted the new proposal could dramatically alter the face of amateur hockey as it is today. It would, for one thing, make individual pro sponsorships an unnatural operation and almost certainly lead to an end to them.

It would very likely lead to sponsorships of leagues in some degree, and might very well bring back the local owner to the game.

The NHL brass meeting is being held prior to a testimonial dinner being given Jack "Jolly Jawn" Adams in the Motor City.

The draft proposal is not a new one. Staff Smythe of the Maple Leafs, has been advocating the draft to replace sponsorships for the past two years. He said in Toronto Friday night that he had been working on the plan for some time but couldn't put it across. The OHA turned it down but Smythe feels the plan has much more backing now than then.

The Montreal Canadiens who formerly opposed the plan are reported to have a change of heart, albeit with qualifications. The Chicago Black Hawks, it is reported, is the only club yet to be convinced.

Smythe said the decision would have to be unanimous and is not sure it will get the green light this time out, but is confident the plan will ultimately be adopted.

The plan would work along the lines of the football draft with the lowest National Hockey League clubs getting the first chance.

One idea, the story goes, is to give teams which have a player drafted the sum of $2,000, plus another $2,000 if the player signs a pro contract. There would be no listing of players or signing of any players to forms prior to the draft since this would not protect them.

Smythe claims the move would not require any alteration in the pro-amateur agreement and is simply an arrangement among the pros governing pro rights.

It is felt that amateur officials may not share this view. The CAHA approached the NHL some time ago asking to be kept informed of the rumored move.

Smythe believes that adoption of the draft plan would create more local interest, with local men getting back into the hockey picture and able to assemble topflight junior clubs without having to worry about pro restrictions.

"There would not be any point in a pro team spending thousands of dollars to import a team for some community because they would have no guarantee they would get the players," Smythe said.

Under the Smythe plan the ablest amateur operators would reap the benefit of their own team planning and administration. Increased emphasis on home development of players is another likely outcome of such a plan.

The benefit to the pros would be a more balanced competition in the long run with the probable immediate prospect of a reduction in farm system expenditures.

We had a case in point in the city a short time ago of a 16-year-old player being "drafted" by a National Hockey League club and sent to a junior "B" club for seasoning. The Booster Club received $300 for the transaction after they decided to let the pro club have its way.

The plan, as I understand it, would do away with the vicious "C" form by which a youngster sells his hockey life to a professional club for a mess of pottage.

FIND MOOSE DISEASED

QUEBEC (CP) — Jean-Marie Brassard, a biologist with the Quebec game and fisheries department, said Monday an examination of the lungs and liver of a moose shot in Laurentide Park during the fall hunting season has shown that some of the animals were diseased.

He said the moose meat could be eaten safely by humans, however.

Mr. Brassard said examination showed the lungs of the moose contained parasites of a type which were thought to be carried mainly by wolves. He did not say how many animals were affected.

Western Players Dominate All-Stars

By WILF GRUBON

TORONTO (CP)—The West, nearly supreme rulers of Canadian professional football for the last four years with six Grey Cup victories, today decisively outclassed the East in selections for the first Canadian Press all-Canada all-star team.

The choice of 15 western players against nine from eastern clubs for the 24 positions on the offensive and defensive squads reflected the resurgence of the West as a football power since 1954 and its superiority, in particular, this year—the second season of the Canadian Football League's partial interlocking East-West schedule.

The 54 selectors—evenly divided between the West and East — named seven western players for the offensive team and seven for the defensive squad. The East placed four men on offence and five on defence.

This year the West won 12 of 20 interlocking games, lost seven and tied one. Last year the East had the edge with 11 wins, seven losses and two ties.

Balloting for the all-star team was conducted for CP by the Football Reporters of Canada in the late season cir...

PICK 6 STAMPS

The voters, whose ballots were weighted to give equal balloting strength to each city in the western and eastern conferences, picked six players from Calgary Stampeders—three for the offensive team and three for the defensive unit.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Hamilton Tiger-Cats, who will meet in the Grey Cup game next Saturday for the fifth time in six years, both landed four men on the team—two on each squad. Saskatchewan Roughriders placed two offensive positions and one defensive berth and Toronto Argonauts for one spot on both teams.

Edmonton Eskimos and Montreal Alouettes each got one position on the offensive unit. No player from British Columbia Lions or Ottawa Rough Riders made the offensive team but two Rough Riders and one B.C. performer were chosen for defence. Both Edmonton and Montreal failed to win a spot on the defensive team.

There were no unanimous choices. George Dixon, Montreal's spectacular running ace, came closest with his selection by all but one sports writer. Dixon, the University of Bridgeport in Connecticut, the East's leading ground gainer and one of the outstanding player in the country and a unanimous choice in the voting for the Canadian Press Eastern Conference all-star team announced two weeks ago, oddly enough missed out on a clean sweep by failing to get one of the seven votes.

The six - foot, 195 - pound ground - gaining Dixon practically was the starting point of attack. An elusive, tricky and driving runner, he led the Eastern Conference in scoring with 15 touchdowns for 90 points and set a league rushing record of 1,120 yards, gaining 1,600 yards a carry.

Defensive halfback Harvey Wylie of Calgary Stampeders, nominated by the West as the outstanding player in the country, was picked by all but three selectors. The veteran, who played in the United States with Montana State College before joining the Stampeders, was a unanimous choice on CP's Western Conference all-star team.

DAY EARNS WINNER

Calgary's Eagle Day easily won the quarterback spot over Winnipeg's Kenny Ploen and Ottawa's Russ Jackson, the first Canadian in 18 years to be named the quarterback choice on CP's Eastern Conference team. Day was also the quarterback choice on the western all-star squad.

An accomplished passer and good ball-handler, he was chosen by 19 selectors, double the number who picked Ploen. Jackson received seven votes.

Top Cat Howls Old Refrain

'Whomp Hell Out Of Em'-Trimble

HAMILTON (CP)—The threat of seeing Winnipeg football fans armed with guitars, banjos, ukuleles and steady beats hasn't stopped Jim Trimble from being brash.

The coach of Hamilton Tiger-Cats continues to speak his mind about the outcome of Saturday's Grey Cup game in Toronto between the Ticats and Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

"We'll whomp the hell out of the West," has been Jungle Jim's favorite quote. He has also said: "We'll waffle them" and "we are tired of softpedalling them, which is what we did the last two years."

It sounds like 1958, when the Bombers dumped the Ticats 35-28 in the annual cup classic.

Trimble was outspoken that year, too. Winnipeg fans didn't let him forget it.

They composed a parody on a well-known tune of the day.

It went: "Hang down your head, Jim Trimble, hang down your head, you've lost the game."

When the same teams met in the cup in Los Angeles last year, Trimble was relatively quiet.

MADE NO DIFFERENCE

It was a good thing, because the Bombers won 21-7 in 1959 and 21-14 in the second overtime game of the season. Trimble wasn't as brash, the Winnipeggers let the song die. They had their own problems. Like a legitimate farm worker—tractor driver, combine operator, etc.

"But," said Pravda, "don't believe Soshnikov—all of them together haven't done a day's work."

Some Western sports officials have made similar charges of professionalism against Soviet athletes in general-nearly, that they are professionals supported by the state and are not true amateurs.

They Forgot To Take Olympic Oath

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet collective farms were accused Monday of maintaining professional soccer teams rather than investing their money in farm equipment.

The accusation was made by the official party newspaper Pravda, which singled out for criticism a farm in the Slavyanski district of the Krasnodar territory, near the Black Sea.

The farm's name: Road to communism.

For details, Pravda quoted the farm's head bookkeeper, Pavel Demidenko, who reported: "For the second year in a row, 16 soccer players are living on the collective farm. Each is receiving a monthly salary, plus restaurant money, plus guaranteed funds, plus travelling expenses. All told, each gets up 100 rubles (.$212) a month."

The average industrial worker earns about 80 rubles a month.

Pravda said the soccer team was defended by the farm's chairman, Mikhail Soshnikov, who claimed each player was a legitimate farm worker—tractor driver, combine operator, etc.

Pravda said the chairman told Soshnikov—all of them together haven't done a day's work."

Bombers Count Injuries

'No Place to Practice'

By GRAHAM COX

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers head for Toronto today to start working out for Saturday's Grey Cup battle against Hamilton Tiger - Cats. The big question:. Where will they be able to practise?

The Bombers, who Saturday won the Western Football Conference title against Calgary Stampeders and their fifth shot at the Grey Cup in six years, had expected their practices to be held at Varsity Stadium in mid-central Toronto.

They discovered Monday that the field, near basic hotel quarters, has been plowed and harrowed in an attempt to salvage it after a wet Eastern intercollegiate season.

"I don't know where we will practise," said Bud Grant, coach of the defending Grey Cup kings.

"I don't know if we'll be able to practise anyway," chipped in line coach John Michels, referring to the Bombers' list of wounded.

Winnipeg, in defeating Calgary 12-7 in the third game of the best-of-three western final, suffered a number of troubles in the injury department.

The torn cartilage suffered by former linebacker Gordie Rowland will keep him out of action in Saturday's classic.

"I don't know who we're going to use in his place," said Grant. "I haven't had a chance to think about it, but we'll find somebody."

Also injured are linebacker Gar Warren, Charley horse and puffed knee; fullback Charlie Shepard, sore back; linebacker Dave Burkholder, bruises; defensive tackle Roger Savoie, strained rib cartilage, and linebacker Jack Delveaux, stiff neck and sore shoulder.

"But Gordie will be the only one who won't play," Grant said.

The list was such that Grant chose to pass up even a light run Monday in favor of an hour's look at movies of the Ticats in action.

"It's the first we've seen of them since we beat them 16-10 on our trip East during the regular season," Grant said.

"We hadn't seen (quarterback Joe) Zuger before. Last time we played them he was on defence and punting."

Asked what he expects of the Tiger-Cats in the big game, Grant said: "Beginning. That's why they're there. They can do everything."

Departure Scuttles Track Team

Boys 'Sneered At' Jerome

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Harry Jerome of Vancouver, who quit the British Empire Games in Perth unexpectedly Monday, arrived here by plane today on his way home.

Commenting on his last-place finish in the 110-yard dash final, he said:

"I do not understand what happened to me in the final.

"The physiotherapist told me it was all right and my left thigh was just a little bruised. I felt okay and thought I could run but I could not.

"I still am not sure what happened. Halfway through the race I felt as if I'd hit a brick in my lane and bang! I was finished! Perhaps I became rundown without knowing it. They wanted to keep me in Perth another two weeks but what the hell would I do there? I cannot run, and Perth means nothing to me."

594 bylines v Sydney nov27l
1st add Jerome 594 . . . me."

The departure of the 22-year-old sprinter left the Canadian track team at the British Empire Games badly disorganized. Without Jerome, at 4 inches, the sprint relay team is scuttled—there are only three sprinters left. He also was counted on in the mile relay.

DOCTORS WARN HIM

He indicated he was going home after Dr. George Bedrock, an orthopedic surgeon, examined his Negro patient.

His verdict was: "If this chap doesn't get treatment he could be out of racing for life." He added: "This is urgent."

Bedrock said one head of Jerome's quadriceps, in his left leg is damaged. In layman's language, he was referring to a damaged thigh muscle.

Tipped that Jerome was leaving home, the Canadian team headquarters confirmed the report and coach Fred Foot of Toronto dejectedly commented "The sprint relay is out."

Sir Arthur Porritt of London, chairman of the British Empire Games Federation and an international sports surgeon himself, examined the athlete at Canadian headquarters and said that he "definitely agrees with the diagnosis."

WILL OPERATE

Team general manager Charles W. Wayland of Montreal said Jerome would undergo leg surgery after his arrival home.

But Sir Arthur was not as concerned. Without an operation, he said, the injury could heal in several weeks.

After Sir Arthur's examination, Jerome said: "I just want to go home without my wife." He started to pack his bags.

Thus ended another chapter in the fantastic career of Jerome, who hit the world sports pages July 15, 1960, when the Canadian set a world 100-metre record at 10 seconds flat in the Canadian Olympic trials as Saskatoon.

He pulled up lame near the halfway mark in the Olympics 100-yard dash semi-finals and there was talk he had wilted under pressure and that he quit. This made him a prime target here.

The "I told you so" boys were in full voice when he finished last Saturday in the sprint trials. They sneered at him in the main stadium dressing room although he did get his injury in that race when he over-reached on his stride and pulled a muscle in the left thigh

Our Rowing Gold Medals String Cut

UBC Four Finishes Third

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

PERTH, Australia (CP)—Canada's British Empire rowing gold medals was snapped today when the University of British Columbia boat without cox finished third in the last event of the three-day rowing program.

The Canadians appeared to have second place wrapped up, but a strong-striking crew from Wales shipped in on the outside to beat the Vancouver oarsmen by about half a length and just failed to catch the winning English quartet.

The three crews were almost even at the halfway mark of the 2,000 - metre course. England took the lead at the 1,000-metre mark and led from then on in a thrilling race.

The Welshmen were stroking at about 38 a minute as they spurted across the finish line in a record time of 6 min. 34.6 minutes, 31.1 seconds. Wales, clocked at 6:32.5, put on a tremendous spurt to pass Canada near the finish. The UBC time was 6:34.4.

REACHES FINALS

The UBC four was the only Canadian crew to reach the rowing finals.

In the two previous BE Games—at Vancouver in 1954 and Cardiff, Wales in 1958—a UBC eight won gold medals and in the 1958 Olympics a UBC four without cox captured a gold.

Four Games recorees were set in the six rowing finals, three of them in England which emerged as the top Commonwealth rowing nation with three gold, one silver and two bronze medals.

The UBC four comprised Tommy Gray (No. 3), Roy McIntosh (No. 4) and Eldon Wormleiff (stroke), all of Vancouver, and Tom Stokes (No. 2) of Richmond, B.C.

They said they had no alibis. "They were the better crews, that's all," declared coach Larry Bell of Vancouver.

Appearing downhearted, he added that the Canadian shooting for rowing was "quite a drop from the past" in the medals department. "On the whole, the crews over here are more versatile than we are. They can handle their boats in all conditions—headwinds or tailwinds. Our four preferred a light tailwind and instead we got strong tailwinds."

PRAISED

West praised the four, saying it gave a good account of itself in experienced crews. He said the English boat had "practically the same crew that last year won the four without cox in the 1958 BE Games. The Welsh crew was a strong build to rowed cleanly.

Earlier today, West scratched a matchless four from the UBC eight. It was supposed to be an added starter but it withdrew after looking at a borrowed boat from the Swan Boat Club of Perth.

The big prize, the eight-oared gold medal, was won by Australia in the 6:20.6 record time of five minutes, 53.4 seconds. Australia nosed out New Zealand by just two feet.

The Australians bettered the previous mark of 5:53.1 set by the University of British Columbia eight in the 1958 Games at Cardiff, Wales. UBC was eliminated in the eight-oared competition Monday but Australia survived a first- heat loss to win today.

New Zealand was second and England third.

England picked up a pair of gold medals in the double sculls and coxless pairs, also in record times. In each event, New Zealand was the runnerup for the silver medal while Australia won the bronze for third.

WINS DOUBLES

In the double sculls, England won by half a length and was timed in 6:59.3, clipping 43 seconds off the record set by an English duo in 1958. New Zealand was caught in 6:54.5 and Australia in 7:01.4.

England's coxless pairs also set a record mark of 7:37.8 while clocking of 7:37—8.3 seconds better than the mark made by Dawn Fraser's 4:11.0. Old record New Zealand was timed in 7:08.5 and Australia in 7:10.3.

With a record clipping 4.3 seconds from a new clubhouse overlooking the Canning River, New Zealand's Jim Hall won the single sculls championship. Phil Barry of England was second and Ian Tutty of Australia third.

Hill grabbed the gold medal in 7:27.7, winning by 3½ lengths.

The minor league season was highlighted by a player draft in which the majors shelled out a record $685,000 for 56 minor league players, including 45 first - year men. The minors doubled to about 20 years ago in lower classification at a cost of $483,000. The entire expenditure amounted to $1,178,000 for 116 players.

Canada Wins Bronze Medal

Aussie Double Winner

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

PERTH, Australia (CP)—Murray Rose of Australia, a vegetarian who trains on seaweed and wheat germ, today became the first double gold medallist of the British Empire Games with an easy victory in the men's 400-yard freestyle swim.

Rose's first gold medal came last week when as a member of the winning 800-metre freestyle relay team he helped set a world record.

With no track events on the program, swimming and English carsmen took three of the six gold medals in rowing and one of the three swimming finals.

Australia, continuing its mastery in the pool, won two swimming golds and one in rowing and New Zealand oarsmen picked up two rowing golds. Canada had to be content with one bronze medal in the day's events—for a third place in the four without cox—but was assured of at least another bronze in the men's epee team fencing final tonight.

SARA IS SIXTH

Linda Ludgrove, a 15-year-old London schoolgirl, captured the English swimming gold in the 110-yard women's backstroke. Sara Barber of Brantford, Ont., was sixth, nearly two seconds off the winning time.

Julian Carroll gave Australia its second swimming gold in the men's 220-yard backstroke—an inaugural event at the Games.

MORE

In preliminary swimming heats, Canada placed 19 sailats in the men's and women's 110-yard breaststroke.

Steve Rabitchich of Montreal won his heat in the men's event with the second-fastest time of the day and Alison Glendenning of Hudson Heights, Que., squeezed into the women's final when she finished fifth in her heat.

After the first six compulsory dives that made up the first half of the men's highboard diving competition, Tim Dinsley of Vancouver and Ernie Meisner of Kitchener, Ont., who won the silver and bronze medals respectively in the springboard diving Monday, were far back.

Beth Phelps of Australia also won the springboard gold, was first after the compulsory dives of the first half of 14 points.

Dinsley was sixth with 76.96 points and Meisner eighth with 67.38 points.

Rose, 23-year-old veteran of two Olympics, won the 400-yard freestyle in four minutes, 20 seconds and broke his own Games record by five seconds. But the time fell short of John Konrads world mark of 4:15.9.

Alan Wood and Bob Windle competed the 1-2-3 Australian sweep. Their times were 4:22.5 and 4:23.1.

Miss Ludgrove outdueled Pam Sergeant of Australia, winning the 110 - backstroke in 1:11.1. Miss Sergeant, the record-holder with 1:10.8, was second in 1:11.5 and Sylvia Lewis of England was third in 1:12.2. Miss Barber's time was 1:13.1.

In the over-all medals table, Australia maintained its comfortable lead with 17 golds followed by England with 10, and New Zealand with six.

Booed By Fans

Steelers Bench Layne

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Veteran quarterback Bobby Layne, harassed all season by the booing of hometown fans, will be on the sidelines Sunday when Pittsburgh Steelers meet St. Louis Cardinals in their National Football League home finals.

Steelers coach Buddy Parker said Monday night he will start Ed Brown in place of Layne and probably will use third stringer Terry Nofsinger in reserve.

Bobby doesn't play as well at home as he does away," Parker said. "The booing has affected his play. I'm not saying that Bobby won't play at all, but it is doubtful. I don't think he should be subjected to the abuse of the fans."

The Steelers have a colorful figure in the National Football League for many years, but the booing sometimes is his career. But this season Steeler fans have been particularly loud.

Third Time Odd Play Won for 'Peg

EDMONTON (CP) — When Winnipeg Blue Bombers defeated Calgary Stampeders 10-7 Saturday with a last-play freak touchdown, it was the third time in 11 years the Bombers had won the title in odd plays in the final minute or in overtime.

In 1953 in Edmonton, with a minute to play in the Western championship final game, the score was tied 24-24 and Eskimos were in position for an easy single. Eskimo quarterback Claude Arnold threw a forward from the Winnipeg 15-yard line. Bombers Dave Skrien intercepted in the end zone, lateralled it middield to Tom Casey who scored a touchdown. Winnipeg won 30-24.

In 1957 in Edmonton with the score tied 2-2 in the Western championship final game, Winnipeg kicked off to start overtime Rollie Miles stood over the ball in the end zone, apparently to fake, then picked it up and dropped it. A winnipeg player fell on the loose ball for a touchdown. Bombers went on to win the game 17-2 against the demoralized Eskimo squad.

Flyers, Wilsons Win

City Hoop Teams Beaten

Trenton Wilsons stretched their lead in the Bay of Quinte basketball League last night by whipping Belleville Crawford Metals 69-47 in one half of a double-header at Moira Secondary School.

The other Trenton club, RCAF Flyers, made it a clean sweep for the visitors by grinding out a 48-33 victory over Belleville Lightfoots.

Wilson Concrete won its number four without a defeat and left the club perched alone in first place.

Another double-header is scheduled at the RCAF gym tonight. Wilsons and RCAF meet at 7:15 while Crawfords and Lightfoots play a postponed game at 8:30.

The RCAF brought only half a dozen players for last night's game but it was enough to defeat a listless Lightfoot squad that never did get moving. RCAF led 28-14 at the half-way mark.

The game was a slow-moving affair, dominated by the Flyers' Ernie Clarke. Clarke sunk a number of long shots and controlled rebounds off the backboard to pile up 27 scoring points. Mac McNichol added the winners with 12 points.

Jim Smith was top man for the Lightfoots, with 15 points, while Harry Pasternak was next in line with eight.

Trenton Wilsons, sparked by Bob Moore, moved ahead of the Crawfords early and never looked back. It was a 39-21 game at half time.

Moore, the loop's leading scorer, struck for 29 points in all. He hooped 20 of them in the first half but was controlled later in the game to add nine points. Carl Crews and Mike Kagen collected 10 points apiece.

Teddy Batchelor was the big gun for the Belleville team with 25 points, over half the team total. Sid Forster dropped in 11 points.

Trenton Wilsons (69) — B. Moore, 29, C. Crews 10, J. Niklfort 8, G. Sambers, 3, P. Newsome, G. Whitling 3, D. Burke 2, M. Jeffrey 3, W. Whitley 1, Eagen 10, M. Fox.

Belleville Crawfords (47) — J. Houston, 7, Batchelor 25, J. Bakker 4, N. Lange 3, R. Lucen 3, S. Forster 11, J. Peoples, F. Wilmet 5, M. McNichol 12, Ewing 1, H. Pasternak 8, G. Davis 1, D. Skinner 2, G. Reynolds 1, D. Smith 15, T. Plummer 2.

Consider Marlboros In Interlock

OHA Rejects Metro Jrs. Bid

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Marlboros may return to the Ontario Hockey Association's Junior A group in an interlocking schedule for the balance of this season and as a full-time member next season.

Marlboros, sponsored by Toronto Maple Leafs of the National League, left the provincial group two years ago when Leafs formed their own Metro junior group also affiliated with the OHA.

But crowds have been dwindling at Metro games this season and the Metro group Monday night requested a meeting between the groups to discuss an interlocking schedule for the balance of the season.

Members of the six-team provincial circuit rejected the offer and made it plain they were interested only in Marlboros. But their stipulation is that Marlboros would have to leave the Metro group next season to rejoin the provincial league.

WANTS RETURN

Many members of the OHA junior council said Stafford Smythe, governor of Marlboros, is anxious to get back into the provincial group.

Sam Pollock of Montreal junior Canadiens said Smythe told him: "We're in trouble and your league is in trouble, so what can we do about it?"

Pollock said he told Smythe the provincial group isn't in trouble. He added that Smythe eventually agreed and said: "You proved me wrong when I started the Metro League."

Pollock and Jimmy Skinner, general manager of Hamilton Red Wings, said it would be impossible for the provincial group to take in all six Metro teams.

"Why," said Pollock, "the Metro League is only a Junior B outfit with the exception of the Marlboros."

He said the other Metro teams are unknown in the provincial group's cities.

DRAW GOOD CROWDS

Marlboros, because they represent a large city, have been a big drawing card on the road. All teams from the provincial group, which played a partial interlocking schedule last season, except one, drew a good drawing card in Toronto.

Marlboros, Toronto Neil McNeil Maroons, Whitby Dunlops, Oshawa Generals, Brampton, and Toronto Knob Hill, are in the Metro loop.

Montreal, Peterborough Petes, Niagara Falls Flyers, Guelph Royals, Hamilton Red Wings and St. Catharines Black Hawks are in the provincial group.

'Came As A Shock'

Yanks Trade 'The Moose' For Williams

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—The world champion New York Yankees have traded veteran first baseman Bill (Moose) Skowron to Los Angeles Dodgers in exchange for right-handed pitcher Stan Williams.

The deal brought in the Yankees the Dodgers starting pitcher manager Ralph Houk needs.

New York general manager Roy Hamey, who announced the deal Monday, said the transaction completed the Yankees' first trade plans.

"We got what we wanted and won't make any more deals," Hamey said. "It was the first by the Yankees in the interleague trading season.

In another swap, the Washington Senators sent 33-year-old first baseman Harry Bright to Cleveland for relief pitcher Ramon Rogelio Alvarez.

The Yankees, 26, had a 14-12 record with Los Angeles last season, his fifth with the Dodgers. He had been considered regarded as having great potential for years, but disappointed the Dodgers by not quite living up to his notices.

Skowron, who came to the Yankees in 1954 and has been their regular first baseman for eight years, hit .270 with 23 home runs last season. His major league lifetime average is .282 with 204 home runs. The 31-year-old veteran is a right-handed hitter.

"I would say Williams fits into our starting pitcher plans," Houk said. "He gives us three starting pitchers under 25." The others are Ralph Terry and Bill Stafford. The fourth, ace Lefty Whitey Ford, is 33.

"I hate to give up a fellow like Skowron," Houk, said, "but I have to. He wanted a pitcher. This is the best deal we could make . . . expects to use Joe Pepitone, a part-time rookie last season, Hector Lopez or Bob Long at first base.

Dodgers general manager Buzzy Bavasi also expressed pleasure with the deal.

Our first need was for a right-handed hitter," he said. "Skowron will alternate at first base with Ron Fairly."

In a deal of much lesser impact, Kansas City Athletics announced the conditional purchase of southpaw pitcher Ted Bransfield of Penticton, B.C. from Los Angeles Angels.

WILL REST HIM

"We are familiar with Skowron's problem," Dodger manager Walter Alston said. "We know that his back acts up once in a while and we feel with a little rest here and there he can be a great help to us."

Skowron accepted his trade philosophically. "I'm going home in Hillsdale, N.J., he said.

"I expected to be traded. But when it happened, it came as a shock. But that's baseball. The Dodgers are a good club to be with."

Williams said at his home in Lakewood, Calif., he knew he was being traded.

"Name me a better team to wind up with—than the Yankees," he said.

Says Canada Must Change Style

Russ 'Flabbergast' Father Bauer

VANCOUVER (CP)—Hockey expert Punch Imlach of Toronto Monday it will not be long before Canadian amateur teams will be able to compete against Russians "pro" teams in world hockey championships and Olympic Games.

"We have a possibility of competing probably once more," he said. "But what about 1968?"

Father Bauer, of St. Mark's Roman Catholic College at the University of British Columbia, is coach of Canada's all-star team that will go to the Olympics. He is coach of the UBC Thunderbird hockey team and former coach of St. Michael's College Majors in Toronto.

The all-stars were defeated 6-2 Friday in Toronto by a touring Russian team.

"I was flabbergasted," said Father Bauer. "I've spent a few sleepless nights and I'm going through a mental revolution."

"I thought I was going about coaching scientifically but then I saw the Russians. They have two coaches, one who directs the team and another who shouts orders at every game.

"In terms of fundamentals the Russians have outdone our NHL pros."

He said drastic changes will be necessary in domestic and international hockey.

"I don't know how long we can continue to be competitive against pros like the Russians who play hockey all year round."

He did not expand on the professional angle.

He said Canada must find some combination of international hockey which features skating and passing instead of heavy checking.

"I was disappointed," said Father Bauer. "I've spent a few sleepless nights and I'm going to do something about it."

do not know. The touring team was in such good condition it could have played two games a day.

"We're going to have to work very hard."

Delvecchio Still Tops

Bathgate Starts To Move

MONTREAL (CP)—In hockey as in many other sports, the team that scores the most goals should be winning.

But New York Rangers have netted 62 goals so far—tops in the National Hockey League this season—and rank fifth in the six - team standings, one rung above the lowly Boston Bruins.

If New York's scoring record hasn't made much of a dent in the team standings, its beginning to show up in the NHL's individual scoring, race.

Official statistics released today list Ranger sharpshooter as the big point-getters last week.

Right-winger Andy Bathgate, New York's top scorer, picked up six points with two goals and four assists. Earl Ingarfield chalked up five points, while Dean Prentice and Camille Henry had four each.

Bathgate now has 19 points. He moved up from a 13th-place tie last week to a tie for third with Detroit's Parker MacDonald.

Ingarfield and Prentice have 18 points and Henry 14.

Centre Alex Delvecchio of the league - leading Detroit Red Wings picked up a goal and an assist to maintain his scoring leadership with 22 points.

In second place is Montreal's Bernie (Boom - Boom) Geoffrion, who boosted his total to 20 with two goals and two assists.

Tireless Gordie Howe, linemate of Delvecchio and MacDonald, is all alone in fifth spot with 18. The veteran right winger assisted on two scoring plays last week.

Four players are tied for sixth with 17 points. They are Johnny Bucyk of Boston and Chicago forwards Ab McDonald, Stan Mikita and Bobby Hull.

Montreal's Gilles Tremblay and MacDonald lead in goals with 10 apiece. Delvecchio leads in assists with 16.

Terry Sawchuk of Detroit still leads the goaltenders. With three shutouts to his credit, he has allowed only 30 goals in 19 games for a 1.89 goals-against average.

Chicago is the most penalized team with 304 minutes and Detroit's Howie Young is the individual penalty leader with 65 minutes.

Physician Defends Boxing

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Boxing involves some risk but it is "a good, rugged sport that has many fundamental values," a physician who helps supervise prize fighting in New York State said Monday.

Dr. Marvin J. Stevens, chairman of the medical advisory board to the state athletic commission, told a legislative committee that "you can't eliminate an occasional fatality in any contest of sports."

He said football, polo, automobile racing and some other sports shared with boxing the goal that "you want to win by punishing the other man."

Dr. Stevens and other members of the medical panel defended boxing at a public hearing of the joint legislative committee on professional boxing, which will recommend to the 1963 state legislature whether professional fighting shall be allowed to continue in the state.

The committee was created after the death last spring of Benny (Kid) Paret, who was injured in a welterweight champion fight with Emile Griffith in Madison Square Garden.

Movie Column

Most of the Newer Films Will Be Quite Lengthy

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Looking at the new movies—

This is the season of the long sit. Film companies bring out their most important product at this time of year to catch the holiday trade and the Oscar deadline. Somehow the studios equate length with importance which is a false theory.

A movie needn't be long to be good. Some of the all-time greats ran a mere 90 minutes. But nowadays the norm is two hours, and epics like Mutiny on the Bounty and The Longest Day are allowed to stretch to three hours. Upcoming: Lawrence of Arabia at three hours and 40 minutes.

Long Day's Journey into Night is another three-hour film, but in this case the length seems warranted. It is needed for the cumulative effect of high tragedy, a rarity on the screen.

No wonder all the stars won the Cannes festival awards. They are superb. Katharine Hepburn displays a range she has never shown before. Ralph Richardson, Jason Robards Jr. and Dean Stockwell also have big scenes and make the most of them.

SCREENS BITTER COMEDY

Period of Adjustment is what you could expect when Tennessee Williams writes a comedy. It is funny and it is bitter. The laughs appear despite the fact that most of the film is concerned with disagreeable people disagreeing disagreeably. They aren't often big laughs, but they are there.

Anthony Franciosa and Jim Hutton are good as the bumbling husbands. But the big news of Period of Adjustment is the emergence of Jane Fonda as a comedienne of rare talent . . .

What Ever Happened to Baby Jane? If you don't know by now, you'd better go see the films and find out. It's Sunset Boulevard played for chills, most of which are more projected than produced. But it has Bette Davis and Joan Crawford together and in grand, florid style. Now if we could only see those two great ladies as they really are—smart, sophisticated and beautiful.

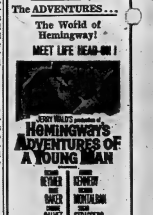
"REQUIEM FOR A HEAVYWEIGHT"



Tense and absorbing drama of a man suddenly cut adrift from the only life he knows, "Requiem for a Heavyweight" stars Anthony Quinn, Jackie Gleason, Mickey Rooney and Julie Harris at the Park Theatre starting Thursday. Despite its title characters and scene, "Requiem for a Heavyweight" reportedly is not a "fight" picture in the familiar film sense; this new David Susskind production for Columbia release is said by Hollywood to be a powerful and moving testament to human dignity to loyalty and friendship.

As penned by Rod Serling, directed by Ralph Nelson and enacted by its spectacular cast of principals, "Requiem for a Heavyweight" tells the story of a man who has devoted his life to the one thing he knows, boxing, who now faces problems beyond his limited ability to resolve. He takes pride in the fact that, years ago, he was ranked among the top five contenders for the heavyweight title and he is tragically aware that this achievement means nothing when he is now seeking a job as a dishwasher or an usher.

Anthony Quinn invests his portrait of the pugilist with a realism which, according to advance reports, will surely net him another Academy Award nomination. Quinn is said to be superb as the man ruled out of the ring because he has absorbed too many punches, still trying to meet the world on even terms.

Equally laudatory have been the praises accorded Gleason, as Quinn's long-time friend and manager, caught in a squeeze which makes it necessary to throw his "boy" to the wolves; and Rooney, in one of his finest performances of his career, as Quinn's trainer. Miss Harris, one of the American theatre's brightest stars, has also been acclaimed for her delineation of the social worker who tries to help the battered ex-pug find a job as a counselor at a summer boys' camp, and finds herself increasingly attracted to him as a person.

growing labor force and, "at the same time, increase our incomes and living standards."

In addition to guaranteeing loans up to a total of $100,000,000, the government agency would provide managerial, technical and other assistance to enterprises and communities in the province "that can qualify for such assistance and which demonstrate an ability to contribute significantly to the growth of Ontario's economic growth."

Community development corporations would be empowered to assist in local or regional development, and would be supported by the provincial agency where warranted.

In a brief reference to pensions, the speech of the throne declared that the House will be asked to pass the Ontario Provincial Pensions bill, embodying the results of suggestions made to hearings of a committee appointed to study the subject. The report of the committee has not yet been made public, following a summer of study of representations on the draft but tabled in the House last week.

To support cultural advances in the province "and in order to ensure that our small centres of population will benefit from these developments, the government plans to set up a provincial council for the arts, to administer government grants.

A producers, processors and consumers food council would be established to provide a meeting ground for representatives of these three groups and advise the government on agricultural and food industry problems.

SEES NEW PROGRAMS

The speech indicated a host of new measures and programs involving almost every government department would crop up during the coming session—expected to be the last for the present government, now nearing the end of the fourth year of its five-year mandate.

The labor department, it said, "is assessing the need, with a view to bringing into effect, where necessary, minimum wage laws for the protection of the workers of the province."

The government believes that fair wages are essential to a healthy economy. In order to provide leadership in this field, instance, we will require fair wages to be paid on all government contracts for the construction of highways and buildings."

The government promised several measures will be introduced to provide greater assistance to "less seriously retarded children who do not require care in an Ontario hospital." A House to House Visiting Children Act to be introduced would enable grants of $2,500 per bed to local associations which provide residential facilities to such children, as well as maintenance assistance.

In connection with parks and recreation, the speech said an immediate start will be made on a $200,000,000 20-year plan to acquire and develop Great Lakes shoreline and inland sites for future park and recreational purposes.

PLANS TO DEVELOP

In agriculture, the government plans to introduce a provincial Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act, under which such projects as drainage and reforestation and alternate land use would be carried out in co-operation with agricultural groups.

A bill "to ensure the inspection of all meat and poultry produced and sold in Ontario" also was promised.

The speech promised that the highways department will place greater emphasis on assistance to the municipal roads system, "by way of increased and extended subsidies," as well as an increased development road program.

SCHOOL AT SUDBURY

In recognition of "the increasing interest of our people in the teaching of conversational French . . . a bilingual teachers' college is to be established at Sudbury. With a view to assisting college in Ottawa, the new college would ensure an adequate supply of French-speaking teachers in Ontario.

In reviewing the government's education program, the speech said increased grants for school purposes will be made in the coming year, including grants to "the local home and farm owners to close local taxation."

"Next year, these latter grants will be paid at the rate

Town-Owned Scrap Sold By Employees

MILTON, Ont. (CP)—Gravetown workers' department employees finance their annual picnic by selling town-owned scrap, an inquiry into alleged irregularities in the town's works department was told Monday.

Egon Madsen, one of six employees who had been laid off, said the irregularities, said employees sold the scrap throughout the year and put the returns into a special fund.

He said council members are invited to the Christmas party held in the past have attended.

Another employee, Thomas Slater, claimed in his affidavit that payrolls were being padded and work was being done for two officials on town time.

Mr. Madsen said that last year council employees cleaned out the well of town Works' Superintendent Percy Bligh and hauled one-ton truckloads of town - owned fi'-gstone to his residence. He said the work order was made out to "road repairs."

House

ting two months of the current session.

Mr. Diefenbaker denied opposition charges of a lack of government organization in arranging House business. The one thing, he said, the Commons is in the grip of rather than rule is legislative action early in the session difficult.

Government purpose, opposition dispose, he said. "How can you organize something when there are other parts of the House prefer a degree of disorganization? They do not intend that. That, I'm sure, that is the result."

He recalled that several years ago he proposed —and the House accepted—longer sittings, beginning Saturday, but he belief it would speed up business. "It hasn't happened! We had the longest, greatest session in memory . . . it set a record in number of pages and the number of words."

of $40 per vocational school pupil, $30 for each secondary school pupil and $20 per elementary school pupil, an increase from the $15 for each elementary school pupil and $5 per secondary school pupil during the current year."

Dealing with law enforcement, the speech said consideration is being given to the appointment of an advisory police service to check efficiency standards and advise police departments and police services. A Police Act recommended by the provincial police commission, created last year.

An expropriation procedures bill, to simplify and improve present procedures of expropriation, is to be presented. The speech said the bill implements in part the report on the subject last April.

In addition to the legislation mentioned, the government new bills and amendments to existing legislation are to be submitted by the government, the public accounts for the last fiscal year, the budget statement and departmental estimates are to come before the House.

Further elaboration on proposed legislation is expected as reports by various committees are tabled and as department heads prepare bills for introduction in the house.

Cross-Canada Survey

Many New Low-Rental Housing Projects Springing Up Across the Country

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

When you have lived for years in the back-of-town world of the slums and move into the bright world of a new home, adjustments have to be made, some of them major.

With new low-rental housing projects going up across the country many Canadians are facing this period of adjustments.

In most cases they are successful but in a few the changes are too big for those involved and families turn away from the brightness and go back across the tracks.

A Cross-Canada Survey by The Canadian Press of low-rental housing projects shows millions of dollars are being spent bringing more sightly homes to the poor and low-income earners and producing changes in crime patterns, social problems, and people's attitudes.

Federal, provincial and municipal governments and private organizations are taking part in the relocation of slum-dwellers. They face difficulties—some not applicable to the newer cities of the West which haven't the slum problems of the older cities of the East.

MOST ADJUST

Fairly typical of Atlantic area cities is St. John's, Nfld., where 580 families have been rehoused in four apartment and row-housing projects. The federal government paid 75 per cent of the cost, the province the rest. The municipality gave low-cost land and tax concessions for the 513, 600 units. Rents equal 20 per cent of total family income.

The Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, which administers two of the projects, reports 80 per cent of families are happy with their new surroundings though the move means a change in the family budget. Many formerly shared heating and electricity costs with other families but now have the whole bill. Although there is less money for luxuries interests centre more around home life. Only rarely does a family fail to adjust and move out.

In Halifax, two developments have given new homes to 500 families with Ottawa paying 75 per cent and the province and city 12½ per cent each. They cost about $6,700,000.

A city welfare office spokesman said some minor social problems had been nipped in the bud and Police Chief Verdun Mitchell reports no racial troubles although whites and Negroes live in both developments. There have been some disturbances but "they are the same that happen everywhere else."

TOP RENT $30

In Saint John, N.B., are 700 family units completed or under construction, also with three-way financing. Monthly rents range from $37.50 to $90 based on family income. A step toward providing for the aged is being taken with a few small apartments in the relocation area for people displaced by a $22,000,000 redevelopment program in the sub-standard east end.

While Deputy Police Chief Gerald F. Wallace says it's too early to say whether the new homes will affect social problems, Mrs. J. G. Bishop of the Children's Aid Society has no doubts.

"It will give us an opportunity to work in decent settings for the first time in generations," she said. "The people's morale should change and the new circumstances make for better family living."

Her optimism is borne out by results in Montreal where the nine-block Jeanne Mance development costing $15,900,000 and split 75-25 between Ottawa and the city is home for 2,500 paying rent between $42 and $100 a month depending on income and family size.

CRIME DISAPPEARS

George Jasmin, administrator of the project, says most of the families have been "remarkably rehabilitated, making the transition from filth to decency and proud of doing so."

City Welfare Director Charles Renaud says the main problem is unemployment. Social workers were struggling to help raise the morale of the jobless to active job-seeking level.

One family preferred to leave the project and return to the slum, so deeply was its love of muck instilled, Mr. Renaud said.

"Crime doesn't exist in this area any more," says Montreal police inspector Marcel St. Pierre. And the appearance and deportment of schoolchildren had improved.

Twenty miles south of Montreal the Canadian Legion has 128 apartments for veterans over 60. No government money was used. The Legion finds it a great success with the old folk getting together regularly in pleasant surroundings to pass what might otherwise be idle hours.

MUST BE TAUGHT

Throughout Ontario, 5,670 units have been built since 1952. Two rental systems are used—one covering full cost of construction, maintenance, management and taxes; the other relating rent to income with the lowest of $36.50 a month. Federal - provincial - municipal funds are used.

P. E. H. Brady, executive director of the Metropolitan Toronto Housing Authority, says many of the tenants in the city have to be shown how to operate such equipment as stoves and refrigerators and how to clean floors.

"Most important is to teach them to look after their budget and try to get them away from the idea of running out and buying furniture on instalment plans."

They were encouraged to feel it is their development and not just a government one.

"It is our aim to get a blend in project society," Mr. Brady said. "We just can't take them all from one environment and object is to build a community, not a housing project."

Police report a noticeable decrease in incidents requiring police attention.

WANT TO IMPROVE

In Ottawa, where there are 1,359 units (including 238 for elderly persons) with rents of 19 to 25 per cent of family income and a top of $75 a month for a four-bedroom apartment, W. A. Featherston, assistant manager of the city's program, reports most new tenants adjust to their surroundings.

"Most people want to improve and do so when they get the chance," he added. City Commissioner of Social Services E. Stewart Bishop commented: "People tend to adjust to a better standard of living by raising their own sights. . . . Most people adjust."

Metro Toronto has become a testing ground for a rent certificate plan under which the provincial government can subsidize the rents of needy persons. The Metro housing authority leases rental accommodation from private owners and rents it to tenants at about one-fifth of their income, getting the difference from what it receives and pays through provincial reimbursement.

Manitoba's, first governmentbacked, low-rental project is planned to start in Winnipeg this year to provide accommodation for 165 families at a cost of $1,942,000. The federal government will bear 75 per cent of the cost with the province and city sharing the remainder. Manitoba also has 10 privately supported projects.

The government housing will take care of several hundred persons displaced by a slum-clearance program in the north-central district of Winnipeg.

Regina has three types of low-rental housing — row housing, apartments and homes for the elderly. They cater to 109 families. Federal approval is installed for a start for at least 100 more units. The existing scheme was financed 75 per cent by Ottawa, 15 per cent by Saskatchewan and five per cent by the city. Standard rent is $65 but the limit is $36.

J. S. White, deputy welfare minister, says there are some cases "where the items and things like that suffer pretty badly because these people can't afford to use utilities," but these are rare.

In Edmonton it is generally accepted there are no large areas conforming to the description of slum districts but nearly 2,500 homes have been provided, including accommodation in converted army huts. Rents range from $33 to $86. Nearly 600 units have been made available to the aged by the province, a service club and a construction firm.

At least 730 units have been built by the Vancouver Housing Authority and service clubs and another 100 are planned. Depending on the type of project and the occupant's income, rents range from $15 to $72.

In Victoria six projects with rents from $20 to $85 a month—the higher rents including board —have been built for the elderly, all by service and church groups.

LOW-RENTAL HOUSING PROVIDED — Row-type homes, similar to many low-rental housing projects in cities across Canada, line this Montreal street where slum dwellings once stood. Costing $15,200,000, the nine-block Jeanne Mance development has provided homes for 2,500 people with rents ranging from $42 to $100 a month. (CP Photo).

DEVELOPMENT SITE — Cities across Canada are stepping up construction of low-rental housing, shared financially by municipal, provincial and federal governments. In some cities, slum areas such as this one in Montreal, are being torn down to make way for the new projects. (CP Photo).

- Second

final report, is in.

One of the main targets of today's report, second of five, again is costly red tape. It says that many of the jobs now being done by government can be handled at less cost by private industry.

But this time it suggests a solution of the problem lies in more, not less, centralization. It argues that department heads should be freed of the responsibility for many supporting services which are secondary to the main job of government.

On construction, for instance, the report says "there are discernible tendencies in some departments to get into the business themselves." This criticism also is directed against government activity in transport, printing, maintenance work and other fields.

The royal commission recommends a new role for the public works department as the government's landlord and builder. It would manage all civilian federal property, now valued at $4,000,000,000 and growing at a rate of $300,000,000 a year. It also would direct civilian construction, most of which now is handled by the using departments and agencies.

One of the department's big jobs would be to keep an inventory of government property and dispose of surplus land. The report says almost no attention is paid to surplus land disposal now and this could be a good source of federal revenue.

In its recommendation for a new department of purchasing and supply, the commission says:

"The purchasing function in the civil departments and agencies is so dispersed and fragmented that it is too often left in the hands of individuals with inadequate knowledge and skills."

It found that purchasing processes "are often unnecessarily complicated and time-consuming, and consequently expensive."

CRITICAL OF BIDS

The report has some harsh words for the government's system of inviting bids on supplies, contending it too often is overdone. As an example, it lists a case in which auto firms were asked to bid on an order for one horn button, four windshield wipers and three carburetor parts. The paperwork for this cost more than the retail price of the goods.

There was a complete lack of uniformity in buying practices. Suppliers often were so bewildered "at the inconsistency of practices and the elaborate formalities observed by different departments" that they refused even to bid on some items.

Departments bought items that were surplus in another department or agency.

Studying transportation, the report estimated that the government pays $200,000,000 a year to move its employees and materials, not including defence vehicles. It argues that big savings can be made by proper traffic management and calls for a traffic management group within the proposed purchasing department.

The review work done on travel expense statements was "detailed to the point of absurdity." In the defence department alone it cost $1,000,000 a year in salaries for the time spent reviewing every detail of such accounts. Other departments spent an average of $100 in clerical work on review of each account for moving a transferred worker's household goods.

The commission was critical of vehicle maintenance work, urging that most of it be shifted to private firms. Workshops were overstaffed, sometimes badly located and inefficiently used.

HITS MARINE COSTS

Some marine ventures were extravagant. The report urged that the health and revenue departments dispose of their launches and use private charters, saving $50,000 a year.

More co-ordination was needed in telecommunications, a field in which the royal commission found too much duplication by departments and agencies.

On printing, the report says more of the government's printing work should be made available to private printing firms, and the Queen's Printer should be renamed the Queen's Publisher. The new role would remove him from control of the printing bureau.

The "make or buy" section finds strongly in favor of purchases from private industry. It stresses that government prices often do not reflect true costs.

Moreover, there was a strong tendency for any secondary pursuit to grow out of all proportion to the original plan.

In the legal field, the royal commission found that government regulations were enacted with "a somewhat perfunctory check" of the draft form. The volume of regulations often swamped the legal facilities available for reviewing them.

What everyone should know about term insurance!

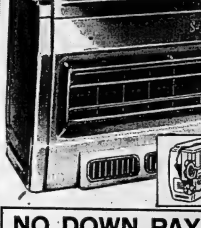
Term, or temporary, life insurance has many uses—but watch out for possible abuses.

Just as Fire Insurance pays only in the event of fire loss during the life of the policy, so Term Insurance pays only in the event of death before the term expires.

Often The Excelsior Life man will recommend Term Insurance—but only as a temporary coverage where the maximum amount of immediate protection is needed for the least amount of premium. And he endeavours to make certain that this temporary life insurance is converted into permanent personal policies as soon as the owner is able to do so.

There is no equity in Term Insurance which can carry the policy if a due date is missed, and none which builds future security for its owner.



We suggest that you talk to The Excelsior Life representative in your community. He has been selected and trained to help you with all your life insurance problems—and especially assist you in design your own "Blueprint for Security".

MAJOR COLD WAR MOVE IN OFFING?

Plan Economic Squeeze To Force Unity In Congo

Belgium and U. S. Agree On Pressure on Katanga

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Belgium are ready to clamp strong economic pressure on the secessionist Katanga government if it doesn't agree soon to unity with The Congo.

President Kennedy and Paul Henri Spaak, Belgium's foreign minister, said in a statement after a White House meeting Tuesday that they had agreed "severe economic measures" must be applied soon if voluntary efforts to unify The Congo fail.

This unusually tough wording showed mounting concern here that the massive two-year effort to save The Congo will collapse unless unification is soon achieved.

U.S. authorities acknowledged that the Kennedy-Spaak meeting was aimed mainly at Moise Tshombe, Katanga secessionist. Thant has appealed efforts by Acting UN Secretary - General U Thant to unify The Congo, in their statement, Kennedy and Spaak backed Thant's efforts.

REVAMPS PLAN

The United Nations, Thant was reported nearing completion of a revamped plan for ending Katanga's secession. But there was no word on the status of talks centering on the prime issue of diplomatic pay of Katanga's rich mineral tax revenues going into central government's underfourished treasury.

Thant may release Thursday a comprehensive Congo report to the UN Security Council, including details of his unity plan. This proposes a 50-50 split of Katanga's mineral taxes. It also calls for adoption of a federal constitution under which Katanga would return to the Congo fold.

Thant was reported prepared to hold back on economic penalties against Katanga for the present—a position favored by Britain.

Leslie Frost Not Forgotten In Legislature

TORONTO (CP)—One year and 19 days after Leslie Frost stepped down as premier of Ontario, he was still well remembered in the legislative chamber.

Speaker William Murdoch made sure of that when he fumbled the announcement of the daily adjournment of the legislature at the opening session Tuesday.

Premier Robarts had made the customary motion to adjourn the House until 3 p.m. today. Mr. Speaker rose to repeat the motion in equally customary fashion.

"Mr. Frost moved the . . ." he began, then caught himself as a chorus of boos sounded from the members. Among those laughing the hardest was Mr. Frost, who had made the same motion for 12 years as premier of Ontario before he reverted to a front-row bench as private member for Victoria riding.

FORMER QUEEN OF HOLLAND DIES IN SLEEP

Wilhelmina Ruled For Fifty Years

THE HAGUE (Reuters)—Princess Wilhelmina, who ruled Holland for 50 years before she stepped down from the throne in 1948, died during the night, it was announced today. She was 82.

The former queen died quietly in her sleep just before midnight at her palace near Apeldoorn.

Two doctors who attended the princess said she had shown signs of a heart ailment in recent weeks "which in view of her advanced age was regarded as very serious."

"In spite of a slight improvement, the princess's condition worsened in the last twenty-four hours. Her gradual decline was accelerated" in the days before she died, the official medical bulletin said.

In a country-wide radio broadcast, Premier Jan de Quay said: "We have lost a great woman. In the heart of our nation she lives on as a mother to us all.

During the Second World War, he said, the princess stood "as the symbol of unity" and was an inspiration to her people. World statesmen would remember "her wisdom, her strong will and her keen intellect."

All flags in Holland flew at half-mast and only solemn music was played on the radio.

Queen Juliana was at Apeldoorn Palace when her mother died.

During the last years of her life, the the plump, motherly princess led a virtual recluse, devoting herself to religion and charity," often making anonymous donations to world causes.

She was reputed, to be one of the richest royal figures in the world—with no personal fortune estimated at close to $600,000,000—but she had always lived frugally.

In 1959, her memoirs, lilted "Lonely But Not Alone."

CBC-CVT Sponsors Agree On Grey Cup Game Telecast

OTTAWA (CP)—The bitter, protracted 1962 Grey Cup television squabble is over—at least as far as televising this Saturday's football classic in Toronto is concerned.

An agreement, announced late Tuesday, will enable the publicly-owned CBC television network to carry the rival private CTV network's telecast of the game without advertising messages.

Subject to final confirmation expected today, it means that the threat of a deliberate violation by the CBC of a controversial regulation of the Board of Broadcast Governors will be avoided.

The regulation, passed Nov. 7, required the CBC to carry the CTV telecast complete with the CTV's commercials. BBG Chairman Dr. Andrew Stewart has indicated the board now would not put the ruling in force —provided signed documents verifying the agreement are produced today.

The arrangement, announced separately by CBC and representatives of the CTV sponsors, who hold the Grey Cup TV rights, allows the CBC to insert "courtesy announcements" on behalf of the sponsors. The CBC's network would carry the CTV picture and commercials. The courtesy announcements will be made for French-language commentary on the CBC French network.

Main issue in the dispute was the CBC's refusal to carry on its network commercial messages "arranged directly or indirectly by the CTV's sponsorship of this year's final between Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

The CBC contended that the BBG regulation made the publicly-owned corporation a "sales tool" of another network and argued that the ruling as it applied to the advertising was beyond the board's authority.

While all parties have expressed satisfaction at the "courtesy announcement" solution in so far as it will enable the widest possible television audience of the Grey Cup, reliable sources say the rights of holders expressed some reluctance.

Sponsors are British American Oil Company Limited, represented by Alphonse Lovick advertising agency; John Labatt Limited, represented by J. Walter Thompson Company advertising agency; Imperial Tobacco Company Limited and Nabob Foods Limited.

W. H. Erskine, Thompson vice-president, told CNC President J. Alphonse Ouimet in a telegram: "Because weeks of

SAYS CANADIANS SUFFERING FROM 'BOARD-DOM'

Sacred Remark Made in House

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians are suffering from "board-dom" says Social Credit Leader Thompson.

He made the remark in the Commons Tuesday night after Finance Minister Nowlan introduced a resolution to establish a national economic development board to advise the government on the likely shape of the economy three to 10 years in the future.

Paul Martin (L—Essex East) said the proposal looks good on paper but that he has grave doubts about the capacity of a "tired" government to meet serious problems.

Colin Cameron (NDP — Nanaimo - Cowichan - The Islands) said Mr. Nowlan's outline of the proposal was "empty twaddle" and as "meaningless" as similar proposals put forward by the previous Liberal government.

Mr. Nowlan described establishment of the board as a "new and, in some respects, almost revolutionary, proposal."

He said the board would seek, analyze and recommend ways and means for development in

Mikoyan's Talk With Kennedy May Provide Key

Soviet Deputy Premier To Meet JFK Thursday

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Kennedy and Anastas Mikoyan, first Soviet deputy premier, meet Thursday in what may turn out to be a major episode in attempts by the nuclear powers to reduce and eliminate cold war tensions.

There already is reported to be a private understanding between Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev to cool off the Caribbean crisis. The presence of Mikoyan in the White House provides Kennedy with the opportunity of reaching further understandings on specific and detailed measures for East-West disengagement.

The fact that Mikoyan will remain here two days—Thursday and Friday—is seen in U.S. diplomatic circles as providing him with time to communicate with Khrushchev, before and after the 4:30 p.m. EST White House conference, and to confer again with American authorities before departing for Moscow.

While American officials cautioned against expecting too much from the Kennedy-Mikoyan meeting, there is some expectation of a major international spectacle — somewhat along the lines of what State Secretary Rusk described a week ago as "the front edge of significant and perhaps unpredictable events."

SEEKS PROGRESS REPORT

Kennedy, it is reported, will be seeking from Mikoyan first of all a progress report on repackaging and removal of Soviet medium bombers from Cuba and some idea of what Russia's future intentions may be in supporting Fidel Castro and his Communist regime.

The president announced last week that Khrushchev agreed to remove the bombers in 30 days. While an overall check since then have remained silent on what aerial surveillance over Cuba shows, officials said he has reason to believe Khrushchev will meet his removal target.

HOUSE BEGINS DEBATE ON THRONE SPEECH

Opposition Expects Election Next Year

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario legislature begins debate today on a throne speech opposition leaders already have described as evidence a provincial election will be held next year.

The throne speech described a government legislative program which will include a draft bill on medical health insurance, a bill on portable pensions and establishment of an economic development agency to encourage domestic industry.

As in past years, Lieutenant-Governor J. Keiller Mackay read only the first few paragraphs of the speech. The lieutenant - governor, who suffers from a chronic eye ailment, asked Roderick Lewis, clerk of the legislature to deliver the remainder of the throne speech, government statement on policy.

A tradition discarded during the Second World War was revived when the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Mackay left University Avenue to Queen's Park in a landau drawn by four Ontario Provincial stallions. In the intervening 20 years a limousine has been substituted for the landau.

NOT COMPULSORY

The medical health insurance bill will lack the compulsory features of Saskatchewan's medical care plan. Health Minister Matthew Dymond told a press conference Ontario's legislation will be "universally available but not compulsory."

Dr. Dymond said the legislation will not likely come into force before 1964. It would not be passed in final form until approved by every major segment of the province.

The health minister indicated the government might either introduce the measure as a draft

Vatican sources said the Pope's illness was a mild case.

The Pope's new personal physician, Dr. Antonio Gasbarrini of Bologna, was to arrive in Rome today. He replaced Dr. Filippo Rocchi, who died last week.

Members of his family said Tuesday night Gasbarrini was surprised when he learned from Italian reporters that there was talk of an impending operation on the Pope.

Other sources quoted Gasbarrini as saying before he left for Rome that the rumors were false.

Pope John received a group of Italian Catholic Actionists Tuesday night. He had also been seeing various national groups of bishops here for the Roma Catholic ecumenical council in special audiences. Informants said other audiences for bishops later Tuesday were called off because the pontiff

Bandit Did Not Hurry, Soon Caught

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. Maxine Budgell, a teller at an east-end branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, pointed to a man leaving the bank, and told accountant James Walls: "He's got my money."

Walls, 27, looked up Tuesday and saw a man in a white coat walking slowly out the door. He ran after him but when he saw the suspect walking slowly along the street he couldn't believe there had been a holdup. Walls went back to the bank to make sure.

Mrs. Budgell assured him the man, indicating he had a gun in his pocket, had made off with $280 in $10 bills.

The teller again went after the disappearing suspect.

The chase continued at a walk for about a dozen blocks.

"I never walked so far before without seeing a policeman," Walls said. "I was scared and thinking about the gun. I was ready to run if he turned and tried to get me.

"Most of the time I kept about 20 feet behind him. I caught up to him a couple of times at stoplights but we didn't say a word, just looked at each other."

En route, the young accountant tried to persuade a pair man and a transit commission inspector of his suspicions and asked them to call police.

Later Const. Walter Roy Fitz-Gerald arrived on his motorcycle.

The suspect, who turned out to be unarmed, surrendered without a struggle.

Police charged Paul Ewatt, 35, with robbery.

CofC to Oppose Any Socialistic Medicare Plan

SARNIA (CP) — The Ontario chamber of Commerce opposes and will resist introduction of a socialistic type of medical care plan similar to those in the United Kingdom and Saskatchewan, W. J. Adams, chamber president said Tuesday night.

Speaking to about 35 delegates to the fifth annual meeting of the Southwestern Ontario Associated Chambers of Commerce, Mr. Adams said:

"The types of plans force all into the same pattern and remove freedom of choice of the individual."

Frees User From Foreigner's Whims

Canadian A-Plant Will Be in Demand

WASHINGTON (CP) — J. L. Gray, president of Atomic Energy of Canada Limited, today predicted a big world market for the basic kind of nuclear power plant Canada now is building.

Canada's first 200-megawatt power reactor at Douglas Point, Ont., is expected to be ready for commercial operation in 1965 at a construction cost less than anticipated, Gray told the atomic industrial forum.

An advantage of the Canadian plant, he maintained, is that its fuel source, natural uranium, is available around the world and therefore countries which adopt this system won't be dependent on the "whims" of a foreign government.

Many countries now are pondering whether, in developing nuclear commercial power, they should go with the Canadian system or adopt the basic U.S. system which is based on enriched uranium, requiring special processing and markets for plutonium in the spent fuel which are centralized in the U.S.

"Any national program of nuclear power development 'must look beyond the initial cost of a power plant and to the initial fuel," Gray said. "Thirty years, the life of a plant, is a long time to be dependent upon the decisions or perhaps the whims of a foreign government and the situation tends to worsen if a significant portion of a nation's electrical energy economy is tied to one foreign source of fuel."

A well-designed, heavy water moderated and cooled nuclear plant, fuelled with natural uranium, can be taken to a relatively high burnup of fuel content. And because it has low unit fuel costs compared to other systems and because unit capital costs are declining, as experience is gained, sizes increase, and heavy water costs lower, "it is becoming a very serious contender for many applications in various areas of the world."

"We do not predict a swing away from nuclear electricity to natural systems in the U.S. for a number of reasons," Gray added. "But we do predict an increasing world demand for a good, high burn-up, natural uranium system that is what we are keeping our eyes on in Canada."

Gray's statements were included in the text of his address issued to the press before delivery.

University Professors Publish 'Newspaper' With 1524 Dateline

MONTREAL (CP) — Le Boreal Express, a tabloid - size publication aimed at making Canadian history more palatable to students by putting it in newspaper form, was launched Tuesday at the University of Montreal.

The first issue of the French-language monthly publication, written by six university professors as a teaching aid for history classes, was unveiled at a press conference at the U. of M.'s Cercle Universitaire.

The authors said they plan to publish Le Boreal Express (The Northern Express) for seven years, each dealing with a momentous year in Canada's history.

The first issue is written as though in 1524, treating the events of that year as current happenings.

A front-page story, datelined Stadacona, quotes an unidentified Indian chief as expressing fears about the growing Indian population—some 220,000 at that time. Another tells of the destruction by fire of the settlement of Hochelaga (Montreal).

The chief in Stadacona reasoned that continued growth in population by Canada's Indians would threaten them with starvation. There wouldn't be enough food and game to feed them all, he said.

Stories from "correspondents" in Paris report the visit of Cortes' battles with the Aztecs, and the return of French merchants from an expedition to India.

The publication, liberally illustrated with maps and artists' conceptions of what Indians and Indian villages looked like 400 years ago, is to be used in Canadian history classes in French-language universities in Quebec.

Bank Clerk Captures Bandit At Gun Point

ST. THOMAS (CP)—Donald Matheson, 23, an assistant bank accountant, grabbed a revolver and chased from the Imperial Bank of Commerce here two masked, armed bandits after they had herded the bank staff into a vault and cash from boxes just before closing time Tuesdy.

He fired a shot at the fleeing men, sped after one bandit who detoured across a parking lot and, with the aid of teller Hugh Baker, tackled him two blocks away.

Matheson held the man at gunpoint until police arrived. The man was carrying a loaded silver revolver.

The gunman who is in custody has not been charged and his identity has not been disclosed. Police said they are looking for a second man in connection with the incident.

FIND MAN BOUND

Two hours after the holdup police found Leo Gagnon, 63, of St. Thomas, bound and gagged in an unoccupied apartment near the post where the bank employees cornered the bandit.

Police believe there is a connection between the attack on Mr. Oliver by a man with a silver revolver and the robbery.

Mr. Oliver said he went to the apartment to make a business enquiry and at about 3 p.m. was pushed inside by a man wielding the revolver.

Mr. Oliver said: "He pushed me inside and hit me twice over the head with the pistol. Then he took my identification, keys and glasses, tore up a sheet and tied and gagged me."

Two Terrorists Spared Death By de Gaulle

PARIS (Reuters) — President de Gaulle has commuted the death sentences of two leading members of the terrorist Secret Army Organization, it was announced here today.

The announcement from the office of Premier Georges Pompidou said de Gaulle had commuted the sentences of former Gen. Edmond Jouhaud and Andre Canal, both major figures in the abortive attempt to block independence for Algeria by terrorism.

Algerian - born Jouhaud was sentenced to death by a special high military tribunal April 13, though the same court passed only a life sentence on Jouhaud's leader, former Gen. Raoul Salan.

Andre (Black Monocle) Canal, leader of Secret Army net works in metropolitan France, was sentenced to death in September by the military court of justice set up after de Gaulle had dissolved the tribunal which tried Salan and Jouhaud.

Tenders Called For New Bridge On N. Front St.

Tenders for the construction of a new four-lane tubular bridge over the CNR double tracks on North Front Street have been called by the City of Belleville.

Closing date for the tenders is December 13th.

Specifications call for the construction of a pre-stressed concrete bridge, 69 feet wide, together with 324 feet of roadway approaches. Damus and Smith Ltd., of Toronto, are the consulting engineers for the project.

Construction of the new North Front Street railway bridge has been talked of in the city for many years as the present narrow two-lane structure with its blind approaches has been long out-moded.

The obsolescence of the present bridge has been particularly noticeable with the increased traffic now carried and since the opening of 401 highway north of the city.

Cost of the new structure will be shared by the Ontario Highways Department, the CNR, the board of transport and the city of Belleville.

The city's share of the overall cost has been estimated at $126,900.

N. E. Marksman Qualifies for Prize Shield

MONTREAL — Jack G. Bradford of Elmwood Drive, Belleville, Ont., has qualified for the Silver Export Shield, one of the most difficult tests in handgun shooting.

Dominion Marksmen officials announced today that 42-year-old engineering technologist had achieved a score of 5,325 points out of 5,600 to qualify.

For the Silver Expert Shield (Handgun) the shooter must fire 20 sets of three targets, each set consisting of one slow, one timed and one rapid fire target, and each set scoring 265x 300 or better.

Mr. Brasford, a member of the Northern Electric, Belleville, Handgun Club, has been shooting for four years, and has won several regional and club championships. Before winning the silver shield he had to work his way through a series of Dominion Marksmen awards beginning with the bronze pin which required 10 targets scoring 60 or better out of 100 in slow fire.

Pistols and revolvers of any calibre may be used in the Dominion Marksmen handgun competition.

Deseronto 'Goes to Dial' On Sunday

Starting in the early hours of Sunday morning, December 2, telephone users in Deseronto will have new seven-figure telephone numbers, and will be able to place calls to Napanee and Belleville for the price of a local call.

The change takes place when Deseronto "goes to dial" and telephone dials throughout this Eastern Ontario community start spinning for the first time.

New numbers go into effect the moment the change is made. All Deseronto numbers will consist of seven figures beginning with an exchange number 396, and followed by four other figures. Thus a typical number for Deseronto after the change to dial might be 396-1234. Customers will have to dial all seven figures in order to complete their calls.

This seven-figure system — All Number Calling — is being gradually introduced by the Bell Telephone to all the communities it serves throughout Ontario and Quebec province. In localities where no dial exchanges existed before the introduction of All Number Calling, the change is more apparent. But in communities where telephone numbers included exchange names such as Liberty, Wellington or Woodland, the conversion to ANC is much simpler. The two first letters of the exchange names are replaced by corresponding numerals on the telephone dial. Thus LI becomes 54; WE becomes 93, and WO would become 96.

ONLY TAKES MOMENT

The actual cutover to dial takes only a moment or two. The operation starts early in the morning when telephone calling is at its lowest point and the fewest possible number of calls would be interrupted. Teams of Bell technicians go into action, disconnecting the old circuits, immediately after they hook up the new circuits which were prevented from working while the older service was in use.

Although this step requires but a minute or two, it represents the culmination of many months of intensive work by various departments of the telephone company.

Archie Patton, Bell Telephone manager for the region, pointed out that the co-operation between the townspeople and the Bell was most helpful during the long months of difficult preparation for this important phase of dial conversion.

Apart from the change to the seven-figure telephone numbers, said Mr. Patton, this measure considerably increases the calling scope of the individual Deseronto telephone subscriber.

For the price of a local telephone call, any Deseronto telephone user can call Napanee or Belleville. Similarly, any calls from those two communities to Deseronto will rate as local calls, without any long distance charges being applied.

'Love Rides the Rails,' Production of Theatre Guild, A Most Enjoyable Effort

After a decade of trying hard — sometimes with success — to bring dramatic art to its city, the Belleville Theatre Guild has finally kicked over the traces of conventional and kicked up its heels.

Thereby lies an entertaining evening for the rest of this week ending Saturday night — as the Guild presents a romp at the expense of the conventions thin" disguised as an old-time melodrama.

"Love Rides The Rails" is the title of this adventure into the ridiculous, chosen by the Guild apparently to put its audiences in good humor for its forthcoming season. This, undoubtedly was its single aim. In this respect it has signally succeeded.

It is the first production of the Guild that seriously relies on audience participation — besides audience reaction. To enjoy this show it is necessary to lose oneself in what is proceeding on stage — not in the modern scene, but in the old-fashioned way. This means you must cheer the hero, weep for the heroine, hiss the villain, and applaud the noble sentiments of their best efforts.

This, after a slight hesitation in the first act, last night's audience was willing and prepared to do.

Yet, make no mistake. The entire evening was cleverly thought out by director Jim Alexander. What wasn't written in the script for romping purposes only, was inserted by the director. Some most difficult chore on earth is to feign a lie. A lie depends on timing, perfect timing. This is where last night's production paid off. The hilarity evoked by supposedly muffed lines, a confused stage staff, wrong entrances, wrong scenery hastily-changed proved the truth of constant dialing.

MISTAKES REHEARSED

Usually, one expects a slightly befuddled presentation for opening night. It would be criminal to say that last night's show was in such tradition. Obviously it wasn't. The mistakes were too well rehearsed.

The cast is huge for a Guild performance. Yet two people never seem to dominate the production. Mr. Alexander, and designer Anne Boyle, with no help assist from pianist Evelyn Burkitt.

Mr. Alexander's direction is linked to Mrs. Boyle's sets, and the whole offering is packaged in the same key by Mrs. Burkitt.

As for the cast, this is perhaps the first Guild production where the backstage crew played an obviously significant part. Under stage manager, Ed Colle, their frenetic attempts to keep the show moving, under difficulties implied as their own making, resulted in something of a Keystone-cop link to the entire production. Sometimes, they changed a scene not once, but twice, as the audience watched.

All the familiar faces are there among the cast. Ruth Nightingale as the traditional poor widow; Flo Yanover, as a femme fatale; Lee Jourard, as a conniving villain's henchman; Tom Fraser, as a sickeningly noble friend of the hero; Harry Mulhall as the heavy, the fiendish villain; Margo Hall, as the fragile, virtuous heroine.

The production also introduced some promising newcomers. Al Cancelfosi, as the hero, and Joan Bell as a soubrette traditionale.

SINGERS, DANCERS ON HAND

But this is not only a show that calls for actors, but singers and dancers as well. Robert Burke combined both functions as an elderly railroad engineer, of confident voice. One of the finds of the evening was Elizabeth Lemon as Beulah Belle, who personally kicks over the traces of Guild tradition with a full-dress Can-Can.

The fascinating thing about this Guild production was its restlessness. Never once did it hold easy.

Whether there were mistakes last night or no, it was impossible to tell, although the scenes between the conspirators Messrs. Mulhall and Jourard had some noticeable fluffs. However it is to be hoped that last night's reception doesn't deceive the company into relaxing its discipline. It cannot manage to make everything seem as entertainingly impromptu as it did last night, it is guaranteed of the most colorfully successfully opener of any season since its inception.

The show runs until Saturday at the Quinte Hotel. For the occasion the Guild has teamed up to transform a dining room into a small theatre, thus adding to the novelty of the evening. If it does not allow to let last night's success go to its head and damage its obvious discipline, it should win the hearts of its audiences for the rest of the week.

Quinte Field Naturalists Elect Officers

At the Quinte Field Naturalists Club, meeting on Monday evening a new slate of officers was elected for 1963. Heading the new executive will be Miss Joy Nicholls, as president; Mr. L. W. Knight, past president; Miss F. Fitzgerald, vice-president; Miss Lillian Hart, secretary, and Miss Gertrude Lazier as treasurer.

Following the club business, Mr. Knight introduced Mr. Mac Wallbridge of Ameliasburg who presented a number of colour slides, showing some aspects of nature which he had found on his own farm and in certain other areas of Prince Edward County.

Most outstanding perhaps was his series of pictures of juvenile great horned owls which he photographed in a hollow elm tree and later outside the tree, as they matured. The various poses of the young owls were most appealing to the naturalists present.

Mr. Wallbridge also had an excellent collection of wild flower pictures and these were enjoyed by all, especially pictures of rare and beautiful showy lady's slippers and the small yellow lady's slippers, both of which are native orchids. A slide showing a rare green and white trillium blossom was also excellent.

A series of pictures of a female Mallard duck on her nest, but so perfect was the camouflage that few in the audience were able to make out the outline of the duck, even when it was pointed out by Mr. Wallbridge.

The Club was also shown pictorial evidence of beavers in Prince Edward County, and these animals seem to have got a start in the marshes near Mr. Wallbridge's home.

The knight's commentary with his pictures was most apt and it is evident that he has done considerable nature study, as well as running a successful farm. It was also evident that Mr. Wallbridge takes a keen interest and delights in the naturalist things around the farm.

Miss Nichol expressed the appreciation of the Club to Mr. Wallbridge for his fine presentation.

Vocational Snobbery

Social snobbery is robbing vocational training institutions of their rightful place in society, according to Prof. Marcus Long of the University of Toronto's philosophy department. Prof. Long told a meeting in Windsor recently that "parents tend to feel a loss of social status" when their children take vocational training.

Professor Long's remarks are not really debatable in a society where the university graduate is a favored individual, but it is encouraging that university professors appreciate the problem. Canada's understaffed and overpopulated universities turn out some of the finest engineers in the world—and some low grade mechanics. The arts courses turn out cultured citizens, and confused football heroes, and thousands of students are rejected, for lack of room.

The reasons for the failures in universities and for the more serious failures of deserving students to gain entry, are not all the university's fault. Too many parents of children who do not want, or cannot make use of, university education, send their children through the social status boosting mill for a starry-eyed society on the parents of university students.

There are other mistaken reasons for sending children through university, too. University-trained parents would feel they had failed their old alma mater if they did not send their own children through, and parents who feel they suffered, in their youth, from lack of education may force their children through, to compensate for their own real or imagined loss.

But, reduced to realities, the only valid reason for sending a boy or girl through university is the desire and aptitude of the student. If the son of a millionaire industrialist wants to be a mechanic, he will be a better mechanic than he would be a millionaire industrialist. And the son of a mechanic could be an excellent millionaire industrialist if that is where his heart lies.

As Prof Long pointed out, the whole problem boils down, in the long run, to social status. The engineer considers himself the superior of the mechanic, even though many engineers design nothing more original than a new shape of push button, while many mechanics have designed and built industry-rocking machines.

In essence, the point is that any individual deserves to be judged on production, rather than on the expense and exclusiveness of his or her training. And if a student wants training in a vocational school, it is quite logical to expect that his or her maximum potential production will result from the training offered in a vocational school.

Shun Country Life

City-bred boys in Ontario cannot be lured into rural life, even by offers of money, according to one Toronto dentist. Dr. Stewart A. MacGregor, professor of paedodontia at the University of Toronto, reported this as one of the findings of a study of the reasons young dentists choose to locate in the larger centres. The main reason for the preference for city life, according to the results of the study, was "comfort."

The word "comfort" as used in this sense, is nebulous and misunderstood. In the physical comforts of city life, taking the literal meaning of the word, are easily available in the country, or in small towns. Electricity and modern transportation have broken down barriers so much that the only things country people need lack are air pollution and traffic jams.

But there are other attractions still reserved to the city dweller, and these barriers will be harder to break down. With dentists, as the example being discussed, one might compare the availability of other dentists to talk to, and to compare notes with, in Belleville and in an Arctic settlement. Talking shop is a much maligned recreation, but it is also an excellent means of improving work standards, and a form of relaxation. Bright lights and predigested entertainment are another definite attraction, even to people supposed to be able to think for themselves, and it will always take a city to supply them in quantity.

But there is still hope for rural areas trying to attract professional services. As more and more universities turn out more and more dentists, doctors and lawyers, the cities will eventually be overstaffed with them. Then, and possibly only then, the young people will go out into the countryside, and to rural practices. When they do some at least will discover that the city-bound sophisticate is living in a world with an outlook limited by too many brick walls, too close together.

Letters to the Editor

Fluoride Damaged Schenectady Pumps

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer:

I have been very much interested in the issue which is coming up for vote at the municipal election in December, namely, "Fluoridation or No Fluoridation". I read recently the letter in your paper from Mr. John Weese, relative to the merits of fluoridation. I think the one fact that has escaped the attention of various people who have commented so far is the cost to maintain the system for fluoridation. I am enclosing a copy of a letter received from the city manager of Schenectady, N.Y. in this connection. I do think the contents are most informative and feel it would certainly be in the interest of the people of Belleville. It is also interesting to note that in recent articles in the Globe and Mail various comments have been made relative to corrosion damage to water heaters, fixtures and municipal pumping stations. It would appear from the letter received from the city of Schenectady that this could be so.

I personally feel that too much emphasis is being made to the "cost" of fluoridation, as I feel the "cost" is irrelevant to the benefits or dangers of fluoridation. All these important considerations should be the following:

1. Possible harmful effects to the human body.
2. Pollution of our water resources.
3. Corrective actions by this fluoride chemical on metal.

We have read many "comments" relative to fluoridation, but it is time we had some factual, scientific proof from these "commentators". Many of these many tests and experiments conducted, there still appears to be no conclusive scientific proof of benefits to the obtained from fluoridation. Likewise, there is no scientific proof available that this fluoride (which is usually a by-product of aluminum) is not harmful to the human body; that it will not pollute our water resources; that it will not corrode all metals it comes in contact with.

Let us, in the interests of both our children and the adult population, look before we leap" and "think before we vote". It would be a grave mistake to some day look back and shorten or cripple the life span of tomorrow. We cannot and can see that our children brush their teeth regularly and make it a point to see that they get the proper foods and thus protect their teeth but we cannot save or protect them from ill effects, endanger it with fluorides that have not been proved scientifically safe beyond a doubt. Incidentally, I do not feel we can consult dentists and doctors as scientists, and accordingly, they are not able to provide the scientific proof that we need in this matter. Theirs is an opinion only, which has not much more value than that of the average citizen.

Allen F. Miller,
24 Sinclair St.

To Whom It May Concern:

Pursuant to your recent letter regarding fluoridation in Schenectady, please be advised as follows:

Fluoridation was originally started in Schenectady in 1954 at a cost of $30,000.00. The city obtains its water supply from artesian wells. The water is drawn directly from the gravel strata into the distribution system. Hence, it is necessary for us to inject fluoride compounds in concentrated form directly into our water supply approximately 150 pounds per square inch pressure. This concentrated solution under such pressure by high pressure, caused considerable damage to our fluoride pumps and the feed lines leading from the pumps to the mains and we were forced to discontinue the process about four years ago. Nevertheless, we replaced the equipment at a cost of approximately $20,000 (somewhat less than the original estimate) and resumed fluoridation about two and one-half years ago.

About four years ago we experienced additional trouble with our fluoride pumps and feed lines and had to again discontinue the process. To date we have been unable to secure guaranteed replacement equipment.

The City of Schenectady has discontinued fluoridation because of operational difficulties and it should not be concluded that it was discontinued because of medical or dental reasons.

I trust that this will throw some light on the matter.

Peter F. Roan,
City Manager.

Medical Groups Strongly Support Fluoridation

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer:

May I have space in your column, as President of the Belleville Academy of Medicine, to bring to your readers the opinion of this city's medical profession with regard to fluoridation.

At our meeting in October the following resolution was passed:

Whereas

It is the conviction of the Belleville Academy of Medicine that dental caries is a serious and major health and economic problem that treatment alone will not control or reduce.

And Whereas

The Academy is convinced that the presence of fluoride in a communal water supply in a concentration of approximately one part per million strikingly reduces incidence of dental caries.

And Whereas

We are convinced the long term ingestion of fluoride at approximately one part per million in a communal water supply is not harmful to bodily health.

Be It Resolved

That the Belleville Academy of Medicine strongly supports the fluoridation of the Belleville communal water supply with the purpose of preventing dental caries. Similar support for fluoridation comes from the Medical Staff Association of the Belleville General Hospital, Department of Public Health, Ontario Medical Association, Canadian Medical Association, American Medical Association and the World Health Organization.

The ultimate goal of all physicians is to prevent disease in any case rather than its treatment. Therefore we as physicians, believe in vaccinations, fluoridations, pasteurization of milk and the chlorination of water. Dr. Benjamin Spock, the world famous pediatrician, points out that now we have the ability to expose a wonderful preventive measure which does not depend on the parents' means or even their conscientiousness or on the availability of dentists.

The well proven reduction of tooth decay in the younger population is carried over as a lasting benefit and adult life by reducing not only diseases of the teeth and gums but also those related to digestion, respiration and other body systems. Dental infection is probably the greatest mass infection left to be adequately controlled and is always a source of spread, which infection may spread, leading to more severe ill health and even death.

Fortunately fluoridation reduces these dangers and we can obtain all these benefits without producing toxic effects. Dr. Paul Dudley White, the noted cardiologist, points out, "Every child by people with "tired hearts" need have no fear of fluoridated water. It is safe for all."

Fluoride is an essential component of the teeth and bones. It often occurs in many foods in common use and in many communal water supplies. However these sources are often inadequate for body requirements and a deficiency state develops which allows dental decay in childhood. Fluoridation of water is an attempt to make up this deficiency and thus prevent disease. Similarly goiter which is produced by a deficiency of iodine, was a major medical problem in our district. Iodine area, but with the addition of iodides to our common table salt this disease has been markedly reduced.

I can see no valid reason for the A.F.L.-C.I.O. who said that Labor's support of fluoridation is based on the belief that prevention and protection of health is better than the best cure.

This is a statement with which the medical profession agrees fully.

We your physicians, are satisfied that fluoridation is safe and effective.

J. S. Loynes,
President,
Belleville Academy of Medicine.

So many professors and experts refer to the human resources of Canada.

It is a cold and analytical method of dealing with problems.

But why not think of men and women as real people? If everyone did that there would not be so many problems in the world today.

Many factions outside the realm of their official work await the Hastings County Council meets for the annual December meeting at Shire Hall next week. The county fathers will attend the banquet of the British Empire Cheese and Dairy Show, while the greater majority of them are members of the Hastings County Federation of Agriculture, holds its annual meeting.

The annual election for the Ontario Older Boys' Parliament will be held very shortly according to the committee in charge of appointing the local candidates. Each year a member from this constituency is elected with two boys from Belleville being nominated for the honor. This year candidates are Howard Trussdale-supported by Bridge Street United Church, and from Tabernacle United Church Clark James, who is leader in boys' work there, will have to choose between these two candidates will be held soon.

The Belleville Rotary Club paid a fitting tribute to Navy Week at the regular luncheon on Monday, and did it in record time. The club's quota of twenty-five dollars for members of the Canadian Navy and Merchant Marine was made up-in approximately three minutes. Chairman Ed Truman of the committee in charge asked members for $100 to cover the cost of the bags, and he had the money in about the same length of time as it took to ask for it.

Twenty eight years ago yesterday a housing blizzard blew Belleville, and the north wind driving before it, a blinding snow storm which paralyzed traffic, and left the city covered. The snow continued to fall for nearly three days, and when it was over it was found by the Chief that it was weeks before housekeepers could possibly be dug drifts from in front of their houses. It was also extremely difficult to say how much snow may be learned from the fact that R. H. Ketcheson with a horse and cutter was able to travel through the fields and roads of the city over the concession fences which lay several feet below the top of the snow. On Front Street the drifts were so high that pedestrians walked through tunnels which had been cut in the great stretches of snow. The snow remained that year until nearly March. It sure was a winter that we don't have them like that nowadays.

To Your Good Health

Slow Student Needs Tutoring in Reading

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My son, 15, is a fine boy, but he is slow with his book work at school. His is bright about other things, works part time during vacations and is well and strong.

His teacher tells me his trend is weak. He reads real fast, but has difficulty in understanding what he is reading about. This makes school much harder. Have you any suggestions? — Mrs. B.S.

This isn't a "medical problem" in the usual sense of physical health but perhaps it should be so regarded.

Your son is not performing at his best. If he were lame, we would try to correct it. If he couldn't hear, we would try to correct that — or if we failed, it would be part ok our job to refer him to a lip - reading teacher.

Why not the same for such an important process as reading?

The probability, on the face of things, is that this boy isn't really "reading" at all. He probably is just scanning the words. Perhaps he has never honestly learned the process of reading and skims over the words just to be finished as soon as he can.

Or, alternatively, aware that he isn't a good reader, he may be trying too hard to read too fast. I've seen Olympic sprint champions practice by running very slowly, in order to develop a slow-motion picture, perfectly timed for correct running form. Perhaps this boy should do the same thing: Read slowly to absorb the meaning of every word. Speed can develop later.

At 15, he probably will have trouble straightening out his life unless he has help. Some school systems have special departments with special teachers to deal with such problems. Others don't.

Talk to school authorities to see what help is available. Sometimes such help can be found in a university or college in the vicinity. If not, there may well be a teacher with special ability along these lines.

In any event, I would certainly see that the boy gets some tutoring. The longer he continues with poor habits of reading, the more trouble he is bound to have with virtually all of his school work.

I assume that in this case, his vision already has been carefully checked. In far too many cases (but usually at preschool level) children are "slow" in school have been found to have faulty vision. If they can't see the blackboard or books or the blackboard, you can't learn very much. Yet some children with tested to faulty, blurred vision, they sometimes don't realize that they can't see properly.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there help for a continual buzz in the head? I have had high blood pressure but it has dropped through medication. The buzz continues. — Mrs. M.M.

"Ear Noises, Their Causes and Cures," contains the best information I have been able to assemble on the subject. For a copy of this booklet, send 25 cents in coin to cover printing and handling costs, and large, unstamped, self-addressed envelope. Address your request to Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill.

Dear Dr. Molner: My dad is 78 and takes Insulin for diabetes. Every so often he gets a gagging spell and throws up hard, even blood. Could it be cancer? — Mrs. H.B.

It could be, especially where blood is raised, or it could be some other condition. One possibility would be a defect in his swallowing mechanism, something that could occur at his age from a mild stroke, for example. The condition was certainly examination especially by X-ray. The insulin has nothing to do with it.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of my booklet explaining what sinus troubles really is, and encouraging sinus sufferers to do something about it. For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill., enclosing a long, self-addressed, unstamped envelope and 25c in coin to cover printing and handling.

Dr. Molner regrets he cannot answer letters individually.

Humorous Malaprops Cause Grief

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

What Richard Nixon called his "last press conference" admitted him to full membership in the Foot-in-the-Mouth Club, an organization composed of politicians, generals and titans of finance whose impressive records of verbal absurdity.

The last full-fledged member of the club, as I remember, was Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, who was President Truman's senior military aide, until in 1951 he turned down an invitation to make a Memorial Day speech in Decatur, Illinois, saying that press ridicule had forced his retirement from the field of public comment.

It is astonishing how one or two injudicious statements can turn the public sentiment for or against a measure. Mussolini's comment, when his car ran over a child, "What is one life in the affairs of state?," did nothing to endear him to the world, or to his own people.

And America's entrance into the first World War was surely quickened by Bethmann-Hollweg's characterization of the treaty guaranteeing Belgian neutrality as "a scrap of paper."

In recent years, Sen. Warren Austin took top honors when, as member of the United Israelis and the Arabs, he opened a conference by saying, "Now let's get down to cases, no matter in a true Christian spirit."

Many local politicians are celebrated as life members of the Foot-in-the-Mouth Club. The late M'ayor of Chicago could usually be depended upon — as when, in his nominating speech for a vice-presidential candidate in 1940, he called his nominee "a man who belongs to no shining group."

Jimmy Walker, when mayor of New York, told an investigating committee that he was "more or less shocked" at disclosures that vice-squad detectives had framed innocent women for shakedowns. This debonair attitude cost him considerable votes, More innocent was the gaffe of Mayor Hylan, who when informed of Manhattan's crime wave, said blandly, "The police are fully able to cope, and compete with the criminals."

Blunderer cum laude, though, was the governor of Nebraska, who appeared to make a speech to the convicts at Stillwater penitentiary. "Fellow citizens —" he began, and they laughed. "Fellow convicts —" he started again, and they roared. "You know what I mean," he exclaimed. "I am glad to see so many of you here." The place fell apart as the warden led him out to the open air.

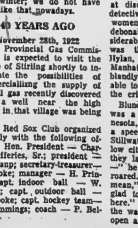
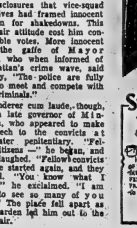
THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

It is reliably reported that car insurance rates are going up next year. With regret, the insurance companies present statistics showing a marked increase in the number of accidents.



Have the insurance companies been reading the automobile advertisements lately? With few exceptions, the new cars are all presented in newspaper and magazine ads, on TV, and with stirring sound effects on radio, as being wildcats, tigers, whirlers, zoomers, leopards, hawks, any form of fury you care to think of. They live it up. They leap. Fast slow going traffic they spurt. Across rough pastures, through mud and creeks, they zip with superb assurance.



While our safety organizations and traffic bureaus plead with us for care and caution in driving, and our insurance companies point out that their rates are going up, our automobile manufacturers advertise their wares with what is, frankly, incitement to speed, let 'er go, step on the gas.

How do we get the boys together?

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market dawdled through light morning trading today, with no clear trend apparent in any section.

Among industrials, banks continued their mild descent with Royal off ¼, Toronto-Dominion down ⅛ and Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce down ⅜.

Consolidated Paper, Alberta Gas, Interprovincial Pipe Line and BA Oil all slipped in a ¼ to ⅜ range.

Shell of Canada climbed ¼ to 13¾, its best price since list. Lag. Consumers' Gas, Aluminium, Atlas Steel, Power Corporation and Massey-Ferguson all rose ¼.

On the exchange index, industrials dipped .01 to 566.84, golds .02 to 97.33 and base metals .26 to 187.07. Western oils inched ahead .26 to 118.28. The 11 a.m. volume was 330,000 shares compared with 487,000 at the same time Tuesday.

In base metals, Gunnar revived from Tuesday's pounding, gaining 25 cents to $8.75. Hudson Bay Mining slipped ¼.

Among western oils, Bailey Selburn A dropped 10 cents to $3.85. Pacific Petroleum and Home A both rose ¼, while Great Plains Development and Hudson's Bay both advanced ¼.

Gunnar reacted Tuesday with a steep downward swoop in news the company will purchase McNamara Corporation, a Toronto - based construction firm.

Gunnar climbed briskly in morning action, touching a day's high of $9.10. Following announcement of the deal, however, the stock sold down to $8.50, off $1.05.

Near the close of trading, the Toronto Stock Exchange revealed it had deferred approval of issuance of Gunnar of 500,000 treasury shares as part of their offer to acquire McNamara.

An exchange official said the board of governors felt that transactions of this size should be subject to shareholders' approval, and hoped this could be arranged.

Industrials pulled ahead in spirited mid-day action, but eased modestly near the close.

Banks were a major weakening influence, with Nova Scotia down ⅛, Toronto Dominion down 1¼, Royal and Montreal both down ⅜ and Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce down ⅜.

Massey-Ferguson, on a volume topping 20,000 shares, climbed ¾ to 12¾. Shell of Canada rose ¾ to 13¾—highest price since its recent listing.

International Nickel paced base metals, climbing 1¼. Hudson Bay Mining rose ¼, Labrador ¼ and Consolidated Mining and Smelting ¼.

PUC Candidate Wants to Quit Election Contest

TRENTON — Clerk-comptroller O. W. Larry said today that a peculiar situation had arisen over the election of a utilities commissioner in the Dec. 3 election.

Mr. Larry verified a rumor that Roly Whitley, nominated and qualified to oppose last year's PUC chairman, Charles Hilton, wished to withdraw from the contest.

However, Mr. Larry said that in effect, Mr. Whitley couldn't resign at this stage and that if anyone wanted to vote for him they could, and that he might be elected, against his wishes.

NO ELECTION

There will be no municipal election in Frankford this year. Assuming office by acclamation will be Reeve Frank Rabel, councillors Carman Miket, Ray Moran, Earl Bonisteel and Leonard Reid, all members of 1962 council.

Also acclaimed were hydro commissioner Orval Berry and school trustees Gerald Vasey, Douglas Bastedo and Harry Sadler.

Six men were nominated to contest the four council seats, but one nominee, Gordon Brown did not choose to qualify, and Hugh Wickson, who qualified before the deadline of 9 p.m. yesterday resigned when it became apparent that if he allowed his name to stand, an election would be necessary.

Prince Edward Flying Club Given Permit

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Civil Aeronautics Board examiner recommended Tuesday that the Prince Edward Flying Club of Picton, Ont., be authorized to operate an occasional or infrequent air service with light aircraft across the border into the adjoining area of the United States.

Examiner Joseph Fitzmaurice recommended that the authority remain in effect until the end of 1967, at which time other similar foreign air permits are due for renewal.

The authority would extend into that part of the United States between latitudes 38 and 49 degrees north, and longitudes between 69 and 90 degrees west.

Picton Macs Zero RCAF

PICTON (Special) — Sparked by exBelleville McFarland Derry Jones the Picton "Macs" raced to their first shutout here last night defeating the Trenton RCAF Globetrotters by a 6-0 score.

The McFarlands rammed home two goals in the first period and never looked backwards. They added another in the second frame and wrapped up the victory with a trio of goals in a penalty-exacted, third session.

Jones teamed with Keith MacDonald and Sam Mollbolland in scoring three of the six goals. MacDonald was credited with three assists with Sam the Man getting a pair of helpers.

Joe Scott, Lew Garrison and Jim Guernsey scored the remaining goals. Scott, Ron Wease and coach Lionel Boffy were given assists.

The game was fast and clean for two periods but tempers began to fray in the third frame when officials handed out nine of the 14 penalties issued.

Trenton goalie Johnstone was given the heave-ho for delaying the game and Ron Wease was handed a minor and a misconduct. The rest were minors.

Joe Scott with Wease and Motly gave the Macs their first goal with Jones scoring his first with MacDonald and Mollbolland getting the Macs a period 2-0 lead.

Lew Garrison scored the only goal of the second period unassisted.

Jones salted the game away early in the third frame scoring twice with MacDonald and Mollbolland. Guernsey completed the final tally with Mollbolland and Scott assisting.

the domestic economy.

The Commons granted the government $448,473,276 to enable it to carry on business during December. Funds are being provided on a month-to-month basis because none of the main appropriations for the 1962-63 fiscal year—which ends next March 31—have yet been approved.

The small pace of Commons work this session got another airing.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said he would hold a conference with opposition leaders to apportion debating time in what remains of the session before Christmas.

He then tossed in a remark looking beayond March or April bill—one not intended to pass the legislature in one session—or as a regular bill which would be amended as necessary before it took force.

Premier Roberts at a later press conference said 1964 "would be almost a minimum date—it couldn't conceivably be ready before then."

He said the original bill will provide "broadest possible terms of reference" for a non-legislative committee which will be set up to study it.

Committee members will represent the Ontario Medical Association, the Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons, the Ontario Hospital Association, insurance companies, doctor-sponsored medical insurance plans, rural co-opertive plans, labor and consumers.

Dr. Dymond said he couldn't see any sense in introducing a plan similar to Saskatchewan's. A "great deal of passion" had been generated in the prairie province which blighted any future consideration of the problem.

"I don't want to get into a hassle of this kind and I don't intend to get into a hassle."

The throne speech said the bill will be aimed at assuring that "medical health insurance from insurers by arrangement with the government, with provision for the participation of the provinces, will be available to all our people, regardless of age and physical condition."

"The government will also accept the responsibility of providing coverage for those who, for a variety of reasons, may be deemed not able to provide for themselves."

The government's decision on eventual extent of the plan would possibly depend on the findings of the federal royal commission on health services.

Both Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer and Donald Macdonald, leader of the New Democratic Party, saw in the speech an indication of an early election. The last provincial vote was June 11, 1959.

Mr. Wintermeyer said he will introduce a Liberal bill on medicare at the current session. He said in a prepared statement that the throne speech "ignores many important questions facing Ontario . . ." and contained programs long urged by the Liberals."

Mr. MacDonald said the throne speech "provides further and conclusive evidence that the Roberts government should be turned out by the people of Ontario in next year's election."

"They offer studies where there should be action on long-standing problems; where they do propose to act, their measures are of a stop-gap nature. . . ."

Both the Liberal and NDP parties have come out in favor of medical care plans similar to Saskatchewan's.

The provincial development agency promised in the throne speech will provide both financial assistance and consultative services to Ontario businesses.

One criterion for such assistance, the speech said, would be that the business "can demonstrate an ability to contribute significantly towards Ontario's economic growth."

In a memorandum released following the throne speech Economics and Development minister Macaulay said he will appoint a financial advisory committee to recommend to the agency which applicants should receive services.

Reaction to the government's medical care proposals from outside the house were varied.

Dr. A. D. Kelly, general secretary of the Canadian Medical Association said the government should have awaited the report of the royal commission on health services. "We seem to be making far-reaching decisions in a complex field . . . on a political basis."

Dr. Patrick Bruce-Lockhart, president of the Ontario Medical Association, said the government's plan seemed similar to one proposed by the OMA. But he could not support the proposal without qualification until he knew what was meant by insurance from private insurers "by arrangement with the government."

"This could mean providing subsidies for everyone, government approval of all carriers, or ordinary inspection by the department of insurance, which is done now."

Standings in the 98-seat legislature: PC 66, LIberal 24, NDP 5, vacant 3.

DIVINE COUPLE INCLUDES CANADIAN —Calling on his devoted followers, Father Divine stands beside his Canadian-born wife who was 21 when they were married in 1946. The marriage of former Montreal stenographer Edna Rose Ritchings to the Negro leader was seen by some as confirmation of Father Divine's fight against racial segregation. The self-styled god, head of the Kingdom of Peace, operates from a 72-acre estate in suburban Philadelphia. (CP from AP).

Dairyman New Mayor of Brockville

BROCKVILLE (CP) — Dairyman George E. Smith Monday was elected mayor of Brockville in the city's first mayoralty race in 10 years.

Mr. Smith, at 53 a veteran of four years on council, polled 3,122 votes to the 2,219 given his lone opponent, A Grant Kelly, 66, a retired CNR engineer and a councillor for 18 years.

The new mayor succeeds J. W. C. Langmuir who held the office by acclamation for eight years before retiring this year.

About 53 per cent of the city's 10,000 electors voted. They also elected a six-member council and approved Sunday sports by a margin of 3,343 to 1,671.

The elections were the first since this community of 17,700 achieved city status last April 1.

for his unflinching opposition to racial segregation. In 1946 he took as his second wife a 21-year-old white Canadian stenographer from Montreal.

The marriage to Edna Rose Ritchings — known as Sweet Angel and regarded in the movement as the "spotless virgin" wasn't immediately disclosed because, one associate confided, "the marriage was such a world-shaking event it might have made the followers vibrate strongly enough to destroy themselves."

He said later he had transferred the spirit of his deceased first wife (she was a Negro) into the person of the second and proclaimed they are one and the same.

Is he God? To this Father Divine has replied ambiguously:

"I don't have to say I'm god, and I don't have to say I'm not god. I said there are thousands of people call me god. Millions of them . . . and there are millions of them call me the devil. and I don't say I am god, and I don't say I am the devil But I produce god and shake the earth with it."

CALL HIM LORD

His followers, however, proclaim him the living lord—and he accepts their word without denial.

Non-believers, probing deep into court and prison files in New York where he spent the bulk of the 1920s and 30s, say he came into life as George Baker, son of a sharecropper, born on a Georgia rice plantation about 1880. This would make him 82. Others, however, say he's at least 10 years older but he married his first wife in 1882.

Father Divine, a 230-pound roly-poly man in his more active, bouncy days, has slimmed down to about 150, walks slower, but continues to be impeccably dressed. Usually he wears rings on each finger, a watch on each wrist, and a diamond stickpin in his tie. Mother Divine, too, dresses lavishly, often in mink and sometimes in a 24-carat gold lame gown.

Followers frequently take such names as Miss Charity, Job Patience, Angel Flash, Peaceful Samuel, Love Love Love, Prodigal Son, Victory Love, Bunch of Love—to name a few.

HAVE STRICT CODE

His church has a strict code of ethics, and there's no deviation, any time or anyplace. Followers are not permitted to go to the theatre or to movies. They can't smoke, drink or use cosmetics. Obscenity is prohibited and there's no undue mixing of the sexes. They accept no gifts, tips or bribes.

In the Peace Mission hotels, married couples are separated.

His movement is a massive co-operative, based on the biblical Last Supper. Its religious fervor is expressed at the banquet table, or at songfests. There is no formal service, no reading of the scriptures, no ministers.

At every meal served in every Peace Mission a seat is always set for Father Divine whether he is actually present or not.

At the various missions meals cost about 35 cents, although people may eat free if they wish.

Today in Philadelphia there are more than 80 missions and schools serving 5,000 meals a day.

MARRIED CANADIAN

Father Divine is heralded—among Negroes, particularly—

Founded by Father Divine, World-Wide Peace Kingdom Is Continuing to Prosper

By LEE Linder

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The world-wide Kingdom of Peace, founded by Father Divine, self-styled god, continues today to grow and prosper.

"Father will provide" is the byword—and he does, spiritually and materially.

At his suburban retreat—The Mount of The House of The Lord—Father Divine presides at massive banquets (featuring up to 50 different items) and listens to the praising chants of his followers. Thousands come to sit at his table.

Father Divine sits impassively, a smile relaxing the mesmeric gaze he fixes over every excited, singing assemblage. A murmured "thank you, father, thank you" rises and falls across the vast dining hall as he waves his hand over steaming plates of food.

CALLED MESSIAH

Who is this man, this messiah for so many? How has his religious cult survived depression and war and mocking publicity and gathered more believers foto the fold?

How has this Peace Mission Movement, established about 44 years ago by this five-foot-two, billiard-bald, cherubic - looking Negro, been able to amass property worth $10,000,000 or more?

The career of Father Divine, once interrupted by jail on a disorderly conduct charge that was later set aside, is one of belief mixed with superstitution and the supernatural, of faith wrapped up in filling an empty stomach.

There are many outside the movement who regard Father Divine as a charlatan. There are also many non-members who hail him as a force for great good.

To thousands of followers—in the U.S., Europe, Australis, Africa—he's a supernatural who could one day depart the earth in bodily form while leaving his divine spirit behind. They say he arrived just as mysteriously.

The bulk of the members—and no offcial count is kept—are Negroes. There are numerous whites in the movement, but no one will make an estimate since race, creed or color is not

Women's Institutes

BAY OF QUINTE W.I.

2ND OF SIDNEY—The Bay of Quinte Institute held its November meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Sickels on the 14th with a fine attendance.

The president, Mrs. Alva Dunn, was unable to be present as her little girl had unfortunately put her arm in her mother's wringer and Mr. Dunn was out looking for his uncle, the old gentleman of 91, David Casselman, who had gone hunting, became lost, and finally was found dead. Mrs. Cecil Jeffery, the 1st vice-president took over.

The roll call was "an unusual experience at school." These were interesting.

A card of thanks was received from Mrs. Morris Sickels for a gift and cards sent her while in the hospital at Trenton.

Mrs. Clayton Sickels and Mrs. Lorne White were put in charge of the card party to be held at Harold's School on December 7th at 8 p.m. Mrs. Harold Dickens was made delegate to vote on the resolutions at the area convention to be held on December 4th and 5th. One resolution being that the school children still keep Arbor Day, and that they plant maples on that day, as all that are planted these days are fir trees, and after all Canada is the land of the maple. The 2nd resolution was that it be made law, that each person driving a car, be compelled to have car insurance.

Mrs. Frank White was made alternate delegate.

Mrs. Jeffery asked as many as possible to attend the Area Convention at Club Canara on 4 and 5 of December.

Mrs. Arnold Ketcheson, convener of Citizenship and Education, told of new citizens of Canada, mentioning the Wong family of London, who have three doctors, two lawyers, a bio chemist in their family and also one in the restaurant business, as their father was.

Mrs. John Reid read "A Country Grows Up" a resume of Canada's history from the beginning till now.

Mrs. Ketcheson read a prayer on growing older. Two contests were held with Mrs. John Reid and Mrs. Morris Sickels winning prizes.

Mrs. Alva Meyers read two letters she had received from the W.I.'s adopted boy from Mexico. It takes over a month for an airmail letter to get to him. He thanked the W.I. for presents and lovely cards he had received for his birthday in September. He is very anxious to know all about Canada. He told how they lived there, very simply, not much electricity, even for the rich. It is warm all the time. He would love to have snow and the only time he can enjoy it, is at the movies once in a while.

Mrs. Donald Sanderock thanked Sharon Jeffery for singing so beautifully, filling in for the Bay of Quinte Institute at the Wooler Institute meeting recently.

Private Emme Jahns - Vos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rikkert Vos, R.R. 1 Corbyville, left Saturday for Soest, Germany, where he will serve with the Canadian Royal Regiment. Private Vos obtained part of his early education in Groningen, Holland and the latter part in Marysville Public School.

Alliance Y.F. Enjoys Yule Banquet

The annual Christmas banquet of the Alliance Church Youth Fellowship was held on Monday evening at the Club Canara.

Mr. Gordon Freeman of Oshawa, acted the blessing as over 80 persons sat down to a delicious turkey dinner. After the meal, Mr. Judson Rae, president of the Youth Fellowship, led in carol singing with Linda Pritchard presiding at the piano. This was followed by a time of personal testimony by several of the young people. Mr. Roger Rawlings was the soloist and rendered two numbers, "How Great Thou Art," and "What Shall I Give Thee Master?" These numbers were much enjoyed by all present.

The guest speaker for the evening was the Rev. John Thompson, pastor of the Park St. Alliance Church, Peterborough, who took as his text, Matthew 9: 21. "If I may but touch His garment, I shall be whole", and stressed the need today of each one "pressing through" to the Lord Jesus Christ regardless of the obstacles before them. He challenged the young people to have a purpose in life, to know where they were going and not to be among those who were lost.

The Rev. Sackville Palmer, pastor of the Alliance Church, thanked the speaker and then brought the evening to a close with the benediction.

Wedding Ring Club Hears Talk On Fluoridation Question

At the recent November meeting of the Wedding Ring Club held in College Hill Church hall, the guest speaker, Mr. A. Reid, a Northern Electric technician and Ryerson School of Technology graduate, spoke on "Fluoridation," stating that there are many less costly ways to obtain fluoride, including gum; toothpaste; salt tablets or even milk could be produced with it. Tablets costing but 2¢ per; six months use could be obtained from the druggist or dentist, who could add fluoride to distilled water so that a few drops could be added to the child's food each day.

CERTAIN AMOUNT OF POISON

He went on to say that there is a certain amount of poison in fluoride and that it could cause harm to people of 30 years or over. The only persons to benefit were babies and tots up to six years of age. The superintendent of Wellington had stated that fluoride had caused corrosion of pipes and breakdown of costly metal parts and would probably cause the same in industry.

Dr. Watt, allergist, states that some people cannot take fluoride and eliminate it properly, which results in poisoning of the system. It has caused wide comment and disagreement among many professions and it has been proven by the Food and Drug Act as a dangerous food.

DISCOLORED TEETH

The child's teeth become somewhat discolored over a period of time, which is supposed to help the teeth. If children could be watched by a doctor, individually and taken off the fluorides as soon as detrimental effects were observed, it would be all right. But, there is no alternative when it is added to the water supply. There has been no real research on this as to the dangers, and it should not be just dropped into the water without a thorough investigation to see the complete 30 years effects before Belleville tries it, was the opinion of the speaker.

An interesting question and answer period followed and the meeting closed with Mr. Charles Gray thanking Mr. Reid for his enlightening talk.

Previous to the speaker's address, the usual routine of the Club was followed with Mr. Monty Moorcroft in charge of the meeting, who gave an account of the Couples Club rally held at Tweed on Sunday afternoon and evening, stating that College Club had the largest group in attendance.

Napanee group had been in charge of the services and the theme for the day was "Delinquent Parents, and the Juvenile Delinquent."

Mr. D. I. MacKinnon of Belleville, spoke on these subjects, followed by a lively question and answer period, showing the deep interest of the parents.

BOOK REVIEW

Mr. R. Smithrim of Trenton gave an interesting book review.

Mr. Paton Jr. spoke at the evening services. A fireside hour had Mr. J. Price of Napanee as speaker, after which refreshments were served.

Mr. Moorcroft hoped that some, if all of the Wedding Ring Club would attend the next rally. It was also noted that there had been a rise in cost of the Christian Home Magazine of 20 cents. Other items included the proposed New Year's party to be held for all church groups at Albert College Hall for Dec. 31st. Mrs. Mattie Townsend were appointed to attend the coming sessions at Tabernacle United Church, as well as planning for the annual Candlelighting Service at College Hill for Sunday, December 23rd, under the leadership of the Reverend Vessey, assisted by the previous minister's commitee. The group will also supply stationery and calendars for the Church in 1963. The Christmas meeting will be on December 17 and gifts will be delivered by each couple to a shut-in in the district.

Group 3 held devotions with Annie Dickens leading and Florence Watson read the Scripture. Arlene Lott read a "Peace Prayer," and Nellie Hilts gave a poem entitled "Night On A Hilltop." The meditations were read by Guy Thompson.

SPEAKING OF MANNERS

BY PATRICIA LEWIS

NEWSPAPERWOMAN AIRS A TV GRIPE

Please permit me to destroy a distorted television image of newspapermen. And I said "please."

The inspiration for this campaign comes from a current television series about newspapermen and its highly-emotional "star reporter" who, according to the ratings, has a magic hold on the viewing audience.

In addition to combing his hair like something out of Frankenstein, he commits the unpardonable social error of going everywhere with the neck of his shirt unbuttoned and the knot of his tie flopping somewhere in the vicinity of his navel.

Since he is the hero of this otherwise fairly authentic series, the assumption would be that his getup is typical of the average newspaperman.

The assumption, however, is more apt to be shared by gullible teenagers and those adults who tend to believe everything they see on the silvery screen or on their TV sets.

I've been a newspaperwoman for more years than I care to tally, but in all those years I've rarely seen a reporter who was not the picture of decorum when covering a story.

It's true that many reporters will remove their jackets and loosen their ties in the privacy of the city room. But they know how to dress the part for specific assignments.

Unlike his television counterpart, the modern reporter has an acute sense of what is correctly worn to interview a governor, attend a press conference or cover a story at the best hotel in town.

The fact is that he's mighty proud of his work and profession and he dresses accordingly.

I think whoever does the "costuming" for the TV show in question should do a little more research. If he can't dig up the facts, then the least he should do is dig up some shirts that fit the hero a little better and add at least a bit more authenticity to the role.

What do you do when the best steak you've ever cooked is half-eaten and the phone rings?

The caller is a good friend and she obviously doesn't know what your dinner hour is. She's calling to confirm an appointment for the next day, and somehow the conversation degenerates into chit-chat about the neighbors and how cold they are. Meanwhile, your steak is getting just as cold.

Most people endure the conversation because they think it's the only polite thing to do. But it isn't. It's permissible to tell your caller that you're in the middle of dinner and that you'll call her back when the family has finished.

But be sure to get the message across as soon as you find out who's calling and long before she starts talking about the new neighbors.

Many Seek Services of Shopping Girl

By PEGGY MASSIN

PARIS (Reuters)—A young Parisian matron, known as Miss Robin, may well become the most overworked Christmas shopper in Paris.

Miss Robin — an Australian girl named Robin McCormack who married a Frenchman—directs the shopping and information service at a leading department store here and has filled in as many as 350 gift lists in a day.

A vivacious 30-year-old, Miss Robin has been running this special service for her store for the last six years.

Her advice, which is primarily sought by tourists and foreigners, does not cost anything and she is as willing to help the four lost Japanese businessmen find their hotel again as she is to offer gift suggestions for someone's uncle "who doesn't smoke and will not wear neckties."

So far this year, Miss Robin's record is 2,629 clients in one month, at the peak of the tourist season in August.

Even Parisians, who should know the resources of their own capital, seek her help for Christmas shopping. Frequently, she suggests odd items which may not even be on sale at her own store.

Bilingual Miss Robin came to Paris from Australia in 1955. Today, she is in charge of a staff of 15 young women who escort clients round the store after Miss Robin has personally supervised each list.

Neckties, Miss Robin says, are still among the most popular gift choices for men.

Statistics show the most acceptable gifts for women are perfume, gloves and beaded evening bags. Recently, there has been an increasing demand by tourists for kitchen gadgets and household items considered to be typically French.

Christ Church Chi Rho Plans Spaghetti Meal

The Chi Rho Fellowship of Christ Church have been gathering for their usual meetings in the past few weeks. During these get togethers, members have enjoyed the showing of slides and also an auction sale.

President Allan Gardiner gave an interesting presentation of slides pertaining to different sites and localities to which his work had taken him in the past.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Teed gave a showing of slides which also were subject to Mr. Teed's post of work. The group found these to be scenic and educational.

The auction sale which is put on by the Chi Rho and for the Chi Rho, was a success and made an improvement in the treasury balance. Each member donated a few items from home and these were auctioned off within the group. Mounting excitement ensued within the group as each item was bid on and this in turn made for loads of fun and laughter.

For these enjoyable evenings, the Chi Rho women in charge of supplying refreshments did a wonderful job.

ITALIAN SPAGHETTI

The past few weeks have not been all entertainment and fun for the Chi Rho as they are busy preparing another project. The project in highlight is their forthcoming Italian spaghetti supper. To get things started, it was decided among the group that Mrs. Joanne Cavalier be appointed as supper committee chairman. Mrs. Cavalier, along with her committee is doing a fine job in fulfilling their positions. Some jobs have been allotted to members while others are waiting and willing to do their share when called upon. The project such as this takes a lot of hard work and can only be achieved successfully by everyone working together, which is the real purpose of the Chi Rho Fellowship. It is hoped that all spaghetti lovers will not miss this big event. The group is putting every effort into the supper by providing a full course meal along with the appropriate music and atmosphere for their guests.

The supper is to be held at Christ Church parish hall, early in December between the hours of 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Also for the convenience of guests, a nursery will be available. Tickets will be sold at the door and a hearty welcome is extended to all.

Fruity but Light Steamed Pudding

by Mary Moore

Maybe a diet-enlightened population is becoming more vocal.

"Too rich" is the consensus of opinion of traditional plum puddings for Christmas dinner. It follows, of course. Having just eaten the richest meal of the year what comes next? — the richest dessert of the year. Some common sense should be used in this situation.

Not to break with tradition entirely I have made a simplified steamed pudding. The amounts serve 10. The batter may be steamed in two 1-pint moulds or 1-quart mould. It fills a 1-quart ring mould ideally. The sauce — Hard or Supreme — may be served in a round dish lowered into centre of ring of pudding. A garnish of well - drained Mandarin orange sections is just right. Clip the new 10 cent utensil to use it for Christmas dinner.

WEDNESDAY
(Guests for Sure)

Dinner-Menu

Hawaiian Chicken Oven-Fried (see Monday); Buttered Noodles; Large Silverskin Onions with Green Pea Sauce; Tossed Greens; Lemon Puff Squares (see Monday); Coffee.

ORANGE AND RAISIN STEAMED PUDDING:

Note: This pudding may be made one week in advance. It reheats excellently. 1-3 cup orange juice (from 1 large orange), rind of 1 orange, 1¼ cups light Sultana raisins, 1 1-3 cups sifted all-purpose flour, ½ teaspoon baking soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 1-3 cups well-packed light brown sugar, ¼ cup soft butter, ¼ cup suet shortening, 1 egg, 1 cup coarsely crushed bran flakes, ½ cup buttermilk (or sour milk).

Wash oranges. Cut in half and squeeze out juice and measure. Put the rind and the raisins through food chopper. Force all of rind through the knife by following it with a slice of stale bread. (If a few crumbs of bread sneak through into the mixture it does no harm.) Into large mixing bowl, sift together the sifted flour, baking soda, baking powder and salt. Make a well in centre and add sugar, butter, shortening, egg and orange juice and beat until smooth. Add orange rind and raisin mixture. Add crushed bran flakes alternately with the buttermilk or sour milk and stir until blended. Turn into buttered mould (see above). Cover snugly with foil or heavy greased brown paper tied on and steam 2 hours.

NOTE:

If your moulds are aluminum do not store puddings in them. Remove and wrap in foil and store. Reheat in mould. Raisins make holes right through aluminum moulds if mixture containing them is stored in aluminum mould. One hour before serving time reheat pudding in original moulds. Serve with Sauce Supreme: Cream ¼ cup soft butter and 2-3 cup sifted icing sugar. Add 1 egg, ½ teaspoon vanilla and dash of salt and beat thoroughly. Fold in ½ pint of whipping cream, stiffly beaten.

Or

Hard Sauce: One-third cup butter, 1 cup sifted icing sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon almond or rum flavoring. Beat together with electric or rotary beater or by hand with wooden spoon until smooth and light. Pile on serving dish, sprinkle with nutmeg. Chill until hard.

Montreal Art Dealer Opens New Gallery

MONTREAL (CP) — Mrs. Blums Appel, Montreal art dealer, has opened a gallery for those who dream of owning original works but fear they can't afford them.

The Little Gallery is a roomful of art for the sort of person who feels "that a print is like a counterfeit $10 bill."

Mrs. Appel, co-owner of Waddington Galleries, began working on the idea two years ago when she noticed how many students and newlyweds visited the gallery Saturdays.

She explains the purpose of the Little Gallery is to encourage young people to buy originals instead of reproductions. None of the 10 paintings in the room is priced higher than $100.

"Many of these young people are the ones who want originals the most. They want a painting for its own sake, not because it matches their furniture."

The gallery also hopes to stimulate young artists. "They want their paintings to go where they will be most appreciated."

Women's Activities

(U.C.W.)

WHITE'S DISTRICT — The November meeting of White's United Church Women was held at the home of Mrs. Albert Jones with Mrs. William Yateman in charge, who opened with the reading of a Psalm, followed by prayer by the Rev. Dr. Swann.

Mrs. W. Jeffery gave a report on finances and reminded everyone that the copper-per-day fund was to be handed in, in December. Instead of the usual exchange of gifts an extra collection will be taken for the U.C.W. All members will assist with the lunch and the program for the December meeting.

It was decided to ask the A.T.O.S. Club for their January meeting instead of December.

Mrs. A. Jones was in charge of the devotional service reading from Luke 11: 1-10. The story of the lesson was headed, "Teach us to Pray". "Prayer is everybody's gift and privilege. The humblest and most ignorant child of God may have as much power in prayer as the most learned professor. So the cry of our hearts must be the same as the cry of the disciple of Jesus when he said, "Lord, teach us to pray". Mrs. Jones closed with prayer.

The hostess served lunch and a social time was enjoyed.

Women's Institute

CHAPMAN'S W.I.

TWEED — The November meeting of the Chapman's Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Kelly with twenty-one members present.

A letter was read from Elizabeth Ajo, 12-year-old Italian girl who is sponsored by Chapman's Institute, expressing her appreciation for money she had received to further her education. This is the second year she has been sponsored.

As education was the topic for November Mrs. Lincoln Elliott, who had charge of the program, introduced Mr. George H. Waldrum, inspector of elementary schools for Hastings No. 3. He gave an inspiring and enlightening address on education of elementary school expressing the facts of education. Mrs. Howard Countryman on behalf of the members expressed appreciation for the interesting message which was enjoyed by all.

The December meeting will be held in the Township Hall with a pot-luck supper.

Following the meeting lunch was served.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

ROSLYN R. — She's going through middle - age madness.

MRS. T.I. — I never felt so young in my life.

Roslyn R. — My mother is a widow of 60. My father left her comfortably provided for and she has no one to worry about except herself. My brother and I are married and settled down. But she'd better start worrying about herself soon, because she's being made a fool of.

With the help of a plastic surgeon, beauty parlors and a varicose vein job, she's sure she can pass for 30. She looks good, yes, but not that good. Still, she won't listen to me, but instead she believes the young beatnik she pals around with now. This jerk used to eat in beaneries, but now my mother takes him to the Ritz for Sunday dinner. Formerly he looked like a slob, but, thanks to Mother, his nails are manicured and his trousers pressed.

She says she's a different woman. The difference is she's much poorer.

Mrs. T.I. — I'm not going to worry about Roslyn's spiting cold water on my present happiness. All I know is that when I'm with this young gentleman, I'm a new woman. He's polite and respectful. And by keeping myself in good shape, we don't look at all ridiculous together.

This gives me wonderful company for theatre and dinner. I've even gone dancing with him, and he didn't want to change partners, when the opportunity occurred after meeting a couple I knew.

He's only 28 and I don't know where we're headed. I see him every afternoon and evening. It can't be all an act on his part. He has young friends he can be with if he prefers. But whom would you choose between a daughter who tells me to remember my age, and an attentive young blade who tells me to forget it?

The Council: A lamb being led to slaughter is better off not knowing where he's headed. A woman of 60 isn't. How long does Mrs. I. think the combined efforts of masseuses and beauticians can ward off the day of reckoning? She's fighting what must be a losing battle, for the antagonist is Time. So, we agree with Roslyn that she'd better start worrying about the day after tomorrow.

Once in a while one hears of a May and December combo succeeding. But age doesn't really enter into the relationship. They see themselves as ageless, consider themselves soul mates because of similar enthusiasms and tastes. Mrs. I. and her protege give no evidence of being linked on such terms. They haven't "come clean" with each other.

Does this benefactress know, for example, what the young man's regular means of livelihood is? Roslyn implies he works on "projects" such as her mother, and that business is fine for him right now. In other words, is he making a career out of unremunding lonely, but loaded, widows?

She sees him afternoons and evenings. What does he do mornings? Maybe he has breakfast with his old pals and jokes about the old bag he's bamboozling. We urge her to take clear-eyed stock of the set-up, rather than let herself be a laughing-stock.

Despite Ponce de Leon's claims of 500 years ago, there's no real fountain of youth for fooling Nature. And many others can testify that limited bank accounts, like oil wells, run dry at embarrassing and crucial times.

While Mrs. I. still has a son and a shred of sense she should level with the gallant escort. The sign up ahead, if they both look at it, says Dead End.

W.I. Holds Card Party

STIRLING — The fourth card party sponsored by River Valley Women's Institute was held Friday evening at the school with 11 tables in play, with 17 guests in attendance from Stirling, Campbellford, Mount Pleasant, and Frankford. The clear proceeds of the evening were over $15.

Prizes were awarded as follows: ladies' high — Miss Marie Heasman; second — Mrs. Sam Kirker; men's high — Percy MacMullen; second — Carmen Fitchett.

Refreshments were served at the close of the game.

The conveners were Mrs. Roy Tucker, Mrs. Glenn Morrow, Mrs. Percy Craighead, Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh and their assistants.

The last party for 1962 will be held Friday evening of this week and that will conclude the entertainment until the new year.

White's Church S.S. Holds Annual Meet

WHITE'S DISTRICT — The annual meeting of White's Church Sunday School was held at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Dafoe on Tuesday evening.

The meeting opened with the Psalm 72, and the Lord's Prayer.

It was decided to hold a White Gift service on Sunday, December 9th, and also to visit Green Acres Rest Home to sing carols. The Christmas party this year is to be held on Sunday afternoon, December 16th, at 2.00 p.m. Each class is to provide three numbers for the program. Mrs. Eric Jones and Mrs. Lawrence Dafoe offered to look after the candy treat. Mrs. Hunt and Mrs. Dafoe are to look after the gifts and Mrs. A. Jones the Christmas tree.

All officers were returned to office. The intermediate girls and boys assistant teacher is Miss Gwen Stickle, junior girls' and boys' assistant teacher is Mrs. Campbell; beginner's assistant teacher will be Miss Cynthia Jones.

After the meeting closed the hostess served refreshments and a social time was enjoyed.

DREAM COME TRUE—Alan Farrell and his wife relax on board their schooner Ocean Girl, their home in the harbor at Nanaimo, B.C., on Vancouver Island. The couple built the schooner together piece by piece in three years. This year they completed a 10,000-mile cruise down the Pacific coast to the Hawaiian Islands and back. (CP Photo).

Life on the Ocean Wave All Started With a Book

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP)—Alan Farrell read a book about sailing when he was 17. He has never strayed from a life near water since.

In the last 30 years he has built three dozen vessels, improving his craftsmanship with each until he was ready for a master stroke — the schooner Ocean Girl, his home.

He and his wife Sharie, both 50, have used their talents to give themselves as much freedom as possible.

With their three sons grown up in Pender Harbor, on Vancouver Island, they set out four years ago to build the Ocean Girl together, piece by piece, without the aid of modern power tools.

She was ready a year ago, and recalling their seven-month South Seas adventure in 1951, they headed again down the Pacific coast.

It was a leisurely cruise. They spent a couple of months in California, five months drifting down the Mexican coast to Acapulco, and a month and a half exploring the Hawaiian Islands.

The 10,000-mile voyage described a giant triangle and brought them back in August. They have been cruising since in British Columbia waters, never stopping anywhere for long.

"That's the beauty of living on a boat," says Farrell. "You can come and go as you please."

Highlights of Missionary Needs Given at Wesleyan Convention

At the recent missionary convention held at Wesleyan Methodist Church, the following highlights were taken from the various addresses given by the speaker for that day.

On Tuesday, in addressing the opening service of the Missionary Convention in the Wesleyan Methodist Church, Everett Street, the Rev. Dr. H. K. Sheets, general superintendent, spoke as his text, Ephesians 4:16, emphasizing the fact that it is "The effectual working of every part - - - which maketh increase of the body." Speaking on behalf of Church Extension in the Denomination, he illustrated that the Church does not grow as a train adds cars, but must grow from within, with a Calvary motive - - - Love.

On Wednesday, Miss Bertha Major, Reg. N., who had arrived in Canada on furlough from Sierra Leone, West Africa, only in August, was able to give the congregation some valuable, first-hand reports concerning this African colony, which is the latest to receive her independence from Great Britain.

COLORED SLIDES

With the use of colored slides, her running commentary on drums and devil dancers, sacrifices, female fish-traders and Limba dancers, was most entertaining. Although her phase of work in Sierra Leone was primarily medical, Miss Major's broad scope of information on the entire nation was most interesting. With regard to the religious life of the people, she stated that though many of them were aware of the God of creation, heaven, Adam and Eve, they were to a great extent without the knowledge of the coming of Jesus Christ to take away sin. Thus it is that a man, whose total income per month would not exceed $23, will sacrifice a cow which cost $120. to appease "evil spirits".

HOSPITAL PROCEDURE

In describing hospital procedure, she pointed out that, with a capacity of 65 beds, the number of patients often exceed 90, with mothers, who were patients bearing two or three children with them. In addition to maternity and surgical patients, the Wesleyan Methodist leper clinic in Sierra Leone is the largest in that country.

With regard to the educational status of these Africans, there are only 450 university graduates out of a population of two million and 85 per cent of these graduates received their elementary education in Mission schools. Presently there are over 2,000 children enrolled in the 11 Wesleyan Methodist Primary Schools.

For the benefit of the children, Miss Major sang two numbers in the Themne and Limba dialects, before closing her program.

MOST BACKWARD ISLANDS

Thursday evening, the Rev. Dan McCandless from the island of Haiti spoke to the convention. Presently stationed on the off-shore island of La Gonave, Mr. McCandless described these islands as the most backward lands in the western hemisphere. Colored slides, graphically illustrated this fact.

The people, descendants of French slaves, number 4 million with an illiteracy rate of 90 per cent. Textbooks printed in French for the teacher often must be translated into Creole for the pupils and it is not uncommon for one teacher to have 85 students.

Mr. McCandless clarified a point regarding missionaries hiring "house-girls", which in Americans sounds like a luxury. He pointed out that this serves several purposes; it releases the missionary's wife for medical or teaching duties, while at the same time these girls are earning their living and spared a life of immorality; and learning the standards of a Christian home.

39 MISSIONARIES

Presently stationed on these two islands are 39 skilled Wesleyan Methodist missionaries who conduct medical treatment, of, from 4 to 9 hundred patients daily, in addition to Christian Education and Radio Evangelism.

On Friday night a most informative lecture was delivered by the Rev. Virgil Mitchell, Wesleyan Methodist missionaries who conduct medical treatment, secretary of Church Extension and Evangelism. He outlined the manner in which Wesleyan Methodist Missions are departmentalized at the headquarters in Marion, Indiana.

"World Missions Department" is responsible for all missionary activity outside of North America, and also includes the evangelism of the American Indian and Jews.

THREE CATEGORIES

"The Department of Church Extension and Evangelism," of which Mr. Mitchell is head, is carried on in three categories, namely: general, conference and local, within the North American continent.

To emphasize Canadian responsibility, Mr. Mitchell quoted that while the population of Canada increased 30 percent in the ten years, 1951 to 1961, the gain in Protestant church membership increased only 15 per cent. Thus, for every two persons born in that period, only slightly more than one was reached by the Church for the Lord Jesus Christ. Mr. Mitchell stated, "If the church does not arise and evangelize on the homefront, a spiritual blackout is possible in the foreseeable future."

COST OF WORLD MISSIONS

On Saturday evening and again on Sunday the church was challenged by the Rev. Warren Woolsey, returned missionary from Sierra Leone, West Africa, who stated

"Jest a Second"

"....Well that's too bad if his office work is piling up, but just have to wait — the same as his housework is having to .."

solemn vow to God.

HEARERS INDEBTED

The members and adherents of the Wesleyan Methodist Church are indebted to the five speakers who addressed their first Missionary Convention of this length. Cash and pledges amounting to approximately $850. were received; to be equally divided between Church Extension in the Canada Conference and World Missions.

"World Missions cost God, His Son; they cost Jesus Christ, His life; they cost the average Wesleyan Methodist, less than $16. a year". Utilizing the Scriptural account of the feeding of the five thousand, he pointed out that the miracle was performed by Jesus, but He gave the disciples, the privilege of feeding the hungry multitude.

"The danger today, however, is that it is so fatally easy for all of us to get so involved in our 'Own 'program, we fail to see the needs of others".

TRAINING CHRISTIAN LEADERS NEEDED

"Africans today are facing pressures from every side, political, urban, civilization and Communism; they are as sheep without a shepherd', and need trained, Christian leaders, who are Nationals.

Mr. Woolsey pointed out that the Wesleyan Methodist Church in Sierra Leone is working to this end with primary, elementary, vernacular and secondary school programs. A point worthy of note is that while the National average of passing students in Secondary Schools is only one out of three, in the WM S.S. 21 out of 23 passed their examinations.

The future of Sierra Leone is uncertain but, at the present time, Mr. Woolsey said, "there is a wide open door for effective service". He entreated the young people of the church to make the words of "I'll Go Where You Want Me To Go" a

Pope Extends Council Recess To September

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John has extended the 1963 recess of the Roman Catholic ecumenical council by four months, telling the prelates to return in September instead of May from a recess that begins Dec. 8.

The Pope's decision for a nine - month break was announced at today's closed council session in St. Peter's Basilica where 2,200 bishops examined a thesis exploring possible roads toward Christian unity.

SIU System

commission counsel Charles Dubin cross-examined SIU executive Vice-President Leonard J. McLaughlin on the union's DNS list.

Mr. McLaughlin admitted the list was maintained until 1957 or 1958 when it was ruled illegal by the labor relations section.

He said the union now keeps a card-index file of some of the names on the DNS list, plus others who have been reported to the union on charges of contract constitutional violations. He said the file was for "information" purposes only.

It was this file—already scrutinized in private by commission investigators — that the judge wanted to see today.

Mr. Dubin said he needed the file to continue his questioning of Mr. McLaughlin.

He also asked for other DNS documents—papers which Mr. McLaughlin contended were destroyed some four years ago.

Mr. Dubin said the documents would be found in a filing cabinet on the fourth floor of the SIU headquarters in Montreal—a clear indication that commission investigators had uncovered them during their search of the union.

FUNDS SHIFTED

The day-long cross-examination of Mr. McLaughlin also revealed that the SIU shifted more than $100,000 into its general funds in 1957—money that had been collected since 1952 from SIU members for use in international organization campaigns.

Mr. McLaughlin had insisted that the money had been sent to the United States—apologizing for his "mistake" only after Mr. Dubin produced documentary evidence on the transfer of funds.

At another point, Mr. McLaughlin denied that an American SIU official, Jack Kasper, had been on the SIU payroll in 1957. Mr. Dubin said SIU records showed that he collected $1,667 over a seven-month period.

Earlier witnesses testified that Mr. Kasper, a former heavyweight boxer, was imported to Canada as a "muscleman" for SIU President Hal C. Banks. They named him as the man who beat up a rival union leader in 1957.

IS YOUNGEST MONARCH

Her mother, Queen Emma, ruled as a regent until Wilhelmina came of age at 18, when she became the youngest monarch in Europe while Queen Victoria of England was the oldest.

When she was 21, she married Prince Henry, Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, and in 1909 gave birth to Juliana.

After the First World War she faced world criticism when it was said she was responsible for allowing the fugitive former emperor Kaiser of Germany to stay in Holland. But she refused to see him.

When the Nazis invaded neutral Holland in 1940, she launched a "flaming protest" against the violation of Dutch territory and was almost captured as a hostage.

Her palace in The Hague was attacked by paratroops who landed in the garden and with Princess Juliana, Prince Bernhard and their children, she took refuge in her residence in the capital where they stayed unrecognized for three days and two nights.

To safeguard the dynasty, the queen sent Juliana and her children to Britain and followed aboard a British destroyer, her only luggage a small jewel case.

In 1943, she flew to visit Juliana, in exile in Canada, and addressed the Canadian Parliament before returning to England.

TIME FOR A CHANGE? YES . .

- Because times are changing—specifically in the business way of thinking.
- Belleville depends on business.
- Belleville itself is big business.
- There are two current examples of the change of the times as far as Belleville and business is concerned:
- The extension of shopping facilities from downtown Belleville to the 401 highway.
- The decision of J. J. Cash to consolidate its plant operations in Montreal. We must recognize that these are changing times.

But how prepared is Belleville to meet such changes?

We have heard — for years — about the need for promoting the city's industrial potential. Yet in these years what has been achieved?

Blank!

Worse, our industrial blueprint now is shrinking. This is the second industry lost to Belleville within three years and the industrial promotion campaigns have found no alternative to maintain the industrial capacity much less increase it.

WHY? THE ANSWER IS SIMPLE. BECAUSE CIVIC GOVERNMENT IN THIS CITY IS CONCERNED MORE WITH BEING SWAYED TOWARD AVOIDING CONFLICTING OPINION IN OPEN COUNCIL, THAN WITH EXERTING ITSELF TO FIGHTING FOR PROGRESS.

In this atmosphere of caucus and committee decisions, despite the protests of some, maintaining the status quo is assuming proportions of a Bi-weekly triumph. As long as the surface is unruffled, it matters little how low the ship settles.

In business life, I have been too closely associated with corporation enterprise not to know what the trouble is.

I heard a civic finance committee in this city long enough to know what a big business it is. All of us know the common threat.

THAT IS: WITHOUT SUFFICIENT, PROPERLY BALANCED ASSESSMENT, THE FINANCING OF THIS CITY WILL BE A SERIOUS PROBLEM. OUR POPULATION WILL BE GREATER—IS GREATER NOW—THAN THE MONEY IT CAN REASONABLY PROVIDE FOR THE SERVICES IT NEEDS.

Extension of services without a properly-balanced assessment can only lead to the greatest difficulties.

Belleville is a $4,500,000,000 business. But it is public business, and the outcome of public business cannot always be smoothed over before a decision is reached.

AS VOTERS AND TAXPAYERS YOU WILL BE ASKED TO MAKE A DECISION ON DECEMBER 3RD. I ASK THAT DECISION TO BE

Canadian C of C Proposes Commission to Chart Trade Policy in Changing World

OTTAWA (CP)—A one-year study by a royal commission to chart a trade policy for Canada in a fast-changing trading world was proposed today by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

In its annual brief to Prime Minister Diefenbaker and the federal cabinet, the chamber also called for a slowdown in government spending, cuts in income taxes and "early efforts" to balance the federal budget.

"A balanced budget is a pressing objective," said the chamber, the national voice of more than 850 Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce across Canada.

The brief, presented by a delegation headed by President Victor Gland of Halifax, said trade expansion is essential to continued economic growth and a satisfactory living standard.

In the present period of dynamic change in world trading relations, effective communication between government and all segments of Canadian business was of paramount importance.

"Greater co-ordination than has been achieved thus far is essential to determine the trade policies which will best serve Canada's interests."

WANTS COMMISSION

The government should immediately appoint a commission of inquiry, to report within a year, in order to gather the necessary facts, stimulate a change of information and promote more co-ordinated policies.

Dealing with government finances, the chamber expressed concern that government spending has risen at a faster rate than national production.

It said a growing share of federal expenditures is going to support public consumption of goods and services "at the expense of capital accumulation and investment."

"If the Canadian economy is to maintain a satisfactory rate of growth, there must be more emphasis on increased savings, capital investment and productivity, and less on new welfare programs."

To encourage savings and investment, the chamber said the government should reduce its present reliance on personal and corporation income taxes and act now to revise the federal tax structure without waiting for the report of the new royal commission on taxation.

To control government spending, a Chamber of Commerce spokesman said the government should implement many of the recommendations in the 1960 report of the Glassco royal commission on government operations—a report issued after the chamber's brief was drafted.

The Chamber of Commerce submission included several proposals not directly connected with the state of the economy. Among them:

1. Adoption by Parliament of a distinctive national flag and recognition of "O Canada" as the official national anthem.

2. Revision of the Lord's Day Act "to reflect present day conditions and to remove anomalies" in the law governing the observance of Sunday.

3. Legalization of lotteries, under strict government supervision.

4. Recognition of bilingualism "not only as a constitutional duty but essential to the national unity and of social, economic and cultural progress throughout the country."

The chamber's brief reiterated its opposition to government's role in business and said it should stop selling annuities by the Canadian Corporation of the National Film Board apart from its role in distributing and advising government departments.

LIBERAL CANDIDATE—A. Robert Temple (left) received the nomination as Liberal candidate for South Hastings in the next federal election yesterday evening at the Liberal nomination convention. With Mr. Temple are his wife and Roy Sills, president of the local Liberal riding association, who was also a contestant for the nomination.

Robert Temple Selected To Carry Liberal Banner In Next Federal Election

Robert Temple, the Liberal candidate for South Hastings in the recent federal election, will again carry the Liberal banner in the next federal election decided the 270 delegates representing the executive of the riding Tuesday evening at the Bellville Collegiate Auditorium.

Mr. Temple and Roy Sills, president of the South Hastings Liberal Association, contested the nomination in a two-way fight.

Dr. D. C. McVicker of Deseronto, who was also nominated as a candidate, announced his decision to stand down after a forceful speech urging the riding's Liberals and supporters to really get out and work in the next election without looking for any reward. There were too many people who thought that their part in the politics of Canada should consist only of standing around on election day with their hands out, he declared.

C. M. "Red" Drury, M.P., former Deputy Minister of National Defence, was the guest speaker.

Speaking on the topic "What Has Happened to Canada," the former Canadian Army brigadier and chief of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Agency Mission to Poland discussed the position which Canada has occupied in recent years both nationally and internationally.

The past and current Progressive Conservative government has displayed such a "distinct lack of leadership" that Canada's reputation internationally as a leading medium sized power in the United Nations and abroad has been severely tarnished. This is the case evident, he said, when one listens to the questions asked in Canadian which is happening in Canada by peoples abroad.

Nationally there has been a display of a lack of sense of direction and of purpose from the party which once claimed to be endowed with a vision for a greater Canada, Mr. Drury said.

NOTHING HAPPENED

Nothing has happened in the nature of enlightened or energetic government leadership from the minority government in power to change the situation, the speaker suggested.

Rather, the first act of the minority government was to disclose that they had grossly mislead the people of Canada during the election campaign as to the country's well-being when they suddenly came out with an austerity program initiated by an order-in-council, he said.

He criticized Mr. Diefenbaker for failing to lay the country's problem before the elected representatives of the country for their consideration on this matter and also for presenting views at the Commonwealth Prime Ministers Conference in London, which were unsupported by Parliament.

The current Parliament is "virtually incapable" of effecting the courageous type of legislation which is required to put Canada right, Mr. Drury advised. The reliance of the minority government on a group of 30 "transient" individuals is a very shaky support which is incapable of producing effective leadership, he suggested.

The Liberal Party feels very strongly that this frustrating situation should not be the lot of Canadians — "we should be a leading middle power not a stagnant nonentity" declared Mr. Drury.

Other countries in the world, including those of Europe, the United Kingdomm and the United States, are progressing with coherance and leadership during these changing times — this is what Canada so urgently needs but is not receiving, he said.

The lack of policy by the Conservative government was most evident during the Cuban crisis, the speaker suggested.

NOT GETTING LEADERSHIP CLAIM

The RCAF was eventually put on an alert basis with no Voodoos to defend the country if necessary and with a bunch of Bomarcs which were capable of doing "about as much damage to an attacking force as an adolescent with a motor car," he said.

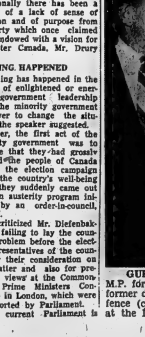
"We are not getting the positive leadership which we need and to which we are entitled," he declared.

The speaker called for people to dedicate themselves to the task of pulling Canada up to the position she should hold. He suggested that a kind of daring was required in Canada similar to that which Europe, the United States and Great Britain are getting in their current leadership.

The downhill trend continues and Canada is still in the backwaters, he contended.

"It is entirely beyond the capacity of the present government to even envisage this need much less to provide the necessary leadership," Mr. Drury concluded.

During his nomination address Mr. Temple stated that he was prepared to renew his pledge to work tirelessly on behalf of the Liberal Party if nominated. During the last election the Conservative majority was cut from 8,000 to 1,650 votes, he advised.



"The next federal election will see a Liberal Member of Parliament for South Hastings no matter who you nominate as candidate tonight," Mr. Temple said.

"The Liberal Party was originally founded on a need for reform and progress in Canada and never was the need greater than the present," said the successful candidate.

OUTLIVED ITS DAY

Mr. Temple outlined the Liberal Party's stand on a neet for external relations facilities which would allow any competent student to carry his education to the end without having to worry about the financial support necessary to do so.

Canada loses whenever an untrained youth enters the labor force, he said. He also emphasized the need for new industry and more jobs which would be created through an expansionary trade policy, for instance

GUEST SPEAKER—C. M. Drury, M.P. for St. Antoinne-Westmount and former deputy minister of national defence (centre), was the guest speaker at the Liberal nomination convention last night. Police Bullets Thud Into Stolen Car

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Police bullets thudded into a stolen car driven by two youths in a 100-miles-an-hour chase Tuesday along the Queen Elizabeth Way.

Five police cars were involved in the 40-mile chase from the Burlington Skyway to Jordan Harbor, five miles west of here.

Police said the car was stolen from Stouffville and noticed as it sped through the toll gates and raced down Queen Elizabeth Way.

The car eluded a road block a little east of Grimsby and finally forced to the side of the road by a police car.

The two youths were charged with dangerous and careless driving.

Prime Minister Not Sure Committees Are Answer

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker, once a friend of advocate of Commons committees carrying a greater load of parliamentary work, appeared to be having second thoughts on the subject.

He confessed in the Commons Tuesday that "I am not at all as certain today as I was then that the committee system is the system to adopt under our parliamentary plan of government."

Two reasons are mentioned among MPs for Mr. Diefenbaker's change of heart.

Opposition MPs argue that it stems from the fact that in this Parliament the committees the government cannot be sure of swinging a majority of votes behind any line of action it proposes in committee.

However, government supporters see Mr. Diefenbaker's new attitude as evidence that greater use of committees in the last Parliament failed to improve the conduct of business and merely provided the opposition with additional platforms from which to make a play to the electorate.

Mr. Diefenbaker did not spell out his reasons for changing what Mackenzie King, in the 1940s when he was Liberal government leader, used to call "the committee system is not in keeping with British tradition of government as we parliamentary system.

J. W. Pickersgill (L—Bonavista-Twillingate) said outside the House "I am exceedingly impressed that Mr. Diefenbaker's conversion is a matter of principle. I can't help but feel that he has a close relationship to the fact that the government hasn't a majority on any committee."

Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre), an expert on the use of committees investigation, said "it's interesting that his remarks were made in Parliament where he doesn't enjoy a majority."

Their point is that Mr. Diefenbaker doesn't intend that any potentially explosive issue should get into the hands of a committee where it might be more difficult than in the House to prevent opposition parties from taking a course that might be politically damaging to the government.

Uranium Production Likely To Fall for Next Two Years

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian Uranium production is likely to fall drastically for two years, but only recover to more than 60 per cent of present capacity by 1970, the Ontario department of energy resources predicts in a study of uranium prospects.

The study published Tuesday said under existing contracts with the United States and Britain, are scheduled to fall steadily from 8,753 tons this year to 7,200 tons annually in the period 1967 to 1969.

However, the study set potential sales in 1970 at 6,191 tons of uranium oxide. Present capacity, based on 1961 production is 10,000 tons.

This, the study says' "would be enough to take the total production of five of the largest mines in Canada at a production rate high enough to ensure economical operation and competitive prices."

One reason for the jump in prospective sales in 1970 is that Britain is expected to be back in the market by then, the study says.

The study said its forecast is also based on the assumption that by 1970, the U.S. uranium market will be reserved for U.S. producers, but that Canada will keep 100 per cent of its own market, win 80 per cent of the British and Japanese markets, and take 30 per cent of the market in the six-member European Common Market.

Reduced production before 1970 will probably mean that the industry will "require considerable rehabilitation before being able to produce more than 7,000 tons annually and . . . the price of U-308 would have to be $7 or $8 a pound," the study said.

Basic price for uranium sold to Britain under a contract announced earlier this year is $5.53 a pound.

Russia Has Fleet of 12 Nurclear Subs and Building At Rate of Six a Year

LONDON (Reuters)—Russia has a fleet of 12 nuclear-powered submarines now operating and is building more at a rate of five or six a year, the latest edition of Jane's Fighting Ships reports.

Jane's, annual reference book of the world's warships, says the Russian nuclear submarines are of three new types, including two armed with guided missiles and one designed as an attack or hunter-killer submarine.

Thirty Russian submarines in operation, 10 of them nuclear-powered, are equipped for missile launchings, Jane's says.

The present missiles have a range of only about 250 miles but improved missiles of the U.S. Polaris type, with a range of about 1,500 miles, probably will be fitted by the end of this year.

The Polaris can be fired from a submerged submarine.

'PARENT SHIP'

The authoritative publication says the Soviet Union will start the trials of a nuclear submarine armed with Polaris-type missiles probably before the end of 1963. It also says the nuclear-ice-breaker Lenin is "actually a parent ship for the nuclear-powered submarine flotilla."

The total Russian fleet of conventional and nuclear submarines is believed to be 465 vessels, much higher than the United States total of 178.

But 32 of the American submarines are nuclear-powered, and the U.S. plans by 1967 to have 81 nuclear-powered submarines afloat, Jane's says.

In its foreword, Jane's says a "puzzling" feature of Soviet naval policy is that old or obsolete vessels are seldom scrapped.

"Most ships not being refitted are fully manned and of operational status."

The United States navy "has a new construction record of which it can be proud and which must be the envy of all other nations," the reference books says.

"A summary of the strength of the United States Navy presents the most imposing array of warships the world has ever known in peacetime.

"It includes 16 of the aircraft carrier type, 43 of the cruiser type, 284 of the destroyer type, 239 of the destroyer escort type, 26 nuclear-powered submarines, 100 conventionally-powered submarines, 243 minecraft, 240 amphibious, 420 fleet auxiliaries, and 1,260 service craft."

Nigerian Ambassador Wants To Take on Winch on TV

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Nigeria's ambassador to the United Nations has invited Canadian MP Harold Winch to discuss on television or elsewhere whether Canadians or Africans are seeking eventual world domination.

Chief S. O. Adebo, Nigeria's permanent delegate to the United Nations, said he would welcome the opportunity to meet the Vancouver politician who was "obviously a friend of Africa."

Adebo said he wants to discuss with Winch "how he came to gain this erroneous impression of the aims and objectives of the African peoples in their quest for greater co-operation and unity."

Debo said in an interview he could "hardly believe my ears" when he heard that Winch, the Democratic Party member for Vancouver East, had said emerging nations see Pan-Africanism as a first step toward world domination.

"I should like to meet him on radio or television and ask him in what sense he found the African people thinking of domination," said Adebo.

"I'm sure that even the United States — certainly one of the world's greatest powers — is not pursuing or even thinking of world domination. The thing is ridiculous."

Winch had said in an interview last Wednesday the domination was the general impression gained by him and, he believed, most Canadian delegates during a five-week visit to Nigeria.

Adebo, former head of Nigeria's foreign office, said he knows Canada, including Vancouver, well since he spent 3½ months in that country in 1953 and had visited it again in 1960.

"I have my own idea of pan-Africanism and I believe it does represent the general view," Adebo declared.

"We see it first and foremost as a way to establish the fact — in which the African people, deeply believe—that a man is what he is as a result of the opportunities given to him and how he has used them.

"Therefore we want to establish that the African people and all men of color for that matter, are given the opportunity can do as well as other people, whether politically, economically or otherwise."

Edmonton Cubmaster Cited For Mention at Investiture

OTTAWA (CP)—An Edmonton cubmaster who lost his life while attempting to save three of his Wolf Cubs from drowning was cited for special mention Tuesday by Governor-General Vanier at the annual chief scout's investiture.

The Governor-General paid special tribute to Cubmaster Leo Maynard Nickerson, 36, who saved one boy then lost his life when he attempted to save three more from drowning in Lake Wabanum on July 14, 1961.

The award was one of 24 made Tuesday in a Government House ceremony.

The Bronze Cross, presented posthumously to Mr. Nickerson, was received by his widow, the mother of five children.

Mrs. Nickerson, 13, and Patty 11, flew to Ottawa with their mother for the ceremony. Mrs. Nickerson was presented the receiving line following the official ceremony, Mme. Vanier embraced her.

The highest award presented was the Cornwell Scout Badge, known as "the Victoria Cross of scouting," which went to Patrol Leader Geoffrey Lee Knowles, 15, of Drummondville, Que.

Geoffrey was stricken with polio when he was six and was so crutches when he joined the Cubs at eight years of age. There was barely a trace of a limp when he received his citation Tuesday for "Scout-like courage and fortitude under great suffering, over an extended period of time."

Among those receiving Silver Crosses was Peter Allan Adams 11, Southampton, Ont., for saving Terry Eagleson from drowning in Lake Saugeen.

Among those receiving Gilt Crosses were:

Kenneth Latimer, 14, Windsor, Ont., for rescuing Patrick Smith who had fallen through the ice on the Old Mill Creek.

William John Martin Hughes, 14, Holtyre, Ont., for attempting to rescue Douglas MacMillan from drowning at the Black River Rapids.

BOY IS KILLED

BRUSSELS, Ont. (CP)—Murray Robertson, 13, of nearby Belgrave died Tuesday night when the car in which he was a passenger crashed.

SCHOONERS POPULAR — Adare, owned by Brig. deB. Oland of Halifax, is the oldest schooner in the Nova Scotia Schooner Association fleet. Converted from a fishing craft built 57 years ago, most of its original planks now have been replaced. The revived popularity of such small schooners among yachtsmen has injected new life into Nova Scotia's boat-building industry. (CP Photo).

Building Small Schooners Brings Boatyard Boom To Workers in Nova Scotia

By ED WALTERS

HALIFAX (CP)—In boatyards along Nova Scotia's south shore from Hackett's Cove to La Have, men skilled in the art of laying a keel have gone back to building a type of vessel they thought had gone for good.

Small schooners, from 25 to 43 feet long, are rising on the stocks as Nova Scotia yachtsmen and an increasing number of outsiders place orders in what promises to be one of the biggest boat-building booms to hit the province before the Second World War.

The vessels are modelled after the miniature schooners that formerly did the inshore fishing job now taken over by flat-sterned motor-powered Cape Island boats.

About 20 of the older vessels were purchased by yachtsmen and converted to pleasure craft between the end of the war and 1960. Then the supply ran out and builders began receiving orders for new schooners — a type of craft most had not considered for two decades.

The little schooners were fairly common in Nova Scotia waters until the war. They were beneath the notice of most well-heeled yachtsmen although a few were sailed on Sundays by old-timers who wanted to see their waning years with the salt of bygone days.

After the war a few were still fishing, others lay rotting on beaches and some had been converted to motor boats. Few, if any, new ones were being built.

"Now the boatyards are so busy you couldn't get one for love or money," says Rear-Admiral H. F. Pullen, Ret., president of the one-year-old Nova Scotia Schooner Association. He bought his 27 - foot schooner Venture in 1951.

Eight new vessels were launched this year and orders for the trim little craft are coming in so fast the boatyards have waiting lists.

Built, rigged and ready for the sea, the schooners cost about $10,000 each. Teakwood decks, fancy panelling in the cabins and other extras cost more.

Last year J. A. Snow, former commodore of the Armdale Yacht Club in Halifax, and F. A. Lane, both schooner owners, suggested a race.

Capt. Angus Walters donated the Colonial Fisheries' Trophy he had won when he sailed the racing-fishing schooner Bluenose to victory in the 1921 International Schooner Race. Three other trophies were offered.

First was the 30-foot Airlie skippered by Mrs. Douglas Creighton of Chester, N.S.

Eleven schooners took part.

After the race at a meeting aboard Brig. Victor deB. Oland's 57-year-old Adare the Nova Scotia Schooner Association was born.

The second race was held last August and again Mrs. Creighton won, beating 19 competitors.

Admiral Pullen announced the schooner race would be held annually, and next year 40 schooners are expected to take part over a 20-mile triangular course in St. Margaret's Bay 20 miles southwest of here.

The admiral said U.S. yachtsmen are showing interest in the Nova Scotia schooners and the annual race and they are welcome to take part "but they'll have to race according to our rules." And anyone wishing to join the association must prove his vessel was built in Nova Scotia and is schooner-rigged.

Cannot Seem to Forget Her

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS—I am 20. For fourteen months I have been going out with a girl 17, until last month she told me that she had met a new friend and did not want to go out anymore and for me to go out with some other girl.

But the fact is, it's not that easy, because we had a great summer of picnics with our parents and went on several exciting trips. We never missed a school dance last term, and on weekends enjoyed many sports together. I bought a sports car which she picked out.

For two weeks I have stayed home, hoping I could make a date with her, but when I phoned her she said she had a date with her new friend. I went to the school dance with another girl and had a very good time, but it would have been better with her, and I know she thought the same as she seemed to be watching my friend and I the whole evening.

I feel so lost on weekends and wonder if I should keep asking her out or try to meet some other girls as nice (who would be hard to find.)—H. K.

DEAR H. K.—It's all over. How could she make it plainer? There'll be a new girl for you, never fear—even more your type than the one who has thrown you over.

* * *

TO A FAITHFUL READER OF YOURS:—Not a present, but a Christmas card picked especially for him, with your personal message at appreciation added. This can mean more to him than any gift. Cards to the others are not necessary.

DEAR DORIS—I'm a widow (44) living alone out in the country. I have an old friend whom I have known over 30 years, who is 33. He wants to move his trailer into my yard and live there.

Now I would love to have him there and would be doing the cooking in my house for him, but I was wondering if people would gossip about me having him there. We both have excellent reputations. He is well off financially and would pay his own way. What do you think? — SUNNY.

DEAR SUNNY—I think don't do it. Though you are innocent as a new born babe, people will talk. And has it occurred to you that close association with a man nearly twice your age could have its dull moments?

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO PAMPERED BY PARENTS:—It's the being different that hurts, isn't it? Yet isolating yourself and not talking to your parents will only prove you are still their "baby." If you are as bright as your 16-year-old pals, you'll start acting more grown up. Then you can hope for concessions.

(What's troubling you? Get it off your chest in a letter to Doris. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for private reply.)

Bargain Hunters From All Over World Converge on Portobello Road on Sat.

By CAROL KENNEDY

LONDON (CP)—Nostalgia is for sale Saturdays in the street market in Portobello Road.

Bargain hunters from all over the world converge weekly on this narrow, seedy thoroughfare a short walk north of the posh antique shops of Kensington. There are few antiques to be found in Portobello Road—this is the place for souvenirs of the recent past, the Britain of the day before yesterday.

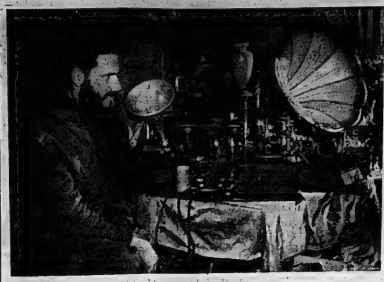
Over the babble of a dozen languages grift the reedy strains of a wax cylinder record revolving on an Edison Bell phonograph. It might be John McCormack's yearning Irish tenor in I'll Walk Beside You, or soldiers' songs of the First World War—recorded on the battlefield," the stallholder tells you proudly.

Many of the part-time salesmen who spread their wares Saturdays on a few yards of Portobello Road are collectors themselves, indulging their hobby and making enough out of it weekends to pay the rent. The phonograph man, for instance, has more than 1,000 cylinders at home and can't resist raiding his stock for his own collection.

Some stalls specialize in brass and copper or Victorian furniture; others are a ragbag of sentimental bric-a-brac.

Here is a pile of Edwardian song-sheets with a picture of music-hall star Vesta Tilley strutting in a scarlet uniform —over there a china mug made for Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee in 1897. Under a map of the world the inscription boasts: "The Empire on which the sun never sets."

Buttoned plush chairs are perennial best - sellers. They command a high price however tattered. So do pairs of hanson-cab lamps and tall Victorian telephones with curly brass handsets that sell for anything up to $20. They can legally be installed only as extension phones, but many people buy them as exotic ornaments.



Genuine bargains such as Victorian glass paperweights for a few shillings are almost impossible to find these days. American tourists are often blamed for inflating the prices in Portobello Road, but furnishing cranes have a lot to do with it and there has been a boom in trappings of the gaslight era.

Right now fashion is swinging towards Edwardian decor. It's smart to convert ornate gas street lamps to flower holders, to have rooms filled with squashy couches, green baize tablecloths, brass curtain-poles holding heavy velvet drapes in rich period colors—plum, burgundy, parma violet and chartreuse.

Columnist Drusilla Beyfus, writing on the woman's page of The Observer, says the Edwardian revival is a distinctively British contribution to home comfort, welcome after years of bare Japanese and Scandinavian interiors.

The cosy solidity of the style, she writes, seems to "evoke an aura of permanence" — a remark that perhaps explains why Britons appear so powerfully fascinated by the confident years before the First World War.

Almost any stage or television play set in the period seems predestined for popularity here. A weak drawing-room comedy panned recently by London critics nevertheless won praise for its plushy 1914 decor. Now it's drawing packed houses.

SELLS ANTIQUE PHONOGRAPHS

Plan Tribunal To Set Price in Expropriations

TORONTO (CP)—An expropriation procedures bill, to simplify and improve the present procedures of expropriation, will be presented to the legislature, the Ontario government said yesterday.

The promise was made in the speech from the throne opening the fourth session of the 26th legislature.

The speech said the bill implements a number of the more important recommendations of a select committee that reported on the subject last April.

Among the committee's recommendations were that the government appoint a tribunal that would be solely responsible for assessing amounts paid in compensation for expropriation and that any party to an arbitration for compensation should be permitted to appeal the result to the Ontario Court of Appeal without leave on matters of either fact or law.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

The other day editorial pages of some of the daily newspapers made much of the story that women have invaded that male holy-of-holies, the corner poolroom, used for the purpose of reading out the old man, but to indulge in the gentle pastime of "snooker."

That, as Toothless Pismaine, the Zwick's Island philosopher, once remarked comes under the heading of "there's nuttin' new under sun—but a lot of old stuff is being pulled off under the moon."

And what, prithee ol' noble lods, is wrong with the gals entering the Billiard Emporia, powder-puffing a cue and playing a few pre-cocktail hour games of table golf? They've done most everything the mere male can to except develop bald heads, chew twice daily, and become the father of the family offspring.

As far as women playing billiards is new, the story is as fantastic as feminine snipers in World War One being the first to take up arms for their country. Queen Boadicea was the first when she led a company of Druid commandos back in the jolly old days of ancient Britain.

One William Shakespeare, a poet of note back in the 17th century and a part-time sports-writer of the mulled ale days, referred to feminine billiard addicts in one of his works.

In his "Antony and Cleopatra" he quotes the Siren of the Nile as saying to Charmion, a sireness-in-waiting, "Come let us to billiards." That was just before the classy Clea and charming Charmion took a couple of snakes unto their bosoms and passed out permanently.

And I read somewhere in an old English newspaper where an item "Artiste," a member of a London secret society of feminine pool sharks, once invaded a man's club looking for "Arry."

One astonished arf-and-arfer jocularly invited her to play a game. She snorted, picked up her umbrella and without benefit of chalk ran off a string of fifty while the "Arries" near fainted in their suds.

Another old English story has it that a woman early in the 19th century accidentally discovered that by hitting the cue ball in a certain way, she could cause it to do strange things. This was later known as "English."

The story goes she interested her husband, one Jack Carr, a billiard room employee, in the idea. He practiced and produced shots that amazed the billiard hot polloi. But the crafty Carr turned his new-found ability into a fortune.

He produced a box of chalk which he called "twisting chalk," his own invention, and that anyone possessed of the magic chalk, plus a few instructions from Carr could duplicate his performance. It was just ordinary chalk that he used for taking the slipperiness off his cue.

Having made his sale, Carr would chalk the customer's cue with great flourishes, show the man where to hit the ball to develop the "English," and pop-eyed lookers-on gave all the credit to the chalk.

Carr cleaned up financially before his trick was exposed. It seemed a customer ran out of the "twisting chalk" and used a piece of ordinary chalk. The news quickly spread and Carr was out of business.

Women in billiards? In 1929 Margaret Anderson of the University of Illinois won the first co-ed title. Other women stars were Kathryn (Hayward) Boss; Ruth McGinnis; Marceline Vaughan; Bertha King; Dorothy Wise; Wanda Natalie and Nellie Shaw.

Women playing billiards. What else is new?

GOOD SHOW

Cassius Clay and Jack Dempsey will be in town for the next few days, not to mention Jackie Gleason, Antony Quinn and Mickey Rooney. But don't get excited, this galaxy of stars appear in the motion picture "Requiem for a Heavyweight," rated as tops. This is the film that captured a flock of TV Emmies.

It is a compelling story of gangsters, boxing, "the fix" with a different twist to the usual film of this nature. It is a story of sacrifice and high ideals which will appeal to lovers of sport, particularly boxing. It is appearing at the Park Theatre, starting Thursday through Saturday. Don't miss it.

McFarland Named to Hall of Fame

HALIFAX (CP)—Plans for a Nova Scotia hockey and sports Hall of Fame were announced Tuesday by J. E. Ahern, former Halifax mayor.

Ahern, who unsuccessfully led a campaign in the 1940s to have Halifax officially recognized as the birthplace of hockey, said the hall will open next year in the Halifax Forum.

As acting president of the hall committee, Ahern said four persons have been named to the hall so far.

They are Maurice (Rocket) Richard, Leo Dandurand, former owner of Montreal Canadiens, H. J. McFarland of Picton, Ont., sponsor of former world champion Belleville McFarlands, and Ted Saucier of New York, former Montrealer who promoted amateur hockey in New York in the 1920s.

EXPECTED TO PLAY

MONTREAL (CP) — Coach Toe Blake of Montreal Canadiens said Tuesday that forward Claude Provost is expected to return to the lineup when Canadiens meet Toronto Maple Leafs here Thursday night in a National Hockey League game. Provost, who has missed three games because of a shoulder separation, worked out with the club Tuesday.

Pound Paces Swim Team ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Montrealers Win Two Silver Medals

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

PERTH, Australia (CP) — Gold medalist Dick Pound of Montreal paced Canada's swimming relay team to second and third placings in two finals behind the winning Australians and Canada won its second silver medal in weightlifting at the British Empire Games today.

Pound, winner of the men's 110-yard freestyle championship last Saturday, swam both anchor legs of the men's 440-yard freestyle and 440-yard medley relays and he turned in a great 55.7 for the final 110 yards of the medley that just failed to put Canada into second place ahead of England.

The 20-year-old graduate law student at McGill University is the only person so far in the Games to have denied the stranglehold held by Australia and England in the swimming and diving competition.

With the exception of his gold in the 110 freestyle, either an Australian or an English swimmer or diver has won every gold medal awarded so far in this phase of the competition. AUSSIES TAKE THREE

Swimming and diving were the major events on the Games program today, and Australia's athletes pushed three of the five gold medals handed out.

Besides both swim relay wins, Australia also captured the men's 220-yard butterfly swim and the women's springboard diving. England took first place in the men's highboard diving and the women's 110-yard breaststroke finals.

In the weightlifting, 19-year-old Pierre St. Jean of Montreal won the second silver medal, hoisting a total of 530 pounds in the middleweight division.

Australia's men and women reigned supreme in the team swimming, sweeping all five relay races on the program last Saturday and this week and setting world records in four of them.

But the Canadians had nothing to be ashamed of. Three times they took the second-place silver and finished third in two other relays including the women's 40-yard medley in world-record time.

SMASH RECORD

Canada's silver today came in the men's 440 freestyle team event in which Australia's Peter Phelps, Murray Rose, Peter Doak and David Dickson, swimming in that order, smashed their own world record set last month.

The winning team for the four 110-yard legs was three minutes, 43.8 seconds, better than the old mark of 3:45.1 by 1.2 seconds.

Aldy Einhardt of Vancouver, Jack Kelso and Sandy Gilchrist, both of Ocean Falls, B.C., and Pound took second in 3:48.3 England was third in the three-country race. England's time was 3:51.3.

Canada missed a second silver by inches in the men's 440-yard medley relay, won by Australia in a Games record time of 4:12.4. England took the silver and Canada the bronze. Scotland was fourth and last.

Canada appeared certain of a second swimming gold medal after the preliminary heats in the women's 110-yard butterfly as world record - holder Mary Stewart of Vancouver set a Games mark in winning her heat in 1:09.1.

The time was well outside her world mark of 1:07.3, but the Canadian girl never was pressed. England's Mary Cotterill won the second heat in 1:12.2 — more than three seconds slower than Miss Stewart. WINS RELAY

Australia won the men's 440-yard relay by 12 yards. The second-place decision couldn't have been any closer with all the judges picking England.

Canada and England both were timed in 4:19.9—4.5 seconds back of the pace-setting Australians.

The Canadians and the Englishmen touched almost simultaneously after a stirring duel in the last 55 yards as poolside temperatures soared over 100 degrees.

Pound's 57.7 freestyle leg was clearly a second faster than the 56.6 of the Australian anchorman, Dickson, and half a second faster than Englands Peter Kendrew.

The swim consists of four distances of legs—backstroke, breaststroke, butterfly and freestyle. The Australians wiped out the previous best games time of 4:14.2, set by an Australian team in 1958.

The Canadian team in the medley was the same as in the freestyle relay except that Steve Rabinovitch of Montreal replaced Kelso in the second leg.

GARNER MEDALS

Two Britons and an Australian won their second gold medals in the weightlifting and diving.

Two world records were smashed in the swimming including today's freestyle relay, making it a total of eight swim world records in the games so far.

Anita Lonsborough of England wrapped up her second gold by topping Vivian Haddon of New Zealand to win the women's 110 - yard breaststroke in a Games record time of 1:21.2. Miss Lonsborough took the 220 breaststroke title last Saturday.

Frontenacs Shade Fort Wayne

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (CP)—The Kingston Frontenacs lengthened their lead atop the Eastern Professional Hockey League standings Tuesday night by defeating the Fort Wayne Komets of the international League 4-2 here in an interlocking game.

The victory gave Kingston 27 points, three more than the second-place Hull-Ottawa Canadiens. Kingston, however, has played one game more than Hull-Ottawa.

Jeannot Gilbert, Ed Westfall, Eric Stephanson and Bobby Leiter scored the Kingston goals. Nelson Bulloch and Reg Primeau scored for the Komets, who led 2-0 at the end of the first period.

'Best Team I Ever Had'

Top Tom Trimble Has Cats Cocky

HAMILTON (CP)—Fog foiled a practice by Hamilton Tiger-Cats Tuesday night but the way coach Jim Trimble is talking, the Ticats may not need any workouts before meeting Winnipeg Blue Bombers in Saturday's Grey Cup game at Toronto.

Trimble has been mincing no words about what the Tabbies will do to the defending champions in the annual classic for Canada's professional football championship. Apparently his confidence has rubbed off onto his players.

Team captain John Barrow says the Tiger-Cats are in a better position than they were last year, when Winnipeg won 21-14 in overtime. He said the team is better prepared mentally.

"This club is just starting to jell as a unit and we're getting that good team feeling. Defensively we're stronger. Our offensive line is stronger too."

Tuesday night the Ticats were holding their first practice since eliminating Montreal Alouettes from the Eastern Conference final last Saturday but had to cut it off after 30 minutes because of the fog.

ZUGER TO START

Trimble, who says the Tiger-Cats are "the best-balanced team I've ever had in Hamilton," announced that his starting quarterback for the big game will be Joe Zuger, who may also play defence.

Garney Henley will play both offensive and defensive halfback and other Tabbies who may see action both ways include guard and middle linebacker Hardiman Cureton, guard and defensive end Ellison Kelly, defensive halfback and fullback Don Sutherin and fullback and linebacker Bobby Kuntz.

Speaking about the Bombers, Trimble said: "This is the first year they've had to come into the Grey Cup game after a tough western series. Other years they had an easy time and came in fresh."

When it was suggested that Trimble's comments may give the Bombers a psychological edge by firing them up, he said:

"That's the way I want it. I want them to be at their best."

Denies Quitting

Jerome Wanted Gold Medal

VANCOUVER (CP) — Harry Jerome of Vancouver, outstanding Canadian sprinter injured at the British Empire Games at Perth, Australia, says he may not be able to resume his track career for a year or longer.

Jerome said Tuesday night he does not expect to be able to compete in the Pan-American Games in Brazil next April. He may also have to miss the track season at the University of Oregon.

Jerome, co-holder of the world 100-yard and 100-metre records, injured a muscle in his left leg in Saturday's final of the 100-yard dash at the British Empire Games. Doctors in Australia advised him against running in other events and he decided to return home.

Jerome flew to San Francisco from Australia.

He was to see his family doctor today and was hopeful that a cast would correct the injury. Australian doctors said surgery may be necessary.

DENIES QUITTING

Speaking in a rasping voice because of laryngitis, Jerome described the race, won by Seraphino Antao of Kenya, in which he finished last.

He rejected any suggestion that he had quit.

"I just tried too hard. I wanted the gold medal and could think of nothing else. When I saw I couldn't catch Antao, something came over me and I lost heart."

Jerome had no noticeable limp when he walked off the plane at San Francisco. He pulled out a medical book and gave reporters a detailed explanation of the trouble in his left leg. He said that while he didn't suffer much pain, running with a pulled muscle was "like a three cylinder racer trying to win on two cylinders."

Flyers Dump Royals

Baby Habs Claw Hawks

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Yvan Cournoyer's sharp shooting has carried Montreal Junior Canadiens to the top of the Ontario Hockey Association's provincial Junior A standings.

The Canadiens right - winger scored three goals at Montreal Tuesday night—more than the entire St. Catharines team—to give Canadiens an 8-2 win over the Black Hawks.

The win moved Montreal into a three-way tie for first place with Peterborough Petes and Niagara Falls Flyers, who walloped Guelph Royals 6-1 at Guelph on Tuesday night's other game.

The Canadiens, who took a four-goal lead in the opening period and were never in trouble, got one goal and three assists from right-winger Andre Boudrias, last season's scoring champion with 97 points. Other Montreal goals, as the Canadiens peppered netminder Jim Keough with 42 shots, were scored by Bob Charlevoix, Leo Tresidder, Bill Inglis and Ted Huston.

- Defenceman Tom Teather and centre Fred Stanfield were the only players able to beat Montreal netminder Jerry Cardinal, who made 26 saves and picked up an assist on Inglis' goal.

Trevor Fahey gave Guelph a 1-0 lead in the first period. Ron Hergott scored twice for Niagara Falls and Gary Harmer, Terry Crisp, Wayne Maxner and Ron Schock rounded out total for the Flyers.

In the only game in the OHA Metro Toronto Junior A group, the league-leading Toronto Neil McNeil Maroons walloped the winless Whitby Mohawks 13-2 at Whitby.

CONFIRMS FIRING

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Stanford University confirmed Tuesday the firing of Caetus Jack Curtice, its head football coach for five years. "I have decided, in the best interests of all parties concerned, not to recommend Jack Curtice for reappointment as head football coach," said Al Masters, director of athletics.

NHL Approves Jr. Draft

17-Year-Olds Only

DETROIT (AP) — The National Hockey League's board of governors approved a new draft of junior players Tuesday.

The first draft of the amateur players by the six NHL clubs will be held next June.

Each club will be permitted its draft choice players who are 17 years old. Juniors who are younger or older will not be eligible for the draft.

The amateur club will be paid $2,000 for each drafted player. The player will become property of the NHL club which will have all professional contract rights to him.

The order of draft will be Montreal, Detroit, Boston, New York, Chicago, Toronto.

The junior draft was the only important matter discussed at the meeting, NHL President Clarence Campbell said.

The board of governors was in Detroit to attend a testimonial dinner for Jack Adams, who retired last spring after 35 years as general manager of Detroit Red Wings.

Campbell said the initial draft will be held in conjunction with the regular NHL meeting in June.

He called the junior draft the best improvement in the league's system of player procurement since the internal NHL draft went into effect in 1954.

Juniors now sponsored by NHL clubs will be exempt from the draft, Campbell said.

The teams selected their position in the draft rotation on the inverse basis of their finish last season.

Because of the exemption of currently sponsored players, Campbell said, Boston Bruins decided to place themselves in third position, meaning they will pick first in 1965 when more juniors will be available. Boston finished last in the 1961-62 season.

Detroit will pick first in 1964 with New York going first in 1966, Chicago in 1967 and Toronto in 1968.

Coin Flip Decides NFL Ties

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Football League, looking ahead to the possibility that there may be ties in its conference championship races, went through its annual coin-flipping procedure at the league office Tuesday.

When it was over, the tangle unwound this way:

If Green Bay and Detroit tie for the Western Conference title the tie-breaker will be played at Detroit on Dec. 22.

If Green Bay and Chicago tie among the contenders, Detroit will play at Green Bay on Dec. 23 and the winner will play host Dec. 30 to the Bears, with the league title game, now set for Dec. 29, put back to Jan. 6.

If there is a tie between New York and Pittsburgh in the east, pro race, the playoff game will be at Pittsburgh Dec. 22.

If Cleveland and New York tie, they'll play off at Cleveland Dec. 22.

If Cleveland and Washington should tie, they'll play off in Washington Dec. 22.

Return Flag Or No Play Say Russ

WINNIPEG (CP) — Russia's touring national hockey team arrived in Winnipeg Tuesday, unceommunicative and a bit mitted over the loss of their flag.

The Russians have a date tonight—the final engagement of their nine-game Canadian tour —with Winnipeg's senior Maroons but informed Winnipeg arena officials they will not play unless their flag is replaced.

Their national flag disappeared during a game with Kapuskasing Kaps at Iroquois Falls, Ont., Monday night.

City Hockey Twin Bill Tonight!

The Pepsi's, still smarting from a 5-5 defeat at the hands of Welbanks Motors, will try to snap the league-leading Trudeau Motors' unbeaten string in the opening game of tonight's City Hockey League double-header.

Trudeaus are the loop's only unbeaten club, winning two and tying one, but it was these same Pepsi's who tied the leaders 5-5 in the first game of the season.

They meet tonight at 7.45. Included in the Pepsi's lineup are such players as Dave Jones, "Shakey" Baker, Clande 'Carr, Chuck Rowbotham and many others. Trudeaus will counter with the likes of Vern and Garry Gogwe, "Turk" Barclay, "Pug" Keller and Wayne Fox. This one should be a dandy.

Meanwhile the tail-end Joyce Rollins Combines will be out after their first win against second-place Welbanks Motors in the 8.15 fixture.

The Combines are too strong a team, on paper at least, to go long without a victory. Once playing coach Bob Taylor and Ron Hull start putting the puck in the net the other clubs will have to battle for every point.

Welbanks have five top offencemen in Floyd Crawford, Lidnel Botty, Paul Zakos, Gary Reid and Earl Cousins and goalie Bob Green is playing well. Stu Muirhead, "Bucky" Ethier and "Weiner" Brown are the offensive leaders, giving the club good balance.

League president Cliff "Sonny" Belch announced yesterday that two more trophies have been donated to the league.

The Checker Radio Taxi Trophy will go to the team finishing in first place in league play and the Bob Carter Trophy will be won by the league's Most Valuable Player. The Labatt Trophy was donated earlier for playoff champs.

Don't forget, the twin-bill starts tonight at 7.45, and with no junior game in town this week, the City League brass is looking for the largest crowd of the young season.

Weather Adds To Woes

Bombers Eye Walking Wounded

By GRAHAM COX

TORONTO (CP)—Coach Bud Grant today expected to find out how sore his wounded warriors are as he planned to take Winnipeg Blue Bombers through their first full practice for Saturday's Grey Cup game against Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

The Bombers, champs of the Western Conference, were expected to return to the back campus field at the University of Toronto.

Their plans went awry when they discovered the university plowed up the field at Varsity Stadium where the Bombers had intended to work out this week.

They moved into a nearby hotel for convenience but were stunned to an open field where it will be difficult for Grant to keep secrets from the enemy. The field at the stadium was in poor condition and officials, unaware of Winnipeg's plans, decided to get an early start on preparing it for next season.

Grant was still looking for an unclosed field so he can hold secret workouts.

He was also trying to find someone to replace corner linebacker Gordie Rowland, out of action with a torn knee cartilage.

HOPES SHEPARD SOUND

He was hoping the wrenched back of fullback Charlie Shepard would show improvement following three days of rest and that some judicious taping would make it possible for defensive tackle Roger Savoie to take pounding on a torn rib cartilage.

Adding to his problems were a sprained ankle on defensive end Herb Gray, and charley-horses hampering linebacker Dave Burkholder and defensive end Jack Delveaux.

Trainer Gordie Mackie, on leaving Winnipeg Tuesday, had said: "We've packed everything except the operating table."

The list of injuries has placed the Bombers in the unfamiliar position of six-point underdogs for the game, scheduled at the Canadian National Exhibition Stadium starting at 1 p.m. EST.

The Bombers' workout Thursday was devoted to interviews, publicity photographs and a light run.

But, even for this, Grant expected Grey Burkholder, linebacker Gar Warren, who has a twisted knee, and fullback Roger Hagberg, hampered by a sprained ankle.

"Rowland's out and the rest of them are doubtful," he said. "They'll stay that way until Saturday morning when I have to make my decision.

"I doubt if they'll do very much running in the meantime."

To add to his woes, the long-range weather forecast has below normal Temperatures and rain or snow suggested for the day of the game.

This could result in even greater trouble for his depleted defensive crew in containing the hard-driving, Hamilton ground attack.

The offensive runner, who knows where he's going, has the edge over the defensive man, who usually finds it difficult to change direction on a slippery field.

Bad weather would also affect the passing of quarterback Kenny Ploen.

Soviets Turn Down Hoop Bid

MONTREAL (CP)—An offer to the Russian national basketball team for two exhibition games in Montreal has been turned down by the Soviet Basketball Federation, it was learned Tuesday night.

The Russian team left for home today from New York after an eight-game tour of the United States. It won four games and lost four.

In a telegram to Montreal Coaina, the Soviet federation said the offer "unfortunately could not be accepted but there was no elaboration.

The Coutu team offered the Russians $5,000 to cover expenses for a two-game set.

Three years ago Coutu played three exhibition games here against Sweden's national team after the Swedes were barred by the U.S. Amateur Athletic Union on a technicality.

Needs One For Ranger Mark

Bathgate Nears Goal Record

Allester right winger Andy Bathgate needs only one more goal to complete his sweep of New York Rangers' club scoring records.

The smooth-skating veteran will have a chance in Detroit Thursday night to break his club's record for most goals.

Bathgate now is tied at 228 goals with former Ranger great Bill Cook. While Cook scored his total in fifty games between 1926 and 1936, Bathgate has scored his in 612 games since the 1953-54 season.

Bathgate had a great season last year, tying Chicago's Bobby Hull for the league scoring title and placing on the first all-star team.

LED IN ASSISTS

Hull had more goals with a 50-goal splurge, but Bathgate's 56 assists led the league and set a new Rangers' season record.

The 30-year-old Bathgate already held the club record for the most goals in one season—40—and the most points in one season—88. Both marks were set in 1958-59, when he made the first all-star team and won the league's most valuable-player award.

Bathgate, a hard-driving playmaker, is the all-time Ranger leader in assists with 380 and in points with 608. He is threatening to take over fourth spot in lifetime scoring totals by his total of 673 games between Centre Red Kelly has a narrow four-point edge with 613 points.

In Thursday night's "four pointer" in Montreal between Leafs and Canadiens, both teams will probably be making slight lineup changes. Each team has 21 points, three less than second-place Chicago.

Right winger Claude Provost of Montreal will return after missing three games with a shoulder injury, while there is speculation in Toronto that Johnny Bower may replace Don Simmons in the Toronto net.

Meanwhile, Chicago may have trouble with the Bruins in Boston. Under new coach Milt Schmidt, Bruins have gone undefeated in their last two games while snapping a 15-game winless streak.

Chicago has 24 points, only two less than the first-place Red Wings. But Hawks have played two games more than Detroit. Rangers are in fifth spot, with 18 points and Boston in sixth with 10.

BOUGHT BY METS

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Wynn Hawkins, a 26-year-old right-handed pitcher, was purchased Tuesday by New York Mets from Cleveland Indians in an inter-league deal. No purchase price was announced but it was believed to be about $25,000.

Braves Trade Adcock, Burdette Next?

By JOE REICHLER

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Lew Burdette is expected to follow Joe Adcock to other baseball pastures in the unloading of Milwaukee's well-seasoned stars of the old glory days.

Adcock, a key man of the 1957-58 National League champions, was shipped to Cleveland Indians Tuesday night in an inter - league trade that brought pitcher Frank Funk, outfielder Don Dillard and a third player to be delivered at a later date.

The Braves, who made the deal at the baseball convention here, also sent along Jack Curtis, a left-handed pitcher, whose contract was assigned to Cleveland's Jacksonville farm club in the International League.

Detroit Tigers bolstered their sagging bullpen by acquiring right-handed pitcher Bob Anderson from Chicago Cubs in exchange for third-baseman Steve Boros.

It was the third deal in a week for Detroit, which is expected to use newly-acquired John (Bubba) Phillips at Boros' position next season. Phillips moved from the Indians earlier this week for pitchers Ron Nischwitz and Gordon Seyfried.

The Tigers also have acquired veteran catcher Gus Triandos from Baltimore Orioles along with outfielder Whitey Herzog for catcher Dick Brown.

BRAVES STILL DEALING

"This is just the start," said Bobby Bragan, new manager of the Braves. "We hope to make a few deals before the meetings are over."

Bragan did not specify that Burdette, who hurled three victories over New York Yankees in 1957 in one of the greatest pitching exhibitions in World Series history, would be the next man to go. It is understood, however, that the Braves are committed to rid themselves of all their older big-name players except ace hurler Warren Spahn.

Burdette, 36, last season experienced his poorest campaign since the Braves moved to Milwaukee in 1953. The canny right-hander won only 10 of 19 decisions.

"Both Funk and Dillard are young players who figure to help us," Bragan said. "Funk will be our No. 1 reliever. Claude Raymond (of St. Jean, Que.) did a great job in the bullpen for us but he had no help.

SLUMPED LAST YEAR

Funk, 25-year-old righthander, did a fine relief job for Cleveland in 1961 when he won 11 games but slumped to a 2-1 record last season before he was shipped to Salt Lake City.

Dillard, 26, is a left-handed hitter who was used as a utility outfielder and hit .230 in 95 games for the Indians.

Adcock, 35, a right-handed slugger with 270 home runs and a .285 lifetime average, dropped off to .246 last season but cracked 29 homers and drove in 78 runs in 121 games.

"Joe is the top banana Cleveland didn't have last year," said Tebbetts. "He's the boy who can deliver the long ball for us."

Anderson, who played under Detroit manager Bob Scheffing in the Pacific Coast League, and at Chicago when Scheffing managed the Cubs, appeared in 33 games last season as a reliefer. He had a 2-7 record and a 5.83 earned run mark for 108 innings.

Boros, 26, after a fine rookie season in 1961 when he batted .270, hit only .228 last season.

Grey Cup Loaded Pot O'Gold

TORONTO (CP)—The annual Grey Cup game between the professional football champions of Eastern and Western Canada is more than just a football game and a day of gaiety.

It has become a big business.

When Winnipeg Bombers meet Hamilton Tiger-Cats here Saturday the gross receipts are expected to hit a record $300,000.

Increased ticket prices and the contributions from television have also helped swell gross receipts.

Top ticket prices were boosted to $7.50 in 1955 and to $10 in 1958.

Last year television rights sold for $150,000 and jumped to $175,000 this year.

Belleville Crawford Metals shaded their intra-city opponents, the Lightfoots, 64-60 in the second half of a Bay of Quinte Basketball League double-header played at the RCAF air station last night.

In the other game, the loop-leading Trenton Wilsons chalked up another victory, 68-42 over the RCAF Flyers. It was Wilsons' fifth win without a loss. Bob Moore sparked the winners with 23 points.

Crawford Metals took a 23-21 game at half time in the night-cap but it was much closer from then until the end. Lightfoots pulled into a 41-37 lead early in the second half but the winners moved in front again 52-48 and held a slim lead from then on.

Don Smith, of Lightfoots, set a top scoring mark of 32 points in a losing effort and Gary Duggan and Glen Reynolds turned in good defensive efforts to hold some of the Crawford big guns down, but it was not enough.

Larry "Soup" Campbell spearheaded the Crawford attack with 19 points, followed by Teddy Batchelor with 15 and John Bakker with 10.

Don Skinner backed Smith in the Lightfoot scoring with 12 points.

The same two clubs hook up in a 7.30 game at Belleville's Moira Secondary School gym next Monday evening.

Mirisch Brothers Rent Space, Keep Down Expense

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — If you want to watch movies being made, the Mirisch brothers are the ones to visit nowadays.

The brothers are shooting a total of two films these days, and that is today's equivalent of full production. Look at the totals for other studios: Warners 1; Paramount 1; MGM 0; Fox 0; Universal 1; Columbia 0.

I hurried out to Goldwyn Studios, where the Mirisches rent space and thus keep down their overhead. The brothers had tied up most of the stages with their sets. The most impressive of those was a Paris neighborhood created for Irma la Douce.

Here on two large stages is reproduced a slice of modern Paris, authentic down to the fruit on the stands and the scratchings on the walls. It is so realistic you expect to see Toulouse-Lautrec come stumbling around the corner.

All this was put up in six weeks at a cost of $500,000. Sound expensive? Not when you consider the cost of idling a film company for three weeks while waiting for the French sun to shine.

On the next stage Billy Wilder was shooting a scene with Shirley MacLaine, who plays Irma, and Jack Lemmon, who plays Irma's boy friend and sponsor. He manages her career, you might say.

The film is admittedly not aimed at the Saturday matinee trade.

Across the street, George Roy Hill was directing Toys in the Attic, and the atmosphere was more restrained. That befits the filming of the problem-laden Lillian Hellman play.

Toys in the Attic is notable for teaming Dean Martin, as the long-shattered brother, with Wendy Hiller and Geraldine Page, as his possessive sisters.

Miss Hiller who played the original Liza Doolittle in the film Pygmalion, is an academy award winner (Separate Tables, 1958) and one of England's most distinguished actresses. Miss Page has been twice nominated for Academy Awards and is a queenpin of the actors' studio.

Pender Takes 'Strip' To Court

NEW YORK (AP)—Paul Pender, stripped of his piece of the world middleweight title by the New York State Athletic Commission, moved in Supreme Court Tuesday to set aside the ruling on the ground it was "arbitrary, capricious and without warrant."

A hearing was set for Dec. 7. Last Nov. 9 the commission withdrew its recognition from Pender for his failure to defend the crown within the six months time limit. The three-man body then recognized Nigeria's Dick Tiger, the world boxing association's champion.

Pender said Tuesday he never had refused to defend his crown.

He said he had tried to obtain other fights but the efforts failed.

Pender had signed for title bouts with Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, and Jose Torres of New York but both fell through because of financial reasons.

The Beverly Hillbillies And Lucy Show Top List

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — A new "top 10" list of television programs was released Tuesday by the A. C. Nielsen Company—the research organization whose reports are considered most authoritative by the industry—and once again Beverly Hillbillies and The Lucy Show head the list.

Meanwhile, a lot of other shows, including some old favorites, are having trouble getting big enough audiences to keep their network and sponsors happy. And, responding to the Nielsen gaol, all three networks have begun to make some major revisions in their schedules.

Latest advices indicate that all sorts of emergency plans are being considered to revive faltering shows.

A handful of shows already have been cancelled: Most recent is CBS' The New Loretta Young Show to be dropped after 26 episodes in March.

The series, a good-humored, well-intentioned program, could have been a lot worse. Miss Young's series is dying because it had the misfortune to be pitted against one of the most popular shows on the air, ABC's powerhouse Ben Casey.

Recommended tonight: CBS Reports, 7:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. CST—an hour long interview with State Secretary Rusk.

FILMS HOMELAND

Former CBC-TV interviewer Elaine Grand, now working for British television, will be producer-interviewer in a TV film on Canada for British viewing.

NDP Heaps Verbal Abuse On CNR President Over Schedules on North Lines

OTTAWA (CP)—CNR President Donald Gordon came in for another round of verbal abuse on Parliament Hill Tuesday. One MP referred to him as "that silly ass".

Ironically, only last Friday committee had heaped high praise on the 61-year-old railway boss after questioning him for four days about the CNR's operations.

The tone Tuesday was much different — with Mr. Gordon back in Montreal.

Arnold Peters (NDP—Temiskaming) in a Commons speech complained that the railway "has bastardized the time schedule to such an extent there will not be any passengers left" on the section between Capreol, Ont., and Montreal. It had ruined connections into Northern Ontario and northwestern Quebec.

This was all a plot to discourage passenger traffic and then persuade authorities to let the CNR drop the section on account of low passenger volume.

"The people are there. The travellers are there. It is just the Canadian National and that silly ass of a Gordon who are trying their best to get rid of this line."

Mr. Peters, warming up to the subject, continued:

"I believe we should get rid of Gordon. Let us get someone who cares about these things."

Later he said of Mr. Gordon, "I think he should go back to banking and quit trying to run a railroad."

Gilles Gregoire (SC — Lapointe) jumped to his feet a short time later to second those sentiments, getting a previous demand for the removal of Mr. Gordon into the Commons record of debates.

Round three of the attack followed an hour later in the Senate chamber, where the criticism was a little more subtle.

Senator Vincent Dupuis (I—Quebec) spoke briefly during a study of spending estimates:

"It was my idea to study in these estimates what salary is paid to Mr. Donald Gordon, the president of the CNR. I want to know how much money this country pays this distinguished and able gentleman and to know if we could not increase his salary because he gives a chance to the Canadians of French origin to stay idle and be only good water carriers."

Asked if he was serious about wanting to raise Mr. Gordon's salary, the senator remarked that other senators "know very well what I mean."

Mr. Gordon gets $75,000 a year, highest paid public servant in Canada.

STIRLING

Horticultural Society Lists 1963 Officers

STIRLING — Mrs. Harvey Pitcher, Mill Street was hostess with Mrs. Frank Harding as cohostess for the November meeting of Stirling Horticultural Society on Monday evening with a large attendance of members and visitors.

Mrs. Floyd Armstrong the president was in charge of the business and Mrs. Ashley Brooks reported the finances to date and said that the Association's fees had been paid. The correspondence included a questionnaire from a plant food company, messages from nursery companies an garden club. Several ideas were set forth re beautification of the village in the spring. The secretary read excerpts from a letter received and this included a new commandment "Thou Shalt Protect the Earth from Erosion".

Mrs. Ivan Caldwell read the proposed slate of officers for 1963 as follows: president (to be re-elected) — Mrs. Floyd Armstrong; 1st vice-president— Mrs. Leonard Wannamaker; 2nd vice-president — Mrs. Harry Clarke; secretary-treasurer — Mrs. Ray Rose; press reporter — Mrs. N. Flindall and directors — Mrs. Maurice Chancy, Mrs. Raymond McConnell, Mrs. Harold West, Mrs. Harry Waite, Mrs. Percy Craighead, Mrs. Ashley Brooks, Mrs. Ross Bush, Mrs. Harold Chambers, Mrs. Kenneth Ray and Mrs. Grant Hubbie.

The annual meeting will be held in January at the home of the president.

Mrs. Frank Harding introduced Miss Phyllis Sine of Frankford and she showed almost 100 slides and gave a travelogue of her world tour. She travelled for five months by plane from place to place and visited relatives and friends in Vancouver, B.C., California, Australia, New Zealand, Tasmania, Philippines, New Guinea, Japan, Hong Kong and other spots around the world. These pictures were most colorful and the floral scenes were beautiful.

Mrs. Harding voiced grateful thanks to Miss Sine and presented her with a gift of jade pottery in appreciation.

A contest of jumbled names of flowers was enjoyed while the hostess prepared lunch.

Mrs. Mel Tanner won the lucky cup prize.

You can't go ALL-OUT

If you feel ALL-IN

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, "tired-out" feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter. 84

Pope Suffering From Anemia, Ill Stomach

Pontiff Told He Must Take Things Easier

Sir Winston Will Be 88 This Friday

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill will celebrate his 88th birthday Friday probably more quietly than any anniversary of his long public life.

As his years have lengthened, each birthday anniversary has generated a swelling flood of presents and greetings from well-wishers all over the world.

Friday is expected to bring another avalanche of greetings but Churchill plans a quiet day.

"He will see only his family and some close friends," said his private secretary, Anthony Montague Browne.

Asked if Sir Winston would make his traditional birthday visit to the House of Commons, Browne replied: "No, I'm afraid not."

Sir Winston is far from senile, but he walks with considerable effort, is deaf and has good days and bad days.

On a bad day, his mind often isn't clear.

On good days, it's splendidly lucid.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican announced today that Pope John is suffering from intensification of a persistent stomach disorder which is causing "rather intense" anemia.

A Vatican communique said that "everything leads one to hope that the treatment now under way" will enable the Pope to resume his normal activity as soon as possible.

"Since last Tuesday," the communique said, "... audiences have been interrupted because of the accentuation of symptoms of gastropathy, for which the Pope has been for some time under necessary medical and dietary treatment, and which has provoked a rather intense anemia."

Gastropathy is a general term for stomach disorders.

The communique made no mention of the possible condition the 81-year-old pontiff has had for years and which Rome newspapers say is the cause of his stomach disorder.

Asked if Gov Winston would make his traditional birthday visit to the House of Commons, Browne replied:

"No, I'm afraid not."

LEGISLATORS IN FOR LONGER WORK WEEK

Wednesday Out For Committees

TORONTO (CP) — While the Ontario government is studying the need for a minimum wage law in the province the outlook for more of the province's legislators is a longer work week at the same pay.

Premier Roberts told the legislature Wednesday he has decided to do away with a practice begun in 1960 by former premier Leslie Frost in confining House business on Wednesdays to the committee meetings. The House met as a whole Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays.

Mr. Roberts said the experiment had not functioned as it should have." Many members had come to consider Wednesday as an extra day off.

The Progressive Conservative premier said he hoped that by meeting Wednesdays the legislature will be able to avoid some night sessions. The committees will be asked to handle all their work during the mornings.

Mr. Robarts also promised "to do a lot tighter time-tabling than in the past." Opposition members declined last session that much committee work had been left until late in the session so many bills being rammed through at the last minute and several committees sitting simultaneously.

The premier also said he plans to streamline the House public accounts committee, although not necessarily along the lines suggested in the report of a select committee last spring.

He said a committee appointed for the life of a legislature, as recommended, would

Bertrand Will Remain in Quebec Politics

OTTAWA (CP)—The search for a strong Quebec lieutenant for Prime Minister Diefenbaker seems destined to go on a while longer.

Informants say that overtures by Jean-Francois Bertrand, 46, former Union Nationale cabinet minister in Quebec, have halted with word that Mr. Bertrand prefers to remain in provincial politics for a few years.

Suggestions that Mayor Jean Drapeau of Montreal might be persuaded by the Liberal Progressive Conservatives have not gained favor in the highest political circles.

And a fresh report that Maurice Bellemare, Union Nationale member of the legislature for Champlain constituency, might run in the Ottawa through a seat in the Senate is vacancy created in the Commons, is being discounted sharply.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker himself will not comment on such reports.

But it is known that some overtures were made to Mr. Bertrand by others to ascertain whether they would be interested in joining the Diefenbaker government in Ottawa. The overtures had various degrees of official support within the Conservative party, it was understood.

In the case of Mr. Bertrand, the feelers started going out as long ago as last summer, after the federal elections in which the government lost three Quebec ministers and won only minority control of the Commons.

Trade Mission Is Ambushed In Anti-Tito Demonstration

BONN (Reuters)—A group of Yugoslav emigrees, in an apparently protest against the government of President Josip Tito, today attacked a Yugoslav trade mission in a Bonn suburb with bombs and pistols, wounding two persons and setting fire to the building before retreating.

Police arrested 19 Yugoslavs and a police dragnet, using bloodhounds, was out for other members of the gang.

The attackers made a point of smashing about half a dozen pictures of Tito in the various rooms of the three-storey mission as they wrecked ground floor offices and then set fire to wrapped in newspapers.

The trade mission said the damage was closed because of the holiday and only three or four persons were in the offices when the attack occurred.

Police showed reporters a hand-painted poster which the attackers left behind in the building. It said: "Tito is bow- to break down the Berlin wall."

Report on NATO Delegates In Paris Stirs up Storm

OTTAWA (CP)—A newspaper story that says some Canadian delegates to a recent NATO parliamentary conference in Paris spent their nights in Pigalle and slept by day," has churned up anger in the Commons.

Another story in another newspaper, meanwhile, has suggested that the Canadian delegation did not have the background or experience to do a proper job.

But it was the story by Jean Charpentier, parliamentary correspondent for Montreal La Presse, that stirred up things in the Commons. Real Caouette, Social leader of the Social Credit party, demanded that Mr. Charpentier be summoned before the Commons' privileges and elections committee.

Another Social Credit member, Raymond Langlois (Megantic), said the story was "not only an insult against all members of the House, but against the Canadian people."

Mr. Charpentier's story said Canadian parliamentary delegates to international conferences are "always ill-prepared, often disinterested and sometimes without talent."

". . . The contrast with other delegates was pitiful," he wrote, "some of our delegates spoke (usually to ask a question) it was felt that only modesty and timidity prevented the Old Briton, the American or the Frenchman from giving a stinging answer."

A story in the Ottawa Journal by Blair Fraser, parliamentary correspondent for the newspaper who also accompanied the Canadian delegation

Diplomatic Sources at UN Expect Katanga Showdown

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Diplomatic sources said today a showdown is imminent on the issue of bringing Katanga province back into the Congo.

Paul-Henri Spaak, veteran and energetic foreign minister of Belgium, is scheduled to fly back to Brussels today after consultations with big - power representatives including President Kennedy in Washington.

The talks—including a conference with U Thant and Britain's Sir Patrick Dean — were mostly secret but diplomatic sources said so - called working steps have been detailed for dealing with Katanga and its self-styled president Moise Tshombe.

In a related development, Canada and eight other countries — including the United States and Britain — submitted to the UN secretariat Wednesday night a resolution demanding the acceptance of peace-keeping forces by all UN member countries.

The measure asks that the UN General Assembly accept the advisory opinion of the International Court at The Hague, delivered in June, that peace-keeping costs should be levied on all members as an obligation as regular UN assessments. So far the Soviet Union, France and many other countries have shied away from such costs.

Inquiry Hears SIU Banks Got Trip to Puerto Rico

OTTAWA (CP) — President Hal C. Banks of the Seafarers' International Union of Canada (Ind.) made an all-expenses-paid trip to Puerto Rico in 1950 — to rig a sailing schooner race to fight the Teamsters' union.

The four-month trip by Mr. Banks and two union aides was admitted Wednesday by Mr. Laughlin, SIU executive vice-president, under cross-examination Wednesday before Mr. Justice T. G. Norris' federal investigation of labor strife on the Great Lakes.

Mr. McLaughlin insisted that he did not know how much the Puerto Rican sojourn cost the SIU — although commission records show it ran to $4,000. He suggested the "expedition" must have been a "pretty expensive proposition."

The story of the Puerto Rican yacht—owned by the SIU of North America as a virtual mockship for Puerto Rican youth—was told at the 56th session of the federal inquiry.

Mr. Dubin said SIU records—checked by commission investigators in records now seized—show that a 1960 Cadillac was shipped from Canada to Mr. Banks in Puerto Rico.

He asked why Mr. Banks needed a luxury car when he already had a Cadillac and an automobile on the Caribbean island.

Mr. McLaughlin said he didn't know the details of the Cadillac incident, but would check and find out.

On another issue, Mr. McLaughlin explained why he received $4,000 as an extra, earlier this year from the SIU for "organizing" expenses.

He said he got the cheques, endorsed them and turned them over to Gilbert Gauthier, head of the SIU's marine engineer's division. Mr. Gauthier turned the money over to an organizer for the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association, an American union that had tried unsuccessfully to break into the Canadian labor field in 1961.

Mr. McLaughlin agreed that the distribution was not beyond reasonable, but could not explain why the money was handed to Mr. Banks in a complex, roundabout way.

After almost two weeks on the witness stand at The Pas, Mr. Laughlin was excused Wednesday, subject to recall for further cross-examination when certain SIU records are produced before the federal inquiry.

He was the 100th witness to give evidence before the one-man commission of inquiry in 96 days of hearings since the hearings began in June. More than 2,000,000 words of testimony have gone into the formal record, with more than 530 exhibits on file.

Killed on 401

OSHAWA (CP)—A Fenelon Falls man was killed and a companion injured Wednesday night when a car left the eastbound lane of Highway 401 here and crashed broadside into a parked car.

Dead is Allan Ross Jackett, 23, William Kennedy, 18, also of Fenelon Falls, suffered a fractured leg.

Provincial police said the driver of the car, Constable Ross Campbell, 51, of Whitby, suffered possible back injuries.

RCMP SEIZE MILLION-DOLLAR NARCOTIC CACHE

Four Arrested During Raids

MONTREAL (CP)—A cache of uncut narcotics valued at more than $1,000,000 in the underworld market, was seized by the RCMP in a series of city-outside, daylight raids Wednesday.

Four men were arrested in the raids, which also netted three unregistered firearms and a quantity of counterfeit money with a face value of between $6,000 and $8,000.

An RCMP spokesman said the seizure was the most extensive carried out by the federal force in several years.

Starting at 9 a.m., RCMP officers fanned out over the Metropolitan Montreal area to raid cafes, warehouses, apartments, rooming houses and private homes.

FIND TRUNK

One squad raiding a warehouse discovered a trunk containing slightly more than 81 pounds of codeine phosphate, a narcotic.

Police identified those arrested, all Montrealers, as Real Doyle, 37; Fernand Desjardins, 37; William Curcest, no age given; and Aime Aube, 28.

RCMP Chief Superintendent said the narcotics seized is a wholesale value of the legal market of $1,250,000. After adulteration, it would bring more than $1,000,000 in the underworld trading on the "going price" for drugs.

Police said they believe the codeine phosphate was part of a shipment taken from F. E. Corbell Company — a wholesale drug firm—in an armed robbery last Aug. 3.

The drug was still in the manufacturer's containers when recovered.

Police said the drug cache was 4½ kilograms short of the shipment taken from Cornell. The remainder, has not yet been accounted for.

Then King Lear Not Only One Who Shed Tears

LONDON (AP) — Dennis Farr marched into an art auction with instructions to buy a Victorian painting for London's Tate Gallery.

Farr is assistant keeper at the Tate.

The painting was the 18th century picture of King Lear weeping over the dead body of Cordelia, his daughter.

Farr started Wednesday night with a low bid by Farr.

His bid was quickly topped and he did the same man.

But finally, the hammer fell and the Tate representative had the painting for £330 ($1,050).

Then, out of curiosity, Farr decided to find out the name of his opponent in bidding.

It turned out to be John Rickett, an art expert.

Rickett revealed that he wanted to buy the painting so he could put it out on permanent loan to, of all places, the Tate Gallery.

DE GAULLE MAY NOT RUN

PARIS (AP)—A French minister said Wednesday Premier Georges Pompidou of the de Gaulle had told the cabinet he does not plan to ask for re-election when his term ends Dec. 31, 1965.

'Something Big' Brews Between India, Pakistan

Sandys Consults Ayub, Then Returns to Nehru

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (Reuters) — Special American envoy Averell Harriman today resumed talks with President Mohammed Ayub Khan in an apparent bid to ease Pakistani fears over U.S. military aid to India.

At the same time, speculation mounted that the sudden departure from here earlier in the day for New Delhi of the British Commonwealth relations secretary, Duncan Sandys, meant "something big" was in the air.

Sandys, who arrived here Tuesday from India on a similar mission to that of Harriman, flew back to New Delhi unexpectedly and immediately called on Prime Minister Nehru for "further consultations" as a result of his talks in Rawalpindi.

A usually reliable source said of Sandys' trip to New Delhi: "He has gone to see Mr. Nehru and is going to meet the president (Ayub) again. Something big is happening."

Harriman, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, opened his talks with Ayub Wednesday shortly after his arrival here from New Delhi. The opening was also attended by Sandys.

Harriman said on arrival Wednesday night that he was "ride is turning in a favorable direction" for a settlement of the Indo-Pakistani disputes, including the thorny issue of Kashmir.

Cause of Death? Died Suddenly, Nothing Serious

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—In his weekly news letter to constituents, Governor John Dalton of Missouri told some causes of death, as reported to the state vital statistics bureau.

They included:

"Don't no. Died without the aid of a physician."

"Died suddenly, nothing serious.

"Deceased died from blood poison, caused by a broken ankle, which is remarkable, as his automobile struck him between the lamp and the radiator."

Restrictions On Doctors Are Questioned

TORONTO (CP) — Professional restrictions on doctors should receive "careful consideration and appraisal," Ontario Health Minister Dymond told the conference of the College of General Practice of Canada Wednesday night.

"I know of no other vocation or profession with such restrictions on its practitioners," he said.

Dr. Dymond said a doctor's aloof dignity does not make it easy for him to join the human race and doctors would not be separated from society if they took a more active part in it.

"Why should a physician not speak in public on medical matters?"

'Capitalist' Italian State Provides Fruit in Morning and TV at Night

ROME (AP) — The citizen's breakfast includes fruit marketed by the state. As he eats, he glanced through his morning newspaper, owned by a state firm.

He dressed in a suite made of cloth from a state-owned mill. The car he drove was built and constructed in a state plant.

At the office, he used a telephone provided by a state company. He lit a state cigarette with a state match.

On the way home in the evening, he purchased gasoline at a state-owned filling station, had a drink at a state bar and dined in a state restaurant.

Back at home, he switched on lights using state power. He took ice from a refrigerator built by a state company. Then he settled down to watch television — with only two state-operated channels to choose from.

Next day he left on a business trip, planned by a state-controlled tourist agency. He travelled on state-owned trains, planes and ships, and stayed at a state hotel.

He was an Italian, living in "capitalist" Italy today.

He was not confined to using only state products. In many cases he could have turned to services and goods provided by private firms. But his choice demonstrated that Italy — more than any other Western country — has a mixed economy in which the state is actively participating in almost every phase of industrial and economic activity.

Now the state is taking over another field—electric power. A bill nationalizing power is in the last stages of parliamentary consideration.

About 25 per cent of Italy's electrical output already is produced by state-controlled companies. Nationalization consolidates these companies and private industries under a single state agency.

81st Auto-Bombing Angers Steel Town

Just Another Bombing - Except Boy Died

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— The auto-bomb killing of Charles Cavaliaro and his 11-year-old son six days ago differs in two ways from 81 other unsolved booby-trap bombings in this steel city of 175,000 since 1952.

For the first time federal law-enforcement machinery, at the personal urging of Attorney-General Robert Kennedy, is working to solve the crime.

Secondly, a public inclined to shrug off mayhem perpetrated by one gambler on another has been moved to anger and shame because two small boys were innocent victims in the newest bombing.

In addition to killing Thomas Cavaliaro, 11, the bomb smashed the hip of his brother, Charles Jr., 12. The injured boy underwent surgery for five hours, was on the hospital critical list until Wednesday and may be crippled for life.

Whether the FBI and the indignation of the community will keep this crime from going unsolved like the other 81 is conjectural. So far, the old pattern has prevailed—police picked up key questioning have wrapped themselves in stony silence.

Early in the investigation Police Chief William R. Golden pleaded: "If we could just get one break." If that break had come, the law enforcement people aren't talking about it.

Normal gambling and vice operations, estimated to produce a $4,500,000 annual take here, have closed up shop temporarily or are carrying on in a limited and inconspicuous way with only the most trust clientele.

The FBI has set up a special telephone to take calls from informants between 8:15 a.m. and midnight, and some residents have called the newsletter. Edward E. Hargett, agent in charge of the Cleveland FBI office and heading the investigation here, has promised complete protection to tipsters.

Seek Charter For Key Club

TRENTON — The Trenton Kiwanis Club are applied to the Kiwanis International for a "Key Club" charter. Once the charter is obtained, the 22 high school boys who have signed up to join, will elect officers and the junior club will swing into action, assisting the local Kiwanians with benevolent projects and undertaking projects of its own. All money raised independently will be used to improve recreational facilities at the school.

A Key Club for Trenton was first conceived by past lieutenant governor Al Weaver and Claude Smith, eight years ago. While the local club approved of the idea, educational heads considered the time was not right to sanction the venture for one reason or another. When John Potter became principal at Trenton High School, he was approached on the subject and as soon as he got a green light to the formation of the club, Trenton Kiwanis president Howard Bain and Al Weaver got the project started.

On Jan. 13, the new Key Club members will be the guests of the local Kiwanis Club at a dinner meeting at which the guest speaker will be the district officer of Key Clubs in this area.

Proceeds from the sale of tickets for this special night are donated to the Salvation Army.

Barbed Comments Heard As Members Pack Debating Club to Hear Candidates

The 32nd annual meeting and debates at the Wharf Street Debating Club saw people standing three deep outside of the compact clubhouse straining their ears to hear the words of wisdom and illumination which were uttered forth Wednesday evening by the civic election candidates and arious other dignitaries and speakers.

Inside the building were 170 people and not a square inch of extra floor space. Indeed, space was so limited, thanks to the overflow crowd, that several gentlemen were sitting on the floor to utilize some of the space which existed under the officials' table at the front of the room.

Debate was most lively indeed and it was obvious that the club's executive was going to require more than a modicum of decorum when the club president, "Senator" Harry Rollins, was severely chastised for allowing the meeting to be about 12 minutes late in starting by a Mr. Horace Wright who accused the executive of "P-poor organization — just like the Conservatives."

"Senator" Rollins was undeterred by this comment, however, and proceeded to deliver his "sanctimonious address" welcome during which he noted the various historic virtues of the club and the niche which it had justifiably carved for itself in Belleville's traditions.

In commenting on the age of this democratic institution the president paused to remark that it had been in existence long before his mother delivered him "into this bright, cheap world." Quickly a member passed the comment, "and you had to go and dirty it all up."

Following a silence in memory of Robert Pringle, a noted club member and debater, the meeting was turned over to Mr. J. A. "Jim" Matthews, to chair the debates.

TAKEN TO GALLERY

Mr. Matthews announced that horrible deed had been perpetrated upon the club inasmuch as some person or persons unknown had made off with the pictures of the Queen, Sir Wilfred Laurier and Sir John A. McDonald. It was suggested that perhaps they had been hung in the National Art Gallery.

Mayor A. McLean Haig led off the speeches with the announcement that, he was present to solicit the votes of the members and their support in his campaign for re-election. He stated that there was an excellent slate of aldermanic candidates and it would indeed be difficult for the electorate to choose the seven best men of the nine running.

Mayor Haig stated that he could pass no comment on his opponent's platform as Mr. Jarvah had yet to announce one. Although they had worked well together during Alderman Jarvah's two years on council, said His Worship, they had now arrived at a serious division of opinion regarding the matter of who should be mayor of the city.

Alderman William Jarvah, who is now running for mayor, ran into a heckler almost as soon as he got up when a member asked, "What are you going to do better than Haig?" Mr. Jarvah allowed that this was a very good question but that he was not going to make a political speech.

Mr. Jarvah concluded his brief address with the comment that "if you don't vote for me don't vote against me."

Mr. George Fonda, a regular member of the club for the past 33 years, made a brief appeal for city council to take immediate action regarding the marking of crosswalks before a serious accident occurred.

An overseas cable from London, England, was read by Mr. Matthews. It requested that an invitation be given as to why the hockey players had not yet been paid and was signed by a Mr. "Bunny" O'Hara.

GREETINGS FROM COUNTY

County clerk Carl Bateman announced the greetings of the county and stated that he was sorry to see that the club had now come to the end of the road since it was the county's intention to annex Belleville.

Heckled to the effect that this move would still not give the county a fluoridated water system, Mr. Bateman replied that the city might not have fluoridation but that the county had fluoridated bars.

Alderman Ross Bailey was the first aldermanic candidate to speak. He requested the members' support and said he would do his best to work in the public's interest if elected.

Alderman Jack Ireland stated that he brought the best greetings from Lester B. "Mike" Pearson, Liberal leader, and that "he don't do too bad." Some public thanks be given to "Senator" Rollins for his excellent work and the job he is doing. Mr. Ireland requested the support of the electorate for his re-election after three years on council.

At this point a wire was received from Moscow accepting the club's offer of Aldermen Ellis and Deacon for the debate space program. The telegram, signed "Nikita," allowed there were no spare monkeys in Russia.

Alderman Jack Whalen, also seeking re-election, stated that he was prepared to speak out for the people if they voted him in. Mr. Whalen announced that his campaign manager was Mr. Jack Parnell.

Robert Temple, the Liberal candidate for the federal riding of South Hastings, was the next speaker. Mr. Temple stated that he was honored to announce that "Senator" Rollins was to be his campaign manager dur ing the next federal election.

GREETINGS RECEIVED

This honor was due to the fact that he had convinced the "Senator's" bone opponent to the Public Utilities Commission to withdraw from the race, Mr. Temple advised.

Mr. Matthews announced that Christmas greetings had been received from Parliament Hill from "John the Baptist."

Candidate Jack Ellis request ed support on the grounds that he was a man of action. He stated that he wished to bring back the old times when, during his office as mayor, large industry was brought in to Belleville and there were two jobs for every man.

HILARIOUS—Several candidates voice their delight at some of the rapid fire repartee which took place at the Wharf Street Debating Club during its annual "Bun Feed." From the left: Alderman Ross Bailey, William Jarvah, Donald Whalen, candidate Jack Allin and Alderman Jack Ireland.

Former alderman Jack Deacon said he was only running for election because of unfilled business. "We should have got a better hockey team for the money we spent," concluded Mr. Deacon.

At this point there was a tremendous outcry on the part of the membership with several members presenting their personal opinions most forcibly. During this affray it was remarked that general thought the hockey team was a credit to the city for having brought back the world hockey championship.

The climax of this heated debate centered on a flat-waisted, shout-him-down, exchange of opinions featuring William Storms and George DeVuyst with the president, "Senator" Rollins. After considerable vigorous discussion during which the president threatened the forcible removal of certain members and during which it is alleged that one alderman was forced to quickly withdraw from the scene via the nearest window, the floor returned to the candidates.

REQUESTS SUPPORT

Frank Murray, aldermanic candidate, stated that before he gave the news there would be a brief announcement. It was queried by a member as to who, then it would be a "paid, political announcement." Mr. Murray advised that he had experienced considerable worry about the club's battle with CBC and stated that his station, CJBQ would have been happy to resolve the situation via a live broadcast. He requested the electorate's support on Monday next.

Claude Tice, a former alderman with 12 years' experience, stated he felt current council was "absolutely wrong" in delaying payment of monies owing the hockey players when these claims had been previously accepted, when payment had been recommended by the inquiry, when permission had been given by the Municipal Affairs department to levy to raise these monies, and when these monies had been collected from the people for this purpose.

Current council has just as many "thieves" as a previous council was alleged to have, said Mr. Tice.

He requested the support of the people and promised to vote independently of "pressure groups."

Mr. B. C. Smith, a candidate for Separate School trustee, said that he found the meeting a "very stimulating experience."

Mr. Leonard Reid requested to speak against fluoridation. He asked if it would be safe if the crowd responded with a resounding "yes".) Upon bringing out a sheaf of "notes a general hubbub arose over the fact that he was attempting to read his speech. Eventually, Mr. Reid had to sit down.

His place was taken by John Weese, who also spoke against fluoridation and suggested that people would be much happier if an additive procured from Corbyville were put in the water instead.

HAPPY SUGGESTION

His place was taken by John Weese, who also spoke against fluoridation. Mr. Wesse proposed that the populace would be much happier if an additive were procured from Corbyville and put in the water instead of fluoridine. The membership enthusiastically expressed its general approval of this suggestion.

Some suggested that the Corbyville product would offset any purported effects of fluoridation so that the best thing would be to have both fluoridation and the Corbyville product and make everyone happy.

Mr. George DeVuyst approached the mayoralty candidates and demanded that he get an answer as to what they thought about fluoridation. Mr. Jarvah said he was against it. Mayor Haig declined on the grounds that the electorate would decide the issue.

Fire Chief Gerald Vance reminded the membership that the Santa Claus parade was being held on Saturday morning and all were welcome to attend.

Alderman Joe Rayeroft suggested everyone present should donate a dollar as they went out the door to help bolster the club's financial state. Several people felt quickly by the windows.

Secretary Maurice Callaghan stated he wished to inject a serious note, also. He criticized the fact that Foster Ward residents had to pay the assessment necessary for the new sewage disposal plant yet this system would never be used to handle the sewage from Foster ward.

"Senator" Rollins gave a brief address, saying he had declined to run for mayor because he had no desire to enter into further conditions by leaving them at home when the polls came in, he said.

HANDS ARE CLEAN

"My hands are clean," exhorted the club president and allowed that if he had stolen as much off the people as some of those present he would be as rich as some aldermen were.

The "Senator" asked the membership to note the new interior decorations and thanked the McIntosh Brothers firm for having supplied the new drapes.

The debates were closed off by Mr. Matthews, who pointed out that if the members didn't like the candidates present they should get out and vote anyway.

It was announced that aldermanic candidate Enos David had been unable to attend the meeting due to illness in the family. Another candidate for alderman who did not appear was George Wishart.

Cokes, cheese and bot dogs were served.

New Democratic Party Holds City Meeting

Local political guns are now being trained on senior government affairs—with the fully eye of two general elections now in the sights.

The latest speed-up in local activity is rippling through the ranks of the New Democratic Party, which last night launched its election organization at a Belleville meeting of its South Hastings Association.

Party workers throughout the riding turned out at the Engineers' hall to discuss the pros and cons of successful electioneering, under the guidance of an expert.

Directing the discussions was Gordon Bridgden, one of the party's district provincial organizers in Ontario.

Mr. Brigden's appearance in Belleville marked the first of similar inter-party meetings throughout five ridings in this region of Eastern Ontario. The constituencies are: Hastings South, Hastings-Frontenac, Northumberland, Prince Edward-Lennox and Kingston. A local NDP official said Mr. Brigden has been "loaned" to riding associations for several weeks.

The NDP political units are organizing for both provincial and federal elections, and also plan meetings between their associations on both political levels.

Tonight, New Democrats from South Hastings were expected to meet in Marmora with their Hastings-Frontenac colleagues to co-ordinate organization in the provincial ridings of Hastings East and Hastings West.

Scotty Reid To Open New Auto Agency

A new automobile agency is well on the road for Belleville.

A building permit was issued today and construction was expected to start immediately on a $75,000 showroom and service centre for a Mercury-Meteor dealership, operated by Scotty Reid. The site is on the south side of Dundas East, almost opposite the city's shopping plaza.

Mr. Reid has held the franchise in Shannonville in recent years, after taking it over from Ken Virtan. Mr. Vivian was one of the original dealers for the Ford Corporation in this district.

The new centre will be constructed of pre-stressed concrete, manufactured locally.

Work was expected to start on the project by tomorrow when a bulldozer will begin land clearance.

The land and financial arrangements were made through the Belleville offices of Joyce Realty.

The contract was let to Rollins Construction Limited.

Heavy Damage In Break-in On Front St.

Thieves this morning smashed their way into a Front Street business block in Belleville, finding little loot, but causing extensive damage.

The building, at 219 Front Street, houses several offices including the Elks' Hall on its upper floors.

Police say the thieves climbed from the roof of a rear building onto a fire escape where they pried open a window and entered the block.

Once inside, offices ransacked for loot were Seaboard Finance Company. Police say the plate glass door leading into the offices was smashed, filing cabinets damaged, hinges broken on the company safe.

In the Elks' Hall coin boxes on two vending machine, including cigaret and soft-drink dispensers, were ripped off.

Other premises in the building, included the offices of barrister K. G. M. Ross and several rooms used for storage.

City police said the damage would run into "several hundreds of dollars."

ENTHUSED—"I got only 15 cents a game when I played hockey," cries Bill Storms (right) during the enthusiastic debate over payment of hockey players. "You got too much," was the reply of "Senator" Rollins (left), matches word for word and blow for blow. Action took place during political debates last night.

New Office Mutual Life To Have Official Opening By Mayor Haig Wednesday

A seven-fold increase in business since the end of World War II with office staff and sales personnel increased to 19 persons has motivated the Belleville branch office of the Mutual Life Assurance Company to move into new, modern and more commodious quarters.

The new office of the company is at 183-185 Pinnacle Street where official opening ceremonies are planned for Wednesday afternoon, December 5th.

Company head office personnel will attend the opening with Mayor A. M. Haig will cut the ribbon.

"Healthy growth in company business which since 1945 has seen volume increased seven times, prompted the company to establish a new and modern office to give better service to the community," stated branch manager Percy McGuire.

Mr. McGuire said a general invitation to the public would be extended to view the opening ceremonies and to inspect the new office. The office has been in use for the past couple of weeks.

AMPLE PARKING SPACE

Location of the new Mutual Life branch office is the site of the former old Big-A building across the street from the city police station.

It offers 3,000 feet of air conditioned space and is equipped with new, modern style furnishings.

The office with its ground floor location is readily available to customers with ample street parking in the immediate area.

Mutual Life has a background of almost 90 years in Belleville. It was in 1875 that the late Stephen Burrows opened the first Mutual general office at 249½ Front Street. The office was later moved upstairs in the same building where it remained until 1952 when it moved to Bridge Street.

SUCCEEDS FATHER

The late S. R. "Sandy" Burrows was appointed manager in 1933 following the death of his father and in 1935 the company took over the Belleville operation as a branch office with Mr. Burrows as manager, and P. C. McGuire as agency supervisor. Mr. McGuire became manager in 1948 on the retirement of Mr. Burrows.

The Belleville branch office serves the Hastings and Prince Edward area.

In 1952 Mutual branched out into the mortgage field and the Belleville office now serves the East Central Ontario Area in this field. Mr. R. J. Wilson is the mortgage department manager.

In July of this year a group insurance department under the supervision of Mr. J. G. Feasby was established at Belleville. This department also serves the East Central Ontario area.

A Brave Decision

Nobody can accuse the Ontario Government of lack of courage.

A brief reference in the speech from the throne, as the Ontario Legislature opened Tuesday, said the House will be asked to pass the Ontario Portable Pensions Act.

This act will be based on a report of a committee which spent the summer studying recommendations on the original draft of the bill. The committee's report has not yet been made public. Obviously it would be foolish to judge the merits of the bill until it is known what changes will be made in the original draft. Yet there is one comment which it appears safe to make—that no matter what form the bill takes it is almost certain to irk some influential segments of our society.

It was Leslie Frost, when he was premier, who first poked his astute finger into this wasps' nest. It is gratifying to discover that his successor, Premier John Robarts, is brave enough to risk the stings which will be inevitable when consideration is followed by action.

Stated simply, portable pensions mean pensions which travel with the worker, from job to job. The desirability, if not the absolute necessity, of some such system is virtually self-evident, in this day when technical advances are placing stress on the need for mobility in the working force.

But there exist strong vested interests in the present immobility of pensions. Where pensions were initiated by employers, they were inaugurated, in most cases, not only to discharge what an enlightened firm considers as its responsibility to long-time employees, but also as a means of preventing undesirable turnover in its labor force. Where pensions began primarily as the result of union action, they can just as obviously serve to tie the worker to his union. The fact that pensions are not transferable, and that company contributions of workers who leave can be returned to the company or kept in the pension fund, has made it possible to provide adequate pensions for workers who remain at a much lower cost than would be possible if pensions were portable.

It is easy to see how many hurdles the portable pensions bill will have to surmount if it is to escape a barrage of criticism.

In the final analysis, though, the measure may prove one of the greatest legislative booms the economy has ever enjoyed. It could solve what is rapidly becoming a crippling hobble—the refusal of firms to hire new workers over 40, or even over 35 or 30, because of the actuarial requirements of the firms' pension plans.

The Poor Provider

After years of struggle and privation, the peoples of the communist world are still little closer to realization of the great economic improvements that the doctrines of Lenin and Marx, in theory, are supposed to provide.

This is all too clear even in the Soviet Union which considers itself the leader in and showplace of communist development.

After 30 years of collectivization, Soviet agriculture still occupies almost 50% of the labor force. In the United States, agricultural workers have declined to 9% of the work force. Soviet agriculture produces barely enough foodstuffs to feed the large nation, while U. S. agriculture persists in producing enormous and embarrassing surpluses despite the best government efforts to prevent this.

In 1958, the Soviet non-agricultural wage was calculated in real terms at 95% of the level prevailing in 1928—a decline of 5% in 30 years. The Russian urban dweller in 1960 had housing space available to him that was roughly equal to that which existed in Czarist days. Many consumer durable goods, it's reported, are even scarcer in Russia now than they were under the Czars. In short, the promised abundance of the communist utopia is still a long way in the distance.

As Dean Rusk, U.S. Secretary of State, remarked in a recent address, "We take no satisfaction from economic distress, under whatever system it exists. But it is relevant to point out that communist techniques have not produced the promised results despite appalling prices in human values paid for economic development."

It matter mute and inanimate, though changed by the forces of Nature into a multitude of forms, can never die, will the spirit of man suffer annihilation when it has paid a brief visit, like a royal guest, to this tenement of clay? No. I am as sure that there is another life as I am that I live today.—William Jennings Bryan.

Ottawa Offbeat

Happy, Hearty Hees Hot Hero of Parliament Hill

By RICHARD JACKSON
(from The Ontario Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau)

Justice Minister Fleming may be in the political doghouse . . . State Secretary Halpenny having his troubles with the CBC . . . Prime Minister Diefenbaker worrying about what the unpredictable Real Caouette might be doing next . . . Labor Minister Starr haunted by fears of Winter unemployment . . . Works Minister Fulton unhappy about his "demotion" from the Justice job . . . name any Cabinet Minister, and he is up to his eyebrows in grief . . . .

. . . . Any, that is, except Trade Minister George Hees.

The Government may be trembling in the Social Credit backfires, Parliament Hill besieged by the Voice of Women and Ban-the-Bomb marchers, and the public opinion polls showing Conservatives vie now on the political totem pole . . . but happy, handsome, sensationally successful George Hees carries joyfully on as if this were the greatest day ever in his, yours and everybody else's life.

THE NO. 1 BOY

He took the ordinarily dull and politically undistinguished Transport Department and turned it into a showcase for government's show-windows, and then he did more with the Trade Department than even tough old C. D. Howe was ever able to do, and then went on to make it the best-run, most productive, active and successful enterprise in the whole wide field of the Federal administration.

Ask any Conservative these days, from party Brass to the rank and file, whom he fits the Prime Minister's shoes, who is the Diefenbaker heir apparent.

You used to have a choice, even be able to get an argument . . . there were Fulton and Fleming, almost physical fitness program of walking, hiking, riding, swimming, skiing.

Endless energy. Pleasing personality.

Unquestioned, proved-in-the performing ability.

A sure instinct for politics.

A sceptical of money.

Add to this, by ridiculously long odds, the sharpest Cabinet executive assistant ever to hit Parliament Hill.

MEL FOR PM

One of the jokes going on The Hill these days concerns this remarkable firm of "Hees and Jack."

When anybody asks you whether you think George Hees is really ready as a shoo-in as the next Conservative leader, you are supposed to reply:

"Why snatch, but what kind of a Prime Minister is Mel Jack going to make?"

All of which is politically topical at the moment with George Hees just now having entertained Salt Lake Capital at his annual big bash-and-bust at the Coulter Club.

This year, he did it in three shifts, with three separate hordes of Mormons and their families descending on the Country Club on three different nights.

As with anything, George Hees gives his annual social rock 'n' roll the Royal Canadian works, with three well-stocked cases doing business, a sumptuous buffet supper and lunch for those of the mob who twist.

Everybody who is anybody on the Capital's political merry-go-round, including the Prime Minister, gives it a whirl.

Tab for the three-stage social rocket which has been splitting the Ottawa sky on these three star-spangled nights has set George Hees back a cool $6,000.

This is winning friends and influencing people the easy, pleasant way.

Cheers!

Strictly Personal

Preventive Delinquency Desirable

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: Equally obnoxious than the man who is assertively proud of his healthiness, and the woman who is (with a fine air of martyrdom and self-sacrifice) proud of her sickliness.

A most pathological theory, just advanced, is that mankind evolved not once but at least three times from the primates — which makes much more sense in accounting for the existence of an Einstein and an Eichman within the same species.

The only reflection of time is to keep a boy from getting into serious trouble is about 10 years before it happens; but such "preventive delinquency" is still a sealed book to most parents, both at the lower and at the upper ends of the economic spectrum.

A parallel of flattery was neatly exposed by Washington Irving, when he observed that "whenever a man has been begin to compliment him about looking young, he may be sure that they think he is growing old."

Some men apparently feel that the great commandment, "Love thy neighbor," is too perfectionist for them to meet; therefore, they have modified it and scaled it down in the modern version to "Love thy neighbor's wife."

Whenever I hear one person brag of another, "Well, he grows on you," I always envision a personality somewhat like a fungus.

Dogs are servile creatures, and not at all the discerning judges of character they are popularly supposed to be; my attitude toward them is one of acute indifference, if not active antipathy, but I must say I rarely buzzle me as ardently as if I were Albert Payson Terhune.

Suicides are usually committed not by those who are disappointed with life, but by those who are disappointed with themselves; not by those who feel that life has failed them, but by those who feel that they have failed life, and thus their act is not a rejection of the world but a repudiation of self, not a final act of aggression against God (which always involves pride) but a sickness of the soul (which involves a pathetic loss of self-respect).

Some unhappy wives take their revenge on their husband by being promiscuous, but the more subtle ones take their revenge by remaining tenaciously faithful.

What the ardent alumnus apparently does not realize is that to get his son admitted to the college he went to, where he will presumably learn a little as his father did.

Three years earlier the United States navy officer was acclaimed for the first flight over the North Pole. Admiral Byrd, foremost among the world's air explorers, was instrumental in charting an 2,000,000 square miles of earth's surface previously unseen by man. Serendipity At Northern

Stratford Beacon-Herald

The word "serendipity" crops up surprisingly in a book report on the economics of Canadian manufacturing. It is a use, perhaps, that Horace Walpole, its shortcoming is that there are so few right places in which to use it.

The booklet is one produced by the Northern Electric Company to summarize experience of the past six years in trying to increase Canadian manufacturing content in makes, and to cut down on the importing of components. The efforts have been rather successful, it might be noted in passing. Six years ago the company settled to list all the bits and pieces it was importing, for the telephones and other things—it makes, and found there were about 10,300 items on the list, which was not getting in Canada. In six years of effort, it tooled up to make some of them, and found Canadian suppliers or Canadian sub-contractors who could make others, and as a result has whittled the list of imported items from 10,300 down to 800. It now spends $11,000,000 each year in Canada, that it used to spend for items it imported. The company's report notes that as well as increasing Canadian content of what it makes, and helping Canada's balance-of-trade problems at the rate of $11,000,000 a year, the company itself is actually cutting costs, and saving money, by trying harder for Canadian content.

The report goes on to say: "Many have been other side benefits that could not be used serendipity factors, such as the 25% cost reduction in import prices would have gone up seven and a half per cent. and probably four times that price would have needed an increase. Instead of that, we really benefited by the decline in all telephones. We regard this as clearing the way to help us export."

The word "serendipity" was coined by Horace Walpole,the 18th-century writer and letter-collector, who derived it from the title of a fairy story, "The Three Princes of Serendip." The princes in the fairy tale were always finding desirable things unexpectedly, and just when they needed them. Serendip is one of the former names for Ceylon.

Webster's effort to define the coined word by explaining it as "The gift of finding valuable or agreeable things not sought for."

If you put on an old pair of trousers that have not been worn for a long time, and you find 43 cents in the pocket, you are using your serendipity.

It is cheering to find that even in such unromantic matters as industrial cost accounting, the serendipidity factor can show itself.

To Your Good Health

Make-up Minimizes Dark Circles Under the Eyes

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please give me some information on the treatment of dark circles under the eyes. I am 44 and have had a hysterectomy. I have always been a little dark under the eyes but it seems to be getting worse and I am real self-conscious. — Mrs. N.N.

I wish people would stop fretting about "dark circles." But I suppose they won't, for the vagaries of feminine cosmetics were to make dark circles stylish, then no doubt I would start getting as many requests for help in acquiring circles as I now get of the opposite.

The operation has nothing to do with the circles. Neither does health have anything to do with circles except indirectly.

The skin of the eyelids is thin. It contains the same pigments, (coloring matter) that all skin has, but the prominence of the color can vary considerably. The amount of blood in the vessels it. Brunettes have more "circles" than blondes. Loss of weight can accentuate the circles. High cheek bones can make the circles more prominent.

If the skin becomes unduly saggy, it is possible to have a tuck taken by plastic surgery, if the matter is of sufficient importance to you.

But in general careful make-up to disguise the coloring is the best answer. Rest, relax and learning not to deceive yourself, because I've noticed that some people spend themselves needlessly. Something or other attracts their attention to the "circles," and they start peering into the mirror thirteen times a day. Each time they look, the circles seem darker, whereas they haven't really changed at all.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband has developed a itty to cook everything without sugar. He always liked his beer and whisky once in a while, but the doctor says "No," is there any cure for diabetes? Where does it come from in the first place? He has gained so much weight, all in his stomach. — Mrs. E.H.

He certainly should avoid alcohol and sugar. But the diet is eating too much, which he absolutely must not do if he expects to bring diabetes under control. There's no "cure" for diabetes, but with proper diet and medication it can be prevented from interfering with ordinary, normal living. For a very complete outline of what to do and what not to do, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, unaddressed envelope and request my booklet, "Diabetes, the Sneaky Disease." (Such inquiries should be addressed to Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill.

Dear Dr. Molner: My doctor says I have an "enlarged ring" but that I don't have a hernia. What could cause this? — T.S.

There are spaces in the groin called "inguinal rings." If is through these that an inguinal or groin rupture can occur. Sometimes the "ring" can be felt distinctly by an examining doctor, yet there is no hernia. This is just "relaxed inguinal ring." It requires no treatment. And it probably wasn't "caused" by anything.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can you tell if a man has had relatives before marriage and if so, what are the symptoms both physically and mentally? — Mrs. M.P.

No, you can't tell.

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can to relieve the problem, send for my booklet in care of The Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill., entitled "Leg booklet, "How To Deal With Varicose Veins." Enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25c in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader letters, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Keep Miners Out of Parks

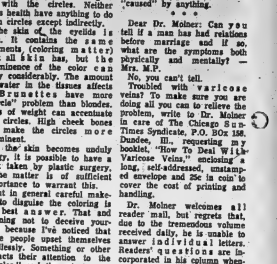
Fort William Times-Journal

Ontario's Land and Forests Minister has stated his belief that "the days of the mining camps in our wilderness parks will no longer bar mining prospectors and the engineers who bring in mine equipment."

Let's hope his prediction will not prove to be correct. As civilization sprawls across the continent, all too little of our forest wilderness areas now remain. We owe it to our children's children to preserve as much as possible of the heritage of natural beauty.

Surely in the wide, wide spaces of Canada there lies enough minerals wealth to serve the country for centuries to come, without destroying such wilderness preservation in Quetico Park.

THE PACKSACK



—by GREGORY CLARK

In the hearts and minds of Canadian veterans of the first world war there has lurked a resentment, which has produced slightly cynical feelings of hurt, that so official history of the part of the half million men in the Canadian Expeditionary Force was ever produced. The books have been of course a large number of regimental books published about the war, about various aspects of it; battalion histories have been privately printed; there have been a few Canadian novels on it. But it seemed to us old soldiers and sailors and airmen that it was queer thing that our own nation, whom we had left to awaken by consciousness as a nation, our fellow countrymen, did not think we were worth a history we could give our grandsons. It is true a Volume One of an official history, with maps, from August 1914, to Passchendaele in 1917 was produced in 1938 — a long time after. Then silence.

Those of us left are all now sixty years old and up. Mostly up. And along comes the long delayed official history! It is a beautiful 618 page book from the Queen's Printer, Ottawa, by Col. G.W.L. Nicholson. "The Canadian Expeditionary Force, 1914-1919." It has 17 memory — restoring battle maps in color, and over 67 black and white sketch maps of operations, and 47 selected official war photographs. It deals with the battles and operations in lucid terms. All in all, it is the book an old soldier will proudly give his grandson, on St. Crispin's Day.

Five Trenton Youths Pay Fines of $50

Five Trenton youths were fined $50 each for common assault after a verbal dressing down in magistrate's court this morning.

They were charged October 27 after two Trenton airmen were beaten up on the 6 RD road.

In the dock before magistrate T. Y. Wills today were Gary Ralph Enman, Peter Campbell, Anthony Schell, Dennis O'Neill and Robert Robinson.

Evidence given the court earlier showed the assault took place after the two victims were halted by the accused men as they drove with two girls near Trenton RCAF station.

Several of the accused claimed in court today they had not struck any blows during the fracas.

Crown Attorney John Pringle demanded the court rule out a suspended sentence and levy a substantial one.

"This is the third incidence in this area and this court cannot be too severe up on individuals by a superior force. This was a strong exhibition of cowardice.

The magistrate agreed with the prosecutor and described the incident as a "premeditated, semi-gang affair."

The girls, said magistrate Wills, were not blameless.

"They are actually as guilty as you but they have not been charged.

"Whether any of you struck blows or didn't, you are just as guilty as those who did," he told the five men.

Kinsmen Club Entertains County Home Residents

PICTON—An annual event keenly anticipated by residents of Prince Edward County Home for the Aged was the senior citizens' night held by Picton Kinsmen Club, Tuesday night. more than one hundred members of the club and guests, together with the Home residents, enjoyed a turkey dinner "with all the trimmings" at the Royal Hotel.

Good food, good entertainment, and good fellowship had been promised in the invitation and all were filled in good measure under the able direction of President Roo Berry and the various committees, with Past President Laverne Hegedorn responsible for general arrangements and Roy Rosborough the entertainment.

Not only does the Kinsmen Club hold this annual dinner, but in many other ways, brings happiness to residents of the Home. President Berry mentioned plans for a Senior Citizen's Club which would be welcomed by senior citizens not residents of the Home and this would possibly be in with the proposed Senior Citizens' Centre.

Guests at head table were Home Superintendent and Mrs. W. McWilliams, Mayor Pearl, S.A., County Warden and Mrs. Ross Bird, and Mrs. C. Hegedorn, Pete Dubeau of Point au Clair, Quebec, who is home for the dinner meeting, and Mrs. Berry. In brief remarks, they referred in complimentary terms to the activities of the Kinsmen Club's work on behalf of senior citizens.

PRESENTATION MADE

Also touching on Kinsmen activities was Ken Thompson of Toronto, District Deputy Governor who was present to make the presentation of a life membership to Past President Ray Smith in appreciation of long and faithful service.

Mr. Williams, first vice president of the Ontario Association for the Homes of the Aged, said he regretted some Home residents could not attend the dinner due the fact that stairwells still exist at the home. He felt that if residents had been more complaining, instead of satisfied with new County Home could have been built then. He recalled that there had been plans for a new Home, dropped when the tender was unsatisfactory and not further pursued. The Association had $30 at its convention in Toronto in favor of the 1966 meeting will be in Picton. He had observed an impressive amount of work on behalf of senior citizens and expressed appreciation to those locally who give assistance. The Kinsmen Club deserves support in its great work and would be worthy of a County grant, he felt. it was the third such banquet and he felt it meant a great deal in the lives of Home residents.

District Secretary Dubeau made the presentation of the gavel to the Picton Club. President Berry, prior to leaving Picton, turned the club gavel back to the new president, Robert Black who had a busy and amusing evening as sergeant at-arms. in fact, Constable Al Martin was "arrested" Mayor Brown and Ray Smith when the fine box disappeared.

A display of "arrest" on display, a tree holding fifty silver dollars, and sale of tickets will go to further work among senior citizens.

Enjoyable entertainment was presented by Carl Gilbert and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Forrester. Piano, accordion, violin and guitar music, songs and yodelling were enthusiastically applauded as all joined in the singing of old favorites.

Three Injured In Glenora Road Crash

PICTON (Special) — Three persons were injured in a two-car crash that had an unexpected sequel on Highway 33 near the Glenora Ferry near here this morning.

As a Provincial Police officer finished investigating the mishap and pulled away from the scene his cruiser was struck by another car. A second officer had to be despatched to investigate the incident.

Taken to Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital here were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Scott, Spring Street, Picton and John Coombs, R. R. 1, Napanee.

Mrs. Scott suffered a possible broken shoulder, face cuts and a knee injury.

Her husband and Mr. Coombs were treated for face injuries.

Police say the accident occurred when a station wagon driven by Mrs. Fred Smith, R. R. 1, Picton, skidded on an icy curve and veered out of control, and hit a fence post. Mr. Coombs, swerving to avoid a collision, struck a roadside pole.

The Scott couple were passengers in the Smith vehicle.

O.P.P. Constable Arnold Besterman investigated the mishap. His cruiser was struck by a car driven by a woman as he drove from the scene. Constable Charles Fletcher was sent to investigate the mishap involving his fellow officer.

Traffic Lights At Herchimer, Bridge in Use

The new traffic lights at the intersection of Herchimer and Bridge Streets officially went into operation this morning at eight o'clock, according to Inspector of Cleir Hayes, police department traffic division head.

The new lights are of the "semi-traffic actuated" type, meaning that the lights are operated by traffic proceeding along Herchimer Ave.

With the installation of the traffic lights, Bridge Street will become the "through" street instead of Herchimer as in the past.

Normally, the traffic lights will stay green on Bridge St. until traffic proceeding along Herchimer Ave. actuates an underground control, changing the lights to red on Bridge and green on Herchimer.

The lights then stay green on Herchimer for a designated interval before changing back to red.

Another regulatory change for traffic in the East Hill area has been the establishment of a four-way stop system at the intersection of Victoria Ave. and Hungerford Drive. The four-way stop is marked by a red flasher.

The four-way stop has been in effect for about two weeks and they have been allowing a familiarization period before taking action against violators.

But the trial period is now over and Inspector Hayes said that starting today motorists who fail to observe the four-way stop will be charged.

Plea Rejected By Magistrate, Remand Given

A Trenton youth, arrested this morning for driving without a licence, told magistrate T. Y. Wills in Belleville he had purchased the car he was operating three months ago.

However, he said, he was still seeking insurance coverage and had not as yet registered the vehicle in his name.

Arthur Whaley at first pleaded guilty to the charge.

He said he was stopped by Provincial Police east of Trenton after he had driven his daughter brother to school.

Retarded Children Will See Santa Claus

The Elks Lodge of Belleville, No. 325, will be sponsoring a bus to transport the retarded children to the Santa Claus parade to be held here this Saturday.

Parking space for the bus has been made available along the parade route on West Moira Street and trests for the children will be supplied on the bus.

The Elks Club buys the gasoline for the bus on school days all year and a trip to the Santa Claus parade is being given to the children as an added treat.

Plan 32 Floats And 14 Bands in Santa Parade

The final meeting of the 1962 Santa Claus Parade Committee was held on No. 2 Fire Hall on Wednesday evening with a fair crowd in attendance.

It is expected in this year's parade there will be 14 bands, 32 floats, compared to the 26 floats in the 1961 parade and 50 horses, including riding horses, ponies and teams.

There will also be walking personnel including those fun or clowns. And of course, there will be the star attraction, Santa Claus.

A special message from the North Pole today, indicated that Santa would be arriving in the city early Saturday morning, to be in time for the parade to start at 10.00 a.m.

Adults are asked to please leave the candy for the children. Each year personnel handing out the candy run into the problem of over-zealous grabbing the candy as it is being handed out.

More walking personnel are urgently needed for the parade. Fire Chief Gerald Vance, chairman of the parade committee, says it has more customers than it has adults to fill them. He said children are welcome accepted as the costumes are too-big for them. Anyone interested in taking part in the parade is asked to contact No. 2 fire hall at WO 8-2010. Those who are already in the parade are reminded they may pick up their costumes at No. 2 hall anytime after 2.00 p.m. on Friday afternoon.

If the weather so far this week is an indication of what can be expected on Saturday, it should be a nice day for the parade and not too cold.

The Experts Say

Woman Alcoholic Comes From Every Society Strata

BY PATRICIA RUSAK

TORONTO (CP) — At the mere mention of a woman alcoholic, the images of a grubby, immoral and irresponsible woman springs to the mind of many people.

This is unfortunate because this stereotype of the woman alcoholic prevents many women and their families from seeking help for their drinking problems, often even admitting that there is a problem, says Margaret Cork, chief social worker at the Alcoholism and Drug Addiction Research Foundation in Toronto.

The woman alcoholic comes from every social, economic and cultural background. She may be the company president's wife, the middle class suburban housewife, the unmarried career girl or a criminal, but this is what so many people fail to understand.

"I often hear people say "my wife can't be an alcoholic because she brought up our children well and the grandchildren adore her'," says Miss Cork.

EMOTIONAL CAUSES

Today the finger is often pointed at the suburban housewife but "women in suburbia are really no different than women in other social environments who drink, such as the woman who drinks after her husband dies or the woman who drinks after her children leave home." They are all subliminal, but their isolation, loneliness or other emotional problems by turning to alcohol.

Miss Cork describes the alcoholic as a person who uses alcohol consistently to the point where it begins to interfere with their marriage, their home and their work.

There are very few cases of alcoholism that do not have underlying emotional factors such as anxiety and discontent. It is an "insidious thing which creeps up on the normal healthy person," she said; because only between five and 10 per cent of alcoholics were pathologically ill when they began to use alcohol.

One of the first danger signs of alcoholism is a change in her ways of thinking. She begins to think she needs a drink before she goes out, and decides whether or not she will attend a certain function on the basis of whether or not alcoholic beverages will be served.

CHANGES HABITS

Her social habits may also begin to change. She may wish to associate only with those who drink, look down on those who do not drink and begin to withdraw from the usual things of her life. "Rationalization of drinking is another danger sign. Because the woman alcoholic tries to hide her drinking from a scornful society, her alcoholism is quite advanced when she seeks help and added to her initial emotional upset are the feelings of shame, remorse, guilt and fear resulting from social rejection. Often her illness will have progressed as long as 20 years before she will seek help, says Miss Cork.

There are many kinds of help a woman worried about her drinking can receive. She should consult an unbiased professional person such as a marriage, family or mental health counsellor rather than her mother-in-law, her sister or a neighbor who drinks and enjoys it.

More and more woman are seeking professional help for their drinking problems today and more is being learned about the causes of alcoholism among women, says Miss Cork.

WOMEN FREER

MONTREAL (CP) — While accompanying her husband to a conference here Mrs. C. S. Jha, wife of the Indian High Commissioner to Canada, spoke of the equal status now enjoyed by women in India. "Married women can continue their careers in everything except the foreign service," she said.

'Hydro Safety' Talk Given at Pine Grove WI

MARSH HILL — The November meeting of Pine Grove Women's Institute was held at the Marsh Hill school with 13 members and 17 visitors present.

The president, Mrs. Alex Tanner welcomed all with a special welcome to the visitors. During the business Mrs. Charles Ross was appointed delegate to the Trent Valley Area Convention which is to be held December 4th and 5th, with Mrs. Farley Lindenfield as the alternate.

Mrs. Charlie Mayell, convener of Canadian industries, introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Bennett, who spoke on "Safety With Hydro in the Home and on the Farm," and showed films and slides. Leaflets were distributed and these pointed out how one could check their barn and house for electrical safety. A few safety points brought out were: never touch a fallen hydro wire; fly kites away from hydro wires; keep TV antenna away from wires, and always use the correct fuses.

Members of the ladies received a cook book, after which a question and answer period was conducted by Mr. Bennett.

Mrs. Tanner expressed sincere appreciation to the guest speaker for his fine talk and the showing of films and slides.

Mr. Farley Lindenfield led in community singing and this was followed by the serving of refreshments.

Christ Church Contact Club Holds Fine 'Christmas Arcade'

The parish hall at Christ Church was a hive of activity last evening for the annual Christmas Arcade, sponsored by the Contact Club of the church under the overall ownership of Myra Cresswell.

Warmly greeting the thronging guests at entrance to the hall were: Eileen Fleming, wife of the rector, and Trudy Sands. Fisher was in charge of the tickets and Laura Bird supplied appropriate background music throughout the evening.

The event was officially opened by the Rev. R. G. Fleming, recently appointed rector of the church, who welcomed the large number of patrons present.

FINE DECORATING

Mrs. Florence Lennox was in charge of the decorating scheme which was particularly eye-catching with its red, white and green motifs. Adorning the piano were two miniature Christmas trees with colorful globes and two jolly old Santas, centred by Frosty, the Snowman. Suspended from the ceiling were mobile angels with trumpets heralding the forthcoming festive season. Foregrounding the platform were two Santas centred by the parcel post (Yuleville P.O.) in charge of Vicky Ling and Linda Niles. Located along the one wall was a display table of gift-wrapped parcels with its vibrant red cover, golden tinsel pine cones, an artistic centrepiece based with red and white globes and gold tea tapers in crystal candelabras. In a corner near the platform was a white novelty tree bedecked with royal blue globes and contrasting red ribbons.

MANY HANDICRAFTS

In the centre of the spacious auditorium was a quadrangle laden with a large variety of handicrafts made by members as a Club project. Here, one could purchase a grand array of gift items, ranging from articles of felt, Christmas trinkets, aprons, doll clothes and complete doll wardrobes, candles to Planters products, and numerous miscellaneous items.

One section of this display was devoted entirely to felt articles some of which were coasters-on-a-felt table covers, telephone and other book covers, shoe bags, and little Santas of felt, a delight for the little tot. Next to this was a wonderful array of doll clothing which included fussy little dresses, coat and hat sets, pyjamas of all kinds, play suits, even a number of dainty evening dresses for the high heeled type of doll and also run of the mill dresses, pinafores, crinolines and doll carriage covers. A beautiful bride doll with complete wardrobe centred the display and these were to be sold later in the evening to the highest bidder.

DELICIOUS SWEETS

The candy table was laden with a bountiful supply of sweets with a mixture of maple creams and fudges in cello phane bags, trays of individual pieces of nutty chews of fudge selling for one and two cents a piece also little marshmallow dolls covered with lollipops and mouth-watering strawberry candies. Next to this were a number of Planters products and this was a Club project with a percentage of sales going to the Club.

The gift bar had a various assortment including pastel plastic wreaths, numerous terry cloth bibs with four lollipops tucked in front and turtle dove, foam covered soaps with appropriate poems.

WHITE ELEPHANT

Next was the white elephant table or Attic Specials, having its usual number of miscellaneous items including books, trinkets, ties, fountain pens, ash trays, wall plaques, costume jewelry, even to a pair of roller skates. The knitting booth had a splendid assortment of well made articles with many pairs of children's warm mittens, cosy slipper socks, helmets and mitlets with dainty baby sets of bonnet, sweater and bootees. The sewing table was also well supplied with embroidered guest towels, little girls' red corduroy and white leotard sets and pretty little aprons.

Along one section of the quadrangle was located the apron display and here could be purchased a large assortment in every color, design and material, even the fussy attention to the frilly, others in practical broadcloth and ginghams and several with a distinctly Christmas design.

ARCADE DELICACIES

The bake table (Arcade Delicacies) which was decorated with glossy garlands of holly and taking the full width of the platform had a generous supply of confections including one table solely devoted to fresh homemade bread and buns; also available were shortbread gingerbury, many pies, butter tarts, muffins, date loaves, orange nut and raisin loaf, banana loaf, lime fancies, cakes and also one section having jars of carrot and pineapple jam, grape jelly, cranberry jam and various relishes.

ARCADE COFFEE COURT

At the entrance to the refreshment centre (Arcade Coffee Court) which was in the Sunday school rooms, were two tables for checking parcels and here the pillars were decorated with colorful poinsettias with the focal point of interest the long red covered serving table centred with an artistically made Christmas rose tree. Gleaming cutlery, prettily adorned napkins and plates of mince and pumpkin pies topped with a generous amount of whipped cream added to the colorful setting.

The guest tables set for four were arranged at pleasing intervals in the room and these were also most attractive centred with solitaire candle in glass and silver centrepiece with little Christmas ornaments each one with its warm Christmas greeting.

A complete list of those who helped in any way at this pleasingly successful event is as follows: Catering, Eileen Fleming and Trudy Sands; overall convener, Myra Cresswell; refreshments, Mildred Lewis; serving, Betty Ling, Marg Wiggins, Florence Lennox and Doris Stewart; kitchen aides, Shirley Harris, Mable Danjano, Mary Phillips and Goldie Miller; decorations, Florence Lennox; bake table, Dorothy Sinclair; candy table, Barbara Bertrim; white elephant table, Irene Weatherstone; publicity, Edith Pringle; parcel post, Vicky Ling and Linda Niles; checking parcels, Bonnie Lennox and Patsy Kellgy; aprons, Mary Duck and Mary Fletcher; knitting, Greta Moult and Marg. FORECASTING SPRING — IN NOVEMBER

Any forecaster — political, weather or fashion, gazes into the crystal ball, draws conclusions, then with crossed fingers and neck well stuck out, he or she publishes those conclusions. As a knowledgeable risks we run, but reserving our right to be wrong, this is how we see the fashion picture for spring 1963, viewed through the late November fog.

Color is always of first interest in any new season. We think that yellow and aqua are going to lead the fashion parade, with rose pink a close second. The yellow belongs to the buttercup family, while the aqua is a clear shade, with the blue tones predominating. Lilac, we are pleased to say, seems to have disappeared, although there is a rumor in a recent Paris report that one or two designers are experimenting with deep purple—Heaven help us!

At this early date the silhouette story seems to contradict itself, with coats showing a more fitted line, while dresses continue to feature the loose, shift look. Perhaps the shift dress will be slimmed and tightened to accommodate these fitted coats. Suits have longer jackets, with many loose, lowslung belts. Suit skirts continue to show fullness with gatherings in the waistband over the hip line. Gone is the skimpy, tight Montmartre look.

Millinery designers are torn between cloches with wide, sweeping brims and draped turbans of fine straw or fabrics. Linens and shantungs in stitched brimmed hats or of green leaves and foliage lightens the overall flower look. We saw a wide-brimmed, flowered hat of silk organza with a banding of rich velvet, which should bring out the gallant knight in any man.

There will be more shoes with oval toes, although in the lower price ranges the dressy shoe will continue to show a sharp point. Heels are definitely lower. The newest heel is the spool-shaped heel, almost like a wineglass with a waisted-in look. Gone are those towering stilts we are accustomed to. The open look is new, with cutouts to give a sling-back appearance. The back of some new spring styles is cut much lower. (Pump bumps will show!)

The classic linen look seems to extend right through the fashion parade, from millinery to light toss-on coats. Two-piece linen suits, the backbone of most career wardrobes, in the summer, is never looking with long jackets and fringed, sash-tied belts. Skirts and hats will both remain short.

As the picture becomes clearer we will continue our fashion forecasts. In the meantime, this is spring fashion 1963, as we see it to date!

Kingston Presbyterial W.M.S. Held at West Huntingdon

IVANHOE—A sectional rally of Kingston Presbyterial W.M.S. was held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, West Huntingdon, on the afternoon of November 21st, organized by 2nd vice-president, Mrs. John Wallace.

Mrs. Milton Shaw was in charge of registration. There were 45 present.

Receiving were: Mrs. William Shaw, Mrs. Chester Sills, 1st vice-president. Mrs. John Craig, of Belleville president.

The program opened by singing "Zion's King Shall Reign Victorious."

The worship was conducted by Mrs. Bert Cook and Mrs. James Johnston of St. Andrew's, Stirling.

A warm welcome was extended to the visitors by Mrs. John McInroy; a duet, "It May Be To-morrow" given by Mrs. Russell Lewis, and Mrs. George Alvey, of St. Peter's Madoc.

Mrs. Vernon Weir, Belleville, president of Kingston Presbyterial W.M.S. brought greetings.

GUEST SPEAKER

The guest speaker, Mrs. Harold Keefer, Trenton, was introduced by Mrs. Thomas Dodd.

Mrs. Keefer, a dedicated worker for missions, with a wide knowledge of the work has held many important offices. She is now a vice-president on council executive and in her opening remarks brought greetings from council and council president, Mrs. A. S. Curr.

Mrs. Keefer based her remarks in Rev. 14-15. "Thrust in Thy sickle and reap; for the time is come for thee to reap; for the harvest of the earth is ripe."

The purpose of the W.M.S. is to unite the women of the church in prayer, study and service in the advancement of God's Kingdom upon earth.

"We must be careful that we sow. We must witness for Christ by living the Christian gospel.

A grave difficulty is the lack of leaders, all over Canada. A leader carries heavy responsibilities. There are many not capable or fully equipped. We are not asked to work alone, but have the promise, "Lo, I am with you always."

When Christ healed the man with the withered arm, he said, "Stretch forth thine arm" and by faith he was healed.

"There are many ways we can help to spread the gospel; we can make possible that Christian literature be distributed. One street in Tokyo has 100 book stores. The Communists are literally pouring their literature into Japan.

FORMOSA'S NEED

In Formosa there is a great need for trained workers, teachers, doctors and nurses. God has His own way of working His purpose out. His ways are not our ways. In Formosa the seeds had already been sown and after the war, when the missionaries were allowed to return, they found a strong church.

"With God's help we can do all things. The fields are white unto the harvest. If we do not do our part that part of the vineyard is lost. 'Pray ye and He will send forth reapers.'

"Do not be discouraged, God has not promised success. We are only asked to be faithful. We must become partners with God."

Mrs. Roy Hall president of Tweed W.M.S. thanked Mrs. Keefer for her inspiring address.

The offering was presented for dedication by Mrs. Harry Redcliffe and Mrs. Charles Irvine of Fuller Mission Circle. Mrs. Sam Cross of Roslin led in prayer.

A solo, "My Task" words written by Mrs. Horne of Kew Beach United Church, was rendered by Mrs. A. Hassall.

An invitation to hold the 1963 rally in Roslin Church, given by Mrs. Sam Cross was accepted.

Mrs. John Wallace spoke briefly and following the singing of "Sow The Seeds Beside All Waters," Mr. Thomas Dodds pronounced the benediction.

The church was decorated with potted 'mums. A flower arrangement of yellow and bronze 'mums was placed in the church by Mrs. Ken Nicol, of Madoc, in memory of her mother, Mrs. John Fleming, a Charter member of St. Andrew's W.M.S. and a past president.

Afternoon tea was served.

U.C.W Meetings

WOOLER U. C. W.

The sixth annual meeting of the Wooler U.C.W. was held last Tuesday afternoon, opening a noon dinner. Quiet music, played by Mrs. A. G. Austin, called the meeting to order and was opened with a meditation read by the president, Mrs. Wilbur McColl.

Mrs. J. MacCallum was in charge of the worship service, her theme being "A Crown of Love." Mrs. F. Dorland assisted by reading the Scripture from Luke 19: 25-27.

Reports from each of the three Units, the standing committees and the treasurer brought the women up-to-date on the news of the organization. Correspondence was read and during the business period, the school for the active held at Warkworth on November 20, was announced. The uses of used nylons was stated, and also that children graduating from the junior congregation at the age of nine ye will receive a hymnary.

DONATES QUILT

Mrs. Clarence MacMasters is donating a quilt to be sent to mission, which the ladies v help quilt on November 29th in the church parlor.

It was decided the organization would be willing to aid the church in the adoption o child.

As it was the understanding last year that the offices be held for two years, it was not necessary to appoint a nominating committee.

The president was happy to announce the Units are planning a joint Christmas meeting on the 4th of December in the church parlors.

The business part of the meeting was closed by Mrs. McColl with appreciative thanks to the Unit leaders, to all members of the executive for their co-operation during the past year.

PROGRAM

Mrs. P. Smith, the Christian education and missionary leader was in charge of the program and opened with some remarks on Christian education, stating the desperate need for Sunday School teachers.

Five ladies presented the skit, "The Trouble Shooter," on Hong Kong from "Add an Answer," after which Mrs. Smith led in a short discussion.

Mrs. J. MacCallum favored with a solo, "Tell Me the Story of Jesus," which was followed by prayer for missions by Mrs. Smith.

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS

MAIL CALL

Question: I'm getting married in January and am planning a small reception at home. The party will be catered, and I'm trying to decide what type of cake to order. I'm planning to have a two-tier cake made, and would prefer to have a simple white cake instead of a fruit cake, which I've been told is traditional. There's quite a difference in price, so I'd prefer to forego the fruit cake to save extra expense. Would a plain cake, course, be just as correct to serve to guests? — M.E.L., Newark, N.J.

Answer: Fruit cake, I've been told by a baker who specializes in wedding cakes, beautifully decorated, of is traditional in Southern states. But actually, regardless of where you live, any kind of cake may correctly serve as a wedding cake when icing and decorations are added. Quite popular now, mainly because it's less expensive as well as delicious, is a white cake that is almost the same in consistency as pound cake and is easy to slice without crumbling or bending under the cake knife.

Question: At an informal dinner, is the salad bowl placed to the right or left of the dinner plate? I've seen it placed both ways in various homes I've visited. Is one method preferable to the other, or is the placement left to the whim of the hostess? — Mrs. G.M., Troy New York

Answer: When the salad is served along with the main course, the generally accepted placement of the bowl is to the left of the dinner place, just beyond the forks and slightly below the bread-and-butter plate.

Question: My husband and I returned from our wedding trip a week ago to find a number of wedding presents waiting for us in our new apartment. A few were from business acquaintances of my husband who were not invited to our wedding and obviously sent the gifts in response to wedding announcements they received. These were addressed to both of us, but, since I've never met the men who sent them, I'm not sure who should send the thank-you notes — my husband or me. Also, should the notes be sent to their homes or business addresses? — Mrs. H.B., Riverdale, N.Y.

Answer: Presents are always acknowledged by the bride, even when they are sent by friends or acquaintances of the groom whom she has never met. If the enclosed card was from a man and wife, then the thank-you note should be addressed to the wife and sent to their home. If a man's card was enclosed, and it did not include the name of his wife, then the acknowledgement may be addressed to him at his place of business.

SEX RATIO

There were 102 males to every 100 females in Canada at the 1961 census. In rural areas the ratio was 112 to 100 and in urban areas 98 to 100.

Homespun and Hearty

Take a chill breeze from the north, add a flurry of snow with a sudden drop in the temperature, and the prediction on the home front is for sharpened appetites. A hearty, satisfying dish such as Salmon Shepherd's pie is indicated.

For this dish, canned salmon is combined with hard-cooked eggs and chopped celery in a creamy sauce, then topped with fluffy, hot, mashed potatoes and baked until the potatoes are lightly browned. A canny suggestion regarding it is that it be made with the modestly priced, pink variety of canned salmon. In some years, such as the present one, more pink salmon is canned than any other single salmon variety. Moreover, pink salmon is an especially good choice for a casserole dish.

SALMON SHEPHERD'S PIE

1 can (15½ ounces) canned salmon, 2 tablespoons butter or other fat, 1 cup chopped celery, ¼ cup flour, 2 cups liquid (salmon liquid plus milk), ½ teaspoon salt, dash pepper, 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped, 2 to 3 cups mashed potatoes.

Drain salmon and break into bite-sized chunks. Crush the heat-softened bone with a fork and add to the fish. Save salmon liquid and add milk to make 2 cups liquid. Melt butter. Add celery and cook until tender. Blend in flour. Add liquid gradually and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Stir in seasonings, eggs, and salmon. Pour into a greased 1¼-quart casserole. Top with seasoned mashed potatoes, moistened and whipped to easy spreading consistency. Bake in a hot oven, 425 deg. F., for 25 minutes, or until lightly browned. Makes 6 servings.

Venturesome Vegetable Cooking

by Mary Moore

If a professional cook stands still in the midst of the harvest bounty of an out-of-door market frankly puzzled about what vegetables to buy, how must amateur cooks feel? I was the frankly puzzled one. We all have served all of the vegetables countless times, but are always looking for something different. I have tried today to give common vegetables an uncommon treatment for the benefit of puzzled and venturesome cooks.

Dinner Menus

THURSDAY

Braised Ox Tongue Florentine; Kernel Corn; Brussels Sprouts; Raw Celery and Carrot Strips; Orange and Raisin Steamed Pudding (see Wednesday — try half recipe); Hard Sauce; Tea.

SUNDAY

Roast Lamb; Corn Relish; Pan - Roasted Parsnip Chunks; Broccoli with Mustard Mayonnaise (see Thursday); Moulded Perfection Salad on Lettuce Cups; Burnt Sugar Cake (see Friday); Coffee.

PARSLEY CARROTS WITH MAYONNAISE:

To serve 4, scrub 8 medium carrots. Cut into fine strips lengthwise about 3" long. Cook in ¾ cup boiling water in ½ teaspoon salt until tender — not more than 15 minutes. Drain off any liquid that is left. Add ¾ cup finely chopped parsley and 2 or 3 tablespoons mayonnaise and gently mix through the strips over low heat. This is popular with most and even better than tolerable to those who could live without carrots for the rest of their lives.

BRAISED CELERY:

The bruised celery I am about to describe is similar to some I ate on a KLM plane over Europe. I think this is quite common in Continental Europe but most Canadian cooks have never made it. It is good. To serve 4, select 4 bunches of celery which have been stripped down to hearts. Cut each into 4 lengthwise, being careful to include the root in each quarter to hold it together. Simmer covered until tender in 1½ cups water to which you have added a beef or chicken bouillon cube (or use 1 can undiluted consomme). Carefully drain and reserve liquid. When celery is tender liquid is reduced to about ¾ cup. Keep celery hot. Boil liquid hard to reduce it to ¼ cup. Add 1 tablespoon butter and pour over celery before serving.

NOTE:

If desired, the sauce may be thickened with a smooth paste of ½ teaspoon each flour and water stirred in until it boils.

BROCCOLI WITH MUSTARD MAYONNAISE:

Wash, trim and cut into heads of broccoli (the amount that the vegetable wholesalers make into bundles for retail trade). Boil broccoli in salted water, uncovered, until barely tender. Never overcook broccoli or it will be soft and olive green. It should retain some crispness. Drain well. Heat 2 tablespoons prepared mustard and 2 teaspoons vinegar together. Add them slowly to 1-3 cup mayonnaise and just before serving pour this zesty sauce over the broccoli. This is a sort of mock Hollandaise.

SEPARATE SCHOOLS

OTTAWA (CP) — French-language writer Seraphin Marion says there are more children at separate schools than at public schools for the first time in the capital's history. He told alumni at Ottawa's Brebeuf College there were 27 more children in separate schools than public schools in the 1961-62 year.

Japanese Women Become More Beauty-Conscious

By YUKO NAKAMIKADO

TOKYO (Reuters) — Japanese women are becoming more beauty-conscious, with teen-agers and middle-aged housewives alike giving more thought to their faces and figures.

Taking their cue from their sisters in other countries, they are making use of products ranging from seaweed to machines designed to whittle away unwanted inches.

Beauty parlors are helping them—along with better-filled purses due to the flourishing economy and more leisure resulting from a wider use of electrical appliances in the house.

Beauty parlors, once limited to setting and waving the hair, now offer hair dyeing, steam baths and showers, manicure pedicure, facial and body massages and packs under infra-red lights.

One even adds "manicures" for the teeth—in one of four colors: pink, blue, pearl, or transparent.

OFFER WIGS

Another offers blonde, brunette and red wigs.

In a third, Irish moss, or chondrus-crispus, is imported from New Zealand and Morocco for use in a massage cream or to be put into a hot bath to promote a smooth skin.

Teen-agers are flocking to charm schools.

There they learn bend-and-stretch exercises for figure development the art of makeup for different occasions; how to sit and walk properly; and how to be photographed.

Housewives who cannot afford to visit charm schools or beauty parlors watch beauty advice programs on television and some cosmetic manufacturers offer free makeup tuition in department stores.

Wife Resents Husband Who Flirts

DEAR DORIS—My husband, I think, is a flirt; but never steps out of line. He is very well liked, and a very good dancer.

Being a bit of a psychologist, maybe you can tell me why, after 26 years of a good married life—I can't quite accept this.—WONDERING.

DEAR WONDERING — You want him to be perfect—but are any of us? Suppose he was unfaithful. Suppose he was abusive. You'd have something real to cope with, wouldn't you?

If he never steps out of line, laugh it off. Make the girls he flirts with comfortable to be with you. You can afford to overlook this after 26 years of happy wedded life.

DEAR DORS—Could you please tell me where I could write to get any information on Social Service? Also, could you please tell me which high school courses and how many years of training are required?—STUDENT.

DEAR STUDENT—Write to the Canadian Association of Social Workers, 18 Rideau Street, Ottawa, Ontario, for their brochure on the profession of social work. And send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet.

After the regular academic course at high school, social work calls for an arts degree and post graduate study for one or two years; one for Bachelor, two for Master of Social Work.

* * *

TO WANTING TO ADOPT—Child care agencies have their own age limits for adoption. Usually the age limit for adoption of a small baby is forty, and since you are under this, even though your husband is older, you would probably qualify.

It's not so much whether you are wealthy, as whether you are financially stable. Not the wealthy, but the middle class, are the most prolific baby-adopters.

DEAR DORIS—My problem is so terribly complicated that I think nobody can help me. Somebody is building lies about me—How can I stop this injustice?—PLEASE PRAY FOR ME.

* * *

DEAR PLEASE—I'll pray for you when I know more about what's bothering you. If you are in the habit of writing anonymous notes, folks are quite likely to talk about you. Write me a proper letter telling all, signing it with your name and enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

* * *

DEAR DORIS—I am very interested in two occupations: I.B.M. punch card operator and medical record librarian.

I would like to know how much training is needed and where I could get it.—B. A. L.

DEAR B. A. L.—Get in touch with the I.B.M. office in your location about this course. Usually this company requires that any people receiving training have been selected already for staff.

With regard to the vocation of medical record librarian, write to The Guidance Centre, Ontario College of Education, University of Toronto, Toronto, Ont.

U.C.W.

MADOC JUNCTION — On Tuesday afternoon a joint meeting of the four U.C.W. groups on the Thomasburg circuit was held at the Eggleton United Church.

At the front, a basket of variegated chrysanthemums, placed there by Mrs. C. Bridges, added a colorful touch of autumn beauty.

Mrs. William McMullen presided and opened the meeting by reading a poem, "I Will Follow the Upward Road," and a prayer. The worship service was conducted by Mrs. Warren Harlow. Miss Joyce Stapley presided at the piano.

The Scripture reading from St. Luke 10:25-37, and the meditation on the lesson with emphasis on the words, "Go and Do Thou Likewise," was given by Mrs. Harlow.

Mrs. Bert Reide gathered the offering, which was dedicated with a prayer by Mrs. Clarence Fitchett. Mrs. K. Thompson read the minutes of the previous union meeting at Thomasburg and also gave the treasurer's report.

It was decided that extra money be donated through the M. and M. to the special fund, "Food for the Hungry."

A piano solo contributed by Mrs. Bruce Stapley was greatly appreciated.

Mrs. McMullen introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. C. W. Sine, literature secretary of Belleville Presbyterial. Mrs. Sine referred to the new study book, "The Word and the Way" and the supplementary book. Following this she gave an inspiring message with many thought-arousing remarks.

Mrs. Maurice Clancy, on behalf of all present, voiced appreciation to Mrs. Sine for the splendid address and presented her with a gift. Mrs. Sine graciously expressed her thanks.

Members of Eggleton U.C.W. served refreshments.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Mr. T. Y.—Every kid doesn't have to go to college.

Mrs. T. Y. — I'll be heartbroken if he backs down now.

Mr. T. Y. — Our son Frank should have a better reason for going to college than the fact that his mother has her heart set on it. If college means so much to her, let her register there herself, now that she's saved up the money for his first year!

Just because the boy loves to use my telescope and study the stars, my wife insists that he's on the way to become a great scientist. But his real interest is in building. He looked at the stars and then made himself a model planetarium. To be a scientist he'd have to get decent marks in math and other subjects, and Frank has just about squeaked through.

We're all headed for trouble unless his mother accepts the fact that Frank just isn't the College type.

Mrs. T. Y. — My husband and I never went to college. Naturally we dreamed of our son's going further than we. We kept a special savings account for Frank's college education, ever since he was in kindergarten. Now that he's 18 and the time to apply draws near, my husband is encouraging him to back down.

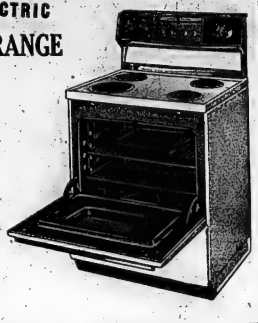
He's a bright boy. He may not show his real ability on tests, but that toy planetarium he made shows that he knows math and science, even if he had to teach himself instead of getting it from books. With a little tutoring this year, I'm sure he'll do well enough on the college entrance tests to get into a good university and study for a degree. He'll be sorry if he passes up his chance, and I'll be so disappointed.

The Council: Socrates said, "Know thyself." If the hemlock hadn't done him in so fast he'd have probably added, "And know thy son." For obviously, one of these parents doesn't really know Frank. The Council suggests that Mrs. Y. respect the results of tests, plus the opinion of Frank's teachers and school guidance counsellors. If these objectives indicate Frank and Mr. Y.'s preferences, all add up to No College, Mrs. Y. should accept the verdict.

To soften the blow for her we offer the view of a leading American educator who feels that 80 per cent of the kids who go to college shouldn't for their own and the nation's good. Seven out of ten high school students, he says, have parents who want them to go. Two out of those seven will do well and graduate. That means the other five will fall and drop out, with nothing added but frustration. And even those two graduates may have been taking the wrong courses, for out in jobs 40 per cent of the college graduates feel themselves misfits, doing work they're miserable at. So, heed Frank's aptitudes and capacity now. Don't force him to struggle through uncongenial years, a square peg in a round hole, wasting time.

Other educators echo this view that college has been oversold. What's the use, they ask, of having so many students who understand the design of a space rocket, if there aren't trained technicians who can build it?

There are more than 22,000 kinds of jobs to choose from. And only a few require college education. Yet, all are essential to our economy. It's better that Frank pick an opening in a field he feels at home in, after high school graduation, than sweat out four years of college (or more, if he flunks) merely to satisfy his mother's vanity. Her vanity will be soothed by his smooth progress and success.



Of course, college offers more than vocational preparation. Both Mr. and Mrs. Y. can encourage Frank to pursue the "enrichment subjects" on his own and all through his life. Call his degree a Ph. C. for Productive Happy Citizen!

St. Andrew's Women's Guild Sponsors Yuletide Tea, Bazaar

One of the most successful afternoon teas and bazaars was held yesterday afternoon in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church under the auspices of the Women's Guild. An ideal November day with clear blue skies and bright sunshine formed an alluring inducement for the many patrons who came with Christmas shopping in mind, and who were not disappointed in their quest.

The bazaar, was formed ably, opened by the Reverend W. H. V. Walker, who wished the Guild every success in its venture, and complimented them on the fine display of handicraft, homecooking, and other booths of attractive articles.

Receiving the guests were Mrs. L. Bly, president of the Women's Guild; Mrs. W. H. V. Walker, wife of the former minister of St. Andrew Presbyterian Church in Stirling; and Mrs. N. Hutchinson, wife of the pastor of St. Columbus Church.

ADORABLE TEA ROOM

The tea room, to which the guests were escorted by Mrs. H. G. McKay, Mrs. Ralph Ketcheson; Mrs. H. McConnell, and Mrs. J. Allen was adorable in its lovely Christmas decor. A large spray of green oak leaves centred by a bright crimson and gold colored poinsettia adorned one end wall; while at the opposite end were tall candelabra glowing with flickering flames and in every window more clusters of poinsettia, and oak leaves.

The lovely twin tea tables, one at either end of the spacious room, were beautiful in their yuletide theme with Scotch lace ecru cloths centred by golden poinsettias highlighted by sprays of silver grapes and spikes of gilded pine. Tripointed silver candelabra with tall bronze-gold candles, and the gleaming silver services completed the charming picture. The little guest tables also bore out the Christmas theme with their silver poinsettia leaves backed by a white candle and fronted by tiny colored globes on white cloths.

PRESIDING

Those who presided at the tea tables included: Mesdames J. Morrow, R. Bunkard, M. Ward, C. Ryan, H. M. Barlow, G. A. Freeman, V. Weir, G. Shaw, F. Sheir, D. Elvidge, R. Strachan, R. Michaud; those replenishing were: Mesdames H. Kelly, J. Allan, G. Boyce, R. Sine, A. Stalker, Y. Bushell, C. Hooper, R. Michaud, T. Anger, J. Miller, R. Cameron, J. McFarlane, J. Darvell, G. Tift, R. Elliott, H. McKeown, P. Dinboer, J. R. Vandervoort, Shiefflied, Ivan Rollins, J. Clendenin and S. Ray. Those arranging plates included: Mrs. A. Chaplin as convener. Mrs. H. McCreary as co-convener, Mrs. G. Scott, Mrs. E. Pigden, Mrs. Murray, Mrs. J. Campbell, Mrs. S. Fraser, Mrs. J. McKenzie and Mrs. R. White assisting.

SERVING

Those who served were: Mesdames A. Williamson, F. Parsons, H. Shorey, V. Weir, Arbuthnott, P. Bondy, H. Arnott, B. Chilvers, O. J. Read, R. Mott, V. Morton, J. Bell, R. Liscum, R. Jones, J. Lennox, A. Smith, J. R. Vandervoort, J. R. White, K. Bateman, MacMillen, R. Hinchey, W. Cossaul and Miss Muir.

Convening the kitchen was Mrs. J. Browning, with her co convener, Mrs. D. Kane, assisted by Mesdames J. Barnett, Waldorf, J. Fraser, M. Burley, M. Douglas, V. Morton and E. Brooks.

The nursery was convened by Mrs. A. Globe, assisted by Mrs. J. W. Ritchie, Miss Linda Marmer, Miss Beverlie Scott, Janet Downey and their helpers. Here the little tots were kept interested while their mothers sought for Yuletide gifts, and some mouth-watering home cooking, as well as other articles for every member of the family.

CONVENERS

The treasurers for the afternoon were Mrs. H. Elvidge, Mrs. McConnell Sr., Mrs. Bruce Beavis and Miss Burnside, while the convener of the bazaar was Mrs. H. G. McKay, with her co-conveners, Mrs. H. McConnell, Mrs. J. Morris and Mrs. K. Davidson.

The six attractive booths were arranged at strategic points commencing with the entrance and into the Sunday School rooms in the lower auditorium. First was the delicatessen booth, sponsored by the Sunshine group, and convened by Mrs. Key Wilson and Mrs. Lois Watson, assisted by Mrs. Mary Pounder; Mrs. Jean Campbell, and Mrs. Frances Morrin, who were kept busy filling the various jars of chili sauce; cucumber relish; pickled eggs; canned peaches; estate assorted sandwiches; sausage rolls; individual meat and apple pies; fruit and vegetable salads; cakes and many other appetizing dishes.

The home-baking drew the eager shoppers with its luscious pies, buns; angel cakes; delicious boiled icing layer cakes; orange and date loaves; raisin tarts; plum tarts; chocolate squares; little iced gems; and shortbreads. These were in charge of Mrs. Allan McCreary; Mrs. E. Hahn; Mrs. A. Smith, and Mrs. T. Anger, assisted by members of the Welcome group.

CARD TABLE COVERS

Adorning the wall behind the homecooking, were a number of eye-catching card table covers embroidered with floral motifs. These were for orders only, and sponsored by the Welcome Group.

The children's wear booth was filled with many little garments; flannelette pyjamas; little mitts in every shade and color; and in mixed colors; little night gowns; dresses; slippers; bootees green knit smocks, pussy cat washcloths containing bars of soap; print shirts in floral ecru shades; racks of dresses and a prettily pieced quilt. This booth was sponsored by the Loyal Group under the convenership of Mrs. H. Yorke; assisted by Mrs. Webb; Mrs. G. Shaw; Mrs. P. Tounsley; Mrs. K. Pigden; Mrs. J. Miller and Miss Helen Blair.

DELICIOUS CANDY

The candy booth was convened by Mrs. Mantle; Mrs. W. J. Miller; Mrs. S. Hay and Mrs. Ivan Rollins. Here were many kinds of 'sweeties' to please the possessors of the sweet tooth sect: melt in the mouth maple creams; divinity fudge; chocolate fudge; cocoanut creams in tempting pinks and whites; all nicely placed in little red cups and boxes, and something out of the ordinary, a Christmas candy wreath made in three rows of prettily covered candies. As each Christmas guest entered, they were to snip off one of the candies as a preliminary treat.

The cottons and crafts, convened by Mrs. V. Tryan; Mrs. K. Robertson; Mrs. Gelsthorpe; Mrs. Brooks and other members of the Harmony Group displayed beautiful doilies, as fine as spider webs in white crochet; Christmas stockings; flower hanging baskets like oriols nests with the colorful whistler perched above; Yuletide candles; bliss silk cushions; vases; oven mitts; tea cosy; pillow slips; and tea towels; costume jewellery; and pot holders in shapes of sunbonnets; apples; plums; butterflies; dusting mit and cloth. All of which were daintly. A beautiful Christmas tree fashioned from whites net caught the eye, lovely for a table centre.

ROOMFUL OF APRONS

A whole room was given over to aprons; big, medium and small in half style and the old standby, the overall type; all in glowing colors of yellow, green, mauve and mixtures of plain and floral; two Christmas aprons, one with Santa and his reindeer hurrying to make little and big people happy, and one with a large poinsettia in the centre; one in circular style with gold on a black background; some in reds, and some in white and pink organdy. All of 'em' say making a fine Christmas gift for the busy housewife. These were convened by Mrs. E. Sheir and Mrs. H. Durno; assisted by Mesdames H. Kelly, E. Elliott, H. Scott, N. Williamson, H. Fargey, L. Waldorf, H. McKeown, I. Gill, V. Mortson, M. Maybee and D. Cameron of the Friendship group.

WHITE ELEPHANT

Not to be overlooked was the "White Elephant" booth, convened by the C.G.I.T. where one could choose bookends, pottery money, winter flowers in white and red and green, charm bracelets, odd saucers, powder box, pictures, Christmas cards, books, two pretty little dresses in pink, purse, wall plaques and scrap and saucer. A little CGIT doll overlooked the display, clad in the regulation CGIT uniform.

A delightful and successful tea and bazaar.

Here is a Split Level, area 1190 sq. ft., which could be built on a flat roof by raising the grade on one side (in front of the living room). A lot with a slight slope would of course be more suitable. In addition to a semi-basement, there is also a full basement under the Living-Kitchen area. Beside the garage is, as in most Split Levels, the laundry, an additional bathroom, and a den or studio which could be used for an extra bedroom if necessary. The bedroom area (above the garage) is, as in most Split Levels completely separated from the living-kitchen areas. Design is a combination of stone veneer and frame.

Harriman Urges Pakistan, India Unite in Defence

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Averill Harriman, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, left here today for tension-easing talks with Pakistan leaders after urging India and Pakistan to unite in defence against the "very real threat" from Communist China.

Harriman, head of a special U.S. mission to India and Pakistan flew to Rawalpindi where he will confer with President Mohammed Ayub Khan and other leaders in an attempt to ease strained relations caused by U.S. military aid to India.

Before leaving, he warned of the Chinese Communist threat to both India and Pakistan and stressed the U.S. felt free to give aid to anyone it wished.

Harriman said he discussed the Kashmir dispute with Indian leaders and said "as far as the United Sites is concerned, the problem is between India and Pakistan."

"But naturally we would like to see the maximum unity in defence of the sub-continent," he said. "We would like to see them join in defence."

The press conference was held after Harriman had met Prime Minister Nehru for the fourth time for talks on the Chinese-Indian border war.

Duncan Sandys, British Commonwealth relations secretary, is already in Rawalpindi on tension-easing mission.

Youngstown to wake up and help the authorities bring an end to these unspeakable atrocities" and added:

"There are people not directly involved in the bombing who know why this was done. I can conceive of no bond of allegiance requiring these persons to remain silent under the circumstances of death and injury to two innocent children."

USES DYNAMITE

The children's involvement was something on which the bomber had not figured when he planted dynamite in the 1956 model car parked in "Cadillac Charlie" Cavallaro's two - car garage on the north side.

On school days Cavallaro, 60, normally rises at 6:30 a.m. and some of their neighborhood friends to school then headed downtown to his business at marketing grapes. But there was no school last Thursday and Friday, because of Thanksgiving. The bomber may have planned on that when he hooked the explosive to the automobile's ignition—an act, police believe, took place some time after Wednesday night.

Cavallaro left the car unused in the unlocked garage all day Thursday, and the explosion occurred at 11:30 a.m. Friday when he prepared to take his boys to football practice at a nearby field and go on downtown.

"We know of no recent specific underworld activities of Cavallaro," Detective Chief John Terisky said. "He was active in his earlier years. Whether he was trying to muscle in again and was killed, we just don't know."

Cavallaro claimed to have entered this country as a stowaway from Italy in 1921, and since 1935 had been stalling government proceedings to deport him as an undesirable alien. His Italian origin and association led Golden to express a hope that "maybe Mafia (a secret society of criminals that originated in Sicily) will put the finger on his murderer and give us a chance to go to the grand jury with something that will obtain a conviction."

Another Golden theory is that Barbot, a high stakes dice game, is a key element in underworld violence that has taken 10 lives—including Cavallaro's—by bomb and bullet in this area in 3½ years.

to the NATO meeting, quotes the delegation leader, William Skoreyko (PC—Edmonton East) as saying the trip was nothing more than a junket with positions on the delegation handed out by parties "as a plum for the members who have done the right thing."

He added: "We were up against some of the top men from the United States, United Kingdom, France and Germany. But we were untutored, lacking the extensive briefs which might have enabled us to deal with these men on the same level."

URGES PERMANENCY

He suggested there should be a degree of permanency on the delegation, allowing members to acquire background and experience.

The La Presse story gives a resume of speeches made by Canadians to the conference.

"In a speech of about two minutes, Andre Bernie (SC—Richmond-Wolfe) exhorted the nations of NATO to change their monetary system. . . .

"Georges Valade (PC—Montreal Ste. Marie) vainly tried to read a speech by Prime Minister Diefenbaker on the European Common Market.

"Miss Judy Lamarsh (L—Niagara Falls) spoke briefly but stopped quickly when she realized that her speech, due to her inexperience, possibly was confusing. Truthfully, she didn't seem to understand it herself."

Speaker Marcel Lambert reserved his decision until today on the question of Mr. Charpentier being summoned before the committee.

Mr. Langlois said an editorial in La Presse painted the Canada delegation as "incompetents, women-chasers, who take their shoes off in meetings and stick their finger in their nose."

In a reference to Mr. Charpentier, he asked: "Is a journalist can think he can dictate a line of conduct to parliamentary delegates when he himself was so drunk that he went to sleep on the toilet aboard the plane."

Mr. Valade, deputy chairman of the delegation, made public the text of a telegram sent to La Presse demanding an apology.

WHAT'S . . . AN HONEST ERROR?

ABOUT $15,000 AT LAST COUNT!

THIS REPRESENTS ONE-HALF MILL OF YOUR TAX DOLLAR

You may have forgotten it; but that was the phrase used to describe an alleged mistake in bidding for part of Belleville's sewage disposal plant. That's how this big financial margin of difference was explained to your council, when it was asked to admit the "honest error" into its municipal accounts.

Fortunately a majority of council did not fall for the smooth way out of civic responsibility.

Yet, that phrase is a good indication of the thinking that threatens our civic life today.

I charge that too few decisions are being made on the floor of council; too many being made in the committee room. So much so, that the caucus is in danger of becoming, not an exception, but a routine at city hall.

Belleville, as a corporation is big business. This means talking business. And when that business is public business, it must be discussed openly and above - board. I submit this is one of the more significant developments for the worse in our civic life in Belleville.

I don't like it. I don't like what has happened to civic government in this city, to the process of municipal government in Belleville.

I am not the only one who has protested. I am, however, the only one who has decided to give public voice to that protest by refusing to continue with a drift. That drift is away from open decisive discussions.

By standing for mayor, I have refused to trade-in this necessary guarantee of civic government for mere political infighting in the caucus and committee room. I prefer to take the shortest route to proper democratic government — a straight line. And I now go to the electors with, I am convinced, a straight line.

This is no lofty idealism. It is sound commonsense — as opposed to the nonsense that seeks the smooth phrase of "an honest error."

remove from the legislature itself the power to control membership of the committees from session to session.

"I am not satisfied that we can't get at the problem within the present structure of legislative committees," he said, suggesting the committee be held to about nine members instead of the usual 30 to 50. The suggestion met with no opposition from Liberal and New Democratic Party ranks.

The announcement that the government is studying the need for a minimum wage law was contained in the throne speech.

Another government move heralded in the throne speech took the form of the first major legislation of the session when Economics and Development Minister Macaulay introduced a bill Wednesday establishing a $100,000,000 development agency to encourage Ontario industry.

Mr. Macaulay said the bill is designed to permit the government to assist in increasing employment, encourage industries to replace imported components with domestic manufacturers encourage new industry and "spread industrial development across the province."

He stressed that assistance will be available only to industries unable to secure loans from private financial institutions.

PROMISES ANOTHER BILL

Mr. Macaulay also promised a companion bill later in the session providing for community development corporations to assist in regional or local development projects.

Premier Robarts, in response to opposition barbs, said Wednesday he will approach the head of an independent commission on redistribution to seek work on when the commission will have a report ready.

Replying to questions from Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer, the premier said "no report, verbal or written," has yet been given to him by the commission chairman, Mr. Justice E. A. Richardson.

Redistribution had not been mentioned in the throne speech, he said, because . . . we must wait until that commission makes its findings."

The commission, whose other members are Professor Kenneth Crawford of Queen's University and Roderick Lewis, clerk of the legislature and Ontario's chief electoral officer, was appointed last April 18 to "inquire into the distribution of electoral districts in the province," and recommend the number of seats and their boundaries.

MONTREAL (CP)—Valmore Gratton, the city's chief planner for the 1967 World's Fair, Wednesday forecast a construction boom in Montreal greater than in the last five years. JUST STOP— Read and Think!

Just three short years ago Belleville found itself in the worst state it had ever been in from many, many angles. Complete chaos was the order of the day, with investigations, controls and clouds of doubt hanging over the citizens of this city. At that time, A. McLean Haig offered himself as Mayor to try and right the situations that existed at the time. Mr. Haig's personality, his wide governmental and administration experience, his acceptance by senior government agencies have all made possible the orderly, co-operative, constructive city government that we are now enjoying in Belleville. The reputation of the city has been enhanced, and industry, commerce and labor are all looking forward to continued peace and prosperity for Belleville. This has all been accomplished with the complete co-operation of splendid men in Council and in the Departments at City Hall.

HERE ARE FACTS!

SOME OF THE ITEMS

ALREADY ACCOMPLISHED!

—The elimination of the Financial Mess that existed before Mayor Haig's administration, through the equitable special levy.

—The acquisition by the City of Public Transportation in Belleville which, according to the present outlook, is being operated efficiently and at a much lower cost to the city than was anticipated.

—Recruitment at city hall of competent, efficient department heads, whose dedication and loyalty are proving a tremendous asset to Belleville.

—Alterations to the City Hall and other buildings housing city offices, giving greater efficiency at lower costs.

—Introduction of Central Purchasing for nearly all Municipal buying at considerable saving to the taxpayer.

—The completion of Phase 1 of the Sewage Disposal Plant.

—Approved Personnel procedures and policies, making for a much more satisfied staff at City Hall.

—Establishment of a Pension Plan for all civic employees which plan goes into effect on January 1st, next.

—Improved liaison and co-operation between and amongst all City Boards and Commissions and the County of Hastings.

—Giant strides in off-street parking facilities in the downtown area through the splendid efforts of the Parking Authority in co-operation with Council.

SOME OF THE ITEMS

STILL IN PROGRESS!

—Implementation of the recommendations of the recent Traffic Survey which included the North Front Street Bridge, the Dundas Street Bridge and the Church Street Extension.

—Completion of Phase 2 of the Sewage Disposal Plant which would be an incentive for land development and attraction of new industries.

—The completion of the arrangements with the County of Hastings for their partnership in any new hospital plans.

—The removal of the Railway Tracks from Pinnacle Street.

—The location and installation of the new City weight scales for the protection of the public.

—The consolidation of all city service departments under one roof for lower cost and more efficient operation and control.

—Completion of the Re-zoning plans to the satisfaction of all parties concerned in the interests of a bigger and better Belleville.

Scouting activities

The meeting of the Mothers' Auxiliary of Camilton-Corbyville Cubs and Scouts held at Camilton Church was opened by the president, Mrs. Furmidge Sr. The members all responded with the Mothers' Promise.

Mrs. Furmidge welcomed the members and introduced Mrs. Forte, District President. The secretary's report was given by Mrs. Brownson and the treasurer's report by Mrs. Hanna. Mrs. Furmidge asked that a letter of thanks be sent to Weston's Bakery for doughnuts served with chocolate milk to the Scouts and Cubs on their return from distributing apples. She also reported on the plan to present a first aid kit to Mrs. Putman, leader of the Cubs.

In closing out three years as president, Mrs. Furmidge thanked all present for their kindness and co-operation and requested the same for her successor, Mrs. Holgate. She then read a poem, "Second Steps," stressing that if we would only venture to take the first step the second were bound to follow. Mrs. Holgate presented Mrs. Furmidge with a past president's pin for which she graciously thanked the members present. Mrs. Hanna was presented with six Cub and Scout spoons.

Mrs. Forte then installed the officers for the new year as follows: president, Mrs. Freeman Holgate; secretary, Mrs. Brownson; treasurer, Mrs. McMurter; soc. con., Mrs. Ralph Stewart; sewing con., Mrs. Ritz; Sunshine con., Mrs. Fred Furmidge Sr., and press reporter, Mrs. George Shorey.

Mrs. Forte told of the district workshop to be held in Camilton on January 30, when the D.C. will be guest speaker.

Mrs. Forte spoke of "The Atomic Teen-Ager in Long Pants."

The next meeting will be the Christmas party and each mother will bring a gift to be exchanged. After the closing of the meeting with the Scout Mizpah, Mrs. Stewart served a delicious lunch.

The Avondale Cub and Scout Mothers' Auxiliary met at the home of Nancy Depaul, 83 Palmer Road, on Wednesday last. The meeting was opened by repeating the Mothers' Promise. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved; reports were given by the treasurer, welfare convener and sewing convener. It was reported that the Hallowe'en party given to the Cubs in October was a huge success.

Plans were made to give Christmas parties to the Cubs and Scouts. Kay Riddell is to help Joan Reid in this respect.

An auction sale is to be held at our December meeting. All members are urged to attend and support this project.

Plans were made for our Christmas party for the Cub and Scout Mothers which is to be held at the home of Katherine Thompson, 135 Wright Avenue. All members are to note the change in date to December 12th. Gifts are to be exchanged and entertainment Hazel Pugh. Special refreshments in keeping with the festive season will be served.

During the social hour Hazel Pugh gave an informative talk on a lecture and film she had attended recently entitled "Survival". Since this is a subject uppermost in our minds today, undivided attention was given to this talk and a question period followed. Mrs. Pugh also gave a brief outline on the topic "Needs for Children" which is to be discussed at a future meeting.

Mother's Auxiliary with the Mizpah and refreshments were served by the hostess.

RAWDON

Plum Grove Cheese Co-op Burns Mortgage at Ceremony

RAWDON — About 110 gathered at the Orange Hall at Wellman's, November 23rd on the occasion of the burning of the mortgage on Plum Grove cheese factory.

After a toast to the Queen, the Rev. William Fletcher said Grace and a bountiful turkey supper was served by Wellman's Women's Institute.

A good program followed with Mr. Craig Watson leading in a rousing round of community singing with Mrs. C. Watson at the piano.

Mr. Fred Beckett, president of Plum Grove welcomed the guests, stating also that they are proud of this accomplishment, which was due to co-operation of directors and patrons of the cheese factory." He also paid tribute to the present cheese-maker, Mr. Harold Snarr for his excellent work.

FINE PROGRAM

A solo was given by Janice Clancy, a vocal duet with guitar accompaniment by Betty and Doreen Maybee and a medley of old time songs was sung by a quartet of Wellman's lads, Messrs. Messrs. E. Tompkins, J. Pollock, G. Clancy and F. Beckett. Readings were given by Mrs. Douglas Clancy, "The Squeaking Milk Stool," and Mrs. Keith Clancy, "A Tribute to the Cow". Mr. Frank Palmer, Bannockburn, tester at the cheese factory offered his congratulations.

Mrs. Robert Wallace presented the mortgage and discharge papers to Mr. Fred Beckett and spoke briefly in keeping with this duty.

BRIEF HISTORY

A brief history of the cheese factory was given by the president from its incorporation in 1890 to the present date. The first directors were: Robert Totten, Wilmot Vandervoort, Fred Fanning, Emanuel Maybee, Alexander Morton, James Duncan was the first president. Other presidents were: Fred Fanning, Walter Dracup, Elgin Jackman, Blake Totten, J. C. Thain, Robert Wallace, W. L. Pollock and Fred Beckett. Plum Grove cheese company was dissolved in 1948 and Plum Grove cheese co-operative was formed with W. L. Pollock as president. In 1956 it was decided to build a new cheese factory.

Every patron and other members of Wellman's community donated $100. towards this project, raising the sum of $2,600. Many hours of free labor were also given by members of the community. The directors at the time of building were: Douglas Clancy, Everett Maybee, Tom Russett, Jim Pollock, Kenneth Tompkins, Fleming Goodkey, Fred Beckett. Since the new building was erected, production has more than doubled.

The present directors are: Douglas Clancy, Everett Maybee, Keith Clancy, Howard Wallace, Jim Rainsie, Gerald Russett, Jim Pollock is vice-president and Fred Beckett as president.

Mr. Carman Nix moved a vote of thanks to the directors, for their work in building and paying for the factory and Mr. Douglas Clancy moved a vote of thanks to the president.

The ceremony of burning the mortgage followed and Mr. Keith Clancy assisted the president with this pleasant task and gave a brief address as follows:

"Mr. chairman, ladies and fellow workers: When opportunity came our way a few years ago we asked ourselves, what can we do with the heritage that has been handed down to us from the past generations? This couldn't be lost. Wellmans couldn't do without a cheese factory so we accepted the responsibility and formed a new company. All had a share in the beauty, all had a part in the plan; what does it really matter what duty falls to the lot of man. Someone has blended the plaster and someone carried the stone, neither the man nor the Master, ever builded alone. Making a roof from the weather, building a house for a king, only by working together, can we accomplish a thing. So, with this co-operation of each and everyone we are pleased that we can burn this mortgage on Plum Grove Cheese factory tonight. May prosperity and success continue in future years."

Mr. Jim Pollock introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Sid MacDonald, agriculture representative, who gave a most descriptive address on the World Fair at Seattle, bringing many highlights to his audience.

The Rev. William Fletcher spoke briefly and Mr. Gerald Russett moved a vote of thanks to the ladies of Wellman's Institute to which Mrs. Gerald Clancy responded.

Group of Separatists Burn CNR President in Effigy, Set Afire a Red Ensign

QUEBEC (CP)—Four persons were injured Wednesday night—one requiring hospital treatment—when struck by a car.

Some 300 persons crowded up-town Yourville Square while demonstrators hanged and burned Mr. Gordon in effigy.

Taken to hospital with 20-year-old Jean-Yves Savard, a Canadian soldier stationed at nearby Camp Valcartier. Police said none of the injured spectators was participating in the demonstration.

Demonstrators deflated the tires of the offending car, while one man leaped to the top of a truck to exhort "the white masses of Quebec" in revolution.

The demonstration apparently was led by members of Le Rassemblement pour l'Independance Nationale, a group which advocates separatism for Quebec province. Many demonstrators were students.

BURN RED ENSIGN

A Red Ensign was set afire, along with the effigy of Mr. Gordon.

Voices in the crowd shouted such slogans as "Death to the traitor." "We want liberty" and "Save our rights."

The orator urged his audience to use the words "O Quebec Libre" when singing "O Canada."

"If we don't want to burn to death in the churches like the patriots of 1837," he said, "now is the time for action."

Other speakers addressed the crowd with the aid of loudspeakers mounted on the back of a truck.

The demonstration, preceded by a parade of some 60 cars through the streets, blocked traffic for 20 minutes.

Guy Pouliot, president of Le Rassemblement, said later he disapproved of the burning of the Red Ensign.

WHY BURN?

"We don't like other nations to burn our flags," he said. "So why burn those of others?"

Jean-Mirille Deschenes, an active member of Le Rassemblement, told the crowd the demonstration was the first of a series that would lead ultimately to the revolution in Quebec.

The demonstration, like others in Quebec province, apparently was a protest against Mr. Gordon's recent statement before the Common railway council in Montreal that there are no French-Canadians qualified to hold high administrative posts with the railway.

Smiling happily, Grant Hughes of Selby, champion cheesemaker of the British Empire Cheese Show, holds one of the many trophies won at the Belleville cheese show this week. In addition to cash prizes the veteran Selby maker carried off no less than 15 special prizes and trophies.

Liberal Farm Critic Sees Tough Tory Machine in West

OTTAWA (CP)—Liberal farm spokesman Hazen Argue says Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton has created the "toughest political machine that Western Canada has ever seen" out of the Prairie Farm Assistance Administration, federal agency.

"I have it from some very good people who work for this administration that they have been told in no uncertain terms that unless they will go out and carry on organizational activity for the Tory party they will be fired," Mr. Argue charged in the Commons Wednesday.

There were angry denials from Progressive Conservative back-benchers.

"A shameful attack on people who are serving this country properly," said Jack Horner (PC—Acadia).

Eldon Woolliams (PC—Bow River) said Mr. Argue must have had a nightmare. "While looking at the old files of the late James G. Gardiner, former Liberal agriculture minister.

Mr. Argue, MP for Assiniboia, said: "Under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act the minister of agriculture has a tough, Tory political machine. . . . This machine is working in all parts of Western Canada where the act applies. . . .

"What I have been saying is that attack on the farmer, an attack on a government that has been elected by these people, if you have an opportunity to do a job for us you have to do a political organizational job for the Tory party or we will fire you."

Mr. Argue also charged that Conservative MPs give three lists to Prairie Farm Assistance administrators: One of Liberals to whom not to talk for jobs as inspectors, one of names of political partisans recommended by the MPs; and one of names of persons who are to get the inspectorships.

He asked that administration of the act be examined by a Commons committee.

Mr. Argue dropped his charges into a debate on his way resolution to double payments to Western farmers for crop failures. The resolution was talked out.

Something Strange Brewing Within Grim Kremlin Walls

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

Something strange has developed in Kremlin policy since the Cuban crisis. Some of the things going on here world diplomats blinking in astonishment.

Possibly the shock Moscow's leadership sustained when it looked down a nuclear gunbarrel in the Caribbean showdown was far deeper than many in the West realized. The results could prove shattering.

While Western statesmen are alert to the possibilities of a Communist "thaw" or "détente" which could change the picture overnight, they seem to scent something sizzling in the wind. The attitude is one of caution, of wary lookout for traps. But closer inspection of Kremlin doings seems to permit exploitation of what, ever may be hopeful in Kremlin policy.

Undoubtedly President Kennedy will discuss such matters with Prime Minister Macmillan when they meet Dec. 19.

MAY BE UNPREDICTABLE

U.S. State Secretary Rusk, in a speech in New York recently, saw the possibility of "unpredictable" events in the offing which could profoundly affect world peace. Was he referring to a sudden inward turn of Soviet policy?

Since the Cuban crisis, Premier Khrushchev has directed much Soviet attention to vast economic problems, involving a far-reaching reorganization of industry and agriculture. With out conquering such problems the Communists can hardly hope to bring the shaky economies of the Soviet Union and its satellites to a condition of invulnerability.

That will take time and some measure of tension. Might that induce Khrushchev to turn his back on the more explosive cold war issues?

West Berlin, potentially the most explosive issue of all, suddenly is being played down by the Soviet press despite four years of Khrushchev threats and pressure against the West's presence there.

Before the Cuban crisis Soviet propaganda called it the world's most dangerous issue. What's happening now? Just one sample:

The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia on Sunday carried an article by one of its top observers dealing, like so many others, with the potential cataclysm which was aroused during the Chinese policy of reckless support of revolution everywhere. The Italian party, for example, Europe's strongest outside the Soviet Union, is opening its annual congress Sunday on a note of quarreling between Premier Khrushchev and pro-Chinese elements.

'Once in a Lifetime Shot' Way Dairy Show Officials Describe Sweep of Maker

A "once in a lifetime shot" is the way British Empire Dairy Show officials described the feat of Selby cheesemaker Grant Hughes who at the Belleville cheese show this week won the grand championship and also carried home no less than 15 special prizes and other awards.

Mr. Hughes' "grand slam" feat has never been equalled at the big annual Belleville cheese show and is unlikely to ever happen again.

The Selby cheesemakers' sweep of the high awards so confronted show officials that a special directors' meeting was held before it was decided to give all the prizes to Mr. Hughes.

This is the first year which Mr. Hughes has won the show championship but for the past several years he has been knocking right at the top level door.

For three years hand running he has had the highest average score in Central Ontario winning the J. L. Irwin Trophy, and this year also won the prize for the highest average score throughout Ontario. He had seven cheese exhibited in the show—five regular and two square cheese. His prize winning cheese had an almost perfect score of 98.45.

MAKING SINCE 1934

Son of a former Selby district cheesemaker, Mr. Hughes has been making cheese since 1936 and has operated the big Selby factory since 1950. His two sons, Elwood, 19, and Glen 17 help him in the factory which processes up to ~90,000 pounds of milk per day during the summer flow period.

During the summer his factory works on a "round the clock" basis with two shifts of workers required to run t ee days and night shifts.

But he is modest about his record at this year's dairy show crediting his success in part to credit to his eldest son Elwood.

"He finished the prize winning cheese," said the proud father. "As for me, I was just lucky."

Prince Leaps As Cameraman Opens Sprinkler

PERTH, Australia (Reuters)—The press photographers struck back at Prince Philip Wednesday.

Philip was walking past a lawn sprinkler at the Commonwealth Games when he saw an Australian cameraman bend down and switch it on.

He leaped aside shouting "don't turn that damn thing off as the cameramen reacted with laughter.

"We can still ever believe me, but I didn't turn on that other water," Philip said.

That other water soaked photographers at a London garden party several years ago when skilfully hidden fountains suddenly began to erupt while Philip was near the switch.

Philip later lunched with athletes competing in the Games. As one flashbulb went off he grimaced and said, "blinded for life."

As he started to eat, Philip turned to the cameramen and said "take your pictures and buzz off."

The athletes who ate with the duke were chosen from each country's team by lot.

As he started his meal, Philip poured orange juice for the two girls seated on either side of him—Australian sprinter Branda Cox and Madeleine Sevigny, a 19-year-old female Montreal swimmer who is on the Canadian swimming team.

Reports Fulton Will Seek BC PC Leadership

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Province, Vancouver's morning newspaper, says Public Works Minister Fulton, 46, will announce Sunday he will contest the leadership of the British Columbia Progressive Conservative party.

The party, which has no representation in the legislature, has been leaderless since the resignation of Deane Finlayson some time ago.

A bid by Mr. Fulton, former federal justice minister and long-time member of Parliament for Kamloops, would create a three-way leadership race at the party's annual convention here Dec. 6 and 7.

Fergie Brown, former MP for Vancouver Burrard, and Harry McQuillan, former Comox MP, both have announced their candidacy.

The Province says Fulton has been deluged by a postcard campaign urging him to return to B.C. He has privately stated that the decision was the hardest he has been faced with in his life.

Pres. Predicts TCA Profit In Coming Year

OTTAWA (CP)—Hopes for a profit next year by Trans-Canada Air Lines depend on TCA retaining its existing routes without additional competition from Canadian Pacific Airlines, a Commons committee was advised Wednesday.

President Gordon McGregor made the qualification in forecasting: 1. A 1963 profit; 2. A return on assets of 5,300 per cent.

The Crown corporation, whose operations were approved after a 10-year battle, is nearing a run up a record $6,459,000 deficit for 1961, attributed in part to CPA transcontinental competition.

Mr. McGregor called CPA's lower transcontinental economy rates the "great thorn in our flesh."

HAS CONGRATULATIONS

The sessional Commons committee established to investigate the CNR, TCA and certain shipping subsidies concluded its hearings with congratulations for Mr. McGregor and his airline.

Most MPs showed some disposition to regard TCA on one hand as a carrier that deserves special consideration and CPA on the other hand as an operation that has had unfair competition from private carriers.

These varying views were expressed by:

Douglas Fisher (NDP—Port Arthur) said the CNR, a sister Crown corporation to TCA, "won't give employees a chance to make intelligent decisions."

Heber Smith (PC—Simcoe North) interpreted that remark as an attack on the personnel policy of CNR President Donald Gordon, praised by the same committee last week and subsequently attacked by MPs on grounds he was non-sympathetic to French-language hiring.

Committee Chairman Earl Rowe said Gregoire Gosselin (SC—Lapointe) was "almost in contempt of the committee pro-ceedings" he based on a press release Tuesday asking for Mr. Gordon's resignation. Mr. Gregoire was in the committee when he passed out his statement but he did not appear Wednesday.

HOW ABOUT THE SCOTS?

Bobby McDonald (PC—Hamilton South) asked light-heartedly for statistics on how many Scots were employed on the CNR.

In other matters, Mr. McGregor said he is glad that TCA has not taken steps to penalize the "no-show" customer—those who reserve seats and don't appear. Experience elsewhere, he said, was impossible to collect from them. Electronic equipment was improving the situation with automated reservations by telephone call.

TO CUT AID

SEOUL (AP) — The United States will cut its grant-type economic aid to South Korea to $75,000,000 in the 1963 fiscal year, it was announced Wednesday. The cuts will amount to $17,500,000 from the 1962 fiscal year. The U.S. also provides economic assistance in the form of loans and through its surplus farm products program.

Machinery for Running Medicare in Sask. Starts In High Gear This Week

REGINA (CP)—The complex machinery that runs North America's first universal medical care insurance plan slipped into high gear this week as Saskatchewan residents approached Friday's deadline for payment of their personal premiums.

The plan has been in operation since an unhappy birth July 1. In subsequent months the province's $50,000 residents financed it almost unconsciously through sales tax revenue. Three-fifths of the five-per-cent tax went toward cost of medical care plan.

More tangible evidence that it takes money to operate the plan will be the $12 annual premiums for single persons and $24 for families.

With few exceptions all residents are required to become beneficiaries of the scheme by paying the premiums and registering. Medical care premiums are paid in conjunction with premiums for the Saskatchewan Hospital Services Plan, in operation for 17 years.

CAN BE FINED

The penalty for non-payment of the premiums could be a fine on summary conviction. Under the hospital plan non-payment also meant loss of coverage until arrears were paid. However, under a moratorium on hospital plan arrears, Health Minister A. E. Blakeney said residents would not be prevented from obtaining 1963 hospital benefits because of arrears.

SHSP premiums are $24 for single persons and $48 for families. The total medical care-hospital service premium would be $36 for single persons, payable in two equal installments if desired, and $72 for families, payable in four equal portions. A beneficiary also can pay his premiums in one lump sum.

Total amount realized from premiums is expected to be about $13,000,000 for operation of the hospital plan and $7,000,000 for operation of the medical care plan. Another $10,000,000 is expected annually from the sales tax for medical care plan operation.

A person who has paid his premium and registered as a beneficiary of the medical care scheme is insured for a host of medical services, including the diagnosis and treatment of illness, surgical procedures including pre- and post-operative services, care of his wife during pregnancy and after delivery and services of specialists.

NO GLASSES OR TEETH

He is not insured for plastic surgery for cosmetic purposes, health examinations for marriage or employment, provision of eye glasses or dental work, artificial limbs, drugs, special duty nurses, ambulance service, or treatment of venereal disease or tuberculosis.

Payment of premiums for needy persons is handled by the municipalities in which they live.

Doctors can receive payment for services directly from the medical care commission, which administers the plan, through a voluntary health services fund as Medical Services Incorporated, or by billing the patient directly. The patient can seek reimbursement from the commission if he pays the bill.

In all cases the patient can choose his own doctors and the method of payment must be mutually acceptable.

India Said Moving Four Seasoned Battalions to Front

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

India is quietly moving about four battalions of seasoned infantry troops from the east Himalayan border to the Communist Chinese frontier following a decision to reject the Chinese settlement terms and to reoccupy Red-seized border territory.

High Indian diplomats in Washington concede this move could cause a new flare-up in the Indian war if the Reds choose to challenge the presence of Indian troops in territory which the Chinese claim should be turned into a virtual no-man's land after Dec. 1.

Prime Minister Nehru is reported to accept this risk, though even with fresh troops his forces may be far from adequate to meet the fury of a new enemy thrust.

But the Indians also see the possibility that the Chinese, having gained their limited objectives especially in the Ladakh area to the northwest, may choose to ignore the lack of an Indian withdrawal, providing the Indians do not launch an assault on established Red positions.

BIT BY BIT

As seen by B. K. Nehru, India's Washington ambassador, the Red Chinese may be working on a play to seize India in stages.

"They have achieved what they were after," he suggested in an interview. "They have given us a bloody nose; they have established themselves in the Ladakh territory that they wanted and now they are pulling themselves before the world as advocates of peace."

Nehru suggests India must be prepared for a long and costly struggle.

"If there is a lull now, the Chinese may come back again in three or four years and try to get more territory—taking India piece by piece."

PAKISTAN PRESSURED

Withdrawal of a substantial portion of Indian troops from the Pakistan border would seem to indicate some form of easing of tensions between the two Commonwealth countries. Apparently the United States and the other allies have been able to bring some pressure to bear on Pakistan, which went so far recently as to threaten to sign a no-war pact with Red China.

There still is great hatred between the Commonwealth neighbors, particularly on the question of Kashmir, but it may be significant that the Indian troops' withdrawal is reported coming from near the Kashmir area. Increasing tension between Indian confidence that Pakistan won't attempt to seize the disputed state.

Ambassador Nehru says the India-China war may be long drawn out. India is never again will trust Red China.

The development of India, concentrated on pure economic growth, now will be broadened to take in long - term military strength, with the target of increasing India's total troop strength from around 800,000 to some 2,500,000, armed with the best equipment available.

Ottawa's Bread Prices Lowest, Winnipeg Tops

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Winnipeg supermarket and chain store shoppers pay Canada's highest city bread prices and Ottawa customers the lowest.

In Winnipeg, supermarkets and chain stores retail a 16 ounce loaf for 21 cents and most Manitoba bakeries sell the same loaf for only 17 cents.

A cross-Canada survey by The Canadian Press shows that Ottawa shoppers pay 20 cents for a 24-ounce loaf, four cents less than Toronto and most other Ontario residents pay.

Alberta and Nova Scotia bak ers increased bread prices this month and in London, an isolated Ontario rise Wednesday increased the price of a 24-ounce loaf in bakeries in Western Ontario increased the price of their staple lines of white, sliced bread by one cent. However, independent bakeries in various centres say they will maintain their price at 24 cents, with unsliced bread costing 23 cents.

The first two chan companies' to announce the price increase were Canada Bread Company Limited and Wonder Bakeries Limited in London. Their's and other chain outlets in such centres as Chatham, Sarnia, Woodstock and Stratford are following suit.

In Alberta, the prce of a 20-ounce loaf among two cents to 23 cents and in Nova Scota the price of a 24-ounce loaf rose to 26 cents.

Rookie MP From Bellechasse Says House Members Talk Too Much, Say Too Little

OTTAWA. (CP) — Bernard Dumont, a rookie MP from the rural Quebec riding of Bellechasse, says members of Parliament talk too much and say too little.

His way of reacting to this has made the 34-year-old Social Credit member one of the most controversial figures in the Commons.

One morning, early in the present session, he was ordered out of the House by Speaker Marcel Lambert for defying a repeated order to sit down and stop speaking.

Mr. Dumont had risen on a "point of privilege" to speak about the "low incomes" of eastern farmers.

Afterward he told reporters he had deliberately ignored the Speaker's calls to order "because people are living in misery."

"If Parliament goes on with endless speeches as before," he said, "communism will take hold."

'EMPTY' SPEECHES

Practically all he had heard since coming to Ottawa was "long speeches utterly empty of meaning."

Later Mr. Dumont criticized the Speaker's attitude in a letter to a Montreal newspaper that he has been summoned to appear before the Commons committee on privileges and elections. After receiving the order to appear before the committee, he apologized to the Speaker in the Commons, blaming his unfamiliarity with the rules for his actions.

Outside the house Mr. Dumont, a smiling, good-humored man under ordinary circumstances, doesn't much resemble the fiery member from Bellechasse whose voice roars in anger and indignation as he fires questions with machine-gun speed at the government benches.

He likes to read, particularly biographies, and he has a yacht that he sails on the St. Lawrence. Until a farm accident in 1956—he was hit by a tractor—he was enthusiastic about skiing, both on snow and on water.

UPSET HIS SON

In a relaxed moment some time after the Commons incident, he said there are occasions when an outburst of temper causes unwelcome vexations. He recalled that his six-year-old son Jean, teased by schoolmates about the incident, had announced that he was not going to school any more because his father "had been ordered out of Parliament."

Mr. Dumont has asked at least 70 questions in the House since the session opened in late September and about half of them have been ruled out of order by the Speaker.

He is not discouraged, he said, but he finds it difficult to reconcile "the slowness of parliamentary procedure with the impatience of the people."

He said popular discontent with "the inaction of the old parties" would make people march on Ottawa if the Social Credit members did not raise their problems in the House.

DEFEATED PC MINISTER

Mr. Dumont, an insurance agent and mayor of St. Vallier, 25 miles east of Quebec City, made his first bid for Parliament a successful one by beating State Secretary Dorion in the June 18 federal election this year. In a riding of 15,500 voters, he had a plurality of about 3,400 votes.

He has been a Social Credit supporter since his youth. In 1946, at the age of 18, he made his first public speech in support of L'Union des Electeurs, the first disciples of the movement in Quebec.

He says he reached a turning point in the year he was "sed-ridden" following the farm accident. He eventually came to the conclusion that L'Union des Electeurs was drifting more and more into an aimless mysticism and that the Social Credit movement in Quebec must turn toward political action.

When Real Caouette formed le Ralliement des Creditistes in 1958 and won recognition for it as the Quebec wing of the national Social Credit party, Mr. Dumont left the camp of the "electeurs" and followed him.

'Come South Young Men' Brazil Begs for People

MANAUS, Brazil (Reuters)—This vast, potentially rich area known as Political Amazonia is begging for a share in the world's population explosion.

What it needs most today is people.

To men and women of adventurous spirit, the doctor, the scientist, the teacher, the skilled workman, the authorities promise a bright, pioneering future and fulfilment of the dreams of explorers for three centuries past.

"This place is three times the size of the European Common Market countries," one official says. "All we want is people to populate and develop it."

Time and time again this plea is heard from inhabitants of the scattered settlements and forest villages in the 1,300,000-square mile territory.

LARGER THAN INDIA

Political Amazonia comprises almost half of Brazil, but contains only 2.2 per cent of its 70,000,000 population. It is larger than India, yet has less than one per cent of that nation's population. It has only two persons a square mile.

It stretches from the Atlantic Ocean some 2,000 miles west to the borders of Peru, Colombia and Bolivia—and reaches north to Venezuela and the Guianas.

With only a parig of the area surveyed and a fraction of its flora and fauna classified, the authorities are offering free facilities for any scientist who wants to do research.

One-quarter of the world's forest provides 8,000 types of trees in Amazonia. There are 600 varieties of palm and some 130 different kinds of fruit.

Of all the world's 25,767 known species of plants, Amazonia contains 12,815.

MYRIAD FISH

For every species of fish in Europe, there are more than 100 in the muddy waters of the Amazon River and its tributaries.

Many of the immediate plans for developing Amazonia depend on mineral wealth, believed to be fabulous but it still is largely unexplored.

Huge capital investment will be needed to develop this wealth and raise the standard of living of its small population.

Two-thirds of its people are Caboclos—of mixed European, Brazilian and native Indian blood—who live in huts with palm-thatched roofs along the creek and river banks. They may farm a small plot of land cleared out of the jungle, but most make their living from the rivers.

Illiteracy is between 60 and 90 per cent, depending on the area, and it is estimated that 80 per cent of the people suffer from hookworm, elephantiasis, amoeba and other intestinal parasites. Infant mortality is as high as 30 per cent.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Dave Hamilton way the Jungle Cat Symphony is rehearsing its theme song prior to what they hope will be the demolition of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers in Toronto, 110 miles west of here, come Saturday.

Led by the Tenacious Tenor Top-Cat Trimble they're tremole-ing a slightly-changed version of an old Trimble score, "I'll whomp the hell out of the West." And the bedevil is, they might just do that.

The cat-crwauling of the faithful is shaking the Ambitious City to its very foundations. For won't Tarzan Trimble lead his jungle troops down to the plains of cheek-by Tarzanville where the biggest stiff blast-off in six attempts will orbit the hated Bombers so far into space they'll guzzle their pest-game suds on the dark side of Mars. They hope.

Yup, six times the pop-gridiron Lochinvars of Winnipeg have come out of the-west, and had their passports checked by Toronto officials whose vests still wear the stains of Argonaut tears, to join combat with the battling Bengals of Trimble-town.

Three times the prides of Portage Avenue have twisted the rudder appendages of the Tabbies, had their luggage tabbed "Have Cup—Will Travel" and departed for the vales and dales of the Red River Valley.

Twice, in 1953 and 1957, to be exact, the Jungle Jacks of Tabbytown have used their anti-aircraft artillery to victory barrages, blasting the Bombers out of the skies and sending the collective fuselage back to the sprawling gateway to the prairies.

In 1953 and 1957 the Cats won the Cup by 13-6 and 32-7 scores. The Bombers wrested the mug in by 35-28 in 1952; 21-7 in 1950, and 21-14 last year. Remember Kenny Ploen scampering down the sidelines at 3:02 of the unprecedented second overtime period last year to score the winning touchdown?

But both clubs should remember that hovering on the sidelines is that intangible two-faced busybody, Lady Luck, who can toss her smiles either way without a conscious qualm.

Right now she is basking in the favor of the Blue Bombers. For did not she turn the weather of her countenance on them last Saturday in the dying seconds of that Stampeders' classic when they were ready to put the postage on the packaged western title?

And don't think the Bombers didn't appreciate it. As Kenny Ploen purpled through the post-game champagne, "With our luck why shouldn't we win the Grey Cup? Why, we could make a hole-in-one tomorrow."

But another fickle lady had a say in the matter. She is Dame Fortune who was not so lavish with her smiles toward the Bombers. She left them with several walking wounded, some of whom will not be able to play on Saturday, or so goes the word from the Bomber encampment.

On the other hand sparks of optimism are flying from the typewriters of the Tiger-Cats' printed word promoters. One writes, "If the Cats can continue their expensive optimistic daring thinking, the Grey Cup contest will be magnificent.

And if you were in Toronto this week or listening to one of its radio outlets, that knocking noise you heard was the Royal York, King Edward, and other hostelries nailing down everything that cannot be moved.

For it is the weekend of the Million-Dollar Mardi Gras. There'll be sombrero-hatted cowboys and cowgals from the golden west and their phony counterparts from the east wearing dime-store ten-gallonses.

Sedate easterners, Grey Cup fevey in their blood will join the hair-down monkeyshines. There will be a pageant's parties, parties and general hell-raising as the twain which the post said never would meet, merge in the nation's greatest fun explosion.

There's a football game, too.

The winner? The crystal ball says Winnipeg by three points.

So go out and bet Hamilton.

The prediction record? Wrong $30—half-right 2.

In Offence And Defence

Giants Top Packers

NEW YORK (AP) — Green Bay Packers, beaten by Detroit Nov. 22 for the first time this season, have been replaced as team leaders in both total offence and defence.

National Football League figures released Wednesday show New York Giants, Eastern Conference leaders, top the offence with 3,877 yards.

The passing of quarterback Y. A. Tittle accounts for most of the aerial gains—2,720 yards —while his backfield mates have rushed for 1,197 yards through the first 11 games of the 14-game season.

Green Bay is in third place with 3,706 yards, behind Dallas Cowboys with 3,861. The Packers lead in rushing with 1,960 yards to 1,157 for New Detroit Lions, who beat Green Bay 26-14 and are only one game behind the Packers in the Western Conference race, are also in defence with 2,939 yards. The Lions have given up 949 yards on the ground, and 1,409 by passing. Green Bay is second with a total of 2,432 yards, with 1,142 allowed in rushing and 1,290 by passing.

TO DISPLAY DOLLARS

NEW YORK (AP)—One million silver dollars were being shipped here from Washington to go on display at the New York Coliseum. The dollars, weighing 30 tons, belong to the Morgan Guaranty Trust Company. They will be exhibited in connection with the Clyde Beatty and Cole Bros. Circus, which opens Friday. The American Express Company will guard the exhibit.

Pulled Out After 22 Miles ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Cramps Spoil Kidd's Marathon Bid

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

PERTH, Australia (CP) — Bruce Kidd of Toronto gambled and lost.

The 19-year-old distance star convinced his coach he could do better in the marathon than the mile. Today, coach Fred Foot had to pull Kidd out of the gruelling marathon after 22¼ miles when the young Canadian complained of cramps in his side—or "stitches."

Brian Kilby, a 24 - year - old English draughtsman, ran the fastest marathon in British Empire Games history to win one of the 26-mile prizes of the track and field competition by more than a minute in two hours, 21 minutes and 17 seconds.

Dave Power of Australia, who won the marathon in the 1958 Games at Cardiff, Wales, was second in 2:22:15.4 and another Australian, Rod Rosella, third in 2:24.07. Australia's Gordie Dickson of Hamilton, Ont., finished 12th in 2:44:17.

Although Kilby's clocking was the best for the Games, no records are officially recognized for this race because of variations of terrain at different venues.

PACE IS KILLING

The killing pace proved too much for Kidd, running the first marathon of his young life. And only 13 of the original field of 20 finished the race.

Trying to match Power's 1958 feat of winning both the six miles and the marathon, Kidd stayed up with the leaders until the 21¼-mile mark, but then had to be pulled out by Foot.

The coach said that the Canadian was in good condition.

Foot accompanied Kidd in a car and left just before the race he would watch him closely.

The marathon is considered too rough a race for an athlete of Kidd's age, 19. Usually the best marathoners like Gerard Cote of St., Hyacinthe, Que., are older men. Cote, now retired, won the famed Boston Marathon four times.

Kidd, who won the six miles Saturday and was third in the three miles Monday, had withdrawn from the mile—in which preliminary heats were run this morning—in order to enter the marathon.

Pre-race worries about killing heat proved groundless, and the marathon was run in 70-degree temperatures. Rain also eased conditions for the starters from mid-s countries.

Power also bettered the best time for the Games—2:21:45.5—he set in 1958.

The marathon was the feature of today's track and field events that included nine finals.

CANADIAN WINS BRONZE

Two young Canadians did well in field events considering their lack of experience in international competition. Dave Steen of Burnaby, B.C., a six-foot-four giant weighing 216 pounds, made the best heave of his career—58 feet, 8¾ inches — to take the bronze medal in the men's shot-put.

Pat Dobie of Saskatoon, a pretty 23 - year - old brunette, picked up Canada's first points in women's track and field when she finished fifth in the javelin throw.

Miss Dobie, also entered in the women's discus, exceeded her own best-ever performance in competition with a throw of 145 feet, 9½ inches, but was nearly 20 feet behind the winner, an English girl.

WIN SPRINTS

Seraphino Antao of Kenya and Dorothy Hyman of England swept both the men's and women's sprints.

Antao, who had beaten Vancouver's Harry Jerome in the 100-yard dash final last Saturday, took the 220 in 21.1 seconds. He won by about three yards over David Jones of England and John Du Preeze of Rhodesia, the silver and gold medallists respectively.

Jerome was forced to withdraw from the 220 trials earlier this week because of a leg injury. Antao collmented today that he would have been happier if Jerome had been in the final "because he can always give very tough competition."

Miss Hyman, a miner's daughter, sped to a 23.8-second victory in the women's 220, four yards ahead of Australia's Joyce Bennett and Margaret Burvill. The world record-holder in the distance, Betty Cuthbert of Australia, could do no better than fifth in the six-woman field.

Marlyn Lucking of England won the men's shot-put with a heave of 59 feet, four inches and smashed the Games mark of 57-8 set by Arthur Rowe of England in 1958. Mike Lindsay took the second-place silver with a toss of 58-3¼. Lindsay and Steen also were under the Games record.

In the fomen's javelin, Susan Platt of England won the gold medal with a heave of 156 feet, 10¼ inches. Rosemary Morgan, another English girl, took the silver with a mark of 153-9½ and Anna Pasera of Australia won the bronze with a toss of 139-3½.

Minor Hockey

The Maple Leafs outlasted the Flyers 8-7 in a free-scoring Bantamm league game played last night.

R. Ellis was a two-goal man for the Leafs with single markers going to G. Wall, F. Martin, B. Brown, B. Tomaso, B. Wickens and C. Wilson. Assists went to T. Young, W. Ball, T. Doran, Ellis, Wickens and Tomaso.

Bo Cass and T. Mosher led the Flyers with two goals apiece. One goal each went to D. Demers, T. Walts and G. Burkitt. Meagher, M. Acquaviva, D. Lowen, J. Sero and Burkitt drew assists.

Battle For Third Place

Big One On Tap For Leafs, Habs

City Hockey League

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Welbanks Motors staged a last-period rally to edge Joyce-Rollins Combines 4-3 while the Pepsi's and Trudeau Motors battled to a 4-4 deadlock in a couple of slip'n'tuck City Hockey League games last night.

The loss for Joyce-Rollins, winless in four starts, was a heart-breaker. The Combines carried a 1-0 lead into the third period, after forechecking Welbanks into the ice for two periods, but ran out of steam in the final minutes.

Welbanks climbed into a tie for first place with Trudeaus, with the victory, each with six points.

PEPSI'S 4 TRUDEAUS 4

Trudeaus and Pepsi's were tied, 1-1 at the end of the first, Pepsi's led 2-1 after two heats and 3-1 early in the third, before Trudeau's hit pay dirt. They scored three quick goals for a 4-3 lead but the Pepsi's ended the scoring, 4-4, with less than six minutes left to play.

Phil Connell paced the Pepsi's with a pair of goals while singletons went to Chuck Rowbottom and Jackie Hughes. John Trendell, Billy McGuire, Doug Murray, "Weiner" Waite and "Shaker" Baker drew assists.

Eddie Marineau potted a pair of goals for Trudeaus while Wayne Fox and Pug Kellar got the others. Gary Goyer earned two assists, Vern Goyer, Kellar and Ed Plate one apiece.

Both goalies, Claude Carr, of Pepsi's, and "Turk" Barclay, of Trudeaus, let in a couple of soft goals but made up for it with some great clutch saves.

WELBANKS 4 JOYCE-ROLLINS 3

Joyce Rollins gave it everything they had, especially after Duke Dorran picked a corner with a beautiful shot at 17.06 of the first period, but not quite enough steam and too much "Weiner" Brown proved their undoing.

Brown scored the first three Welbanks markers after Geoff Parker had beaten him on a clean breakaway earlier in the game. Ron Ruffert added the final goal on a breakaway into the open net after the Combines had lifted Parker in favor of six attackers at 19.11 of the third period. Welbanks assists went to Keith MacDonald with two, Gary Reid, Lionel Bolty and Bucky Ethier.

Bob Taylor scored Joyce-Rollins' second goal, taking Jackie Elliott's pass and gunning it home to put his club in front 2-1 at 10.49 of the third. Ryalls

The two most inconsistent teams in the National Hockey League—Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens—meet tonight in one of the most important games so far this season.

Canadiens' coach Toe Blake considers the game a "four-pointer," as Canadiens and Leafs are tied for third place in the league standings. Canadiens have played one game less than Leafs.

In the other games tonight, second-place Chicago visits the lowly Boston Bruins, showing their first signs of life in six weeks and New York Rangers take on the league-leading Red Wings in Detroit.

Canadiens and Leafs both have 21 points, three less than Chicago and five less than Detroit. Rangers are in fifth place with 16 and Boston has 10.

The league champion Canadiens will not have much of an advantage in meeting the Leafs on home ice.

HOME PLAY SLUMPS

Though Canadiens gained 29 of a possible 70 points at home last season, they have managed only 10 of a possible 18 this year.

In fact, their road record of four wins, three ties and three losses is almost as good as their home record.

The Leafs, last year's Stanley Cup champions, faltered badly on Sunday night when Boston Bruins whipped them 5-2 to break a 16-game winless streak.

Leafs had a bad slump earlier in the season, but snapped it by calling up Don Simmons to replace Johnny Bower as the team's goalie.

The team responded with sharply-improved play, at one time embarking on a five-game winning streak.

Now, there are reports that Toronto coach Punch Imlach will replace Simmons by Bower tonight.

The Toronto coach, did say centre Billy Harris would play despite a jaw injury received in weekend play.

Canadiens will have Claude Provost back. The right winger missed three games with a shoulder separation.

First place will be at stake in the other two games, as a Chicago win and a Detroit loss would put both teams in a tie for first spot in the league standings. Detroit has played two games less than Chicago.

'MADE' $20,000

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Aaron Wagman of New York City testified under cross-examination Wednesday that he made about $20,000 since 1957 as a result of bribing basketball players.

He said money used to bribe players and to pay "intermediaries" always was returned to bankers when the game failed to work out.

Wagman estimated 15 to 10 per cent of the fixed games did not win for the backers. He was testifying at the trial of two St. Louis, Mo., men accused of bribing basketball players to shave points.

Dixon, Barrow, Wylie All-Canada Trio

All Pick Cats Over Bombers

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's top three footballers of the year Wednesday night received their awards — and all three said Hamilton Tiger-Cats should beat Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the Grey Cup classic Saturday.

The awards, announced Wednesday and presented at a dinner Wednesday night named hard-running fullback George Dixon of Montreal Alouettes as player of the year, safety Harvey Wylie of Calgary Stampeders as Canadian player of the year and Hamilton defensive tackle John Barrow as lineman of the year.

Dixon who faced the Ticats in the two-game total-points playoff which Hamilton won to enter the classic, commented:

"Winnipeg has picked up too many injuries at a key time. They don't look as good as they have in the past."

And Wylie, who scruffed the kick that gave Bombers their dramatic, last-minute passage to the Grey Cup, said:

"I may still be a bit hot under the collar about the way we lost the western final, but I have to pick Hamilton.

"Winnipeg is in bad physical condition and I understand Hamilton is not."

Barrow also chose Hamilton, but was a little reluctant to be too definite.

"I have a feeling the game is going to be wide open and high-scoring," he said.

The awards, decided by football writers and broadcasters across Canada were the first for all three, although Barrow was runner-up to tackle Frank Rigney of Winnipeg as outstanding lineman in 1962.

Dixon, who edged Tommy Joe Coffey of Edmonton Eskimos for his award and $2,000 presented by a distillery, scored 15 touchdowns for 90 points.

He broke the Eastern Conference rushing record held by Dave Thelen of Ottawa since 1960, hammering his way for 1,520 yards compared with Thelen's 1,407, and averaging 7.2 yards a carry.

The soft-spoken 26-year-old native of Bridgeport, Conn., who joined Montreal in 1960, was bubbling as he received the award.

"It is without a doubt the finest thing that has ever happened to me," Dixon said. "It is the culmination of my finest year."

"Not making it to the Grey Cup was a disappointment to the team, but we went farther than a lot of people expected and this is gratifying."

For Wylie, downcast and blaming himself for Calgary's defeat last Saturday, the award came as a personal vindication and a crown to a great year.

BEATS JACKSON

The diminutive 28-year-old Calgarian ran a record 815 yards from his safety position and was selected over Russ Jackson of Ottawa Rough Riders, Leo Lewis of Winnipeg, set the record at 853 yards in 1957.

"I'm very pleased with the award," Wylie said, "But I'm very sorry the team isn't here with me.

"They should be. We should have won."

Wylie, who attended Montana State University, became eligible for the award this season.

Previously, only Canadians who played their formative football in Canada were eligible.

Barrow, 28, is a tough veteran of many seasons and since he joined Hamilton in 1957 has been named every year to the Eastern Conference all-star team.

The hulking defensive tackle had to overcome an early-season knee injury and was chosen over linebacker Wayne Harris of Calgary.

"It is a great honor. I'm very glad about it," Barrow said.

Both Wylie and Barrow received $1,500 in Canada savings bonds with their awards.

Red Flag Returned To Russians

IROQUOIS FALLS, Ont. (CP) The touring Russian hockey team's national flag, stolen from the Abitibi Arena here Monday night during the team's game against Kapuskasing, was found Wednesday.

Russian tempers flared over the disappearance of the flag and the team refused to appear at the final game of the nine-game Canadian tour in Winnipeg Wednesday night if the flag wasn't returned or replaced.

Police Cfief Peter Olaveson said no charges have been laid in connection with the disappearance of the flag, which hung beside the Canadian Ensign during the match.

Chief Olaveson said: "I don't know who took it but I have been told it changed hands three times in the rink. It was then seen at a local dance and later taken to a private home. It disappeared again from there."

The police chief aid he would turn the flag over to the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

The flag was not damaged. The chief did not reveal how it was recovered.

Score Three Goals in 63 Seconds

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Barons scored three goals within a minute and three seconds in the second period Wednesday night and outlasted Hershey Bears for a 4-2 American Hockey League victory.

Hank Ciesla scored the first of his two goals in the first period, taking a long pass from Dick Mattiussi.

In the second period left winger Fred Hills tallied for Cleveland and Ciesla produced his second goal after a pass from Dick Mattiussi. Wayne Hoddy scored for the Barons net.

Pete Conacher connected for the Bears early in the third period and Wayne Rivers completed the Hershey scoring.

The victory was Cleveland's third straight.

Omaha Ties Hull Ottawa, Fronts Win

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kingston Frontenacs are beginning to put a bit of running room between them and Hull-Ottawa Canadiens.

But it's still at the stage where every point counts, and the one point Kingston gained Wednesday night gives them a four-point — or two game —spread in first place in the Eastern Professional Hockey League standings.

Both clubs met International Hockey League clubs in interlocking competition Wednesday night, Kingston scoring a 6-4 victory over Muskegon Zephyrs and Hull-Ottawa recording a 2-2 tie against Omaha Knights.

The Frontenacs now have 29 points to Canadiens' 25. The third- and last-place clubs, Sudbury Wolves and Syracuse Braves respectively, were idle Wednesday night. Syracuse is host to Ogaha in tonight's only game.

Name Clay Boxer of The Month

MANILA (AP)—Cassius Clay of the United States was selected Wednesday as the World Boxing Association's boxer of the month for his Nov. 11 victory over Archie Moore.

Anthony Petronelli, chairman of the ratings committee of the WBA, released the November ratings here.

"We named Clay boxer of the month because of his sensational and colorful fourth round knockout of Archie Moore," said Petronelli who is en route to Tokyo for world lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz's title defence against Teruo Kosaka of Japan Dec. 3.

"If Clay's improvement continues, he appears to be, potentially, the next challenger to Sonny Liston," Petronella said. Clay is moved up from No. 7 to No. 4 heavyweight contender.

OCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Phil Howser, general manager of Charlotte of the South Atlantic League, was honored Wednesday night as minor league executive of the year.

Uniforms, That Is

Bombers Have 'The Blues'

TORONTO (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers came to town with brand new blue uniforms for the Grey Cup game Saturday.

But they'll take the field against Hamilton Tiger-Cats in white sweaters and gold pants—the same ones they were at home in the Western Conference final.

The Bombers had to send home for their gold pants when they tried on the new blues here Tuesday and found they didn't fit properly. The Golds arrived Wednesday.

Then they learned that Hamilton, with the choice, had elected to wear their black sweaters for Saturday's Grey Cup final.

For the sake of television contrast, Bombers have to get their white sweaters shipped in from home.

"And we play better in our blues," said Bomber President Carl Wintemute when he learned of the Hamilton decision.

"Would you rather wear the blues?" asked Hamilton President Jake Gaudaur during a pre-Grey Cup function here Wednesday night. Wintemute didn't say yes or no.

"Well," said Gaudaur, "I wanted you to say yes so I could tell you we wouldn't switch."

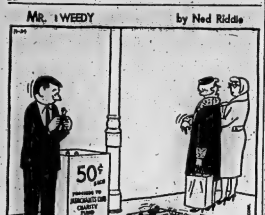
WINDSOR (CP) — Windsor Bulldogs Wednesday night handed Sarnia Rams their 15th straight loss in Ontario Hockey Association Senior A play this season, a 6-2 decision, and in the process regained a share of first place with Woodstock Athletics.

Ram, minus coach Ted Garvin who resigned last Tuesday, gave it a good try mainly because of the efforts of tiny Dale Gaume in goal but in the long run were never a threat Gaume was brilliant as Windsor out-shot the visitors 48-16 before a sparse crowd of 552.



Left winger Norm Foster and Walter Pawlyshyn scored two goals apiece for Windsor with Tom Walker and Eddy Brown adding singletons. For Sarnia, Andy McDougall and George Mara were the marksmen in producing a temporary 2-2 tie in the second period.

Sarnia took nine of the 13 minors handed out by referee Bill Doyle, four of them to Ray McFitt.

WINNIPEG (CP) — When a man who has been one of the most successful junior-football coaches in Canada chucks it all after six years and fires his hand at putting together a college team, there's no exaggeration to say he's risking his reputation.

George Depres took the gamble this fall. His St. James Rods had won five Western Canada and three Canadian Junior titles. But when University of Manitoba Bisons re-entered the Western Intercollegiate Athletic Union after 14 years he agreed to become their coach.

As it turned out, the Bisons won only one of their six games. But somehow it didn't seem to hurt his reputation, particularly since the Rods also missed the Canadian final.

The point is that no one really can expect a university to produce a contender in a single season, and even if its won-lost record was unimpressive there were compensations.

CREATED INTEREST

"I honestly believe this college football was something long overdue in Winnipeg," said the 34 - year - old restaurateur from suburban St. Vital. "The first year was very successful in respect to what it has done — it has given boys, particularly those who went an education, a chance to play football.

"It has created an interest on the campus — something that's needed in Canadian universities, especially Western Canada. It's something that will grow. The main interest, is not in producing professional football players, but it gets more boys playing football."

"All I heard in the three months before taking the job was about the apathy at the university. This was just the opposite of what I found."

And the outlook for next season is far from pessimistic.

"We'll probably lose not more than half a dozen players. I feel certain we will improve 40 to 50 per cent. The most heartening thing is that the last two games we played were the best we played even though we lost.

"If we can start next year where we left off we'll be more of a threat to the other clubs and that's what the league wants."

Bisons started off the season with a 23-8 victory over University of Saskatchewan but that was their only success and they wound up losing to University of Alberta and University of British Columbia who tied for the title.

Depres and Keith Pearce, who along with Jeep Wooley acted as his assistant, brought more than junior coaching experience to the campus. Pearce was a standout Canadian end with Winnipeg Blue Bombers for years and Depres had a year with Bombers as quarterback in 1948. He was transferred to Toronto the following year and hoped to play with Argonauts but a knee injury before the start of the season ended his playing career.

Russians Zero Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Russian international hockey team defeated the Senior Winnipeg Maroons 3-0 Wednesday night in the only Western game of their current Candian tour, winding up with a record of eight wins and one loss.

The superbly-conditioned Russians took on one of the West's perennial Allan Cup hopefuls and were skating rings around them at the end, although the Maroons put up a game display before a crowd of 10,420—a record for the Winnipeg Arena for any type of hockey.

The teams played a scoreless first period but the Russians went ahead 1-0 in the second and added two more goals in the third as the Maroons, a strictly amateur play - for - fun outfit of old pros and top amateurs, tired visibly.

Vitaly Konovalko in the Russian net made only 25 saves compared with 33 for Winnipeg veteran Gordon Dibley.

Only two penalties were handed out in the game as the Maroons never seemed to get started with the hard body checks for which they are noted.

Yury Volkov scored the first Russian goal at 12:02 of the second with an assist going to Vladimir Yurzinov on a fancy passing play that wound up with a pass from the corner and a screen shot.

In the third period Alexander Almetov rode in on Dibley's right side, faked him cleanly and slapped the puck behind him. Alexander Kuzkin got the assist.

The third Russian goal was scored by Antoly Drozdov with Vyacheslav Starshinov and Vitaly Davydov getting assists. He saw the puck come out from the corner, reached around Winnipeg's defenceman Tom Martin and flicked it in while Marshall was still looking for the puck.

Tiger Top Tabby Sweet On Zuger

By WILF GRUSON

HAMILTON (CP) — Rookie Joe Zuger could develop into one of the all-time great quarterbacks in Canadian football history.

The 22 - year - old youngster from Arizona State College already has produced strong evidence of great potential in his first year with Hamilton Tiger-Cats. Saturday, when he steps on the field for the Grey Cup game between the Tiger-Cats and Winnipeg Blue Bombers, the baby-faced signal caller has the chance to show what he can do in Canada's biggest football game of the year.

The six-foot-two, 190 - pound son of a truck driver in Homestead, Fla., lacks experience that would be helpful in such a pressure-packed game but he says it doesn't give him an extra minute's worry.

"It's just another game — only bigger," he said Wednesday in an interview. There's no substitute for experience, yet I don't feel that nervous that I'll choke up."

The guy - veined Zuger burst out as the newest star in Canadian football the night of Oct. 12 when he fired a record eight touchdown passes in leading Hamilton to a 67-21 triumph over Saskatchewan Roughriders in a sensational debut as a starting quarterback.

It wasn't long before the starting quarterback ever since his record - breaking performance and he now has directed the Tigers to six straight victories, including the last four games in the Eastern Conference regular schedule.

Hamilton coach Jim Trimble said he plans to go all the way with Zuger against Winnipeg Saturday. However, he is leaving himself an opening in the case Zuger is having an off day.

"Any quarterback can have a bad day, which is why Cosentino will be ready to go in if necessary," Trimble added.

He doesn't think the Tiger-Cats are on the spot going with a rookie quarterback.

"He's a rookie in years only," the outspoken Trimble said. "If he was going to be nervous he would have shown it in the game against Montreal. There's no reason for it now."

Trimble indicated Wednesday that all the talk about Winnipeg's injuries since the Bomb-ber defeated Calgary Stampeders for the western title might be a smoke screen. His plans to find out quickly just how badly crippled a team it is.

"Whether these players come in lame, half dead or blind, they'll be ready," Trimble said. "We'll try to go to work on them to find out for ourselves if they are as severely injured as Winnipeg would like us to think."

The game starts at 1 p.m. EST Saturday at Toronto's Exhibition Stadium.

International League

Rejects Three-Loop Merger

By JACK HAND

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—The International League Wednesday night rejected, each by a 6-2 vote, proposals that would have merged baseball's three Triple A leagues—the International Pacific Coast and American Association — into two leagues.

After a meeting of minor league boss George Trautman, International League directors and league President Tommy Richardson, and farm directors of major league teams who have clubs in the IL, Richardson said:

"The proposals for increasing the International League to 12 teams and 10 teams were turned down. In each case, the vote was 6-2."

It was reported that the only two IL clubs in favor were Columbia and Toronto.

Under the 12-team proposal, the American Association would have folded with Oklahoma City, Dallas-Fort Worth, Little Rock and Indianapolis moving into the International League; with Denver moving into the Pacific Coast League and making the circuit an 8-club setup.

Under the 10-team proposal, Indianapolis and Little Rock would have moved into the IL and Oklahoma City, Dallas-Fort Worth, and Denver into the PCL. The American Association also would fold under this proposal.

GO INTO HUDDLE'

After the rejections, an unidentified major league general manager went into a huddle with the involved leagues and Trautman and it was learned another proposal was made that was to be discussed today.

This plan would leave the eight-club International League as it is, while increasing the American Association to six teams and trimming the PCL to six having Salt Lake City transfer into the American Association. The eighth PCL club, Vancouver, no longer has a major league affiliation and is expected to fold operations.

There was no immediate comment from PCL and American Association officials, but Richardson said:

"This we think is the solution. This way you would be moving just one club."

Five Players Miss Practice

Wounded Bombers Spirits High

By GRAHAM COX

TORONTO (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers left five players behind Wednesday as they went out for their first full practice since winning the Western Football Conference playoff championship.

With their Grey Cup date Saturday with Hamilton Tiger Cats fast approaching, the greatest worry of coach Bud Grant is how to deploy players to take up the slack on injuries.

Those who did not go to the workout are fullback Charlie Shepard and Roger Hagbert, interior linebackers Gar Warren and Dave Burkholder and defensive end Herbie Gray.

The team also will be without corner linebacker Gord Rowland when the game starts at 1 p.m. EST.

Rowland suffered a torn knee cartilage in the Western final against Calgary Stampeders when Winnipeg won the championship 13-7 and is scheduled for an operation next week.

The most likely candidate for his spot, says Grant, is Rick Potter.

"Although you may see everybody playing that spot Saturday," Grant said, "Potter is a good guess to start."

But, he said, no final decision on any positions will be made until Saturday morning at the earliest and possibly not until after the team warms up immediately prior to the game.

SPRAIN THEIR ANKLES

Hagberg and Gray still were hobbling on sprained ankles Wednesday and Burkholder and Warren were limping from charleyhorses. In addition, Burkholder picked up a severe thigh bruise in the second game of the Western final, won 19-11 by Bombers in Winnipeg, and aggravated it midway through the Saturday game.

Shepard, who missed much of the regular season with a chronic pinched nerve in the neck, twisted his back on the way to the Saturday game and played that way without telling anybody.

"It hurt so much I could hardly breathe," he says.

But the multitude of injuries appears not to have lowered the spirits of the players.

Those who were able to practise Wednesday returned to the dressing room at Toronto's Varsity Stadium, from which they travelled to their workout field, in high spirits.

Welbanks

Welbanks 4 — Joyce-Rollins 2

Bryant drew an assist on Duke Doran's earlier marker.

Parker and Barclay traded some terrific saves over the first 45 minutes before the pace began to tell. Brown and MacDonald broke in alone for the 1-1 goal at 8.54.

After Taylor put the losers ahead for the second time, Brown bagged his second on a 20-footer from in front. The score stayed 2-2 until 17.32 when Brown hooked up with Bucky Ehlier on a pretty return pass play to score the winning goal. Brown was flying in his old style in this period.

Joyce-Rollins never quit trying and Elliott forced Barclay into making a key save in close at the 19.00 minute mark. Then Ruffert broke away from the losers' six-man attack and wrapped it up.

Referees Bill Hurst and Lou Smrke had a quiet night, handing out just four penalties in this game and six in the opener.

WELBANKS: Barclay, Reid, Zakos, Boily, Cousins, Buck Ehlier, MacDonald, Brown, Muirhead, Richards, Lee, Vesterfelt, J. Lucas, Ruffert, T. Hurst.

Hoak Joins Departing Bucs

Another Pirate Walks The Trade Plank

By JOE REICHLER

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Second-baseman Bill Mazeroski became the sole infield survivor of Pittsburgh Pirates' world championship team of 1960 today following the trade of third-baseman Don Hoak on the heels of the departure of first-baseman Dick Stuart and shortstop Dick Groat.

The Pirates Wednesday night shipped the 34-year-old Hoak to Philadelphia Phillies for outfielder Tony Savage and first-baseman Pancho Herrera, who was assigned to the Pirates' Columbus farm club in the International League.

Thus, within 10 days, the Pirates acquired five players, all of whom figure prominently in manager Danny Murtaugh's plans for 1963. Besides Savage, the Pittsburgh newcomers are right-handed pitchers Don Schwall and Don Cardwell, catcher Jim Pagliaroni and infielder Julio Gotay.

"We feel we have improved our club a great deal," said Pittsburgh general manager Joe Brown. "I'm not saying these deals will bring us the pennant but we finished eight games behind first last season. Draw your own conclusions."

SHOULD END PROBLEM

Philadelphia's Gene Mauch predicted the acquisition of Hoak would end the Phillies' third-base problem.

"Hoak completes our club as far as having a solid man in every position. I think now the Phillies have the best team they have had in a long, long time. With Hoak at third, we can return Don Demeter to the outfield, which should be strong with Tony Gonzalez in centre and John Callison in left."

Hoak dropped off 57 points to .241 in 121 games last season but he was hampered by a series of misfortunes that included a damaged left wrist, a sprained right thumb, a virus and a serious sinus condition. He was the acknowledged leader of the Pirate infield for four years following his acquisition from the Cincinnati Reds.

Murtaugh said he planned to give Savage, a 25-year-old right-handed hitter who batted .266 in 127 games last year, a chance to break into the outfield, now comprised of Bob Skinner, Bill Virdon and Roberto Clemente.

Murtaugh plans to give Bob Bailey, the Pirates' 20-year-old rookie flash, who received a record $175,000 bonus two years ago, a shot at third base; Mazeroski at second and Dick Schofield at Shortstop.

especially with the score tied in the dying minutes of the game. Barclay was also loaned to Welbanks for the second game and staged another duel with Gordie Parker of Joyce-Rollins. Bob Green, Welbanks regular goalie, was out of town.

Fox gave Trudeaus a 1-0 lead with a Pepsi's in the penalty box at 9.28 of the first period but Rowboltam finished off a play at the goalmouth for the 1-1 score at 18.44.

Cornell's soft shot avoided Barclay to put Pepsi's in front in the second at 8.06 but Barclay robbed the Pepsi's later while Carr did the same at the other end.

Pepsi's made it 3-1 on Cornell's goal at 4.23 of the third but Marineau sunk Kellar's passout, Kellar wedged one in from the side and Marineau banked another in off Brooks for a 4-3 Trudeau lead by 11.24.

Hughes completed the scoring when he broke in all alone and beat Barclay cleanly at 14.27. McGuire and Kellar took turns being robbed as they tried to wrap the deadlock late in the period.

Commissioner Takes Action

Moss Exposes Tiger Strategy

TORONTO (CP) — Commissioner G. Sydney Halter of the Canadian Football League has told Hamilton Tiger-Cats either to change Dave Viti's role in their offensive formation in Saturday's Grey Cup game or sew a different number on Viti's sweater.

Acting on a complaint by coach Perry Moss of Montreal Alouettes, Halter told the Tiats that Viti, an offensive end by trade, will have to wear a tackle's number if Hal Patterson continues to line up outside Viti on the line of scrimmage. Patterson appears in the lineup as a halfback.

The Alouettes, defeated by Hamilton in the eastern Canada finals, complained to Halter after the first game of the two-game, total-point series that their defensive squad was confused because Patterson's presence on the line made Viti ineligible for his normal role as a pass receiver.

In effect, Moss complained, Viti was acting as a decoy because his end's number—in the 70s—made defenders treat him as a potential receiver although Patterson's presence on the line of scrimmage made him ineligible. Moss said the manoeuvre cost Montreal three touchdowns in the first game alone.

Sports Editor in Regina Gave Retired Goalie Francis Nickname 'Emile the Cat'

By AL COLLETTI

NEW YORK (CP) — When Scotty Melville, sports editor of the Regina Leader-Post, wrote a story after the war about a young goalie being "as quick as a cat" he gave Emile (Cat) Francis his nickname.

The Cat stored his pads for keeps three years ago after a long and varied pro career that was abruptly ended by a shoulder injury. He took up coaching in the New York Ranger farm system, and then came the big jump last September when the parent club picked him to be assistant to the general manager.

His boss, Muzz Patrick, calls him "an extension of my right hand."

The Cat is a pixie-faced chap with a brush cut and a pleasant smile. A small man as far as hockey players go, he's about half the size of his burly boss.

The Cat has his own office in Madison Square Garden, a plain room with a big desk and little else. It's a place to hang his hat and sign his reports.

CHECKS FARM CLUBS

The desk job has turned into a 12- to 15-hour day that usually begins at 7:30 a.m. When there are the road trips he must make not only with the club but to keep tab on the farm system. The Rangers have five pro minor league clubs and 12 amateur affiliates.

"I'm on the move all the time," the 36-year-old Francis says.

"There are some good calibre players in the organization that I have to see. If I'm not checking farms at Sudbury, Guelph or Baltimore, it's longer trips that I make, sometimes up to a month, all the way to the west coast."

The Cat had just finished running a hard, 90-minute workout — he was on the ice with the players—when he had to dress quickly and catch a 1:45 p.m. train for Baltimore to watch the Ranger pro club in the American Hockey League perform that night.

The Rangers were kicking around the cellar in the National Hockey League and were looking for a prospect or two in the Baltimore franchise. After the game it was back to New York by train for the Cat. Bedtime hour was 4 a.m.

GIVES UP BASEBALL

"As you can see," Francis says, "I hardly have a desk job."

The assistant general manager generally is on the go most of the year. This probably means that Francis will have to sacrifice his second love—baseball.

The Cat probably still he too busy running hockey schools during the summer months to manage his hometown baseball team in North Battleford, Sask.

The Cat developed the strong fast hands he found so useful in hockey by playing semi-pro baseball in Western Canada, and he managed baseball teams for 10 years.

Last summer, he piloted North Battleford Beavers to the pennant in the Saskatchewan Baseball League.

"It was a real good league with a lot of American college players coming up after school was finished in June. They made about $100 a week and a lot of them were bonus players who made good later in the majors."

Once this season, the Rangers had to use a sub-goalie when Gump Worsley was hurt. But it wasn't the Cat, who fan still kick 'em out.

SEATTLE PROPERTY

Technically, Francis still is the property of Seattle, his last club in the Western Hockey League, and he cannot play for the Rangers without proper player transfer.

Francis wound up his playing career with Seattle in the 1959-60 season after he suffered a shoulder separation, and the condition became chronic.

The Cat was too small to last in the National Hockey League, but he did play a total of 95 games for Chicago Black Hawks and the Rangers, and had a goals-against average of 3.74.

"I never weighed more than 142 when I was playing although the record books listed me at 155," Francis says. "I guess I was one of the smallest goalies around."

Asked how he got his nickname, he recalls the Scotty Melville story. "I was always quick jumping on the puck," Francis says.

"It was just after the war when I was playing for Moose Jaw Canucks. Bert Olmstead was a teammate of mine. Scotty Melville wrote a story about me being quick as a cat' and the nickname stuck."

DESERONTO

Another Nomination Will Be Necessary for Council

DESERONTO — From the viewpoint of those interested in municipal affairs in the town of Deseronto, nomination night held last Thursday was very disappointing. The number of ratepayers present at the meeting was very small and even only three members of last year's council and one member of the Public Utilities were present.

There were nine nominations for council and of these only three qualified to fill four vacancies, so that another nomination will have to be held later. There were three nominations for the P.U.C. and two have qualified for the one vacancy. The Board of Education brought forth the most interest with six nominated for the three vacancies and all six qualified. In the discussion that followed the meeting it seemed that those in favor of closing the high school were being opposed by the faction in favor of keeping the school in town.

Immediately after the close of the nominations the gathering appointed Sidney Brown as chairman for the evening. In the absence of Mayor Kenneth Rees, Reeve Lott was the first to address the crowd and he advised that the mayor regretted being unable to attend due to illness. The reeve deplored the lack of enthusiasm for municipal affairs among the townspeople and told how he enjoyed the associations that his service brought.

ENJOYED ELECTION

Councillor Allcroft told the people that he enjoyed the excitement of an annual election and was only sorry that he could not compete as he had another year to serve. Councillor Rowe, the only remaining member of the present council stated that he was undecided about his future.

The chairman of the Board of Education spoke of several things happening during the past year when the school board contemplated closing the high school and advised that a public meeting would be held in the near future.

Robert Whatman told that he had only lived in the town for a little over a year but since his appointment as a member of the board was well aware of the educational problems of the town and would do all he could to help.

John Neal, also a former member of the board advised that he would run because he knew what was going on and planned to do all he could to keep the school in Deseronto.

Franklin Topping, speaking as a member of the Public Utilities, said that it was the duty of the chairman to submit the report to the ratepayers, but the chairman was not present. Mr. Topping said that he had gotten rid of the deadwood as he promised at the nomination last year.

One of the new nominees, P. Knight said that if he qualified he would try to reduce some of the expenses of the town.

For his part he could see no need of two policemen for the town and said there were other unnecessary costs that left no money for other needed purposes.

Mrs. D. C. McVicker advised that she had already qualified for the Board of Education because she was always interested in the welfare of children of the town.

Earl Keech stated that he had also qualified because he wanted to get on the school board to get a few answers.

Dr. McVicker spoke briefly concerning the school question and gave comparative figures of the results of the Deseronto school and an adjoining school.

The voters have a chance on election day to choose from the following: for Public Utilities Commission, Percy Brooks and Ernest Luck; for Board of Education, Elizabeth McVicker, John Neal, Earl Keech, Donald Armitage, Eleanor Schell, and Robert Whatman (three to be elected).

Roy McBride may be cussing his strategy.

He asked for extra police at San Francisco Wednesday night for the Western Hockey League game between his Spokane Comets and the hometown Seals.

But after a hectic first period things turned so quiet the Seals had time only for scoring, and pasted Spokane 5-2 to the pleasure of 7,132 fans.

Little Arnie Schmautz scored three goals—one of them into an open net—as Portland Buckaroos dumped Edmonton Flyers 8-3 in the night's other action.

The pre-game concern at San Francisco arose from the last meeting between the two clubs in Spokane Oct. 31, which produced fights and fines.

The Seals Wednesday night got two goals from Duke Edmundson and singles from Al Nicholson—his 100th in WHL play—Ray Cyr, Tom Thurbby, Len Haley, Danny Belisle, Jean Marc Picard and Camille Bedard. Bev Bell and Del Topoli scored for Spokane.

In addition to Schmautz' three goals, Tom McCarthy and Gordie Fashoway scored singles for Portland. Bo Elik scored twice and Ray Kinasewich once for Edmonton.

BULLETIN

OTTAWA (CP)—Independent station CFTO-TV today won the 1963 and 1964 television rights to Eastern Football Conference games, but it was indicated an arrangement is being worked out for both the independent CTV network and the CBC to carry the games.

CFTO outbid the CBC for the league schedule of 16 regular games and first refusal of Grey Cup rights in the east, it was announced by chairman Ted Workman of the Big Four's TV committee.

CFTO, associated with CTV, bid $401,000 for each year plus $15,000 worth of TV advertising space for the league clubs each season.

The CBC's bid was not disclosed, but Workman said it was under that of CFTO, which had the 1961 and 1962 seasons at $375,000 a year.

CFTO chairman John Bassett immediately said he expects that in a few days there will be an announcement of an agreement with the CBC which will result in "the widest expanded English Canadian hookup that has ever been possible."

DECLINE DETAILS

Neither he nor R. W. McGall, CBC general supervisor of outside broadcasts, would give details of Mr. McGall said that the CBC "looks forward to the new year without apprehension."

Just a day short of the start of a long wrangle involving CBC and CTV over telecasting of next Saturday's Grey Cup game here, Mr. Bassett said in reply to questioning that it is not expected there will be any dispute over the game next year.

At a press conference brimming with good will, Mr. McGall extended congratulations to the successful bidder and also expressed the hope there will be MORE

By JIM PEACOCK

VANCOUVER (CP) — Stan Leonard's confidence is rising a little but the veteran Vancouver professional says he'll be a long time getting big time money trail for a few years yet.

He has written off 1962 as a miserable golfing memory, a year in which he played about 20 tournaments and missed the money five times.

"I consider that to be very poor," he said as he discussed golf, tournaments and future ambitions while waiting to tee off for a pro-celebrity golf exhibition for his return to tournament competition.

He planned to enter one tournament in the United States before the end of the year—as "something of a test of his game" and then to sharpen up on California courses for the Los Angeles open which kicks off the 1963 PGA series.

"Right at the moment," Leonard said, "I haven't played well enough to get too enthusiastic. I'm writing this year off . . . and hoping I'll have the new year I'll be able to bring my game around.

"I played reasonably well through January and February and then my game petered out and I never did find it."

QUIT SMOKING

Leonard, who had smoked heavily when in competition, said he'd had trouble stealing his nerves for the stiff tournament grind. "My nerves have been awful and without steady nerve you can't do much in tournament golf."

About the end of February, soon after his string of 32 straight winning tournaments had been broken when he finished out of the cash in the San Diego Open—he quit smoking.

"I just thought I'd like to quit and see what it was like," he said. "I'm not sure I'll be back smoking, my nerves might get better. I don't know if it's helped, but I'll keep it up and see what happens."

Leonard's confidence waned when his game deserted. He came back briefly in May and June to get near the top in a few Canadian events, but by late summer he gave up his Canada Cup team spot and soon after left on his tour to return to his home here.

Several clubs in Canada and the U.S., pegged as a test of his game at 47 Leonard was ready to quit tournament golf, offered him posts as club professional. He'd worked for 18 years as a pro at the Marine Drive Club here before he left on the age of 40—as a full-time tournament player.

LIKES FREEDOM

"I don't know whether I want to get back in the golf business as a club pro," he said. "It's hard to tie yourself down again after you've been used to the freedom as a free-lancer."

Leonard said he'd guess he's earned about $100,000 in tournament money since he went on the trail in May, 1955. He's probably earned as much again from fringe benefits—endorsements, television appearances and similar things, among them current tie - ups with golf-equipment manufacturers in the U.S. and Australia.

He can maintain earnings from the latter by continuing to play 15 or 20 tournaments a year—and he said he's not too old to do this.

"I haven't had any trouble with age. I've still got good reflexes and I don't feel tired. I can't hit the ball as far, but I hit it a little straighter, maybe."

Maybe straight enough to fulfil a long-standing ambition.

"I would like very much to win the Canadian Open," he said. "I know the chances are getting pretty thin now, but you never can tell."

Goodson-Todman Shows Viewed by 25 Million

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Mark Goodson of the packaging firm of Goodson and Todman is pleased and relieved to the proposition that most people watch television to be entertained.

It is a premise which the firm has found to be financially rewarding. Goodson - Todman game shows, all seven of them, currently occupy a record 16½ hours each week on two networks and have built what the trade newspaper Variety estimates as a 25,000,000 operation.

At the moment, the shows are: To Tell the Truth, and What's My Line, To Tell the Truth, and Password on CBS and The Price is Right, Play Your Hunch and Say When on NBC. On Dec. 24 another audience participation show will be unveiled on NBC when Match Game has its premiere.

Does the public really have an insatiable appetite for watching other people play games or win prizes?

WATCH EVERY YEAR

"Well, people seem to like What's My Line? and I've Got a Secret and The Price is Right year after year," said Mark Goodson. "And the game and panel shows have proved to be popular with daytime audiences too.

"I'm inclined to think, however, that people watch television differently in the daytime than at night—out from habit. And after all, there is a limit to the kind of shows the networks can afford to present to the daytime audiences. What it boils down to are soap operas, re-runs of old night-time television shows and old movies—

Recommended tonight: Bob Hope Show, NBC, 8:30 p.m. to 9:30. Guests: Tony Bennett, Ethel Merman and Bobby Darin are guest stars.

50 Years Behind the Horse Marked by Harness Veteran

MONTREAL (CP) — Frank Church, currently driving in the harness races at Montreal's Blue Bonnets track, is completing half a century in the saddle.

His career began in 1912 when he was 14 years old and weighed only 118 pounds. He is 64 now and a robust 200-pounder.

Church was born and raised in Cambridge, N.Y., in the northern part of the state. He drove his first heats at a county fair at South Wallingford, Vt. He was substituting for his father, also named Frank, who was ill at the time.

"I drove Dan Todd in a pacing event and Axy Sprague in a $400 free-for-all," said Church. "The latter won each of three heats each in those days, and that day I won all of them.

"My father wasn't exactly pleased that Cleo Todd won. He hadn't been particularly successful with him. She used to take the lead, then fold somewhere about the line. I was frightened so I let the other horses pass me, then I came on to win in the stretch."

ADDED LEAD

When he started driving, at 116 pounds he was so light his sulky had to be given pounds of lead added so the minimum weight requirement of 150 pounds would be met.

In the First World War Church joined a cavalry unit, looking after the horses. After the war he returned to harness racing. In recent years he has been a familiar figure at major tracks in Quebec province and in northern New York state.

His stable is formidable. It includes Glendale Jersey, Spathi Gunder, Irish Lane, Spaghetti Boy, Feder Dick, Harmon Jack and Little Linda Sue.

Mrs. Mildred Williams, also of Cambridge, is Church's chief driver for Church but he still keeps active as a driver himself.

THE VIOLENT, LOVE-STARVED WORLD OF A MAN CALLED "MOUNTAIN"

At The Park

"REQUIEM FOR A HEAVYWEIGHT"

Anthony Quinn, Jackie Gleason, Mickey Rooney and Julie Harris happily combine their brilliant talents in one of the year's most absorbing dramas, "Requiem for a Heavyweight," which opened yesterday at the Park Theatre. A David Susskind production for Columbia release, "Requiem for a Heavyweight" is not a "fight" picture in the familiar sense; it is the moving and compassionate story of a simple man suddenly divorced from his way of life, faced with problems beyond his ability to solve and desperately seeking to retain his own innate decency in an unfamiliar world.

Unable to work at the only trade he knows — boxing — he suddenly discovers that even among the most unlikely "friends," he is no longer wanted.

"Quinn is superb as the ex-pug, who no longer permitted to fight because he has absorbed too many punches, who seeks work as a dishwasher, an usher, as anything which will permit him to live with dignity. His pathetic fall of his life-his ranking among the top five heavyweight contenders, some years before, means no value, except to him.

Gleason the TV comic who is demonstrating a tremendous talent as a dramatic actor in motion pictures, plays Quinn's longtime manager and friend, whose inability to believe in the man's raw courage sets the stage for his complete downfall. Mickey Rooney is superb as Quinn's trainer and Julie Harris equally so as the social worker who tries to help Quinn and finds herself becoming attracted to him.

"Requiem for a Heavyweight" was written by Rod Serling and directed by Ralph Nelson with a concise understanding of human values and failings. It is a completely successful example of screen-making at its best, a picture which should be seen by every member of the family.

It is complete shows at 7.00 and 9.00 p.m. Feature shown at 7.35 and 9.45 p.m.

Mrs. Charlie Jarvis.

Miss Cora Hutchinson and Mrs. Elwood Fox called on Mrs. D. Bull, who is confined in the hospital at Campbellford.

Denise Haggarty entertained a number of her girl friends on her birthday on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. S. L. Terrill and Miss Cora Valentine spent Thursday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Herrington, in Brighton.

Lew Wasserman Expresses Faith in Movie Industry

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The bosses of the show business giant many expect to grow into a colossus operates from an office no bigger than the bedroom of a housing-tract home.

He sits behind a small desk with a view of a studio wall and a parking space. His name doesn't appear on the office door, but it is known and respected by show people everywhere—Lew Wasserman.

Tall, gentle - spoken and dressed in black—virtually the uniform of his firm — Wasserman is the president of MCA, once the commanding leader of the agency business.

MCA now has shed its agency wing for bigger game. It has fashioned a combine that includes: Universal Pictures, which receives income from feature films; Revue Productions, leading maker of television shows; Decca Records, long important in the recording industry.

As headman of the entire operation, Wasserman explained his duties:

"I'm a paper-pusher."

When I remarked that his desk was devoid of paper, he replied: "Oh, I've already pushed all the papers." It was 9 a.m. and he was well into his day.

HAS FAITH IN MOVIES

Pausing for a rare interview, Wasserman expressed his faith in the movie industry:

"History has shown that entertainment—fledlings go through tough periods when a new medium is introduced. When the movies became popular, many people said it was the end of live entertainment. But it has survived.

"Radio was supposed to have killed the record business, but it is doing better than ever. Television looked like the death of radio. But the radio stations have gone through a change of operation, and I saw recently that two local stations sold for more than $1,000,000 apiece.

"The movie business has been adjusting to the changes that also have brought by the challenge of television. We have had to change our methods of production and distribution."

Wasserman foresees the movie industry catching up with television's growth, which it has lagged behind in postwar years. He also figures Hollywood to maintain its historical position as world film leader.

Classmates in Public School Now Panelists on Same Show

By PATRICIA RUSAK

TORONTO (CP) — More than 20 Years ago, Elaine Grand and Margaret Morris were classmates and friends in Toronto's Kelvin High School. Now they are both panelists on CBC television's Flashback program.

This can simply be labelled a coincidence but Elaine and Margaret think the "utterly fantastic" for several reasons.

First of all, Elaine Hill and Margaret Beal were both only classmates and friends in Grades 9 and 10, but Elaine was president and Margaret was vice - president of their class.

And in those days neither had any intention of working in radio or television. Elaine was planning to be an artist and after graduating from Kelvin she attended the Winnipeg School of Art.

Margaret, who had come from England as a war guest at the age of 14, was interested in nursing and when she returned to England after the war she took her nursing degree and did post-graduate work in obstetrics.

How then did they both end up on the same television program 20 years later?

By the time Elaine was 19 she realized she wasn't going to be a great artist. She took a job in commercial art. In 1947 she came to Toronto to work as a fashion illustrator but gave this up when she married Solomon Grand.

MET IN LONDON

In 1953, CBC producer Ross McLean got her interested in and 276 programs later, Elaine Hill is television's longest running panelist.

Margaret returned to Winnipeg where she married and lived until 1953. Margaret thinks the "utterly fantastic" for several reasons.

After that they didn't get together again for a long time because when Margaret was in Canada, Elaine was in England and vice-versa.

Now, every second Tuesday when Flashback programs are taped, Elaine flies in from London and gets to talk over old times with her former classmate.

In private life Elaine is Mrs. Reuben Snip, wife of the Montreal playwright and mother of a son and daughter. The Snips live in London. Margaret Morris and her two children live in Toronto.

Mothers Win Partial Victory In Campaign

VICTORIA (CP)—Two young mothers have won a partial victory in their campaign to halt the early exploitation of Christmas by retail stores.

Mrs. George MacIntyre and Mrs. Allen Collins launched a campaign last week for support for a three-part program of retail store restraint.

They told representatives of city stores they had the names of 6,900 persons who wanted stores to refrain from putting up decorations until Dec. 1; not to play carols until Dec. 15 and abolish stunt arrivals of stars Santa Clauses.

Lloyd Davies, head of the Chamber of Commerce retail merchants group, told the women Tuesday night that merchants say they must put up decorations in November because they feel they must be completed five weeks before Christmas. After that the stores' staffs and facilities were needed to serve Christmas customers.

But Mr. Davies added that merchants have indicated they will consider restraint in the manner and time of arrivals of Santas and the use of Christmas carols.

Inquiry Will Continue on February 4

MILTON (CP)—Judge George Elliott adjourned Tuesday the inquiry into Georgetown affairs until Feb. 4 because some town employees had not had time to prepare their testimony.

The break in the inquiry — looking into charges against the council works department of payroll padding and corruption —means that people of Georgetown will vote at the Dec. 2 municipal election without knowing the integrity of their town department.

The inquiry, which opened Monday, was requested by town council after council employee Tom Slater told a Sept. 4 council meeting of corruption in the department.

Tuesday Georgetown Works Superintendent Geoffrey Bligh denied allegations by council employees that the town had paid them for work done at his home and on other private properties.

FOREMAN FIRED

Bligh was suspended after Slater signed an affidavit. He was reinstated two weeks later. Works department foreman George Rowe was fired.

Superintendent Bligh has also charged former town mayor Ernest Hyde with misuse of public funds during his mayoral term in 1961. Ex-mayor Hyde is running for mayor again this year.

The inquiry was told Monday that last year Ernest Hyde took electric chlorine for his own swimming pool and used town vehicles to tow his car.

TOO GENEROUS

HEYWOOD, England (CP) — Publican Terence Chadwick was fined £5 (£15) for generosity. His beer glasses weren't official and held more than the legal amount.

CANADIAN HEADS MONASTERY—Ven. Ananda Bodhi, Canadian-born head of Britain's only monastery for English-speaking Buddhists, stands before a mantel with incense burners and a 1,500-year-old brass Buddha figure. His name, when he attended a Toronto baptist seminary 12 years ago, was Leslie Dawson.—(CP Photo).

Buddhist Teacher Sleeps Four Hours Nightly and Eats Only Two Meals Daily

By ALAN WALKER

LONDON (CP) — Canadian Leslie Dawson wears patched brown robes and sandals, reads books in an ancient Sanskrit dialect and is called Ananda Bodhi, the Bhikku.

This tall, 31-year-old Buddhist teacher wore a business suit when he attended a Baptist seminary in his native Toronto 12 years ago. Now he is head of Britain's first monastery for English-speaking Buddhists.

He leads a "more or less ascetic life," rising at 5 a.m. after about four hours sleep, eating only two meals a day and spending all his time apart from administrative duties in silent meditation.

"Eating less is purely practical," he said in an interview in front of a large brass Buddha figure 1,500 years old. "The blood doesn't have to be used for digestion. The mind is clearer for meditation."

He may not marry, drink or smoke. His head is shaved. Laid out on a table in his room are the eight possessions he is allowed to own—three robes, a belt, a water strainer, a begging bowl and a needle and thread.

He does not believe in a God. Buddhism, he says, is more a philosophical way of life than a religion. He left the Baptist seminary because beliefs there were "too dogmatic."

His meditation is designed to raise his mind above those of others. The Bhikku believes in reincarnation and that when he is born again he will assume a higher level in the universe if he has attained supreme mental discipline in his present life.

"Some people have just made it into the human class this time around," he said. "They may be reborn as animals. Most will be born into a form similar to what they now have."

He meditates in a soundproofed room in front of a large figure of Buddha, the original teacher of orthodox Theravada Buddhism who lived more than 2,000 years ago. The room is filled with incense burners, chrysanthemums and candles.

To allow his mind to become "still and lucid" he concentrates on short words or phrases called "mantrams" in the ancient Sanskrit Pali dialect.

He rarely leaves the monastery. Lay people do his shopping for him. He never sees films or watches television. He does not listen to music.

"We feel people should hear themselves hearing music," he said.

The Bhikku is quick to point out the difference between Theravada Buddhism and Zen, the form of Buddhism that has been eagerly grasped, misunderstood and exploited by Beatniks."

Zen Buddhism places more stress on the physical side of man, particularly in the popular form of it. "We are men of the mind."

The Bhikku is responsible for training about 20 novices undergoing their lower ordination before completing their studies in "some Eastern Buddhist centre, depending on the climate and the political situation."

The Bhikku completed his higher ordination in the sacred Buddhist shrine — city Buddha Gaya, India. He went to Burma and returned here this fall to his new duties.

His name means Bliss of Enlightenment.

"Teachers usually take the name of something they want their pupils to strive for," he said.

Politicians Ponder Nixon And His Comeback Chances

NEW YORK (AP)—Is Richard M. Nixon, the controversial man, really finished now in public life as a result of losing his race to be governor of California?

Some observers, including former president Eisenhower, say they doubt it.

"He's too able a man, extremely able," Eisenhower said in New York. " . . . It's not possible to say his career is ended. Maybe he thinks so. But somebody is going to invite him back into politics."

In Washington, columnist David Lawrence wrote:

"Maybe Richard Nixon has miss political lives after all."

And the New York Herald Tribune quoted an unidentified associate of Nixon as saying a Republican president would name Nixon secretary of state.

In any case, the immediate aftermath of Nixon's defeat in California has been to focus tremendous attention on him, more in fact than at any time when he left the vice-presidency.

First, there was Nixon's astonishing valedictory.

HIS LAST, HE SAID

Contrary to plans on the morning after the election, he reappeared before about 100 reporters, and the television cameras, and said bitterly:

"You won't have Nixon to kick around any longer, because, gentlemen, this is my last press conference."

Next came a television program, broadcast by ABC, entitled The Political Obituary of Richard M. Nixon.

Alger Hiss appeared in it, expressing his views of Nixon as an investigator. Nixon played a leading role in the investigation of Hiss by the House committee on Un-American Activities in 1948. Hiss later was convicted of perjury. Thousands of telephone calls and several hundred telegrams deluged ABC after the program, officials of the company said.

In the succeeding days, New York newspapers published scores of letters relating to these two events. The majority appeared to be favorable to Nixon.

So today, even in political oblivion — temporary or not — Nixon is still a centre of controversy. It has marked his political career ever since 1946, when he first ran for Congress.

EXPLAINED FUND

There was controversy about Nixon in his own party in 1952 when it was discovered that a group of California businessmen had put up a personal fund of $18,000 for him. Some Republican leaders thought he should resign as Eisenhower's running mate in the presidential campaign. Nixon went on television to explain the fund.

The speech kept his place on the ticket.

After he lost the 1960 presidential election to John F. Kennedy, Nixon went out to Los Angeles, entered a law office, built a home, and ostensibly settled comfortably into private life.

Nevertheless, few California political observers expected him to stay on the sidelines very long. Soon he was campaigning for the governorship.

Will he stay on the sidelines now?

Murray Chotiner, who managed Nixon's first campaign and has been a close adviser ever since, said on the TV program:

"I would be inclined to believe that Mr. Nixon will not run for an elected public office. However, if the Republican party should gain control of the national administration . . . it would appear to me that Mr. Nixon, because of his vast experience, would be able to serve the people and the country in a very high administrative post."

Member of Car Club Could Lose His Membership by Racing on Public Street

Carman Nobes, of R.R. 2, Belleville, shows Alford Booth of Sarnia, one of the two trophies won by the Belleville Road Angels' drag racing car this summer. Cliff was a member of the club before he moved to Sarnia, about seven months ago, and he plans to return to Belleville and rejoin the club. In the background are some of the 23 trophies won by Carman's own car.

Carman Nobes' favorite car is a little red 1928 model A Ford roadster. The car runs smoothly, and gets about 30 miles to the gallon of gas, but Carman doesn't like driving it into Belleville. The reason is that other drivers usually try to race him, and Carman a member of the Belleville Road Angels car club, could lose his membership for racing on a public street.

The people who try to race the little roadster are being foolish anyway. The huge, chrome-plated V8 engine shows through the sides of the hood, because there isn't room for all of it inside, and the car can cover a quarter mile in 16 seconds from standing start. At the end of the quarter mile, the car is moving 86 m.p.h., and still accelerating fast. Because the engine is not yet properly tuned, and because there is no safe place to try it, the top speed has not been measured. In fact, the car has never been driven more than 110 miles per hour.

For high speed safety, the car has special brakes, steering and suspension. It also has an automatic transmission that came with the engine. For competition, roll bars are fitted to enclose the driver in a steel cage. The cage is required protection in hot rod competition.

ALWAYS REBUILDING CAR

Carman has been building and rebuilding the car for about four years now, changing the design to make it better each time. The present engine, for instance, was installed only this summer. So far, in its different forms, the car has won a total of 23 trophies, for "show," or appearance and workmanship, and racing.

The Belleville Road Angels club is about six years old, and has a dozen members, now. The purpose of the club is to build, show and race cars, for the fun of it. Road safety is a basic principal of the club, and memberships are "reviewed" if a member is seen racing or speeding on public roads. In practice, any unsafe drivers are invited to leave the club the first time they show themselves unsafe.

The safety program is one facet of a public relations program planned to allay the suspicions of non-club members who may fail to understand why club members would build such powerful cars for normal driving. Another phase of the program is the rule, common to all good car clubs, that club members will stop and give aid to any car that breaks down on the highway. Most club members also carry a spare can of gas, for the benefit of drivers who run out.

The club does race cars, on the Mohawk Dragstrip, in Desoronto. The form of race they enter is a "drag", in which the cars race against time, for a quarter mile, one at a time, from a standing start. The club has a "dragster" car, good only for such racing. This car, a "slingshot" design, was finished just in time for the last four races of this past summer. Little more than an engine and wheels, with the driver sitting far behind the rear axle, it weighs 1,650 pounds, and can cover the quarter mile in thirteen-and a half seconds. At the end of the quarter mile, it is moving at 103 m.p.h. In the four races entered this year, it won two trophies.

The club headquarters is near the Centenary Church, just north of Belleville, but much of the work is done at Carman Nobes' home, just north of Highway 401, on the Wallbridge Road. Carman himself specializes in welding which he learned at night school, and auto body work, which he learned during four years in a large Belleville garage. Most members of the club have specialities, but all of them also have a good working knowledge of all car repair work.

CONSTANT CATCH

Fish production from Lake Ontario has averaged 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 pounds over the last 20 years.

Carman Nobes, of R.R. 2, Belleville, adjusts the carburetor of his V8 powered hot rod. The car is fast and powerful, but Carman must drive slowly on public roads, or risk losing his membership in the Belleville Road Angels Car Club.

Income Tax Explained

Written and designed especially for the taxpayer who is not in a position to employ the services of the professional accountant or visit an Income Tax Office.

By C. A. MILLER

Former Supervising Assessor Income Tax Department

Many taxpayers become confused regarding their claim for the 20 percent dividend credit allowance on the dividends they receive from the stocks they hold. They will often claim this credit on all their dividends regardless of what country the dividends originate from.

It states on the instruction sheet that comes with each blank income tax form, that this credit is allowable only on the dividends received from a Canadian Corporation that pays its tax in Canada. Any company or corporation that is not subject to Canadian Income corporation tax, will not qualify for this tax credit on its shareholders' dividends.

One such corporation would be Brazilian Traction, although this is a Canadian corporation. It has no operations in Canada and is not subject to Canadian Income Tax, therefore the 20 percent deduction would not apply. Another company is International Petroleum Limited, as well as International Paper, and International Power Company Limited, who also do not qualify for the 20 percent deduction credit.

When in doubt as to eligibility of a company for the dividend, a telephone call to your nearest Income Tax office will get you the required information.

Due to the circumstances as outlined above, the income tax department insists that a list of all dividends be attached to the return, rather than just showing a lump sum total. If T-5 slips are received, they should also be attached.

Question: I hold stock in various international concerns. How can I determine which of these qualify for the 20 percent tax credit?

Answer: Send a list of your holdings to your nearest income tax office and they will supply the required information.

Question: Can I claim the 20 per cent tax credit on corporations bonds as well as stock?

Answer: No. This credit applies only to the dividends paid by taxable Canadian corporations.

Question — My wife left me in 1960. I have paid nothing towards their support since. I sent them $100 at Christmas. Can I deduct this on my return?

Answer — No. It would appear you have not sent sufficient to claim a dependent child. Contributions are only deductible when there is a legal separation.

India, Pakistan To Open Talks On Kashmir

Negotiations Promise To Be Rough Going

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru and Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan have entered to new negotiations on the 15-year feud over Kashmir and other disputes—but the talks promise to be rough going.

Nehru indicated today he was not prepared to retreat little if any from his position.

An uproar of opposition rose in Pakistan's National Assembly. A Pakistan newspaper, The Times, said officials wanted concrete results from the talks and were not prepared for "academic discussions on Kashmir with no end."

Nehru told Parliament he was not committed to a partition of disputed Kashmir as a basis of settlement and could not "bypass or ignore . . . our basic principles."

UN SUPERVISES

The present arrangement is a partition by a cease-fire line which has been in effect for 10 years under UN supervision.

Pakistan wants the talks under the pressure of the Red Chinese offensive which broke through India's Himalayan frontiers.

A joint Indian-Pakistan communique announcing the talks was issued as Red China's charged India with conducting "provocative troop movements" up to the Himalayan cease-fire lines.

The Chinese charge, made on the eve of the Saturday deadline set by Peking for a pullback of its troops, raised prospects of fresh fighting instead of a Chinese retreat.

The prospective Indian-Pakistan negotiations eased India's necessity, at least for the time, of keeping the bulk of her troops on guard against Pakistan during an undeclared border war with China. Already a squadron of American Hercules transports has transferred thou-

POPE MAKING GOOD RECOVERY WITH TREATMENT

Rumor Persists Surgery Needed

CP from AP-Reuters

VATICAN CITY—Pope John is making a good recovery with medical treatment "objectaining the hoped for results" in his battle against anemia, a Vatican communique said today.

The 81-year-old pontiff got out of his sick bed briefly again this morning and "occupied himself with some problems regarding the government of the church, giving the relative dispositions," the statement added.

It was the second time he had been able to get up since he was stricken Tuesday.

Vatican sources said the Pope's doctor was concerned, however, that he was rushing things in his determination to get back to work.

"As soon as he feels a bit better, he wants to get out of bed," Dr. Antonio Gasbarrini was quoted as saying: "It is difficult to keep him there."

RUMORS PERSIST

There were widespread—but unconfirmed—reports the Pope has a stomach ulcer.

Dr. Gasbarrini was quoted by the Milan newspaper Il Giorno as denying "speculation the Pope suffers from cancer of the prostate."

The newspaper reports that when Gasbarrini was asked if the pontiff's life was in danger, the 59-year-old physician answered, "nothing is certain at his age, and at mine. I can say nothing further."

The Pope's general condition was said to have improved Thursday night. A Vatican source said he had no fever and spent the evening out of bed watching a television concert for churchmen attending the Roman Catholic ecumenical council in the Vatican.

The extent of his illness was disclosed for the first time Thursday in an official medical bulletin issued after the Pope had cancelled scheduled audiences on two successive days.

Winnipeg Fans Invade Toronto, Give Lift to Grey Cup Week

TORONTO (CP) — A trainload of Winnipeg football followers hit Toronto today, giving Grey Cup week its first big signs of fan life.

More than 300 western rooters poured off trains at Union Station, singing and tooting their way through the empty station lobby and into the thick fog hanging over Front Street.

Today's Chuckle

Running into debt isn't so bad. It's running into creditors that hurts.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: The weather pattern that has persisted over Ontario for the past few days will shows little indication of changing. A large high-pressure area stationary over New York state will continue to give fine weather over southern and central Ontario today and Saturday. Temperatures will rise well into the 50s.

Then they disappeared into the hotels, leaving the street and station as empty as any other day in Toronto.

The Winnipeg group was the first large contingent of but-of-towners to arrive together for Saturday's national football final here between the defending Grey Cup champion Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Their welcome appeared as cool as the morning fog.

The only people who greeted them were hawkers peddling Grey Cup souvenirs. No bands, no dancing girls.

But the Winnipeggers made up for it with plenty of noise of their own, singing, shouting, tooting horns and rattlers and, in one case, a well-worn bugle that echoed through the station and in the street.

Some wore blue beanie-type hats with Bombers emblazoned on a golden band. Several dozen sported broad - brimmed western-style white hats, more common to Calgarians.

HOUSE PARTIES VIEW PLANNING IN FOUR WAYS

Govt. Opposed To 'State Planning'

OTTAWA (CP)—One dictionary says a plan is a scheme of arrangement. But in politics it depends on who does the scheming, and for what arrangement.

This was heavily underlined in the House of Commons Thursday in a debate on the government's proposed national economic Development board. All four parties produced different interpretations of the word "planning" as used in a political-economic sense.

Mines Minister Martineau opened the exercise in semantics by saying the government is opposed to "state planning." By this he meant government control of the means of production.

Liberal Walter Gordon, Toronto Davenport, said the Conservatives once opposed a similar board advocated by the Liberals. He demanded an explanation of "why they now believe in a concept which they castigated so violently such a short time ago."

The Liberal MP, chairman of the 1956 royal commission on Canada's economic prospects, said all it meant was that the government would have one full-time official, "it is a device for reorganizing activities of the department of fi-

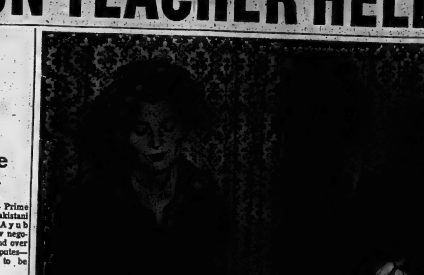
Space Workers Back on Job

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Lockheed Aircraft Corporation and its aerospace workers today went back to work — and back to the conference table—after a brief strike was ended at least temporarily.

Government action halted picketing after two days. But union leaders said the walkout again if demands for a union shop vote aren't met.

Mother Receives Prison Term For Slaying



BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Mrs. Arlene Garrett, a mother of four, has received a prison term of four to eight years in the shooting last March of Ralph Britting, 46, in an apartment they shared.

Mrs. Garrett, 37, signed a statement admitting she shot Britting because he nagged her about high utility bills, police said. During her first degree murder trial last September the woman denied the slaying. She also signed the statement to protect her son, William, 16, who was in the apartment at the time of the shooting.

The trial resulted in a deadlocked jury. Mrs. Garrett later pleaded guilty to a charge of second-degree manslaughter.

OUST EXECUTIVE

VIENNA (AP)—The Bulgarian National Assembly has ousted the secretary of its presidium, Apostol L. Kolchev, his post for "violation of Socialist legality," radio Sofia said Thursday.

Works Minister Fulton, accompanied by his wife, held a press conference in Ottawa last night and told reporters that he will accept the leadership of the B. C. Progressive Conservative party if a provincial convention chooses him.

Mikoyan Will Talk to Rusk After Parley With Kennedy

WASHINGTON (CP) — Anastas Mikoyan, first Soviet deputy premier, confers with U.S. state secretary Dean Rusk today after a 3½-hour session Wednesday with President Kennedy. The White House said the meeting had made "no real progress" on any issue.

U.S. informants said it appeared possible that following overnight communications with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, Mikoyan may have new instructions in preparation for his conference with Rusk. But this prospect lacked the U.S. optimism of some major change in Soviet posture that had preceded Mikoyan's arrival.

Both sides agreed to send new instructions to their negotiators at the United Nations to continue talks on what Mikoyan described Thursday as "a final settlement" of the Cuban issue.

But while he repeated this "final settlement" phrase through an interpreter on emerging from the president's office and in a brief appearance before television cameras outside the White House, a presidential aide indicated Mikoyan gave no ground on the Cuban inspection issues—a central point in the Mikoyan-Kennedy talks.

Kennedy demands that Russia fulfill Khrushchev's promise of allowing the United Nations to inspect Cuba's military sites and set up safeguards to make sure no more bombers and missiles are introduced on the island. Mikoyan sides with Fidel Castro's counter - demand that the U.S. open its Cuban refugee training camps to UN inspection before the UN is allowed into Cuba.

A White House source said while the talks ranged over a wide field, the bulk of time was spent on the Cuban issue. He described the atmosphere as frank and business-like but not one of tension. Both sides agreed progress had been made in the past in settling the Cuban crisis but that a number of points remain to be cleared up.

Sir Winston Quietly Marks 88th Birthday at His Home

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill today celebrated a quiet 88th birthday in his London home as gifts and messages poured in from all parts of the world.

Members of his family said the fast Second World War leader was "feeling fine" but he did not make his customary birthday appearance in the House of Commons.

His personal physician and old friend, Lord Moran, said Churchill was "very well" and that he was "quite satisfied with his condition."

Churchill made a brief appearance at the window of his home. The net curtains were pulled aside and he smiled through the glass at well-wishers outside.

He appeared to stumble slightly as he walked unaided to the window and seemed to be leaning heavily on a walking stick.

Post office trucks and messengers brought thousands of affectionate greetings from people in all walks of life—headed by the Queen, President Kennedy, Prime Minister Macmillan and former president Eisenhower.

An impressive delivery of presents included a bottle of 1874 brandy—to mark the year he was born—two barrels of oysters and a case of champagne. The brandy arrived in a basket of flowers.

Cheap Way to Get Out of Army Is to Run for Seat in Parliament

LONDON (AP) — Running for a seat in Parliament is the latest thing in Britain's armed forces. Parliamentary candidates don't expect to win—it's the cheapest way to get out of uniform.

A young lieutenant started it by putting himself before the electors of Middlesbrough in a special election this summer.

Now 12 soldiers—and maybe more—are ready to stand at a special election in the Yorkshire steel town of Rotherham in March.

Most British soldiers enlist for nine or 11 years. If they want to break the contract, they have to pay the government up to £250 ($750).

British law says that any soldier who wants to stand for parliament must first be discharged. And running for parliament costs only a deposit of £150 ($450) which is returned to the candidate if he wins more than one eighth of the votes.

Eleven soldiers became civilians that way this month.

None of them won. They didn't want to. But they got a few votes.

Service ministers are studying ways of plugging the loophole. The law probably will be changed to permit any serviceemen to run for Parliament —if he buys himself out of his military contract.

DAVIE FULTON READY TO LEAVE FEDERAL CABINET

Will Accept PC Leadership in BC

OTTAWA (CP)—"My objective is to form the next government of British Columbia."

With those words Works Minister Davie Fulton announced Thursday night he is ready, if B.C. Conservatives want him, to accept leadership of the party in B.C. "wholeheartedly and without reservation."

The 45-year-old lawyer told a press conference that if elected B.C. leader at next week's Vancouver convention he will resign his $27,000-a-year cabinet post and consult his constituency association on whether to give up the Kamloops seat in Parliament he has held since 1945.

His decision, subject of speculation for weeks in the light of a draft - Fulton campaign among B.C. Conservatives, brought the announcement from Harry McQuillan, former MP for Comox-Alberni, that he is withdrawing from the B.C. leadership race and endorsing Mr. Fulton.

REMAINS IN RACE

Fergie Browne, former MP for Vancouver-Kingsway, also has declared himself a candidate. He said Thursday night in Vancouver he will remain in the race.

Mr. Fulton also received endorsation from Stuart Fleming, MP for Okanagan - Revelstoke who is B.C. association president, and David Pugh, MP for Vancouver - Boundary, who attended the press conference.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker issued a statement expressing regret at Mr. Fulton's decision and admiration for his willing-

Fort Garry Horse Armored Regt. Posted

CAMP PETAWAWA, Ont. (CP)—An advance party from the Fort Garry Horse armored Regiment left Thursday for a three - year posting with the Fourth Canadian Infantry Brigade Group in West Germany.

The 633 men and 684 dependents will be moved by mid-December, army officials said.

About half of the regiment will travel in four RCAF seven-ice flights and the remaining 300 troops and most of the wives and dependents will make the trip by ship.

The Garry's have been stationed at Camp Petawawa since 1958. They will be replaced by the 8th Canadian Hussars (Princess Louise's).

Two Brothers Charged With 4 Armed Jobs

One of Guns Used Found in Briefcase

BRIGHTON (Staff)—Detective sergeant Lloyd G. Lyle of this village's provincial police detachment, walked quietly into Union School, three miles west of here yesterday, beckoned a young probationary teacher into the corridor and arrested him for one of Canada's most spectacular bank holdups.

In the teacher's car, parked outside the school, Corporal Lyle told The Ontario Intelligencer, he found a .22-calibre revolver in a briefcase. Some $4 rounds of ammunition he said, were also hidden in the automobile.

Eamonn Sweeney, 25, was charged with the attempted robbery of the Bank of Montreal, at Front and Yonge Sts. in Toronto, November 19, when 43 bank employees were chained and two policemen disarmed by three bandits.

Meantime, in Toronto, his 27-year-old brother, Thomas, an airline clerk, appeared in magistrate's court charged with attempted robbery in the same incident and was remanded a week.

Three other Toronto holdups and a break-in have been charged against the brothers, who emigrated to Canada from Ireland.

The other charges are: Armed robbery of the Imperial Bank (now Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, November 16, 1959, when $12,000 was stolen; armed robbery of $1, 200 from a downtown theatre, September 9, 1961; armed robbery of a theatre in September, 1959, when $1,000 was stolen, and the theft of nine guns and $46 from a Toronto store.

ARRIVED JUST WEEKEND

Sergeant Lyle told The Ontario Intelligencer that Eamonn Sweeney arrived at Trenton's RCAF station Saturday, November 24 and then ventured the U.S. by posing as a U.S. citizen.

Thursday wearing dark glasses, she shrugged her shoulders philosophically after sentence was passed.

Assistant U.S. Attorney General E. Foley said Miss Speckhard had become an assumed name in a $240 apartment Manhattan apartment and had $800 on her when arrested.

Her lawyer claimed she came back into the U.S. to dispose of valuable property here and in Mexico.

Miss Spedding was married to Count Louis Ignatieff in Germany in 1940. The marriage later was annulled.

Former Countess Again Ordered Back to Canada

NEW YORK (AP)—Willowy Elizabeth Spedding, a former countess once described as the city's leading madame, returned to court Thursday and was again ordered back to Canada. She is a Saskatchewan native.

U.S. District Court Judge Edward Weinfeld gave her a nine-month sentence to serve, however, before the deportation order takes effect.

The 47 - year - old woman pleaded guilty to violating parole and illegally re-entering the U.S. by way of Buffalo last July 6.

In 1960 Miss Spedding was given a two-year sentence for transporting women across state lines for the purpose of prostitution. She was placed on five years probation and fined $5,000. The FBI called her the city's leading madame and said she ran an international call girl ring from a Fifth Avenue apartment.

She was deported to Canada following her release from jail last April 15. The government said she went to Toronto and then re-entered the U.S. by posing as a U.S. citizen.

Thursday wearing dark glasses, she shrugged her shoulders philosophically after sentence was passed.

Assistant U.S. Attorney General E. Foley said Miss Speckhard had become an assumed name in a $240 apartment Manhattan apartment and had $800 on her when arrested.

Fog Blankets Toronto Area

TORONTO (CP) — A heavy blanket of fog set in along the Toronto shore of Lake Ontario during the night, grounding planes, clogging highways and forcing all light plane to land on a street when the pilot became lost.

In downtown Toronto the fog cut visibility in some places to 30 feet. Traffic was slowed to a crawl. But over the city's northern suburbs were relatively fog-free.

The weather office said the fog, which has persisted in the Toronto area for three days, may get worse unless a high-pressure area over southern Ontario starts to move off.

Central Figure in Cabinet Crisis Withdraws From Govt.

MUNICH (Reuters) — West German Defence Minister Franz-Josef Strauss, central figure in the cabinet crisis arising from Der Spiegel news magazine articles, announced today that he would not be a member of a new government.

Strauss announcement came after a four-hour meeting of the Christian Social Union, the Bavarian wing of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic party.

A communique said Strauss informed the meeting "that after the events of the past weeks and especially in view of the attitude of the Free Democratic Party which the Bavarian population had clearly condemned last Sunday (in Bavarian state elections), he cannot be a member of a new Adenauer cabinet."

The announcement was expected to pave the way toward construction of a new cabinet coalition.

In Bonn, the Free Democratic Party, in the first comment on the announcement, said: "This decision will substantially facilitate the government reshuffle."

The Free Democrats, junior partners in Adenauer's coalition, have demanded departure of Strauss from any future government as a condition for their co-operation.

United Appeal Fund Stands At $70,148

To-date the Belleville United Appeal has raised a total of $70,148.65, about the 1961 total, secretary Lee Gnaedinger reported this morning. Another $1,50C is anticipated.

Very significant increases were shown in the payroll giving division, which has had a 27 per cent increase in donations, and in the national corporations division, where 18 of the 66 firms involved raised their contributions by 22.5 per cent to meet the increased objective of the United Appeal.

The professional persons and the special names division have also shown increases over their donations of last year.

Business, public services and residential divisions however, all show a reduction in giving over last year despite the increased needs in the United Appeal and the addition of several new agencies.

Varied Program, Awarding Of Prizes Features Banquet Held by the Cheesemakers

A turkey banquet attended by approximately 175 cheesemakers and their wives, together with Federal and Provincial dairy officials and friends, last night wound up the Central Ontario Cheesemakers' Association annual convention held in Belleville this week.

The banquet, held at the Masonic Temple, saw trophies and other awards handed out to winners at the British Empire Dairy Show which was held in conjunction with the Association convention.

Guest speaker for the banquet was Mr. James W. Ritchie, art teacher at Belleville Collegiate who in a humorous address used types of cheeses as a vehicle to take his listeners on a descriptive journey of native customs in various European countries.

He noted that cheese making was one of the oldest arts in the world, having its birth in the Middle East in 1400 B.C.

Swiss and Italian cheeses as well as the famous Cheddar cheese, were known the world over.

Jack M. Bain of Toronto, was in his customary form as master of ceremonies and in his role of provincial agricultural department representative congratulated district cheesemakers on their showing at the Belleville British Empire cheese show.

He recalled that Bay of Quinte district makers had placed high this year in three big shows. Roy Huffman of Corbyville, was at the Olympic Show in England and another Ontario maker had placed third in the World Show at Green Bay, Wisconsin.

Then Grant Hughes of Selby had won at the Belleville show, having exhibited the highest scoring cheese and also having the highest aggregate of any Ontario maker this year.

The double win had enabled Mr. Hughes to take home most of the trophies and silverware.

HEAD TABLE GUESTS

Head table guests included: Lee E. Gridin, M.P., and Mrs. Grilin; Mr. and Mrs. James W. Ritchie, County Clerk Trevor Carl Bateman and Mrs. Bateman; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Robinson, Kemptville; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Matthews; Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Rowe, and Hector Arnold, agricultural agent Ontario Cheese Marketing Board.

Entertainment at the banquet included piano accordion selections by Carl Gilbert, vocal numbers by Ralp Isaac Forester, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Jim Scott, all of Prince Edward County and tap dance numbers by Caroline Chisholm of Belleville.

Traffic Officials Not Happy With Action of Motorists

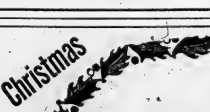
Just 24 hours after their latest traffic safety went into operation, Belleville traffic officials are angry.

The attitude has been forced by the collective attitudes of automobile drivers at the Herchimer Avenue - Bridge Street East intersection.

The city's latest semaphric actuated control lights went into action.

The lights designate Bridge Street as the through thoroughfare. Normally, the signals stay green on Bridge Street until traffic volume on Herchimer actuates a hidden control mechanism which changes the lights.

A push-button device also facilitates pedestrian crossing at the intersection — and thereby is the hook on which a warning was pinned this morning.



School children are being instructed in the push - button operation. However, motorists along Bridge Street are not paying sufficient attention to this, says Police Inspector J. C. Hayes. If there is no interesting traffic to right on Herchimer, many drivers are taking it for granted the green light for Bridge Street will remain unchanged and do not slacken speed.

"It was almost nonsensical the way some drivers behaved yesterday. One driver went barrelling up to the intersection as a group of school children prepared to cross.

"The public must be made aware that these lights are also controlled by a push-button and the fact the light is green on approaching the intersection is no guarantee it will remain so."

Police will crack down on drivers not observing the safety principle at the crossing, he warned.

"I do not propose to give any days of grace for erring drivers," said the inspector.

Murray Citizens Hear Opponents Of Annexation

TRENTON—Forty persons at a meeting of Murray Township ratepayers in the town hall at Wooler last night heard several speakers criticize the present reeve, Douglas McMaster and the members of the 1962 council. Speakers for the most part deplored the fact that none of last year's administration was present.

The meeting was called by Stewart Malcolm, Mr. McMaster's opponent in the contest for reeveship. Members of 1962 council contacted today, said that they had no indication that a ratepayers' meeting was being held.

Mr. Malcolm said that all he knew about the proposed annexation of parts of Murray Township by Trenton was what he read about it in the papers. He said that he did know the 1962 council had hired a lawyer to fight annexation and had spent around $12,000 on the lawyers fees. Then, he said, the council had had its effect, "bought up" and entered into a barter agreement with the town.

"I know that if I'm not elected, I'll be tempted to pass a by-law and arrest some of the councillors," he said amidst much spring. I understand we paid out upwards of $4,000 for fire fighting (to Trenton) and the fires were all due to carelessness. We pay twice as a couple of thousand bucks that way." (Many of the fires in the township last spring were grass fires Trenton's bill for fire fighting was disputed by 1962 Murray council, but finally paid.)

Council candidate Harry Seymour complained that last year's council would start meetings at 7.30 p.m. and that it would be 9 p.m. before the meeting really got underway. He said that he would be in favor of the council sitting at a table in the middle of the floor rather than on the platform in the hall. Then everyone could hear what's going on.

AGAINST ANNEXATION

Mr. Seymour also said that he was against annexation. He too, deplored the fact that 1962 council had spent $12,000 on a lawyer hired to fight annexation.

James Day, a candidate for township council, objected to the fact that councils in the past had held meetings without compiling a set agenda beforehand. He said that the township needed a permanent office staff and not part-time clerical employees.

Walter Thompson, council candidate, said that he had been against annexation from the start and that if there had been more action on the part of the council of the day, and by ratepayers as a whole, it would have been avoided.

Gerald Ross, who was nominated to contest the reeveship, but declined to run, spoke, in answer to requests from the floor. He drew a certain amount of criticism because he intimated that the costs of service installations considered, it might be a good thing to have parts of the township annexed. But the town, Mr. Ross, however, modified his statement in the end by saying, "only if the people in the areas concerned demand annexation."

A township resident, Word Farley, claimed that the 1962 township council had actually passed a resolution to permit the annexation to go through without protest. Mr. Farley said that council members Leo McAuley and Ronald Webb had voted for the resolution, Norman Flindall and deputy reeve Fred Bruyea, against and that the tie had been broken by the reeve, Douglas McMaster, who had voted in favor of the resolution.

Then, said Mr. Farley, the reeve had approached the mayor of Trenton, James MacDonald, and asked him what Trenton would give for the part of Murray it wanted to annex. "Not a five-cent piece," Mayor MacDonald replied, according to Mr. Farley.

Mr. Farley said that Reeve McMaster, contacted later, denied that Trenton's mayor had made such a reply.

High School Activities

By STEVE FORRESTER

As anyone who reads this column may have noticed it has been missing for the last couple of weeks due to exams. These being over now it is past time to record any news that has happened in the past few weeks. Some of these incidents may seem a bit passe but in order to set the record straight we are once again Junior C.O.S.S.A. football champions. Belleville defeated Trenton by a score of 1-0 to become Bay of Quinte Junior C champs and went on to defeat Oshawa Central 6-5. This last game was particularly creditable considering the foul weather. The Moira field seemed a cross between a lake and a pigsty. Considering the mud it was a wonder they could stand up let alone run. Congratulations to the team and congratulations to the spectators who were hardy enough to stand in the mud and the rain cheering the team on to victory.

Also in the past but worthy of notice is the assembly given by Dr. Lynn on the subject of cigarette smoking and cancer. In an informative and at times entertaining speech he delineated the present medical stand on the influence of smoking on lung cancer. At the conclusion you could hear many of the students enumerating the number of good years they had left. If his advice is to be followed not only would we live longer but we wouldn't have to listen to those irritating complaints about the number of cigarette boxes left on the property by Nicolins Corner. On the other hand think what a blow this would be to the tobacco industry and the economy at large. Thus we may rationalize our lives away.

Coming up soon is the Christmas cantata put on by the Glee Club on Dec. - 16.

2 Plead Guilty to Number Of Break-ins in the City

A brief outburst from a young Belleville man demanding immediate sentence after pleading guilty to four break-ins marked the end of a long series of remands in magistrate's court today.

Leonard Clifford Wood, 20, and Robert Bennett were arrested inside Lafferty's pool room on East Bridge street October 29 after a policeman discovered the break-in.

Since that time they had appeared regularly before magistrate T. Y. Wills and each time sought a remand to find bail and legal advice.

This morning both pleaded guilty to the charge. Wood also pleaded guilty to three similar charges and Bennett to a second break-in.

Both were remanded for sentence next Thursday.

It was this last remand that drew the outburst from Wood.

After hearing evidence from city police inspector J. B. McLauchlan, the magistrate indicated he would adjourn his decision on sentence until next week.

No your honor," Wood interrupted. "I want it over today."

Wood said he already had been in fail eight weeks.

"I have been waiting around too long and I want it right now."

"You will take what's coming to you if, and when I tell you," snapped the magistrate. "You are getting favorable consideration as it is and if you are not careful you will spoil it."

Defence counsel Louis Harrakzas apologized for the interruption and the magistrate reminded him that both Wood and Bennett had continually sought remands to raise bail.

OTHER CHARGES LAID

"He is the author of his misfortune. I won't hold it against him," said the magistrate.

Wood was further charged with break-ins at Charles L. Hyde and Son, October 28th; Ontario Business College and the Knights of Columbus Hall, October 25th. Bennett was also charged with the Hyde break-in.

Inspector McLauchlan said the break-in at Lafferty's was discovered by constable Charles Peters as he checked his beat. Constables McClinton and Ebner were despatched to his assistance and all three found the accused men in the building.

When confronted by the officers, said the inspector, Bennett raised a sledgehammer over his head and advanced on constable Ebner.

"It was only after constable Ebner drew his service revolver and threatened Bennett that he dropped the sledge hammer." Later, said the inspector, Bennett had to be forcibly subdued when being taken to a police car.

Bennett denied in court that money found in his possession was from Lafferty's cash register. He said it was his wages.

NOW HEAR THIS—Sgt. Ralph Blatchford, safety officer for the Belleville Police Department, gives a group of school children some instruction on how to use the new traffic lights at Herchimer Avenue and East Bridge Street in order to cross the intersection safely.

New Building for OSD, Contract Costs $538,000

The contract for building the new vocational School Building at the Ontario School for the Deaf was awarded by Public Works Minister Ray Connell today to the contracting firm of T. A. Andre and Sons Ltd., of Kingston, whose $538,700 tender was the lowest of ten firms bidding for the job.

The Works Minister said the building would be a single storey structure of steel, reinforced concrete and brick construction 210 feet by 197 feet in size. He said it would be located north of the Main School Building and east of the powerhouse and laundry buildings.

Elmer Sandercock, M.P.P. for Hastings West, who has worked indefatigably for many years for improvements to buildings and services at this institution located on the western boundary of Belleville, said construction of this building coming at this time would do much for local construction men.

Mr. Sandercock said the acquisition of the new building would raise the vocational level at the school. At the present time boys' classes in printing and woodworking are accommodated in very crowded and old buildings; metal trades classes are taught in an area that is inadequate, while carpentry and upholstering classes are conducted in basement rooms in the main school.

The new vocational school building will accommodate a number of offices; general classrooms; training shops for occupational therapy; carpentry, millwork and cabinet work; upholstering, furniture finishing, printing and metal trades; auto body work; service station and auto painting; drafting and blueprinting rooms together with storage rooms, library, teachers' lounge, lobby and waiting room. Heating will be supplied from the adjacent powerhouse.

A considerable expansion program has been under way at this institution over the past few years. This expansion work started in 1957 and resulted in the erection of a junior school and guards' residence, a staff residential dormitory, a powerhouse and a new laundry building. All of these projects were completed in 1959.

Three Youths Request Trial By Judge, Jury

Three Windsor youths, charged with possession of stolen goods, have requested trial by judge and jury in Belleville.

A preliminary hearing will be held next Tuesday into the charge against Elie Seremakis, Reggie Bouffard and Roger Michael Bouffard, his brother.

The three youths have been unable to obtain bail since their arrest about 10 days ago.

They are being represented by Belleville lawyer Robert Temple.

The advice comes from city traffic officials, responsible for clearing the parade's right-of-way through downtown Belleville.

Ship Watchman Still Missing

Now missing two weeks, no trace has been found of the whereabouts of Belleville ship watchman Alex Weddell.

The 64-year-old watchman on the "Bay of Quinte" coal boat, now moored at the city dock, was first reported missing on November 17, when he failed to return home.

Skindivers have assisted the police and firemen in a search of Belleville harbor, without success. An aircraft also flew several sweeps of the immediate Bay of Quinte area.

This week a helicopter owned by Len Dobb, now resident at 442 Sidney Street, with Dale Webb, 313 McDonald Avenue, as observer, flew over the harbor and bay, still without finding any traces of the missing man.

School Children Given Traffic Class at Light

Many motorists passing the Herchimer Avenue-East Bridge Street intersection yesterday in the early afternoon might well have wondered just what the crowd of children was up to. What was happening was a traffic safety class for the elementary school children of St. Joseph's, H. J. Clarke and Bayview schools, given by Sgt. R. W. Blachford, safety officer for the Belleville Police Department.

The class involved instruction on the use of the new semi-actuated traffic lights which have changed the character of this intersection. Under the control of the new stoplights East Bridge Street is now the main thoroughfare with the signals normally remaining green for traffic on this street. Special actuators regulate the lights to accommodate traffic along Herchimer Ave. according to its density.

From 12 to 25 seconds will be allowed for traffic travelling Herchimer Avenue to cross East Bridge Street once the signal lights are actuated. No more than 25 seconds will be allowed, however, before the green light is again given to East Bridge Street traffic. If traffic on Herchimer warrants it it will again get a green light after the main artery has had 25 seconds on a green light.

For pedestrians there are control buttons at each corner of the intersection which they can use to obtain a green light in order to cross East Bridge Street. There is no need to use these control buttons to cross the intersection in an east-west fashion, however, as the system normally gives a green light for this traffic.

Sgt. Blatchford advises that it should be noted pedestrian traffic is not allowed on either an amber or a red light. If one should find the light change to amber on him while crossing the intersection there is no need to hurry because there will be three seconds before the red light occurs he said.

The local safety officer has requested that adults pay especial attention to these rules so that they do not set bad examples for the youngsters.

If at any time the lights should appear to be out of order the City Police should be contacted.

TO BUILD AIRLINER

LONDON (CP)—Britain and France signed an agreement Thursday to build jointly a dart-shaped supersonic airliner able to fly the Atlantic in less than three hours. The flight usually takes seven hours now. Aviation Minister Julian Amery told the Commons the plan will have a cruising speed of about 1,400 miles an hour—twice the speed of sound.

Junior Cage Loop To Open Saturday

The YMCA's Junior Basketball House League starts off tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock in the gym when 26 lads and their four coaches gather for the initial double-header.

There are four teams in the league: the Celtics, captained by Bob Watson and coached by David Hurst; the Warriors, with David Beresford as captain and Ron Walsh as coach; the Giants, John Haydan as captain and Dave Anderson as coach, and the Globetrotters with David McLean as captain and coached by Murray Swan.

The first half of the league schedule runs every Saturday right through to, and including, January 5th.

Given Three Months For Shoplifting

Shoplifting of four pairs of gloves sent a man from Belleville magistrate's court today to a three-month jail term.

Charged with stealing the gloves from Eaton's store in Belleville was James Gardiner, who gave his home address as "Nova Scotia."

Police said the total value of the gloves was about $11.90.

"While the amount involved is small, I think the maximum period in the common jail is sufficient," commented Magistrate T. Y. Wills, passing sentence.

A Difficult Problem

Amongst other things, the speech from the throne at the opening of the Ontario Legislature Tuesday announced the government would introduce legislation respecting medical health insurance.

The precise form of this legislation is evidently undecided, since the initial proposals will be presented as a committee including representatives of medical, hospital and labor groups before they become effective.

But the intent is plain—it is to make medical health insurance, or in other words a method of pre-paying doctors' bills, available to everybody. The emphasis is to be on availability rather than actual coverage. This is not surprising.

It was forecast by the brief which Premier John Robarts presented to the federal royal commission on health, in which he opposed compulsory medical care insurance. His argument is the individual has the primary responsibility of providing the needs of himself and his family. The government's responsibility is to make sure every individual has the opportunity to provide for himself.

It is a reasonable argument. The objective is most praiseworthy—to remove the hazard of any family facing medical bills so onerous as to threaten its financial solvency, while at the same time preserving individual responsibility and freedom of choice for patient and doctor alike.

This is a good trick—a history-making great trick—if one can do it.

There will be difficulties. The most obvious, the question of payment of insurance premiums for those who are financially unable to pay them themselves, has already been recognized by the government. It will "accept the responsibility of providing coverage for those who, for a variety of reasons, may be deemed not to be able to provide for themselves."

In effect, this means that those who can afford to pay their own premiums will be doing so—and also sharing in the cost of paying the premiums of others. But this is no real flaw in the proposal. Precisely the same thing would happen if the scheme were compulsory.

The real hurdle will come in the case of those who were able to provide for their own coverage, did not do so and then face medical bills beyond their ability to pay. What will happen then?

In the past, doctors have just absorbed the loss, just as any other businessman has to write off a certain proportion of bad debts. But one universal feature of medical insurance plans, whether they be government-sponsored and compulsory like that in Saskatchewan, or privately-operated and voluntary, like PSI, is that, because of the certainty of receiving payment, doctors have accepted less than full normal fees. Presumably the same situation would prevail under the plan envisioned by the Ontario Government.

Experience with the hospital insurance plan suggests a very large percentage of Ontario citizens will voluntarily join the medical insurance plan. This is all to the good. But, with the doctors being paid at a lower rate for the great majority of their patients, can they afford to write off bad debts for the other uninsured patients? And, if not, what happens? Will the government pay, in effect requiring those who pay their own premiums also to share in the cost of premiums for people who could afford them, as well as of people who could not?

It is this knotty problem which must be solved if any workable plan is to be fair to those who, of their own free will, accept the responsibility for providing for themselves and their families.

The Magic Pen

Howard Lee White, a 33-year-old Memphis man, was serving a sentence for forgery at the Fort Willow State Prison, near Ripley, Tenn., until quite recently. He was released on the basis of papers that were later proved to have been forged. Since White's release, a man answering to his description has left a trail of cheques, forged on the prison account.

The public, regardless of right and wrong, must feel a certain admiration for a man so skilled in such a difficult form of crime. That he can use the same skills to get out of prison as he used to get in will earn grudging admiration for his skill and resourcefulness, however misapplied these may be.

Laws are laws, of course, and must be enforced, but one hopes that when Mr. White is returned to prison, he will at least be given a job suitable to his talents.

He that wrestles with us strengthens our nerves and sharpens our skill. Our antagonist is our helper.—Edmund Burke.

Gives Facts, Figures About Fluoridation

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

Since there have been several letters to the editor recently regarding the fluoridation of our water I felt that some additional facts in favor of the fluoridation referendum would be of interest to your readers.

After considerable reading and investigation I find that the movement actually started in several cities, mostly in the U.S.A., as long ago as 1945—and even then only after 15 years of intensive research. The first were Newburgh, N.Y., Grand Rapids, Mich., and Brantford, Ontario, where systems were inaugurated to bring the level of the fluoride chemical up to one part per million gallons.

By 1951 and 1952 it was apparent that the plan worked even better than anyone had dared hope. Tooth decay did decrease in fluoridated cities. In Grand Rapids, for instance, there was a drop of 57% in cases:—65% less tooth decay in children who drank fluoridated water from birth;—45 per cent less decay in children who drank water for 5 to 8 years, when the programs started;—20 per cent less decay in those who were between.

PRO-GROUPS CITED

By now every major scientific group with any interest in the subject has endorsed fluoridation approval.

In a recent issue of your publication, Dr. J. S. Loynes listed some of these organizations; however, here are a few more:—the U.S. Public Health Service; the U.S. National Institute of Health, Washington; American Dental Assoc., the American Academy of Pediatrics, the American Medical Association; the American Pharmaceutical Association and scores of others.

Non-scientific groups have also supported the movement, such as the U.S. National Congress of Parents and Teachers; the American Legion; the AFL-CIO; the Child Study Association of America; the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce; and many local chapters of Chamber of Commerce.

Two-thirds of all big metropolitan areas have fluoridated water. Among them are Chicago, Baltimore, Philadelphia, St. Louis, San Francisco, Pittsburgh, Milwaukee, Houston, Buffalo, and Minneapolis. Even the U.S. Congress, which twice has heard anti-fluoridationists speak their piece in formal hearings, some years back quietly fluoridated the water of the entire city of Washington, D.C.

It would seem with such vast endorsement by both scientific and non-scientific groups that there should be no resident favorable opinions for fluoridation.

Also, in a previous issue, our Public Health Inspector, Commissioner, John Weese, commented on the cost of implementing and maintaining fluoridation.

OTHER COSTS

I submit that there are other "costs" which should also be considered. My example must again to refer to a U.S. public health survey which has assessed more than $7,000,000 people in the U.S.A. and has decayed teeth requiring treatment, and another 21,000,000 have lost all of their teeth. On an average basis school graduate has at least 10 teeth attacked by tooth decay, and the 6th grade has 6 affected, but even though a third of the population never goes to a dentist, totals around 2.4 billion decayed teeth annually, or an average of $44 per family.

Admittedly, these are much larger figures than would apply to Canada, nevertheless, the average cost per family would be relative figure and would quite possibly apply in our own city. In the case of my own family our average is considerably higher, and I can assure you that extreme care is taken on our part to make sure the teeth are treated as directed.

Of course fluoridation cannot eliminate all dental bills or all dental ills. But we can by removing the necessity for such addition, all braids, prevent a great deal of conscientious brushing and regular visits to the dentist.

However, more information again states it has been repeatedly proven that drinking fluoridated water through childhood can reduce tooth decay by as much as 65 percent and that this benefit lasts throughout life.

HIGH DENTAL COSTS

If we can refer to a hypothetical calculation for a moment and apply our figures to Belleville, we might be able to project a long-term financial saving as follows: our corporate population is 30,000 which would probably mean approximately 10,000 families. If we assume the average-yearly family dental bill is only $60. Let us further assume that only half of this dental bill is credited to tooth decay which means we could allow $25 for the cost of decaying teeth. Averages say that two-thirds of the population visit a dentist, so quite possibly 6,500 families seek dental help in Belleville every year. If tooth decay costs each of these families $25 yearly then the annual bill as a result of tooth decay in our city would be in the excess of $160,000.

Now I have no way of knowing how close this figure would be to the truth of the matter—but even if the figures are reduced substantially we could count on something in excess of $100,000 annually.

I would like to suggest that this would pay for quite a few fluoridation systems over the years which lie ahead, and it would also replace quite a few fluoride pumps in Schenectady, N.Y.

SOLUBLE IN WATER

It has also been stated that it is a waste product of aluminum. However, upon some further investigation, I find that the Aluminum Company of America (ALCOA), is one of a number of companies that produce sodium fluoride in special plants, and that it has a number of uses, including steel-making. Apparently, the substance in water, whether put there by nature or assisted by fluoride ion, an electrically charged particle of the element fluorine, forms a film that absorbs and for at least 100 years it has been listed as a normal constituent, here are two teeth. In nature, it is commonly dissolved into the water from calcium fluoride, a mineral compound found in rocks and soils. When added by man, the fluoride ion is in the form of a soluble compound such as sodium fluoride, which is derived from calcium fluoride.

Either way, the fluoride ion is the same and is treated in the same way by the body. Sodium fluoride is used in fluoridation because it dissolves easily whereas calcium fluoride does not.

Evidence continues to pile up that fluorides in the amounts needed for decay prevention are safe for everyone, and the community fluoridation is by far the best measure now available to bring a drastic cut in the incidence of a disease which affects 98 percent of the population. This evidence has become so voluminous in recent years that it is difficult for a dispassionate person to understand the bitter opposition.

Cost of Fluoridation Said 95 Cts. a Home

Editor
Ontario Intelligencer

We have read recently in your newspaper figures relating to the cost of fluoridation of our city water supply. Since the figures have been aired by admitted opponents of fluoridation I feel it will only help to have them discussed and perhaps regarded in a different light by one who, as a father of small children, will benefit from fluoridation. As an alderman also, I feel I can speak with some authority on the distribution of costs.

First let me refer to a letter to the Utilities Commission from Gore and Storrie Ltd. Consulting Engineers dated October 29th, 1962. They state that the costing of fluorine equipment would be $8,500 and they include that as part of the $56,000 building and equipment figure which would be used for the feeding of chlorine and alum. They also state that the annual cost of $6,000 was based on the highest estimate both in quantity and quality of fluoride to be used and express it as costing ½ cent per thousand gallons of water.

They further state that these costs are higher by $3,500 than they were in 1961 when a specific first passed the fluoridation by-law).

This seems to be the story of Belleville: always paying more because we start too late. Our Water Pollution Control Centre is costing us over $1,000,000 more than it would have 10 years ago.

However, let us assume for the moment that the entire $56,000 is to be charged to the fluorine program. Spread over a normal debenture period of 15 years and applied to an average assessment of $2,800 the cost would be 50 cents per year.

Likewise the annual cost of upkeep and supplies quoted in a similar manner would cost either 45 cents per year.

Therefore a total cost of 95 cents per home, not per individual will provide us with a safe regulation of fluoride each year.

Let us not cloud the issue with a veil of high cost. Let us vote for or against fluoridation on its merits. I firmly believe my children will benefit from fluoridation: I am satisfied that the Belleville Academy of Medicine and the Dental Association are not paying $100 each to be misled.

(Alderman) Jack Ellis,
48 Selena Dr.

Frozen Rats Get Smarter

Chicago News

You never can tell what will come out of the laboratory these days. Who would have thought, for instance, that freezing rats makes them smarter?

Dr. Stanley W. Jacob, of the University of Oregon, was studying the effects of prolonged cold on the brain with the hope of applying his findings to surgery. He put rats into a state of suspended animation and cooled them to the degree above freezing. When they were warmed up again, they outperformed other rats by a mark.

Dr. Jacob, who reported his experiment to the American College of Surgeons in Atlantic City, isn't sure what this proves, and neither are we. He won't guarantee, unfortunately, that freezing will make people any smarter than they were before.

Still, it's sort of a cheering thought at this time of year, and one we'll try to remember as we wait, half frozen, at the bus stop not many weeks from now.

THE PACKSACK

—By GREGORY CLARK

If the fine is $50 in most parts of Canada for throwing trash of any kind from cars on the highways, should it be fine for those who chuck rubbish overboard from skiffs and cruisers into the waterways of our holidayland? I was up over the weekend helping a friend close his cottage, sending pines he has planted around his summer home, over the road for a walk along the wintry beaches which in summer are the beautiful features of the lakes. We were astonished at the rubbish and filth that encrusted the water's edge. We picked up six beer bottles, two whisky bottles, a ketchup bottle, an empty bottle of a lin bottle with the lid screwed on tight, and a dozen and a half tin cans of various sizes. There were scabby splotches of paper that had been cartons or paper plates or wrappings. All this late autumn rubbish was the slow collection of what the wind had found afloat after the tourists had left in September. A friend who had patiently assembled it ashore. It was a shocker.

No doubt the tourist industry, with its spinsterly horror of discommoding the gentle tourist in any way, would object to slapping on a fine of $100 on anybody polluting the waters with trash. But rubbish in the water is far more polluting than rubbish on the highway. It merits a far tougher fine.

Left-Handers Not to Be Changed to Right-Handers

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My question is about a professional ball player. He is one of those mixed-up people who are partially right and partially left-handed. When he was small he could throw a ball with either hand. Neither was dominant and nothing was done to influence him.

At about 8 the left arm became natural in throwing but the ball challenge of our time, he never could bat that way, so he is handicapped by being a "left" thrower and "right" batter.

What, can be done at the age of 19 to correct this? Is it possible after all these "brain dominance" to affect the ability to learn? That is, to be a slow reader yet have outstanding intellectual powers. — T.J.D.

I quarrel with the term "mixed-up people" in this case. Left-handers are no different from right-handers and they aren't mixed up.

Attempts to alter "handedness" must be done very early if at all, and I think the less done about trying to change a left-handed child, the better. He should be allowed to do things in the way that is natural for him. Then he will do them best. Left-handers who, for example, are forced to learn to write with the other hand are usually poor writers and always seems awkward to them.

Except at a very early age (and I even have doubts about that) attempts to alter left-handedness" confuse youngsters, and I feel sure it is well that this young man was let alone.

As to brain dominance having to do with ability to learn — no. That is purely a matter of learning how agilities and liking to read. Whether or the writing goes from left to right or from the left (or even up and down, as in some languages) is of no consequence.

There are some truly ambidextrous people who can do such precise things as thread a needle accurately with either hand. I know an ambidextrous surgeon who sutures with equal facility with either hand. It doesn't bother their learning ability, but they have to being right-handed or left-handed. Or mixed.

No, I'd let the young ball player concentrate on throwing left-handed as well as he possibly can, and batting right-handed ditto. Changing at his age is out of the question.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is a few drops of peppermint oil used in water daily to wash the feet harmful to the skin?

No. In fact daily soaking in such a solution is recommended for those who perspire excessively and for those bothered with foot odor.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: Are plain canned tomatoes fattening? That is, do they contain many calories? — M.M.

A cup of canned tomatoes averages a low 45 calories. This is rather low.

Dear Dr. Molner: Our first child was born mongoloid and died at 3 months. The doctors say we are very concerned about any future children. We are both young and in very good health. If has been very hard for us to understand why this happened to us. — (Name Deleted.)

Of course it is hard for you to accept, but the exact cause is unknown. Mongoloids are immensely more often born to ward the latter years of childbearing, but they can occur earlier. There is no way of guaranteeing that such a birth cannot happen more than once, but there is little reason to assume that it will. Therefore I would try to put the grief behind you and think of having a perfect baby next time.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Molner in care of the Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 250, Dundee, Ill., for your copy of his booklet, "How to Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed, unstamped envelope and 25c in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. The more general questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter-print prices were reported unchanged today.

The egg market opened weak with offerings in excess of a light demand.

Country dealers are quoted by the federal department of agriculture as Canada grade eggs, delivered Toronto, in fibre cases: A large 39-40; A medium 36-37; A small 34; B and C grades no market.

Butter prices: Canada first grade: Ontario tenderwide 54-55; non-tenderable 51½-51¾, in light printing; western 50½ (nominal).

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market sagged slightly during light morning trading today, as all sections showed fractional dips on index.

Among industrials, banks eased, with Montreal, Toronto-Dominion and Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce all down in a ¼ to ⅝ range.

Calgary Power, Investors Syndicate A, Imperial Oil and Shell of Canada all slipped ¼. Moore Corporation dropped one point and Gatineau Power and Atlas Steel ¼ each.

Gainers included Trans-Canada Pipe Line, Aluminium and Bell Telephone, all ahead ¼. Fraser Companies advanced ⅛, and Consumers' Gas, Distillers Seagrams and Consolidated Paper all ¼.

International Minerals and Chemicals showed one of the best rises, gaining 2¼ to 47¾.

On the exchange index, Industrials slipped .29 to 571.62, golds .31 to 86.51, base metals .28 to 186.35 and western oils .21 to 118.02. The 11 a.m. volume was 525,000 shares compared with 752,000 at the same time Thursday.

Among base metals, Falconbridge declined ¼ and International Nickel ⅜. Hudson Bay Mining advanced ¼.

In a quiet western oils group, Home B slipped ¼ and Pacific Petroleum rose ⅛.

The market was irregular Thursday.

Industrials came out of their morning sluggishness to close with an index gain topping three points. Western oils dropped more than a point.

In the main list, Aluminium and Interprovincial Pipe Line both advanced a point. Ontario Steel climbed 1¼ to a 1962 high of 19¼.

Abitibi, Dominion Stores and Fraser Companies all gained ½, while Power Corporation, Steel Company, Shawinigan, Trans-Canada Pipeline and Algoma Steel all rose ¼.

Bread Prices Create Storm In Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—Bread prices created a storm in the Commons Thursday.

James Walker (L—York Centre) asked Prime Minister Diefenbaker what the government plans to do to offset an announced increase in the price of bread.

Mr. Diefenbaker said there are limitations imposed on unjustified price increases by the Combines Act. However, Mr Diefenbaker said, Mr. Walker had not established that the bread price increases are contrary to the anti-combines legislation.

Lionel Chevrier (L—Montreal Laurier) asked Mr. Diefenbaker what he meant by a speech in Magog, Que., during last June's election campaign, in which Mr. Diefenbaker said that fast, efficient and drastic action would be taken against anyone who used defenestration of the dollar as a reason for increasing prices.

Mr. Diefenbaker jumped to his feet to reply, but Speaker Lambert said Mr. Chevrier's question was not in order.

Harold Elliott Cheesemakers' New President

Harold Elliott, owner - operator of the new Foxboro Cheese Factory is the 1963 president of the Central Ontario Cheesemakers' Association.

Mr. Elliott steps up from the role of vice-president to head the cheesemakers' organization which each year stages the British Empire Dairy Show at Belleville.

The cheese show with the Association's annual convention, was concluded last night with cheesemakers and their friends in the dairy industry enjoying a banquet at the Masonic Temple.

Directors of the Association for next year are Claude Reid of Harold, Ivan Sine, Eldorado; Harold Kingston of Harrowsmith, Don Deline of Ivanhoe, Douglas Reid of Consecon and Donald Pollock of Stirling. The immediate past president is Delbert Rowe of Halloway; Mrs. Lillian Matthews of Belleville is secretary - treasurer of the organization.

PROBLEMS DISCUSSED

Convention sessions of the Association were held at the Hotel Quinte while the cheese show which had the largest number of entries in many years, was held in a vacant store at the Belleville Shopping Plaza.

Problems relating to the cheesemaking industry were discussed by special speakers at the Association convention sessions.

Hector Arnold, president of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Marketing Board, reviewed activities of his organization and commented on prospects for continued sale of cheese on the United Kingdom market.

J. L. Baker, director of dairying for the Province of Ontario, told of a recent trip to a world's dairy conference at Copenhagen and said experiments were under way at the agricultural school at Guelph looking into the feasibility of cheese milk producers being paid on a protein and fat basis for milk rather than on a fat basis only.

REASONS FOR MORATORIUM

He said that payment on a protein basis was in vogue in Holland and Denmark where farmers were mostly enthusiastic over the system.

Mr. Baker also touched briefly on the provincial fluid milk picture and the reasons for the government declaring a moratorium on proposed formula price increase to the milk producers.

He said the government action did not mean the formula system of arriving at a price for fluid milk would be thrown out the window.

"All that was done was to rule that the price formula shall remain in force until October, 1963," he said. The reason for this was to allow time for further discussions and deliberations among the various parties concerned.

Many Attend St. Thomas' Loyalty Dinner Held at Masonic Temple

A capacity crowd of happy people, representatives of the Parish of St. Thomas', sat down to a Loyalty Dinner in the Masonic Temple on Wednesday evening. The bountiful meal was lastly prepared and served by Mrs. McKenna and the members of St. Paul's Guild. The singing of the hymn, "Stand Up, Stand Up For Jesus" was followed by a toast to the Queen and the saying of grace by the Rev. D. W. Sinclair.

Due to the unavoidable absence of Mr. F. H. Bellstedt, the evening was in charge of Mr. R. W. G. Freestone, a most capable chairman, who welcomed all church members present and outlined the reason for the dinner. In concluding his remarks he asked the group to recognize the appointment of the Rector as Archdeacon of Ontario. The Rector, the Ven. A. S. McConnell, thanked the large group for their loyalty shown in their attendance at the dinner and thanked Mr. M. F. L. Jones, visitation committee chairman, and all who assisted him in the onerous task of contacting all families in the parish. After the singing of the hymn "The Church's One Foundation", Mr. Jones presented the estimate of expenditures for 1963 asking the parish to accept the responsibility of raising a sum in excess of $46,000 to meet all commitments.

The speaker of the evening, Brig. the Venerable C. G. Hepburn, C.B.E., LL.D. of Ottawa, was introduced by Mr. A. S. Lewis, whose two families had grown up together in the Eastern Township. In an address that was interspersed with many anecdotes and stories that kept a continuous ripple of happy laughter pulling among his listeners, he impressed upon all present the need for loyalty within the Church, using as his theme, the three words, "Worship", "Work", "Witness". He left behind him a deep feeling of spirituality and a love for people that he has always shown in over 50 years in the sacred ministry of the Church.

The thanking of the speaker by Mr. Max Smith, Rector's Warden, and the benediction by the Rector, brought an evening of great Christian Fellowship to a happy end.

Church Is Revolution

By ROY L. SMITH

Somewhere in the little bundle of baggage that Paul carried with him from Troas, over to Philippi, as he launched his first missionary campaign in Europe, there was hidden a revolution.

No one could possibly have anticipated, as the missionary walked up the gangplank to the deck of the little sailing vessel, that with Paul there went a power and an idea that was to change the character of the continent. But that is exactly the way it turned out.

The ancient world was split along a hundred lines, one of the reasons being that there was no free press to carry the news of the world across national boundaries. All nations held all other nations under suspicion. Rumor passed as fact and the slightest threat was exaggerated into something ominous. In addition, there were the rulers, kings, Caesars, and generals, each with his private ambitions to satisfy and his public to gratify.

The Christian Church brought together men of all races and interests, with their varying backgrounds, and made brethren of them.

BRIDGED ECONOMIC GAPS

The first Christian converts were made among the poor, the enslaved, the exploited and the debauched. It was not long, however, before the Gospel was reaching out and touching men and women of wealth, standing and prestige. It sometimes happened that, as the Christians met in the kitchens of the big houses, the lords of the manor slipped into the shadows to listen and eventually to become members of the church.

By the close of the first Christian century there were representatives of all economic groups — lords, nobles, soldiers, slaves — in the membership of the Church, and again and again a servant might have been heard testifying to his faith and instructing his master in matters of redemption. There was something thrilling about the way the Christians met on a common platform.

Not the least democratic of all, was the Christian worship service, when the poorest of the poor were welcome to take their place and testify along side the high born. As a matter of fact, the Church provided the only place in all the Roman Empire where a man might be a man, without fear of retaliation.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for December 2: "THE CHURCH," Matthew 16: 15-17; 18: 15-20; John 17: 20-26; Acts 2: 1-4, 38-47; 1 Corinthians 11: 23- 26; 12: 12-13, 27-31.

About the time the Apostle Paul arrived in the city of Corinth for the first time, to begin his mission, there was a depression on throughout the Middle East, the famine stalked the lands, with hunger, poverty, violence, desperation, and outlawry dictating the conditions of life. The first Christian service was held in a tent-shop, attended by at least two DP's from Rome. The first members of the Church were destitute and impoverished.

Within the space of a very few years, however, these same poor people were gathering up a big collection to be sent to Jerusalem to provide clothing, food, and shelter for their brethren in the faith — people they had never seen, and to whom they owed nothing whatever, according to the moral philosophy of the time.

No people in all that ancient world were more clannish than the Jews, with their ceremony of circumcision identifying them as being a people apart. But under the influence of the Christian Gospel the circumcised and the uncircumcized sat down together and broke bread as brethren. It was the proud boast of the Christian Church that within its bounds there was neither Jew nor Greek — only brethren.

Under the impact of Christian preaching ancient ceremonials gave place to modern services, and haughty rituals surrendered to the new life of the spirit. Converted Pharisees and converted pagans shared the common table together, as worshippers of the one Christ, and as brethren in the one faith.

And all this, and more added up to a revolution. May it never end!

Country Club Built by E. P. Taylor

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—Lyford Cay Country Club, where U.S. President Kennedy, British Prime Minister Macmillan and Canada's Prime Minister Diefenbaker will gather next month for separate talks, was built by E. P. Taylor, wealthy Canadian industrialist.

It is a 4,000-acre ultra-exclusive private membership club and residential resort 15 miles west of Nassau, the Bahamas capital.

Taylor, of Toronto, had the resort built on a remote coral rock finger extending a mile into the Atlantic Ocean from the western tip of New Providence Island.

Kennedy and Macmillan are to hold their talks Dec. 19 and 20, and Diefenbaker and Macmillan are to confer Dec. 21.

The meeting in the Bahamas will be, in most respects, similar to a conference of Prime Ministers St. Laurent and Macmillan in 1957 just after Mr. Macmillan conferred on world affairs with President Eisenhower in Bermuda.

So far, detailed arrangements for Mr. Diefenbaker's flight to the Bahamas are incomplete.

It is unlikely there will be any detailed agenda. World affairs will be discussed in their broad aspects with special attention to such points of friction as Berlin, the Indo-Chinese border, Cuba, and Southeast Asia.

Frankford

FRANKFORD — Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Curry and Mr. and Mrs. Austin Watson attended the 50th wedding anniversary reception of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Johnson, in Bowmanville, last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McDonald and son Garland, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Button, in Demorestville.

Sincere sympathy is extended to Mrs. C. Bowman and family in the loss of a dear husband and father.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Watson, Miss Eloise Latchford and Mr. Glen McLennan spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Sallsbury, at Big Island.

Science at Work

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Topics this week: Elephants and the Antarctic.

DRUNKEN ELEPHANTS

Beware of drunken elephants.

That was the warning tourists received this year from South African information service agents. It seems elephants in Kruger Park were getting drunk on fermented marula berries. They attacked cars.

But that is just a side point. Conservationists in Africa are concerned about the pachyderm, drunk or sober.

An elephant eats a fifth of a ton of vegetation a day, says the National Geographic Society—and after several weeks of feeding a national park looks like a wasteland. In Kenya's Tsavo National Park, census takers recently counted 15,000 elephants in an area that can support only 10,000 with vegetation. The result is a danger that other vegetable-eating animals may not be getting enough to eat.

As if this were not problem enough, the tactless elephant has been trampling crops and chasing people down roads at night in Uganda, besides damaging mahogany trees worth $750 each.

Elephants can do six miles an hour at a fast shuffle, step up to 25 miles an hour when they want to. They can dig out sweet potatoes or crack a coconut without crushing it. They aren't afraid of mice, but mosquitoes can drive them into a frenzy, says the society. They have hides an inch thick, but even a slight frost will give an elephant severe cramps.

Water is no deterrent. An African elephant can walk across a river with only its trunk-tip above water. An Asian elephant has been known to swim 200 miles from island to island in the Bay of Bengal.

CIVILIZED ANTARCTIC

The Antarctic now boasts of two signs of modern civilization that more civilized parts of the world haven't got in their backyards.

First, atomic power plants were installed to provide power.

Now scientists are firing rockets high above the Antarctic ice cap, measuring air temperatures and taking profile looks at the winds that blow over the continent.

The rocket firings send instruments as high as 60 miles as scientists try to find a system of south-bound winds discovered over the Iceap in the winter.

HUGE FORCE READY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States mustered about 450,000 fighting men, thousands of warplanes and hundreds of navy ships to deal with the Communist threat in Cuba, it was disclosed Thursday. Five army paratroop, infantry and tank divisions and parts of two marine divisions were ready to invade Cuba if a decision had been made to go that far. The defence department said.

GREATEST DESERT

North Africa's Sahara Desert is the largest in the world, with its greatest width 3,200 miles and length 1,400 miles.

STOCK MARKET FETE

The stock exchange in Johannesburg, South Africa's gold centre, feted its 75th birthday in October, 1962.

RE-ELECT
GEORGE WISHART
ALDERMAN

Mr. Wishart has served five years on the Belleville City Council. He has lived in the city for 33 years and has recently retired after many years as a research scientist at the Research Institute for Entomology, Dundas St., East.

Before entering council he served on the Belleville Board of Education and the Bay of Quinte District High School Board and was chairman of both these boards. On council he has been chairman of the Welfare Committee, vice chairman of the Public Works Committee and vice chairman of the Personnel Committee, being a member of this committee since its inception. This committee brought order out of chaos in the organization and personnel practices at the city hall. He was chairman, this year, of a committee that revised, brought up to date and consolidated all the city licensing by-laws, the first such consolidation that has taken place.

He has represented the city on the Children's Aid Society, and the Moira River Conservation Authority and at present is vice chairman of both these organizations. He is also a member of the Board of Governors of the Belleville General Hospital. He is a director of the Belleville United Appeal and for twenty years has been on the local executive of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. When the Quinte Skating and Tennis Club was a young and struggling organization he acted as secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Wishart is a member of the Professional Institute but is not connected with any local club or fraternity, nor is he associated with any pressure group. He is in a position to act in an independent manner and does so. He led the opposition to the addition of five per cent to the special levy to cover unpaid taxes. Events have proven that he was right. He opposed the giving of $15,000.00 to the sewer contractor to cover an 'honest mistake' made by the contractor. He has opposed the debenturing of the cost of small projects believing that if these cannot be paid for immediately they should not be done. He has always advocated a realistic rather than a popular tax rate.

Tall Girl Has Clothing Problem

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS—Could you please give me the names of firms catering to the tall woman. Is it possible that there is a mail order catalogue put out in Canada exclusively for tall women?

I am tall and most of my friends are tall and you don't know how awful we feel going around with dresses above our knees. Perhaps if I were twenty years younger I wouldn't mind, but I'm forty and have varicose veins as well.—LONG AND LEAN.

DEAR LONG—Well, here's help. There are no such catalogues, but I am sending you the names of stores which cater to tall girls exclusively. You write in, giving measurements, coloring and favorite shades. Dresses are mailed to you C.O.D. If you don't like them, you mail they back. It's that simple.

DEAR DORIS—I am 14 and fat. Can you please tell me how I can reduce?

I am also quite tall. I'm taller than most of the boys in my room. Whenever I'm around them I act awkward and like a snob. Can you please tell me how to act poised and sure of myself?—ACTING LIKE A SNOB.

DEAR ACTING—A self-addressed envelope with a stamp on it will get you my leaflet on reducing.

You have shot up tall ahead of others your age. Later the boys will catch up and overtake you. Then who'll high-hat whom? Want me to suggest a book about good manners?

DEAR DORIS—Your reply to Puzzled Widow is puzzling, and I wonder if you would care to check the information I have on this subject.

After ten years' residence, with the proviso you mention, one may, at 70, receive Old Age Security, but only after 25 years' residence may one receive it anywhere. If they do not have the latter qualification, I believe they may receive it for six months only, if they are outside of Canada.—F. M.

DEAR F. M.—True. You do need 25 years' residence to receive the Old Age Pension wherever you go. However, if this is merely a trip of some months' duration, you may continue to receive the pension at the discretion of the department, which should be notified ahead of time.

DEAR DORIS—I have a problem. I buy things and my grandmother goes and takes them on her own out of my suitcase. When my brothers go to her bag, she gets real mad and kicks up. If she does not like it, why does she do it to others?

When I am at school and I come back home I find them gone. For example: If I have writing paper, cards, or pens, she would take them.—NEED HELP.

DEAR NEED—Turn about is fair play and Granny owes you the privacy she herself expects. Lock your suitcase or find a drawer with a lock on for your things.

* * *

TO M. C. P.—Thank you for your kind thoughts and your poem. The philosophy is wonderful!

nance in a way which will circumvent the Civil Service Commission," he said.

Mr. Gordon said a Liberal board would be accessible to the public. It would work out solutions to basic problems "in practical terms."

Howard Grafftey, parliamentary secretary to Finance Minister Nowlan, said the Liberals favor "socialistic and bureaucratic controls."

Tom Berger (NDP—Vancouver Burrard) said that "What is required is a full-scale board headed by a cabinet minister and consisting of economists, statisticians and other qualified people spending their time working on blueprints for prosperity and full employment to be submitted to cabinet and Parliament."

Real Caouette, deputy Social Credit leader, seized on the chance for a lecture on Social Credit principles. To him, planning meant equaling purchasing power with production.

ness "to undertake this further and very strenuous effort in the service of his country."

But the works minister, who moved to that portfolio in August from the justice ministry he had headed since the Conservatives came to power in 1957, was credited with other motives by political opponents.

Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson said that in his readiness to assume leadership of a party aiming to unseat Premier Bennett's Social Credit administration in B.C., Mr. Fulton "no doubt is a disappointed man since his (cabinet) demotion."

New Democratic Leader T. C. Douglas, expressing his personal regret that Mr. Fulton may quit Ottawa, described him as one of the government's most able and popular ministers.

"If the political right wing in B.C. is going to exist, it might as well have an able and respectable leader."

In the Commons, Walter Gordon, Liberal MP for Toronto Davenport, wondered whether Mr. Fulton is leaving because of abhorrence for the government's bill setting up an economic development board or because of the "alliance" between the minority Conservative forces and the Social Credit MPs.

Mr. Fulton, in a statement he read to reporters, spoke of his regret at having to decide whether to quit federal politics.

DOESN'T KNOW

In reply to questions, he said he didn't know whether reports were true or false that funds have been subscribed to provide him with an income over the next few years, reported to range between $15,000 and $25,000 a year.

Of his period as a federal minister, Mr. Fulton said he is proudest of the measures of penal reform initiated by him and of the part he played in framing and piloting the Bill of Rights inspired by Mr. Diefenbaker.

Gossips for some time have suggested Mr. Fulton was growing restive in the public works portfolio and that relations were strained with Mr. Diefenbaker, against whom he ran for the Conservative party leadership in 1956 along with Justice Minister Fleming.

Brighton last weekend to begin a one-week period of practice teaching at Union School.

He had been boarding at the home of Mrs. Albert Taylor, a Brighton widow.

Mrs. John Howe, principal of the two-room school for the past ten years, said Bergin already had become popular with the children. "They played rugby with him at noon hours and he took pictures of the children playing today."

She was quoted as saying he was a gentleman in every respect, "a man you would like at first sight."

Mrs. Howe said at the time of his arrest Bergin was observing another teacher at work with Grades 5 and 8, and had been due to take over the class at 3.00 p.m.

Sergeant Lyle walked into the school at 1.45 p.m. and asked to see the young student teacher.

He arrested Bergin without incident and the men walked out of the school-house quietly.

The subdued drone of students at work continued uninterrupted as both men walked to a police cruiser.

SEPARATED FROM WIFE

Thomas Bergin, who works in the baggage department of British Overseas Airways Corporation, was arrested Wednesday at his wife's downtown apartment when he called to see his two children. Police say he is separated from his wife.

Police said a rented car that Thomas Bergin had been driving was full of luggage and had been driven 300 miles during the day. Police surrounded the apartment building and waited two hours for him to arrive.

Earlier, say police, they had notified Scotland Yard to be on the lookout for one of the suspects in Ireland.

Thomas Bergin came from Ireland about six years ago and was followed by his brother.

The November 19 attempted robbery of the Bank of Montreal in Toronto was described by Metro deputy police chief George Elliott, as one of the best planned holdups in the city's history.

After binding the entire bank staff and disarming two police officers sent to the scene after an alarm was sounded, the bandits slipped away without trace.

In the confusion of their escape, police and a teller mistook each other for the robbers and exchanged gunfire.

The bandits did not get any of the $250,000 in cash and an undisclosed amount of securities because they did not wait an extra few minutes for the vault to open automatically. When the manager opened the vault at gunpoint, an alarm was triggered.

Pope Making

The bulletin said the Pope has been suffering stomach trouble which recently has become more accentuated, causing "fairly intense anemia."

But the statement said everything gives hope" the pontiff will be able to resume his activities. "following the cures that have been laid down and are in progress."

His treatment includes medicines and a diet, the bulletin said.

In October, 1961, operating revenues were $60,570,000; expenses, taxes and rents were $61,297,000, and the net operating deficiency was $727,000.

Around The Tee

The women's section of the Quinte Curling Club held a successful seven-year Fifty Spiel on Thursday with Belleville rinks earning the majority of awards. Mrs. Vera Fairman was general chairman of the spiel while Mrs. Helen McCorquodale was in charge of the refreshment committee and L. J. McLean conducted the draw and recorded the scores. The curlers were welcomed by the president of the women's section, Mrs. Patsy Wamboldt, who wished them the best of luck in their draws.

A rink of Mrs. Audrey Bell, Mrs. Connie Chambers, Mrs. Marie Lange, with Mrs. Doreen Jones, won the three games in the first draw while a Belleville rink of Mrs. Theda Miller, Mrs. Helen McCorquodale, Mrs. Kae Pinder with Mrs. Jean Smith as skip, won the three games in the second draw. Two Quinte rinks were high for the two-game awards, one of the ladies being Mrs. Ivan Arena, Mrs. Dolly Diamond, and Louise Johnson with Mrs. Connie Wilkinson as skip, while the second rink was composed of Mrs. Madge Cowley, Mrs. Joan Loder, Mrs. Elaine Hunter with Mrs. Heather White as skip.

In the one-game high were another Quinte rink of Mrs. Wynn Maund, Mrs. Muriel Lanning, Mrs. Agnes Benn, with Mrs. Jane Sheppard as skip, while a Cataraqui rink of Mrs. Kay Wilmott, Mrs. Phyllis Fisher, Mrs. Muriel Cook and Mrs. Grace Saint as skip also won a one-game high count. There were 16 rinks in competition and most of the games were real close and some excellent curling was witnessed by a large gallery. As usual, the men behind the glass tried to play every stone differently from the way the gals played them.

A delicious buffet supper was served.

On Monday last three women each journeyed to Trenton for a Fifty Bonspiel and all of them came home with a prize. A rink skipped by Mrs. Heather White and Mrs. Madge Cowley, Mrs. Jenny Sinetsinger, and Mrs. Eilene Hunter won the two-game high and was only beaten by one point when curling the trophy. Another rink was skipped by Mrs. Mary Mott with Mrs. Agnes Walker, Mrs. Mary Livingston and Mrs. Grace Carruthers.

The prize for one game high was won by a rink of Mrs. Nina Mae Mrs. Dolly Diamond, Mrs. Hazel McKenzie and skipped by Mrs. Connie Wilkinson. The rinks report a most enjoyable time.

to Laos; a brief discussion about disarmament and nuclear test ban negotiations, but no discussion about Berlin. The fact that Mikoyan did not seek to introduce the Berlin issue may indicate a Soviet desire to dampen East-West tensions.

The White House informant stated that no further Mikoyan-Kennedy talks are planned before the Soviet deputy premier departs Saturday.

In contrast to the rather gloomy American description of the talks, Mikoyan emerged in a cheerful mood. He threw up his hands in mocked shock at the size of the huge gathering of reporters and then after ordering his brief statement in Russian on the "final settlement!" decision, added in English: "Thank you, good-bye."

sands of Indian troops from Pakistan's borders to the endangered northeast.

Duncan Sandys, British Commonwealth relations secretary, took the lead in arranging the negotiations when he flew from New Delhi to Rawalpindi, the Pakistani capital, on Tuesday. Averell Harriman, U.S. assistant secretary of state, brought word to Sandys from New Delhi to Rawalpindo of Nehru's readiness to talk.

Sandys, Harriman and Ayub Khan sketched the announcement of the negotiations at Ayub Khan's dinner table Wednesday night. Sandys flew to New Delhi with it at 5 a.m. Thursday for Nehru's approval.

The announcement said ministers of the two governments would negotiate first and Nehru and Ayub Khan would meet "at the appropriate stage." No date was announced for the start of the talks.

In their talks with Ayub Khan, Harriman and Sandys drove home the point that India and Pakistan as neighbors on the Indian sub-continent share a common peril from Chinese aggression.

Satellites Hold First Place In House Loop

The YMCA's Youth Basketball House League has again resumed activity following the secondary school examinations of the past two weeks. The doubleheader last Wednesday evening in the "Y" gym saw the league-leading Satellites maintain their hold on first place with a narrow 50-48 win over the hard-tiring Steelers, who have been holding down the cellar spot.

Dave Anderson and George Pugh, with a dozen points each, led the Stealer assault on the league leaders with an assist from Jim Hurst with 11 points. At the halfway marker their inspired effort had resulted in a 27-27 tie. In the second half, however, the Satellites managed to sink two more foul shots than their eager opponents to win the game 50-48.

Ron Walsh led the Satellites' scoring with 16 points, while Murray Swan turned in a 15-point effort.

The second tilt of the night saw the Globetrotters run away from the Celtics by a score of 75-46 to break their team's tie for the league's second place honors.

Wally Clare paced the Trotters with a 27-point effort, followed by teammate Rick Graham with 22 points. The scoring for the Irish was led by Roger Ling with 19 points, while Martin Walsh came with ten points for the next best scoring effort for the Celtics.

The league's individual scoring honors passed to Murray Swan of the Satellites who has now totalled 106 points. Close behind him is Celtic Terry McCabe, who missed this past game, with 100 points. Next are Rick Graham (92) and Wally Clare (88) of the Globetrotters and Ron Walsh (87) of the Satellites.

Recreation Highlights

B. JARVAH,
Assistant Director

Floats, music, clowns, bands, horses, over 100 walking personnel, and the Jolly Old man in red himself all add up to the 1962 edition of the Belleville Santa Claus Parade.

Each year the statement is made that "this year's parade" will be bigger and better than ever", and each year the Belleville Santa Claus Parade bears out this statement. This year there are more bands, new floats, and walking personnel than ever before and it can be said that this year's parade will be the "Biggest and Best that Belleville has ever seen."

The success of this years parade however, is due only to the hard work of many hundreds of people and years of experience from other parades on which to base future plans.

Belleville's first parade was held in 1953 with only one float presenting itself. This was a large trailer on which was mounted a large red cutter and in which rode Jolly old St. Nick. It was after this initial success with the children that the idea of a full-scale parade was initiated.

In 1954, the fire department, under chief Gerald Vance, sponsored the first regular Santa Claus parade. Parade marshal for this parade and every parade since was Mr. Harry Abbott. There were about fourteen floats in this year's parade.

each year since the number has steadily increased until now, when there will be over 30 floats in this years parade.

And, if the number of floats is to increase, so must everything else. This year will also see some 14 bands in the parade. Here enthusiasts will also be happy to hear that there will be about 16 separate horses with riders along with two tandem teams of horses from Madoc.

Last year, candy was distributed to the children along the route and this year will be no exception. Over 15,000 bars of candy will be distributed along with bags of potato chips.

Each year new floats and new ideas are seen, and a few of can only be appreciated by watching the children's faces, as "the fantasy land on wheels" moves by.

VOTE DAVID FOR CONTINUED SOUND PROGRESS

Belleville, Ontario
November 30, 1962.

Dear Fellow Citizens:

Twenty-two years ago, my family and I chose to make Belleville our home. In all these years we have never regretted that decision. We like the climate, the geography, but most of all we like the people, without whose confidence and friendship we could not have achieved the modest measure of success in business which was possible.

Recently I had the opportunity of disposing of my business interest in David's Electric Ltd., and I would like to take this opportunity to say "Thank You" very, very sincerely. Of course my interest in our fair city is not diminished and now that I have more time, I can think of no better way of showing my appreciation than to offer myself as a Candidate for Alderman.

In all modesty, and for the benefit of newcomers, permit me to list a few of the areas in which I have served in the past so that you may be better informed as to my experience and capacity.

I was a member of the Board of Education for several years. Helped organize and served as representative on the Bay of Quinte High School Board for 4 years, which position I resigned to City Council 1954-55.

I was director for several years and a Past President of Belleville Chamber of Commerce. As the first Chairman of the local Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, I was involved in the formation of Belleville's United Appeal, and last year served as Campaign Chairman.

Have been a member of the Rotary Club of Belleville for more than 21 years, and presently am Vice-Chairman of the Crippled Children's Committee.

I sincerely trust that everyone of you who has a vote will exercise that privilege on December 3rd, and include me in your approved list.

Respectfully Submitted

Weddings

CARR — TURNER

A quiet, but very pretty wedding was solemnized recently at Bridge Street United Church parsonage, Belleville, when the Rev. Harry M. Davis, pastor of the church, united in marriage, Valerie Evelyn Jean Turner, of Belleville, daughter of Mrs. Robert Brownlee, of Belleville, and Mr. S. S. Turner, also of Belleville, daughter of Mrs. Robert Brownlee, of Belleville, and Mr. S. S. Turner, also of Belleville, daughter of Mrs. Robert Brownlee, of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Carr, of Maynooth, Ontario.

The bride was lovely in her white, nylon waltz-length gown over taffeta featuring a chantilly lace bodice with long, lily-point sleeves. She wore a Juliette cap headdress studded with seed pearls and rose scalloped elbow-length veil and carried a shower bouquet of red and white roses mingled with fern and tied with white satin streamers. A single strand of pearls with matching earrings completed her ensemble.

She was attended by Miss Carole Woods, of Belleville, who was gowned in pink waltz length nylon over taffeta fashioned with full skirt and fitted bodice. She wore a matching headdress and accessories, with corsage of pink and white roses.

Mr. William Carr, of Belleville, attended his brother as groomsman.

The reception was held in the L.O.L. hall, Church Street, Belleville, which was prettily decorated for the occasion with pink and white streamers and white wedding bells.

The bride's table was appointed with white damask linen and centred by a three-tier wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom beneath an arch of seed pearls and lace with two white doves holding wedding rings. The base was surrounded by lot white tulle and pink carnations. Tall pink candles in crystal holders and the bridal bouquets completed the nuptial setting.

The guests were received by the bride's mother, wearing a two-piece green ensemble with tan accessories, and corsage of yellow carnations. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, attired also in a two-piece navy ensemble, with black accessories, and corsage of red and white carnations.

For the wedding trip to local points, the bride wore a three-piece turquoise and white suit with black accessories, and a corsage of white roses.

The happy couple are residing at 23-A Charlotte Street, Belleville.

Guests were present from Crookston, Toronto, Maynooth, Cobourg, Weston and Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Carr are shown following their marriage in Bridge Street United Church parsonage, Belleville. The bride is the former Miss Valerie Evelyn Jean Turner, daughter of Mrs. Robert Brownlee, of Belleville, and Mr. S. S. Turner, also of Belleville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Carr, of Maynooth, Ontario.

The bride, previous to her marriage, was entertained at a shower given by Miss Carole Woods at a presentation of linen, from the bride's fellow employees at G. Lanning Limited. The bridegroom was also presented with a purse of money from his fellow employees of the Northern Electric, and also of an electric fry pan.

Australia, Land 'Down Under', Graphically Portrayed at BCI

"Australia," the world's smallest continent and largest island, tenth in the World Travelogue Adventure Series, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Belleville, was admirably presented to a capacity audience last evening at the Collegiate auditorium by Nicol Smith, noted traveller, photographer, and narrator. From arriving at Sydney, Australia's largest city, to the close of the travelogue, the picture story of the land 'down under' was enthralling.

This continent, discovered a little more than 350 years ago, is a land of striking contrasts; its interior a vast arid desert, while on the southwest and southeast agriculture is enjoyed with wheat being grown in quantities. Sheep and cattle ranches extend for thousands of miles. The animals, cows and sheep are of excellent breeds. One of the merino rams shown was valued at $7,000, a beautiful animal. The wool from the merinos is of fine quality, and among Australia's chiefest exports.

INDUSTRIES

Other industries include mining of gold at Kalgoorlie, copper, tin and Zinc in Tasmania, where limestone is used extensively, with steel at Port Kembla where approximately 25,000 are employed.

The fauna of Australia is remarkable, and includes the kangeroo, which is almost a pest, as are the over-abundance of rabbits because they are grass eaters, which is needed for the cattle and sheep. The kangeroo reaches a height of six feet, is swift on foot. Its hide is used for making several articles including whip lashes, because of its great strength. Another remarkable animal is the platypus, which has a bill like a duck, and is at home both on land and in the water. The ant eater is another land mammal and the emu. Others include the koala bear which lives on the leaves of the eucalyptus tree.

At Sydney scenes of skyscrapers were shown; the harbor, and the longest single span bridges in the world and the Royal Sydney Show — one of the world's best agriculture shows, where 9,000 domestic animals were valued at six million dollars. Australia's beef is has the highest standard in the world, and the largest cattle ranch extends for 11,000 square miles.

Other pictures included the lifeguard saving feats in the thundering surf; the boat races among the mountainous waves; sometimes these special $1,000 boats are broken in two when this happens, the villagers donate to buy another for the town.

LACES WATER

Australia's great problem is water, and sufficient water; but the Snowy Mountain Hydro Electric is slowly overcoming this handicap.

Many other places were visited, including Melbourne, with its finely planned buildings; its exciting horse races; the Ayer's Rock, the largest single rock in the world, hundreds of miles inland; which glowed in the setting sun like a huge golden monument; the hunting of the water buffalo, whose flesh is exported in the form of canned dog and cat food.

In the vast interior the aborigines live. These are a distinct race, not Negroid as their hair is straight, not kinky, they can endure great pain with equanimity, and are being taught in open air schools.

CORAL FORMATIONS

Under water scenes were most interesting showing the beautiful coral formations; the giant clams, one weighing as much as 3 to 400 pounds, but the most fearful clam for swimmers is that weighing 80 pounds. This clam catches the victim's foot between its valves, and so drowns its captive.

The houses of Australia are not all thatched huts, but many resembling mansions, with equally lovely interiors, especially those owned by millionaires.

At the Gold Coast, beautifully colored parrots were seen, with gleaming feathers of sapphire blue, scarlet and yellow. Those in the enclosure were quite tame, often alighting on the spectators' head.

All in all a most enjoyable and memorable journey to the land "down under."

RECITES POEMS

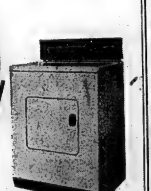
ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Polley said a man held up a beauty salon Thursday night, recited poetry for 15 minutes, and left with $1.35. Three women customers and the woman salon manager collected the $1.35 among them. "You've been so good about this," the intruder told them, "that I'm going to recite some poetry."

Club Activities

MESSENGERS

RAWDON — Twenty-three members of the Messengers gathered at Mount Pleasant Rawdon Church hall on Sunday morning. The two adult assistants were in charge.

Mrs. Clarence Scott synopsized the last chapter of junior round-up for the senior group. Mrs. James Hoard outlined another chapter of "Timmy's Team" and the service opened with a sing-song. Readings were given by Gordon Spencer, Joan Jeffs and Gordon Hoard. Musical selections were given by Carolyn Merrick and Lorraine Jeffs.



The worship portion opened with a hymn and Larry Jeffs read the meditation story. The offering was gathered by Donna Knight and the service closed with prayer.

Readers' Friday Column

by Mary Moore

QUESTION: I would appreciate it very much if you could send me the recipe for the following: Sweet Potato Pie. I would like the real old Southern recipe. I do not want the sweet potato pie with marshmallows. I prefer the one more like pumpkin. Also the old-fashioned caramel cake and Pilau—made from pork back bone and rice . . . Mrs. S. L.

ANSWER:

SOUTHERN SWEET POTATO PIE

4 medium sweet potatoes baked
1 cup brown sugar
¼ cup butter
1 teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon salt
3 eggs, yolks and whites separated
1 cup cream or evaporated milk

Split potatoes, scrape tender hot pulp from skins and mix in bowl with brown sugar, butter, nutmeg, cinnamon, ginger and salt. Beat until perfectly smooth. Add the slightly beaten egg yolks and cream or evaporated milk to the potato mixture and blend well. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into unbaked pie shell. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 1 hour, or until centre is set when tested with a knife.

FRIDAY

Dinner Menu

Steamed Salmon; Lemon Butter; Green Beans; Parsley Carrots with Mayonnaise (see Thursday); Cheese Buns (see Tuesday); Canned Pears; Ginger Snaps; Coffee.

PORK PILAF (Pilau)
(serves 6)

1½ cups rice
6 tablespoons butter or margarine
1¼ teaspoons curry powder
2¼ teaspoons salt
3 cups broth from cooking pork
1 to 2 cups cooked lean pork

Cook the rice in the butter until straw-colored. Use a heavy pan for this and stir as it cooks. Stir in the curry. Add salt, broth and cut up pork. Mix well. Bring to a boil, cover and cook over low heat until the rice is tender and all the broth has been absorbed, about 15 minutes.

BURNT SUGAR CAKE

Caramelize the Sugar: In a heavy frying pan stir constantly over high heat 1 cup granulated sugar until it is melted and a rich golden brown. Remove from heat and add, stirring constantly, slowly and at arm's length (for this foams and sputters madly for a moment) ½ cup boiling water. Stir to dissolve lumps. Pour ¼ cup of caramel liquid into measuring cup and add cold water to make 1 cup liquid (Use remainder of caramel for frosting—see below).

Now make the cake:

½ cup soft shortening
1 1-3 cups granulated sugar
3 eggs
2½ cups sifted cake flour
2½ teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup diluted caramel liquid (see above).

Cream together until light and fluffy the shortening and granulated sugar. Add eggs one at a time while beating until all is very light. Sift together the sifted cake flour and baking powder and salt. Add sifted dry ingredients in 1-3 portions alternately with the diluted caramel liquid. Do not overbeat — but fold until batter is smooth. Line bottoms of 2 layer cake tins (8½ x 1¼") with buttered wax paper, and butter sides of pan. Pour in batter. (When this cake bakes it rises to tops and nearly overflows pans. If desired, bake a little portion of batter in a cup cake or use larger layer cake tins.) Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 35 minutes. Remove from oven, turn out on cake racks, remove paper and cool. Frost tops and sides with Caramel Frosting: Add 3 or 6 tablespoons butter to the remaining ½ cup caramel liquid and beat in 3 cups sifted icing sugar and 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Spread between layers and on sides and top of cake. I sprinkled top with chopped salted unblanched almonds.

Medical Soc. W. A. Hears Medicare Talk

The November meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Hastings and Prince Edward Medical Society was held at Mrs. D. Horne's home, Stanley Park Drive.

Mrs. A. Rota and Mrs. J. Nellis gave a report on their recent trip to Toronto to attend the work shop of the Women's Auxiliary to the Ontario Medical Association.

—A report from the fashion show committee was given by Mrs. Rota. The Charity Fashion Show will be held February 27, 1963, at B.C.I.

—It was agreed to send $50. to both Trenton and Belleville Retarded Children's Society this month.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. Horne introduced the guest speaker—Dr. J. Byrne of Trenton, who discussed in a general way the approach of the medical profession to the provision and prepayment of medical services in Ontario.

Dr. Byrne felt it fair to say that the key to the opinion of the medical profession is the retention of the essential basic freedoms which are the foundation of a democratic society. For the patient this means freedom of choice of family doctor, of consultants of hospitals, of insurance plans and all the other things connected to medical care. For the doctor this means freedom of choice of location, type of practice, of the right to participate or not in any insurance plan and of primary importance to patients, the right to treat them as he feels they require and prescribe such drugs and other measures of therapy in consultation with the patient, without being bound by rules and regulations established for reasons other than the welfare of the patient.

Dr. Byrne hastened to say there is a place for government in health care of communicable diseases where authority vested in government is required. A responsibility in looking after unfortunate members of the society. A third area is in the provision of equipment which is either so costly or required in such few centres as to make it impossible to be provided by local citizens. A fourth area is assistance with construction of hospitals of various kinds. A fifth area is in the field of education. A sixth area is research. A seventh area in which government has assumed responsibility is in the treatment of long term conditions such as tuberculosis and mental illness.

Mrs. D. MacDonald thanked Dr. Byrne for his interesting and informative address.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by several members of the auxiliary.

'Lines on Life'

By Dr. Stuart E. Rosenberg

The sun and the wind struggled with each other to see which could get the man's coat off.

The wind blew first and failed for the man clutched the coat all the tighter. Then the sun shone hotly, and was declared the victor. The man took his coat off.

There's a truth here that can help change the lives of many. For everyone troubled by reserve, arrogance, pride or perfectionism should practise "the sunshine method."

Experimenters have shown that infants respond to smiling affection with a spontaneous glow of love. By nature, then, we've got all it takes to be sunny and happy. But as we go through life we sometimes learn bad habits that make us windier and more blustery than we were meant to be. We blow when we should glow. We howl when we should smile. We take ourselves seriously when we should be laughing at our foibles.

And it is simpler to be happy and well-adjusted than we think. Look in the mirror.

LEARN TO SMILE

If people don't warm up to you easily, it may be because you've forgotten how to smile. Unknown to you, they may be frightened by the impression of your expression.

A smiling face rarely fails to penetrate even the coldest, tiniest hearts. Inbuilt radiant heat is the best social antifreeze available.

Nobody wants more trouble than he's got. His own are enough of a burden. So don't walk around as if the weight of your life must be shared by all who look on your face.

The sunshine method helps all growing things, humans included, to blossom and bring forth their ripened fruit. Many a man can open up new horizons in his life, by tending in his morbid, sorrowful face for a sunny new look.

SPEAKING OF MANNERS

BY PATRICIA LEWIS

MAIL CALL

QUESTION, A short time ago you wrote that a woman dining in a restaurant with a man should give her order to her escort, instead of telling the waiter directly what she wants. Suppose the woman is puzzled about an item on the menu and would like some information about its preparation. May she ask the waiter, or should she ask her escort and let him do the questioning? — H.B. Greenwich, Conn.

ANSWER: A woman may ask her escort to inquire about the ingredients of a certain dish but after he asks the initial question she may speak directly to the waiter and ask for any additional information she might require.

QUESTION: I've been invited to attend an informal dinner dance, but I'm not sure how I should dress. Would you kindly advise me? — E.C.D., Trenton, N.J.

ANSWER: A simple cocktail dress in dressy fabric — such as silk, crepe, taffeta or one of the fashionable double-knit wools — would be appropriate.

QUESTION: My six-year-old daughter was heartbroken at her birthday party because she came out first in two of the games and couldn't collect a prize. My sister, who was present, pointed out that the hostess never accepts first place, and that the prize should be given to the guest who came out second. I compiled at the time, but would appreciate any ideas you may have on the subject for future reference. — Mrs. H.A., Danbury, Conn.

ANSWER: If you want to split hairs, technically, the hostess should defer to her guests and, if she wins, decline the prize in favor of the second-placer. But, as we all know, young children don't split hairs very graciously at times, so I've always made it a practice to have extra prizes on hand to give to a winning son or daughter as well as to the runners-up. This makes everyone happy, and I think it's far better to relax the rules of etiquette on such an occasion than to penalize a child for winning, just because he happens to be the host.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Mr. W.C. — She'll break his heart if she doesn't get him a dog.

Mrs. C.J. — I'll be a complete wreck if I do get him one.

* * *

Mr. W.C. — My sister has been stalling on getting her 8-year-old son a dog. She makes every excuse in the book. Now she's telling him to wait till his 9th birthday in two months. Secretly she's been telling me she'll never get him one and will spend the intervening time trying to talk Charley out of the idea. Her husband and she feel the same way about it — no dog.

But I watch Charley when he's over at our house. He clings to our cocker spaniel and keeps talking of when he gets his own, what fun he'll have. He's a lonely kid with only a baby sister around. A dog is just what he needs.

Mrs. C.J. — I've been wrestling with this problem a long time and I want to do what's right. I spoke to a veterinarian and he warned me that when you give a child a dog, it's really the mother's dog! She must be prepared to take the major care of the pet. And the trouble is I don't want a dog. As a child I was bitten by one, and I've always kept away from them.

I've even discussed this with a psychological counsellor. She says I must be honest. I can't pretend to like the dog, because that will harm me, and my resentment will come out on Charley and the dog.

The only solution is to let Charley play with other people's dogs.

* * *

The Council: Mrs. J. is the brave one here. To come right out and say you're anti-dog is tantamount to being anti-mother, anti-flag, anti-church — an unpopular heretic. But her honesty clears the air.

The job now is to see whether she can be cured of her phobia or whether Charley can be satisfied with other people's dogs.

We agree with the counsellor that a delay is advisable while Mrs. J. probes her block against "man's best friend." Meanwhile Charley may become popular among dog-owners (especially other mothers) for his welcoming arms and untiring, dog-walking legs!.

Of course, that's no substitute for his own. But to do a good job for his own and on his own, he may have to wait until he grows up and has his own home.

Under his parents' roof he needs a dog-loving, not merely a dog-tolerating mother. She loves her son. Can she also love the frisky creature who gives her son companionship, fun, responsibility and adoration?

It's true that it may be better for Mrs. J. to be a "bad" mother at this point and deny Charley the pet, than to be a "good" mother on the surface and take in the animal, hoping something happens to it (as many do!). These "good" mothers often don't admit their hostility, but they can't help taking it out on the child and on the dog in many ways.

The uncle, Mr. C. can do no more than continue to share his own pet with Charley, and try to drum up a few other steps where the boy can bring his Friendly Dog Visiting Service, rain or shine.

The Redpersville W. I. held its monthly meeting on Nov. 22, at 8.15 p.m. with 20 present, at the school. The hostess was Mrs. Robert Townsend. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Mac Wallbridge, the first vice, Mrs. C. Vanclief, took charge.

The amount for the auction sale held at the last meeting was $5.75. As Miss Eadie is retiring the Institute members voted $5 for her gift.

Two resolutions were discussed for delegates to vote on at the Area Convention. Tickets are being sold on costume jewellery.

The Area Convention is to be held on December 4th and 5th at Club Canard with Mrs. Clarence Vanclief as the delegate. The Christmas meeting will be held on December 20, at Mrs. George Roblin's.

The topic for the evening was "Health," with Mrs. Cecil McFaul giving a paper on the topic.

What to buy? Where to shop?
Buzzes through our poor heads.

And Dad just confused,

Dad rose with a clatter.
Mother, surprised, said,
"What is the matter?"

The light from the lamp
Lit the floor up below,

An ad in the paper that made it all clear.

More Than Meets the Eye In Training a Majorette

By PATRICIA BUSAK

TORONTO (CP)—The perfect line and precision of a majorette corps marching down a football field may look effortless. But take it from an expert—it's not.

Mrs. Audrey Wells, who believes she was Canada's first majorette when she started in 1928, says there's a lot more to majorette work than marching and twirling a baton.

She now directs Canada's Dancing Majorettes and the 50 girls in her corps, aged 13 to 25, have discovered it's not easy. Before these girls even marched or lifted a baton they went through weeks of rigorous exercises aimed at strengthening their muscles and developing a good figure and posture.

"So those looking for easy glamor are usually short-lived," she says.

In addition to stretching, kicking and limbering exercises, the girls practise some basic ballet techniques that help develop smooth, graceful movement.

When the girls first come to learn baton twirling, many can not even sit up straight on the floor for three minutes without becoming tired. With a couple of weeks of training, however, they can exercise for more than half an hour without feeling tired, Mrs. Wells explained.

The exercises which the girls learn are valuable to them all their lives. After all, who wouldn't want to have good posture, walk gracefully and have a good figure!

Once the girls can handle the basic exercises, they learn a few basic twirls and struts. "In a larger group, twirling isn't as important as strutting," Mrs. Wells says.

There are several military or marching struts, dance, swing, jazz and blues struts. And the talents of "those in the corps who have studied ballet, jazz, tap dancing or acrobatics can all be utilized in majorette work."

Working in a group, a girl is either a corps member, the corps leader or the solo twirler. But whatever she is, she must relate everything she does to the rest of the group. "It is this co-ordination which takes hours of practise and loads of patience."

Each girl must perfect the size of her steps, the positions of her head, arms and baton and must also memorize all the steps in every routine.

While striving for perfection, often under wild conditions such as wind, rain, muddy fields or snow, the girls develop a real spirit of togetherness and their striving carries over into other aspects of their lives, Mrs. Wells says.

With all her girls, majorette work is just a hobby and "their only reward is the satisfaction of a job well done." Some of the girls in the corps are teachers, nurses and secretaries, and many are still high school students.

For the last few weeks, the girls have been practising for their performances at half-time during the Grey Cup game Dec. 1. Canada's Dancing Majorettes have done football shows for the past five years as well as participate in the Dominion Day pageant. They also do shows at homes for the aged.

Senator McCutcheon Gets Huge Job of Streamlining Federal Administration

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator Wallace McCutcheon, who used to be noted for perking up big business corporations, has been handed the job of streamlining the biggest of them all: the federal government.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker told the Commons Thursday that the cabinet has decided to adopt most of the proposals of the Glassco royal commission government organization. These amount to a general overhaul of the complex federal system to cut away much of the red tape.

The royal commission has completed two of its five reports. So far it has proposed revolutionary ideas which it says will put government on a business-like basis and save tens of millions of dollars a year. It has also cited graphic examples of waste.

Mr. Diefenbaker announced that Senator McCutcheon, 56, who joined the cabinet three months ago as minister without portfolio, will direct the management operation. Senator McCutcheon used to manage the huge industrial empire of E. P. Taylor.

Liberal spokesman Walter Gordon (Toronto Davenport) noted that in his former job the senator "usually corrected situations by effecting a change in management."

HAS STARTED

The prime minister said the government already started work on some of the Glassco proposals.

But there was no decision yet on two major recommendations which involve watering down the control powers held by the Civil Service Commission and Treasury Board.

The Glassco report said the civil service commission should be reduced to hiring junior staff, freeing departments to do their own senior staff recruiting, like private corporations.

Treasury Board should no longer be bogged down in the clogging detail of scrutinizing each and every item of proposed spending. Departments would then be given more control over their own spending, following long-range guideposts laid down by Treasury Board.

Mr. Diefenbaker said these ideas will be considered when the commission has completed all its reports, expected by February.

A round of political sabre-rattling erupted when opposition spokesmen rose to comment.

Mr. Gordon said the Liberals "have been shocked, as I am sure the public has been shocked, by the evidence of waste, extravagance and inefficiency which has been reported by this commission."

"Oh, oh! When did it start?" a Conservative back-bencher called out.

David Lewis (NDP — York South) warned that the Glassco suggestions should not be seized "willy-nilly." A Commons committee should be set up to study the report.

In outlining the government's reaction to the Glassco proposals, Mr. Diefenbaker said he backs the philosophy of the report has been generally accepted. Later, Mr. Lewis interpreted this philosophy as being that "the public service should be run like big business," something he was against.

The royal commission, which has been at work for more than two years, is headed by J. Grant Glassco, Toronto accountant and business executive.

Leonard Velleman, superintendent of home for mentally retarded infants at Plainfield, and Fire Chief Gerald Vance, inspect one of two 15,000 gallon water tankes to be installed for fire protection at the home.

Mr. Velleman and Chief Vance look into big excavation being prepared to install water storage tanks underground. Crane truck will be used to swing 15,000 gallon tanks onto specially formed concrete bases.

Another Drug Linked With Deformed Babies

LONDON (Reuters)—A leading British doctor has warned that yet another drug—Ancolo-xin—has been linked with the birth of deformed children.

Dr. George Watson says in an article in the British Medical Journal that 13 women who had taken the drug gave birth to malformed babies.

The manufacturers of Ancoloxin, the British Drug Houses Limited, rejected the report by Watson, director of the epidemic observation unit of the College of General Practitioners.

The firm said "We can only regret the needless distress which must inevitably be produced by the report which has appeared."

Ancoloxin, taken for anti-sickness, was introduced in 1955, and, according to the manufacturer, more than 40,000,000 tablets have been placed on the market.

Watson told reporters his report was not definite proof against the drug, only suspicion.

CNR President Denies No French-Speaking Men Occupying Senior Positions

MONTREAL (CP) — Donald Gordon, president of Canadian National Railways, said Thursday that French-speaking officers occupy senior ranks in administrative, technical and professional positions in the company. He said the facts are on record before the parliamentary committee which examines CNR affairs.

In his prepared statement, Mr. Gordon said the proportion of French-speaking personnel in the "upper - middle and senior management® ranks" in the CNR system was more than 13 per cent.

He said the figure was established without counting "those of other than French origin who are bilingual."

Mr. Gordon's statement was made following some demonstrations in Quebec protesting against remarks attributed to him when he appeared before the Commons railway committee Nov. 20.

FOREIGN REVERSE TREND

He was reported then as saying French-Canadians have not reached the CNR's upper echelons because of a shortage of qualified applicants and as forecasting the trend would be reversed in the next few years. He was quoted as saying that "as long as I'm president, there is not going to be an automatic use of a man because he is a French-Canadian."

His statement Thursday said: "Recent comment in the press, radio and television appears to be creating an impression in the mind of the public that does a great injustice to the French - speaking officers and employees of Canadian National Railways. There is a completely false implication that French - speaking Canadians do not hold senior positions and that our people are not competent. I wish to say emphatically that any such statements and insinuations are wrong."

The statement said a list of positions had been supplied on request to the parliamentary committee and included those of general counsel, regional general manager, area manager, manager of industrial development, manager of real estate, manager of public relations, operations manager, area comptroller, senior operational research analyst, chief mechanical engineer, general passenger sales manager, superintendent of telecommunications as well as others.

AMONG SENIOR OFFICERS

"The authority and responsibility associated with these positions rank them amongst the senior officers of the company," the statement said. "For example, the general manager, St. Lawrence region, has primary responsibility for operating expenditures in excess of $100,000 annually."

The statement went on:

"To cast doubt upon the competence and ability of these French - Canadian officers on upon the important role they are playing in the company's activities does a great disservice to them and the organization as a whole. Nothing in what I have ever said, short of deliberate and malicious distortion, can be used in support of such a proposition."

"Many of the position held by French - speaking Canadians in Canadian National railways outrank it-terms of salary, authority and responsibility, and status some of those listed on the first page of the 1961 annual report—which list does not reflect the relative importance of the positions in our new form of organization. This we will attempt to do in the 1962 annual report."

In conclusion, Mr. Gordon denied "most emphatically" a Canadian Press dispatch Wednesday from Quebec in which he was reported to have said at Ottawa Nov. 20 that there were no French - Canadians qualified to hold high administrative posts with the railway.

Hydro Workers Now Receiving Retroactive Pay

TORONTO (CP)—An 11-month retroactive pay raise is being distributed to 2,500 Ontario Hydro Electric Commission construction employees with the signing of an agreement between Hydro and the Labatt Construction Council representing 23 construction unions.

The agreement — which expires Jan. 31, 1963—provides for a general wage increase of five cents an hour, retroactive to Feb. 1, 1962.

Negotiations were held up pending the outcome of the dispute between Hydro and the National Union of Public Service Employees (CLC) which bargains for 9,000 Hydro employees.

The issues in dispute were eventually settled by arbitration imposed by government under legislation which prohibited the unions from striking.

Viciousness of Youthful Criminal Said Appalling

TORONTO (CP)—George B. McClellan, deputy commissioner of the RCMP, said Thursday that the viciousness of the youthful criminal is appalling and shocks even hardened policemen.

"Quite frankly, it frightens me," he told an Empire Club luncheon.

"The young criminal is not satisfied to rob, he said. "He is only satisfied if he has inflicted pain or injury on his victim.

"He moves in a pack or gang. He lurks in dark streets and his victims are women, old men, the weak, the helpless, and he cannot deviate who is in no position to complain."

Mr. McClellan said it is a disturbing indictment on our time that more than 50 per cent of people between 16 and 24 and almost 40 per cent of the seven to 15 group who appeared in court in 1960 faced criminal charges "rather than less serious offences.

The deputy commissioner blamed parental delinquency and offered rules for parents to ensure their children become responsible:

To ensure the child has no respect for the parent, squabble in front of children, preferably with a little name-calling;

To create contempt for authority, ridicule and berate the principal or teacher in front of the child.

To convince the child that stealing is justified—if you can get away with it, cheat on income tax and be sure to brag to the family how smart you are;

To convince the child the world owes him a living, never give him chores;

And, don't have rules for obedience, always to refer to police as "cumb cops," never check up on youngsters, and never try to learn anything about their friends.

"Practise these procedures during the impressionable years," Mr. McClellan said, "and you can be reasonably certain you will have raised a child who will be a problem to his school, his friends, the police and eventually to his parents."

Conservatives Praise Plan of Medical Care

TORONTO (CP)—A Progressive Conservative member of the legislature told the House Thursday that the Ontario government's plan for introducing medical health insurance legislation would "avoid the unpleasant situation that arose in Saskatchewan."

Jack Harris (PC—Toronto Beaches) said, in moving acceptance of the speech from the throne, that he welcomed the proposal made in the government-prepared throne speech that a committee be appointed to examine the medical health insurance bill before it would be made effective.

"In view of the fact that 65 per cent of our population is presently covered by private insurers," Mr. Harris said, "the extension of this form of insurance is in my view the logical and efficient means of providing universal coverage."

SUGGESTS COMMITTEE

Ellis P. Morningstar (PC—Wentworth) suggested in seconding the acceptance of the throne speech that a select committee be set up to study the social effects of automation in industry.

Referring to a portion of the throne speech which said the government would study the need for a minimum wage in some areas of Ontario industry, Mr. Morningstar said "the time is ripe for such a consideration."

"A minimum wage would contribute to the stability of the economic structure of this province," he said.

Mr. Morningstar said an example of what he called disturbing intrusion of U.S. capital and control in Canada is the fact that there is nowhere in the world a distinctive Canadian-made car."

He said Sweden, a country with less than half Canada's population, produces and exports two makes of automobiles.

"But much Canadian industry is controlled by U.S. companies and American capital. As a result we have copy cars only and we are required to import many of the parts to go into these cars and trucks assembled here."

Claims Socreds Can Do Without Deputy Leader

SMITHS FALLS, Ont. (CP)—William I. Hunter, president of the Leeds constituency Social Credit Association, said Thursday his party can do without a deputy national leader.

The 41-year-old industrial caterer said in a telephone interview that he considers the retention of Real Caouette as party deputy leader a high cost to pay for party unity.

He added, however, that this was a personal opinion and not an organized movement to have Mr. Caouette replaced.

(Mr. Hunter was reported to have told a meeting last week-end that there is a "movement" within the party to "get rid" of Mr. Caouette.)

A native of Haileybury, Ont., and resident in this Rideau Lakes district since 1946, Mr. Hunter was the defeated Social Credit candidate in the June 18 election in the eastern Ontario riding of Leeds.

QUESTIONS CONDUCT

Mr. Hunter said he questions the conduct and the position of Mr. Caouette. His view was that National Leader Robert Thompson was the party's spokesman, "but Mr. Caouette thinks of himself as leader."

Mr. Caouette was entitled to his own opinions but when he made these public in state meetings people tended to interpret them as Social Credit policy.

"People as a result become afraid of Social Credit because they have doubts as to what exactly it is," he said.

"If Mr. Caouette was just an individual MP, people would say he is wrong and let him go at that. But being deputy leader, he has a responsibility to the party ahead of himself. We really don't need a deputy leader at all."

HIS OWN IDEAS ONLY

In Ottawa, Mr. Thompson said there had been no communication between him and Mr. Hunter in connection with this matter. He added that the Smiths Falls caterer had "done this on his own entirely."

However, he did think it would have been wiser for Mr. Hunter, if he wished to raise the question of the deputy leadership, to have pursued it through regular channels—50-odd executives at either some.

St. Laurent Honored by Heart Society

QUEBEC (CP) — Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, only living former prime minister of Canada, Thursday night was given the Canadian Heart Foundation's highest award for his work as its president during the last two years.

The 80-year-old statesman was awarded the Gairdner Medal.

The citation says it is given "in recognition of meritorious service in stimulating clinical research or in the field of humanitarian endeavor."

Delegates were stunned when Dr. J. B. Armstrong of Toronto, executive director of the foundation, collapsed. Surrounded by heart specialists, he was taken to his room and was resting comfortably later.

Spokesmen said it was not a heart attack. The collapse apparently was a result of overwork in connection with the convention.

Three Suspects Captured After Bank Holdup

QUEBEC (CP) — Two bank holdups were staged in the Quebec City area Thursday.

Three men armed with submachine guns held up a branch of the Bank of Montreal in Quebec City and took an estimated $10,000. Police captured three suspects several minutes later.

The second holdup took place in a Banque Canadienne Nationale branch. A lone bandit armed with a revolver escaped with $4,000.

Charges Against Food Director Are Dismissed

BRANTFORD (CP) — Two charges placed under the Food and Drug Act against Dr. Orland C. Raymond, 38, suspended director of food control and sanitation for Brant County, were dismissed by Judge R. W. Reville Thursday.

The charges — conspiring to commit an indictable offence by selling meat from a dead animal and by unlawfully selling as food meat from a dead animal — were brought against Dr. Raymond and Charles Thomson, 52, a Brantford butcher.

Thomson's case was adjourned May 3, 1963, when the court learned he is mentally and physically unfit to stand trial following a stroke, which damaged his brain.

Dr. Raymond pleaded not guilty to both charges and his attorney, W. R. Poole of London, introduced a motion of non-suit on the grounds that Crown evidence was hearsay and circumstantial.

Evidence showed that two RCMP officers, posing as undercover agents, had approached Thomson to secure meat from dead animals and Dr. Raymond for the purpose of getting it stamped so they could sell it in Windsor and Detroit.

In dismissing the charges Judge Reville said he was satisfied that no offence had been established to show that Dr. Raymond knew the meat he stamped came from a dead animal.

Storage Tanks for Fire Protection Built at Home

Built-in water storage as an added fire protection is being provided at the Ontario home for mentally Retarded Infants at Plainfield.

Two mammoth storage tanks with a total capacity of 30,000 gallons are being buried underground adjacent to the infants' hospital buildings. The excavation and concrete bases for the two big tanks are already in readiness, and the tanks are on the grounds waiting for a crane to swing them into place.

Cost of the project is $12,000 and according to Fire Chief Gerald Vance of Belleville, the water storage will prove a valuable fire protection for the nearby infants' home property. Five pumpers would be able to pump water at maximum capacity from the big underground tanks for a sufficient time to quell any expected emergency.

Mr. Leonard Velleman, infants' home manager, said that heavy water requirements for the home would be drawn daily from the tanks, which in turn will be replenished by pumping from a nearby drilled well.

WILL USE WATER

Constant usage from the tanks will prevent the stored water becoming stagnant and large quantities will be available for pumpers in any fire fighting emergency.

The Infants' hospital has a current patient list of 56 mentally handicapped children. There is a staff of 45 persons working on a three-shift basis.

The new water storage tanks currently being installed are the initial stage of a construction program which will see a new hospital built. When the new building is completed, the present structures will be used for staff accommodation and all nursing personnel will live in.

His seasonal record was 27 Leonard Bryant of the Gilead says Bryant will fill out the varsity high scoring line.

Leon is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Brown coach Jim Fullerton goals and 31 assists while the team was piling up a mark of 14 won and three lost.

Nova Scotia Likely Place To Study Plight of Negro

By IRA DRYSDALE

HALIFAX (CP) — Gravely and thoughtfully, the grey-haired Negro spokesman of his people and their future.

"I want to say something to help—not something that's going to hurt," said Ralph B. Jones, a church deacon and retired dockyard worker. "All I don't want to rehash our problems here. That's like warming old soup."

Reports and recommendations on the Nova Scotia Negro and his problems had come thick and fast in the preceding few weeks.

One proposal was that Africville, the almost entirely Negro community in Halifax, should be levelled and rebuilt.

There was also a decision by the provincial government to set up a committee on human rights with the implementation of the lot of the Nova Scotia Negro as one of its prime concerns.

Sitting in his spotlessly clean and comfortably furnished Africville home, Mr. Jones said he preferred not to discuss the community that has long been known as a settlement without paved streets or public water and sewage facilities.

FAITH OF NEGRO

He did comment on the human rights committee, however, saying:

"If the government lives up to what it says it will do, there's nothing to hinder the Negro bettering himself. . . I have faith in the Negro."

Of the 13,000 Negroes — half Canada's Negro population and the result of three successive waves of immigration from the United States since the late 1700s—Nova Scotia is a likely place to study the problems they face. And Halifax, home of 1,750, including 300 to 400 in Africville, is perhaps perhaps the highest proportion of Negroes of any major Canadian city.

A sampling of comments from Negroes in various fields here indicates that discrimination still exists but that there has been some improvement in recent years. The most common complaint seems to be of Negroes being turned down in their search for a place to live.

Buddy Daye, 32 - year - old featherweight boxer and fireman at the Halifax Mental Hospital, says that five months of hunting for a house or apartment with three bedrooms to rent he tried 221 listings unsuccessfully.

Some of the refusals, he says, were because he has children but most owners indicated they "don't rent to colored people." Two places he could have rented cost $150 and $160 a month but he considered this too much.

MUST FIGHT HARDER

Percy Paris, a Negro from New Glasgow, N.S., who used to be a boxer and now trains fighters here, says he tells his charges they must be prepared to fight harder than their white opponents. They "take three rounds because of their color," he says.

He, Mr. Daye and a group of Negro boxers agreed, however, that there seems to be no discrimination in the way crowds support them in their fights.

Rev. W. P. Oliver, 50-year-old Negro clergyman who recently gave up his city church and became a full-time field worker with the provincial government's adult education division, says too much has been said about the poorer side of the Negro community.

He suggests more emphasis should be placed on how the Negro has succeeded in improving himself. "He has been pulling himself up by the bootstraps."

At the same time, Mr. Oliver said, outside help will be needed if there is to be further significant improvement, and he said the government announcement of a human rights committee "recognizes the problem."

He described as a step in the right direction a report on Halifax Negroes by Dalhousie University institute of public affairs. Dealing with housing, education and job opportunities, it said there is a kind of segregation and added that if the Negro is to improve his lot he must have help from outside his numbers.

WANTS LEGISLATION

George Davis, a Halifax lawyer, says there is no discrimination in education in Halifax. He says there has been a definite improvement in the availability of jobs for Negroes but "with all these things we have racial discrimination in Halifax."

He would like to see Nova Scotia adopt legislation to prevent private home owners from discriminating against Negroes seeking housing.

Most of Halifax's Negroes live in two areas—Africville, where there are few whites, and a midtown area including Maynard and Creighton Streets where Negroes and whites live side by side.

A redevelopment program undertaken by the city a few years ago has produced new apartment buildings with residents of both races.

But while some homes in most parts of the city have been condemned in recent years, Africville has escaped. It may be next, though.

A report adopted by city council recommended that the "blighted housing and dilapidated structures in the Africville area should be removed; that the full legal authority of the city should be used to accomplish this removal; that the use of legal, ubsority should be tempered with understanding and natural justice on matters of housing and matters of compensation for the apparent owners of land and buildings within the Africville area."

Mayor Frederick Hayes said Mayor John E. Lloyd, is to "improve and better the conditions of the Negro." There was "no other purpose."

BUILDINGS THREATENED

HYDERABAD, Pakistan (AP) — Police guards were posted at the U.S. information centre and British consular buildings here Wednesday after threats that they would be bombed. The director of the U.S. centre said two persons telephoned the threats in protest against U.S. and British arms aid to India in the Chinese border crisis.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Gather around the graveside, men, and shed a tear for the dear departed Bombers of Winnipeg.

Never in the history of the historic Grey Cup pewterware have so many "obituaries" been written, aired, muttered and groaned before the "corpse" has shuffled off this mortal football coil. If it does.

This "Caesar," the noblest Roman of them all as far as the west is concerned (Calgary excluded) has been pronounced dead long before the daggers of the conspirators, led by Brutus Trimble get in their nefarious work. If they do.

Loyal Toronto, the "westernmost" bastion of the Canadian Football League east, motivated no doubt by "if you can't beat 'em, join 'em" has its experts shouting from the hotel tops predicting the dire fate of the invaders from Winnipeg.

Beside the freshly covered grave of the late lamented Argonauts yawns another gaping hole. The corpse is ready, but it doesn't know it. It will not fall over until, as the blaring predictors announce, it is befuddled by the charging Goliaths of the Jungle juggernaut.

In Hamilton it is understandable. The hillmen from the mosquitoless ravines, forty miles Nother side of the battle amphitheatre, will pour down the slopes waving battle flags of yellow and black.

In Toronto their gravel-throated "Oskewawas, Eat 'Em Raw" will probably drown out the loyal Western chants of "Hold That Tiger."

Prediction-wise the Blue Bombers are dead and buried. The last riots—oops—rites, are being withheld until somewhere around 3.30 tomorrow afternoon. Memorial services are scheduled for the Royal York, King Edward, and other noted Toronto inns, as well as streets, byways, highways, homes, hovels and other battle-grounds.

Eastern blood being thicker than national (and that's stretching the truth television-wise) football league water, Montreal fandom, although still smarting over the Tiger treatment of its beloved Larks, is pulling for the Tigers to inter the Bombers.

Apart from the Tiger-admitted superiority of the Jungleclaws troops, and most eastern experts concur, the big reason for the foretold demolition of the western champions is the "happy healthy condition" of the Cats as opposed to the injury-riddled corps of Bombers.

And as Alouettes coach Perry Moss brought into the open the other day, the Tiger Top Cat Trimble is not averse to using a certain form of strategic skullduggery.

But Jungle Jim makes no bones of the fact that he will hurl his shock troops at the enemy's points of least resistance. In other words the ready-for-hospital walking wounded of the Bombers will be the prime targets of the Tiger front-line bulldozers—and let the bones crack where they may.

However, the Bombers' Bud Grant is not exactly moronic when it comes to strategy. Wouldn't it be passing strange—and this perhaps is wishful thinking —if the wound-whipped Bombers nose-cones suddenly developed healthy warheads. Or it could be prime husky substitutes or a last-second switch in lineup.

At least that is what my favorite bank receptionist hopes. She has forgiven the Yankees and Montreal Canadiens for spoiling her former sports classics for her and believes the Bombers will pull an upset. No woman, she says, can be wrong three times in a row. Sports-wise, that is.

Leafs, Canadiens Tie 4-4 ★★★★★

Hawks, Blues Shut Out Bruins, Wings

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal's Claude Provost says his shoulder injury is still giving him a lot of trouble.

But returning Thursday night after a three-game absence with a shoulder separation, the right-winger scored the third-period goal that gave Canadiens a 4-4 tie with Toronto Maple Leafs.

"Just before I scored, I fell and crashed into the boards," he said after the game. "When I got up, I was shaking with the pain. I went to skate off.

"But suddenly Donnie (linemate Donnie Marshall) put the puck on my stick in front of the net, and I banged it in off the goalpost with a quick backhand."

CAPS OUTBURST

Provost's goal capped a Montreal outburst of three goals in the first three minutes and two seconds of the last period, wiping out Leafs' 4-1 lead.

The fifth-place New York Rangers blanked the Red Wings 5-0 in Detroit as Aimer right-winger Andy Bathgate scored a goal for New York to set a club scoring record with 239 goals in regular-season play.

In Boston, Chicago Black Hawks whitewashed the last-place Bruins 5-0 to give goalie Glenn Hall his third shutout of the season.

The games left the Wings and the Hawks tied for first place with 26 points each, although Detroit had two games in hand. Toronto and Montreal are tied for third place, each with 22 points. Rangers have 18 and Bruins 10.

Frank Mahovlich scored two of the Toronto goals, all of which came in the second period. The other was Leaf goals were scored by Ron Stewart and Eddie Shack.

WIPE OUT LEAD

Canadiens took a 1-0 lead in the first period on a high, close-in drive by centre Henri Richard. Third-period goals by Montreal's Bernie Geoffrion, Gilles Tremblay and Provost wiped out the Leaf lead with 17 minutes left to play. Neither team could score from there on.

The goals by Mahovlich and Tremblay put them into a tie for the most goals in the league with 11 each.

Bathgate's goal and two assists in the Rangers' victory moved him into a tie in the league scoring race with Detroit centre Alex Delvecchio. Bathgate has eight goals and 14 assists, while Delvecchio has six goals and 16 assists—the league high.

Rangers' centre Camille Henry scored twice and Baldgate, centre Jean Ratelle and Andy Hebenton added singles.

SCORES TWO GOALS

Centre Stan Mikita scored his seventh and eighth goals of the year for Chicago, and added an assist. He is tied with linemate Ab McDonald for fourth spot in the scoring race with 20 points, two less than Bathgate and Delvecchio and one behind Geoffrion.

Bobby Hull, last year's leading goal-scorer with a record-smashing 50, scored for Hawks late in the first period. Mikita, Ron Murphy and defenceman Elmer Vasko scored in the second.

Mikita scored the only goal of the third period.

Hall now is tied with Sawchuk for the league lead in shutouts with three.

In the next NHL action, Chicago visits Montreal Saturday night and Boston Bruins play in Toronto.

Syracuse Whips Omaha 5-1

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (CP)—The last-place Syracuse Braves of the Eastern Professional Hockey League whipped the International league - leading Omaha Knights 5-1 Thursday in an interlocking game here.

The teams traded second-period goals after a scoreless first period and then the Braves scored four times in the final 20 minutes.

The victory was only the third for Syracuse this season and left the Braves with nine points, nine fewer than third-place Sudbury Wolves in the EPHL standings.

Murray Hall, Phil Esposito, Mike Marcetta, Red Ouimet and Duke Harris scored the Syracuse goals. Mauril Morin netted the lone Omaha scorer. He scored at 15:20 of the second, five minutes after Hall had given the Braves a 1-0 lead.

Syracuse goaltender Roger Crozier had little to do during the game, making only 16 saves. Glen Ramsey, the Omaha netminder, made 26 stops.

NEW YORK (AP) — Navy's pre-football game psychological warfare took a new turn today when the brigade of midshipmen ran a full-page "beat Army" advertisement in the New York Times.

The ad, which cost $3,500, was paid for through contributions from the Navy students.

The Army-Navy game, won the last three years by Navy, takes place in Philadelphia Saturday.

THEIR 19TH FINAL

Since 1910, one year after the Grey Cup was donated, Hamilton teams have been in the final 16 times. They have won nine of the games and lost seven.

Winnipeg teams have been in the final 17 times since the West first challenged in 1921, winning six and losing 11.

This year will be the 35th time since that year that the West and East have met in the final. In seven of the 41 years there was no western challenger. In the previous 34 East-West games the East has won 24 times and the West 10 times. The West first won in 1935—when Winnipeg beat Hamilton 18-15—and in the eight years since 1954 has won six times.

HAMILTON (CP) — Ralph Sazio and Joe Restic, the able assistants of Hamilton head coach Jim Trimble, joined the Tiger-Cats' boss today in an attempt to call the shot on the outcome of Saturday's Grey Cup game.

Even Len Back, manager of the Hamilton club for 34 years, got into the act which is sort of tradition with Trimble since he correctly predicted the 37-3 victory of the Tiger-Cats in the 1957 Grey Cup game.

That was the last year the Tiger-Cats won the East-West final. They now are meeting the Winnipeg Blue Bombers after losing three straight—33-28 in 1958, 21-7 in 1959 and 21-14 last year in the first over-time game in Grey Cup history.

"One dozen for them and two dozen for us," Trimble said in predicting a 24-13 victory.

"There will be a couple of touchdowns by us and some field goals and singles in our other scoring devices," he added.

PREDICTS 31-22 WIN

Sazio, in his 10th year as the Tigats' line coach, forecast a 31-22 Hamilton win.

Restic, offensive backfield and end coach at Colgate University for three seasons before he joined Hamilton this year, went with a score of 27-16.

Back, 62, called Hamilton to win 34-11. "I want at least one more Grey Cup win before I bow out of football," he added.

Score Was 4-2

Tigers Nip Athletics

KITCHENER (CP) — Kitchener-Waterloo Tigers took advantage of penalties to Woodstock Thursday night to register a 4-2 victory over the Athletics in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior game here.

The loss kept Woodstock from moving into undisputed possession of first place in the league standings. They now are tied with Windsor Bulldogs for top spot with 18 points. Kitchener-Waterloo is in fifth place with 15 points.

Woodstock was short-handed for all four Tiger goals, and the Tigers' power-play line of Bill Kennedy, Don Duke and Bob Forhan figured in all of them.

Duke had a goal and an assist, Forhan a goal and two assists and Kennedy three assists. Other Tiger marksmen were Les Angott and Bob Robinson, both forwards playing the point on the power play.

Woodstock goals went to forwards Bernie Lawrence and Gerry Theberge.

The teams battled to a 1-1 tie through the first period but the Tigers moved into a 3-1 lead by the end of the second.

Woodstock picked up seven of 16 minor penalties called in the fast, free-wheeling game. Tigers outshot the Athletics 35-31.

TWO GOLDS FOR CANADA

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

PERTH, Australia (CP) — World champion Mary Stewart of Vancouver became the first Canadian woman to win a gold medal at the British Empire Games in 36 years when she flashed today to a brilliant victory in the 110 - yard butterfly swim.

The pony - tailed 18 - year-old gave Canada its second Gold medal of the games in swimming and a Canadian boxer, Harold Mann of Prince George, B.C., added the third today by winning the middleweight title.

Miss Stewart beat Mary Jane Cotterill of England by about seven feet and she was coasting near the finish. She finished in one minute, 10.1 seconds, just 1-10th of a second slower than the Games record she set in a heat.

AHEAD FROM START

Miss Stewart also holds the world record of 1:08.0, established at Vancouver in 1961.

She established the lead from the first splash in the race and never was headed.

Hot upset was Phyllis Dewar of Vancouver was gold medals in the 100-yard and 400-yard freestyle at the 1954 games in London has a Canadian woman won a gold medal is swimming. Both races were at shorter distances than they are in the present-day competition.

Miss Stewart today joined Dick Pound of Montreal in the top - honors list of swimming Pound took the gold medal in the 110-yard freestyle earlier in the games.

Steve Rabinovitch of Montreal took the third-place bronze in the men's 110 - yard breaststroke.

This gave the Canadian swimmers and divers a total of two gold, five silver and six bronze —by far the best showing Canadians have ever made at the poolside in the seven B. E. Games.

England's Anita Lonsbrough established herself as the best all-round swimmer with three individual gold medals. She won her third today in the 440-yard medley. Her time of 5:38.6 automatically became a Games record since the event is new to the Games. Miss Lonsbrough, 21, collected her other gold medal in the 110-yard and 220-yard breaststroke.

Sara Barber of Brantford, and Mary Stewart originally planned to enter the event but dropped out before the final.

Murray Rose of Australia, the aspiring TV actor, captured the gruelling 1,650-yard freestyle in a Games record time of 17 minutes, 18.1 seconds, and his margin was 60 yards—more than a pool length.

Rose's time slashed 27.3 seconds off the Games mark of John Konrad of Australia but was 7.1 seconds slower than Konrad's world time.

Australians made it a 1-2-3 finish. Bob Windle was second and Allan Wood third. They were clocked in 17:44.5 and 17:53.5 respectively. Rose finished nearly four minutes ahead of the last man.

TAKES BACKSTROKE

Graham Sykes of England won the 110-yard men's backstroke swim to take the gold medal for the event.

Australia's Julian Carroll was second and Wayne Vincent of Australia third to win the silver and bronze medals.

Sykes finished in one minute, 4.5 seconds, well behind the Games record time of 1:01.7 set by Aussie John Monckton in 1958.

Jack Kelso of Ocean Falls, B.C., was scratched in heats of the event.

Everybody Gets Into Act

Corsets, Tape Brace Bomber Wounded

By GRAHAM COX

TORONTO (CP) — Nearly everybody worked out Thursday for Winnipeg Blue Bombers in preparation for the Grey Cup game against Hamilton Tiger Cats, but some of them weren't working hard.

Defensive end Herb Gray, fullback Roger Hagberg and defensive tackle Roger Savoie went for a run while the others went through plays. They spent Wednesday at their hotel recuperating from injuries.

"They were moving around out there," said line coach Frank Michels after the practice. "But then a man in a wheelchair can move around.

"They ran for a bit and then stood and watched. I hope we have enough backs."

Charlie Shepard was working with a hip-to-thie corset bracing his wrenched back while Hagberg and Gray, with severely sprained ankles, were trotting with tape from instep to calf.

'REST TILL SATURDAY'

"I ran for a bit, but was getting tired," said Gray, "so I think I'll rest till Saturday."

Savoie with a strained rib cartilage, is bound to the armpits.

The team will be without corner linebacker Gordie Rowland, while linebacker Ghers GAr Warren and Dave Burkholder nurse a severely swollen knee and a huge thigh bruise respectively.

Probable lineup changes for the game Saturday will have Rick Potter working in Rowland's corner spot and Jack Delveaux either either Burkholder or Warren as the need demands.

Grant also has fullback-place-kicker Gerry James in reserve in case either Shepard or Hagberg is unable to play.

EXPECT FAST GAME

Both coaches, Hamilton's Jim Trimble and Winnipeg's Bud Grant expect a wide-open 60 minutes with warm weather. It was 54 degrees Thursday.

The record temperature for a Grey Cup game was 60 degrees in 1922.

The Dominion weather office said this could be eclipsed if the general trend continues through Saturday.

This would mean a dry, fast field ideal for either passing or running.

Joe Zuger and Frank Cosentino passed Hamilton to their two-game playoff victory over Montreal Alouettes in the East and Winnipeg's Kenny Ploen as a passing record in the Western Conference, completing 65.8 per cent of his passes during the regular season.

Score Was 10-5

Kingston Whips Picton

PICTON (Special) — King- mis conduct to Guy White, in ston Frontenacs added another victory to their first place total in the Ontario Hockey Junior League here last night by belting the Picton Merchants 10-5. The win was Kingston's fifth in as many games.

Picton matched the Frontenacs goal for goal for a while but couldn't keep up the pace as the loop-leaders held a 4-2-35 lead in the first.

It was 4-3 for Kingston at the end of the first and 9-5 after twenty minutes of play.

Defenceman Eddy Long once again fattened his scoring record against the Merchants. He scored three goals against Picton in Kingston a week ago and bagged another trio last night, adding one assist.

Another defenceman, Gar field Ball, contributed two goals and one helper. Gary Lavallee had a goal and three assists and Bob Rawson one and two. Chipping in with a goal and assist each were Pete Robertson and Ron Bryant while Ron Reid had one goal and Ron Earl four assists.

George Salzsbury spearheaded the Picton attack with three goals and one assist. Carl Stacey rapped home one go and assisted on three others while "Dusty" Dalton also scored. Don McNeill had two helpers, Bob Brown and Larry Pero one apiece.

Kingston drew ten of the game's 18 penalties, including

Minor Leagues Reorganized

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (CP)—The International Baseball League and the Pacific Coast League absorbed the American Association Thursday and became two 10-club leagues in the most sweeping reorganization of the minors in baseball history.

The American Association, a pillar of the minors since 1902, yielded Dallas - Fort Worth, Oklahoma City and Denver to the Pacific Coast. Little Rock, which had replaced Louisville after the 1962 season, and Indianapolis moved into the reluctant International League, which finally agreed to press for the majors.

Under the terms of a far-reaching new deal for the minors adopted Thursday, the majors will underwrite at least 100 minor league clubs in three classifications — Triple A, Double A, and Class A.

The expanded Pacific Coast League and International account for the 10 Triple A clubs as planned. Each big league club, except Washington, has at least one farm club in either of the Triple A leagues. Milwaukee has two—Toronto in the International and Denver in the PCL.

ROME (Reuters)—The Italian Chamber of Deputies Thursday night passed a decree setting up a commission of inquiry into the Mafia, Sicily's dreaded secret society. Interior Minister Emilo Tavani told the chamber the Mafia must be wiped out in modern Sicily.

Major Baseball Agrees

Only One All-Star Game

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league baseball players and club-owners agreed Thursday to return to one all-star game a season and it was learned this year's game would be played at Minneapolis July 9.

The return to one game, rumored since during the 1962 World Series, was sealed when the club owners agreed that in the future the players' pension fund will receive 95 per cent of all receipts, including radio and television receipts, from the game, an increase of 35 per cent.

Commissioner Ford Frick said under the old 60-40 split, the club owners allocated all but five per cent of their 40 per cent for the minor league aid fund. This fund was abolished earlier Thursday under a minor league reorganization plan adopted in Rochester.

Name Three To Football Hall of Fame

By JIM PEACOCK

TORONTO (CP)—Two men who cut a wide swath in a bygone football era and a late football executive have become the first members of the Canadian Football League's Football Hall of Fame.

They are Brian Timmis of Hamilton, Joe Breen of Montreal and the late D. Wes Brown of Ottawa.

Their selection to the Football Hall of Fame, being established in permanent quarters to be opened within three or four weeks in Hamilton, was announced here Friday by CFL President Jake Gaudaur of Hamilton.

Gaudaur announced at the same time that a 10-man committee has been named to handle future selections to the lineup of all-time Canadian football greats who have contributed to the success of the game in Canada since 1900.

Timmis and Breen were stars of an era that began before the First World War, and both starred in the limelight until the mid-1920s, playing on different teams.

BEGAN IN OTTAWA

Timmis, now 62 but still showing evidence of the physical build that helped make him one of the best middle wings in the Canadian game from 1919 until 1924, began his career in Ottawa.

Breen, now 65, played as a halfback from 1914 until 1923, then turned his hand to coaching and wound up his football career as a referee in the Eastern Big Four League.

Brown, who died recently after a lengthy illness, was secretary - treasurer of Ottawa Rough Riders for more than 25 years and held the same position in the Big Four from 1941 until he retired because of illness two years ago. He was also a director of the Ottawa club.

The three men were elected to the Hall of Fame by an eight - man committee established by the CFL. The committee is not allowed to name any of its members to the Hall, so Timmis and Breen were made members of the select group and later members of the selection committee.

Other selection committee members are Canadian Football Commissioner Sydney Halter, Winnipeg; Carl Slocomb, a past-president of the Canadian Rugby Union, Winnipeg; Maurice Chilton, vice-president of the CRU, Sarnia, Ont.; Harry McBrien, secretary of the CRU, Toronto; and newspaper men Hal Pawson, Edmonton Journal; Scotty Melville, Regina Leader-Post; Jim Vipond, Toronto Globe and Mail; and Bill Westwick, Ottawa Journal.

The home of the Football Hall of Fame will be in a stately old house next door to Hamilton's football stadium until $100,000 is raised to build a new permanent building for it.

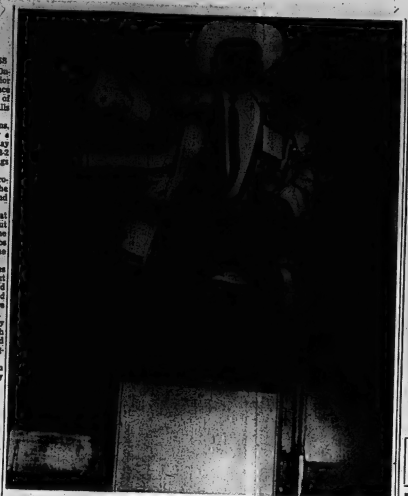
Americans Being Shown Cup Final

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's national football classic — the Grey Cup final — is going to the United States Saturday on television.

The Canadian Football League president, John Gaudaur, estimates the audience at potentially between 25,000,000 and 30,000,000 persons.



Gaudaur and other CFL executives who helped convince the ABC-TV network in the U.S. that it should carry the game in its 181 stations are hoping this will help Canadian teams recruit U.S. players.

"One of the things we've had to contend with," he said, "is the fear by U.S. players that they might lose recognition that they'd get in the U.S. through national television coverage there."

The CFL is also hopeful that this telecast will lead to regular showing in the U.S. of Canadian League games. This would assist Canadian teams financially through sale of rights for such broadcast.

North Shore Hockey League

Hibbard - Callow Combines tightened their grip on first place in the Prince Edward North Shore Hockey League last night with a 5-3 win over Belch Construction.

In the other game, Stinson Construction topped the Rossmore Merchants 6-2 for the club's initial victory of the season.

Belch's grabbed a 2-1 lead in the first period against Hibbard-Callow but the loop-leaders were in front 3-2 at the end of the second in a roughly-played game.

Larry Westfall sparked the Combines, who now own a 4-0 record, with two goals and one assist. Jack Calnan had a goal and two helpers, Ab Wright one and one and Wally Istead the other goal. Ron Davis scored two Belch goals and Ralph Boomhower one.

Stinson and Rossmore scored a goal apiece in the first and third periods but Stinson got the nod with four unanswered markers in the middle heat.

Don Adams, Benny Brown, Arnold Weatherall and Bill Genereaux each had a goal and assist for the Construction crew. Larry Potter and Everett Doxtator also scored. B. Durrant and R. Thompson potted Rossmore markers.

Empire Games Commandant Clears Name

Harry Jerome Was Injured, Did Not Quit

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

PERTH, Australia (CP) — Charles Wayland, commandant of the Canadian Team at the British Empire Games, said today "it is essential that the true facts" about Harry Jerome's return to Canada be clearly stated — that the Vancouver sprinter was hurt and did not quit.

"Otherwise a great and perhaps irreparable damage could be done to the reputation of a great international track and field star," he said.

Wayland issued a statement expressing official Canadian disappointment over "certain reports concerning the reason for Jerome's return to Canada."

Jerome, joint holder of the world record of 9.2 seconds for the 100-yard dash, finished last in Saturday's dash final, won by Seraphino Antao of Kenya.

After the race, Jerome said he had no excuses but it later was disclosed that he hurt his left leg at the hallway mark.

During a stop at Sydney Tuesday on his way home, he said he had ruptured a thigh muscle. "Halfway through the race I felt as if I'd hit a hole in my lane and bang! I was finished!"

Some newspaper men said Jerome had thrown the race when he saw he could not beat Antao.

INJURY APPARENT

Wayland said "it was apparent before the finish of the 100 yards that Jerome was in physical trouble."

"Jerome received special massage treatment and it was believed he would be fit to race in the 220 yards heats on Monday.

"On Monday morning we became seriously concerned about the condition of Jerome's left leg a few inches above the knee.

"The village doctor decided to call in two of Perth's leading orthopedic surgeons, who examined Jerome and later issued a written medical report that Jerome had ruptured his rectus fenioris muscle which required immediate reparative surgery."

Sir Arthur Porritt, president of the British Empire Games Federation and one of England's leading surgeons, also examined Jerome and concurred with earlier medical reports, the statement said.

Wayland continued:

"We then discussed with Jerome the question of an immediate operation but he was determined to return to Vancouver Monday night to have the operation performed close to his family."

COACH DIES

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Veteran baseball coach Ralph (Red) Kress, 55, who appeared to be in good health when he took a physical checkup only a week ago, died of a heart seizure Wednesday night at his home in suburban Canoga Park. Kress spent a dozen seasons in the major leagues as a player and first coached in 1940, at Detroit.

HOME FROM GAMES—Back in Vancouver after failure in British Empire Games 100-yard dash at Perth, Canadian sprinter Henry Jerome presented wife Wendy with toy koala bear. Jerome, who faces surgery on injured leg, says he fears loss of at least of a year of track career as result of injury. (CP Wirephoto).

Hurricanes Hold Cup Banquet

TORONTO (CP)—Said Jake Gaudaur:

"This whole thing was organized as a remembrance of the seven guys on the team who lost their lives in defence of freedom."

Gaudaur, president of the Canadian Football League and president and general manager of Hamilton Tiger-Cats, was speaking Thursday night as the "snap" of the 1942 RCAF Hurricanes, a gang of air force members who won the Grey Cup football crown in 1942—just 20 years ago.

He spoke to a crowd that included 22 of the men associated with that Toronto team. Fifteen team members later went overseas in the Second World War and seven were lost in action.

Bill Stukus, quarterback for Toronto Argonauts in the 1937 and 1938 Grey Cup games prior to the Hurricane victory in 1942 and again in 1947 after the hostilities were over, came from Edmonton to participate.

Joey Richman of Montreal, later to become the track coach for the Canadian team in the 1952 Olympic Games; Jack Alexander, now a London, Ont., then a corporal and now a Toronto school teacher—these were among the many at the reunion.

Art West, Don Durno, Art Evans and Johnny Murray—the latter now is deputy chief of police in Toronto — were the Hurricanes who organized the reunion.

Saturday they'll all see the Tiger-Cats and Blue Bombers in the Grey Cup and doubtless make comparisons with the 20 years ago.

Lew Wasserman Is Never Seen at Big Parties

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The leading show business' largest of film czar Eric Johnston's honors and achievements runs 31 lines in the encyclopedic Motion Picture Almanac.

This contrasts with another entry, reprinted in its entirety: "Wasserman, Lew: President, Music Corporation of America, headquarters, Beverly Hills, Calif."

An agent's mantle for anonymity remains with Wasserman though he has shifted from talent agency to command of a vast entertainment empire with its base in Universal City. He is never seen at big parties. He declines to be photographed. His public pronouncements are rare.

He is a rangy man with a well-combed shock of graying black hair, a prodigious worker he begins his day at 6 a.m., talking on the telephone to New York. How much time does he spend at his office?

It amounts to 10-13 hours, and the paper work goes home with him. Weekends are often spent in Palm Springs looking at movies—"you can never see all the film you need to in this business."

WORKED WAY UP

Wasserman is 49. He worked his way up through the rough and tumble business of peddling talent and at 33 was handed the reins of MCA by founder Jules Stein. Wasserman led the firm into television filming, then helped MCA run through anti-trust obstacles to the goal of merger with Universal Pictures-Decca Records.

The new combine is viewed by many, including Hollywood unions, as the great hope for restoring the American film industry to its previous eminence.

"We now have 450 acres, having acquired a driving range from Bob Hope on the other side of the studio," Wasserman said. "We intend to develop 200 acres. That will still leave us with the biggest studio in the world."

"Universal has had success in developing talent like Rock Hudson, Tony Curtis, Sandra Dee and Ross Hunter," he said.

"We'll continue that policy. We'll not merely run a school for new actors; we'll put them to work in our television shows so they can gain real experience."

RUSSIA'S PEOPLE

The Russian character as seen by five great Russian writers—Chekov, Gogol, Dostoyevsky, Turgenev and Pasternak—will be portrayed by CBS-TV in early 1963.

TV—Radio Column

'Meaningful Drama' Asked By NBC Board Chairman

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert Sarnoff, board chairman of the National Broadcasting Company, occasionally fires off a commandment to United States television editors, and the most recent one, this week, dealt with "meaningful drama."

Armed with Sarnoff's definition of "meaningful drama" ("dealing with mature subjects, controversial themes or problems of direct pertinence to mankind people in our life") attuned in this week's episode of The Eleventh Hour.

It was the story of a 19-year-old boy charged with the rape-murder of a classmate.

The story opened as the boy, with blood on his hands and a strange look on his face, was running away from the body of the girl.

But in the end, it turned out that he hadn't done it at all—that he was a sensitive lad suffering all sorts of trauma because he had had an aggressive domineering father who had tried to get him to kill a rabbit when he was 11.

It seems to this viewer, who has been exposed in short courses in psychiatry, surgery and internal medicine during the last couple of seasons, that television drama is getting less dramatic as it goes in more and more, for enacting case histories.

Recommended viewing:

Tonight—The World of Jacqueline Kennedy, NBC, 10 p.m. to 11 p.m./EST—documentary treatment of the life of the first lady.

Sunday — Mutiny, NBC, 10 p.m. to 11 p.m.—Dana Andrews and Robert Walker in a drama based on a real navy incident in 1842.

'I Would And I Will When I Want'

TORONTO (CP) — Coach Nobby Wirkowski of Toronto Argonauts said Thursday night he has given no thought to hiring Jack Jacobs as his assistant.

A report from Regina said Jacobs, who left the Montreal Alouettes' coaching staff last week, would likely join the Argos as an aide to Wirkowski.

"I have not given one little bit of consideration to such a move," the Toronto coach said in an interview. "As a matter of fact, I haven't had time."

Asked whether he would give consideration to such a step, Wirkowski said "I would, and I will when I want to. But at present I don't want to."

WALLBRIDGE—Mr. Harold Phillips and Mr. Peter Evans are patients in the Belleville General Hospital. Their many friends wish them a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Tucker, Trent Road, were tea hour guests on Sunday of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barta.

Wallbrige L.O.B.A. 1189 held their second euchre party on Wednesday night with ten tables in play. All had an enjoyable time and refreshments were served by the ladies.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lough spent a day recently with the latter's sister Mrs. F. Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Phillips. They also called on Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris.

School children are busy practising for their Christmas concert to be held in the near future and they will be waiting to see dear old Santa next Saturday in Belleville at the Santa Claus parade.

Liquor Being Smuggled in By Fishermen

GRAND BANK, Nfld. (CP) — Lured by cheap French liquor, hardy, Newfoundland fishermen are running Christmas stocks from the nearby islands of St. Pierre-Miquelon.

Two fishermen from nearby Lamaline, chugging along with a dory-full of contraband booze, were caught earlier this week and fined $100 each Wednesday.

Liquor is still cheap on the little islands and the Mounties maintain a constant check along the rugged south coast. Caves along the coast often hold a cache of raw alcohol in tins. Smugglers admit they have bottled in hollowed-out cod fish. The booze is often stashed in goatskins, attached to hulls of boats. And occasionally the hooch has been found in the funnels of steamships.

One of the latest smuggling methods was described recently by Burin Peninsula residents. The liquor is put in a bag filled with salt and cushioned with cork. The bag is tossed overboard if the RCMP boat approaches. In a few hours, when the salt dissolves, the cork floats the bag to the surface where it is reclaimed by the smugglers.

Air Force Survival School Near Resolute Bay Has 3 Eskimos as Instructors

By ED TREFIAK

EDMONTON (CP)—When it comes to Arctic survival, the RCAF goes to its experts, Idlout, Kudlea and Jackoosie, Eskimos employed as instructors at the air force survival training school detachment near Resolute Bay, N.W.T.

There the three Eskimos teach the art of snow block-cutting, Arctic shelter, igloo construction and techniques of living in desolate northern regions. The students are 250 defence department employees and airmen who take the eight-day course each year.

"Eskimos have a different attitude from us toward survival" says Flt. Lt. Dick Connick of Gull Lake, Sask., the school's chief instructor. "In situations where the white man would just give up, Eskimos keep right on slugging.

"A few years ago an Eskimo left a northern camp with only his dog team. He didn't take his sleeping bag, something Eskimos usually carry with them. A blizzard blew up and the Eskimo was left without shelter. In a similar situation a white man would probably keep his dogs going until they dropped, and finally be frozen to death.

"But this Eskimo just gathered his dogs in a tight circle around him and slept until the storm was over.

"That's the sort of attitude we want to build in the man taking this course."

TEACH FIVE MONTHS

Idlout, Kudlea and Jackoosie teach at the school's Arctic detachment camp, Crystal City, for five months each year. They are employed the remaining seven months as laborers.

Jackoosie also looks after the camp's dogs, kept to warn of the approach of polar bears and to provide emergency ambulance service to Resolute Bay, four miles away.

Recently, the three Eskimos were brought to the RCAF's bush detachment at Jarvis Lake, 200 miles west of Edmonton, so that they could see what training their students received prior to the Arctic course.

At the bush camp they compared different methods of setting traps and snares, and observed smoke signalling methods. They also went hunting, but decided there were too many trees to make it much of a game.

Later the three were brought for a week to RCAF Station Namao, just north of Edmonton, headquarters of the survival training school.

Objectives of the school are to teach methods of survival using natural aids, and to give practical demonstrations. It is in this last phase that the Eskimo instructors are used.

BUILD SNOWHOUSES

The Arctic survival course begins with one day of class-room lectures at Namao. There, students are taught how to make fires, igloos, fighter trenches, Arctic tents, how to wear clothing for maximum warmth, and methods of prevention and care of frostbite.

Then they go to Crystal City for a practical demonstration by the Eskimos.

Students then are assigned to finish partly built snowhouses, where they spend their first night. The next day the men are divided into groups of two, and using a quick construction method they begin to build igloos in which they live for four days and nights.

Since igloo - building often takes two days, students dig box - shaped snow benches roofed with snow blocks to provide temporary shelter.

During their four days of practical training, students practice sea navigation, trekking, and lear sways to supplement their ration packs.

On the fifth day the two-man teams build arctic tents from parachutes and spend their last night in them. They then return to Resolute Bay to write an examination, and are flown back to Namao, where the school's graduation ceremonies are held.

Teen-Age Canada

Multiplication Method Used by Teen-Agers

By JACK HUTTON

Looking for a novel way to prove multiplication rules to anxious friends at the same time?

Nineteen-year-old Marie-Paule De-Keyn of St. Catharines, Ont., recently delighted us with a method which might look strange to us but which is used widely in Europe.

This method, known as "proof-by-nine," can be used with any simple multiplication problem. And it's especially useful for big problems with sprawling columns of figures.

Marie-Paule asked me to multiply 63,421 by 496. The answer (which she supplied for me) was 31,456,816. How can you check it without retracing the same steps?

The first step, said Marie-Paule, is to draw a large X between the original problem. Make it a big X so that you can add figures in the four spaces.

Now, add the numbers in the top figure (the multiplicand). In this case, 6 plus 3 plus 4 plus 2 plus 1 equals 16. But you can only place single numbers in the spaces, so add 1 plus 6 to get 7. Place that in the top space.

Now add the figures in the bottom part of the question (the multiplier). You should get 19, which turns into 10 when the figures are added together. We still haven't a single number, so add 1 plus 0 to get 1. That goes in the bottom space.

NEXT STEP

Next part of this mathematical proof is to, multiply the two numbers we have. And 7 times 1, of course, gives 7. So the figure goes into the right space of the x.

What do we have now? Looking at the top space, 1 below it and 7 at the right. You can imagine the circus drums rolling now as we approach the real suspense of this operation — filling the space at the left.

Add up the figures in our answer: 31,456,816. Let's see, do you get 34? That's the correct answer, but we still have to place anything but a single number in any one of the spaces.

Therefore, we'll add 3 plus 4 which gives us 7. We've got 7 on the right. We've got 7 on the left. What do you know! We somehow ended up with the right answer.

Describing an operation like this, of course, takes a lot more time than actually doing it. Since Marie-Paul was kind enough to tell me about it, I've tried it many times before friends. And, believe me, it always works.

This mathematical proof, I've heard since, is taught in some European schools as early a Grade 2. To someone educated only in Canadian schools, it sounds a bit longwinded. But it's an interesting exercise.

Why don't you and family try it over the kitchen table tonight?

ON ACTORS

Many Canadian teen-agers think some time or other how nice it would be to become an actor or actress — but it vanishes for most of us after one school play.

Ten teen-agers in Montreal are the exceptions to this rule.

They possess representatives every part of Canada, is studying acting, production and design along with adult students at the National Theatre School, often working from 8.45 a.m. to after 6 p.m.

The students, selected by a board that travels all across the country to find promising talent, sometimes sleep on their school floors out of sheer weariness. Their exercises would tire a soldier.

But physical exercise is only a small part of the training. During their three-year course they study a range of plays, varying from Moliere to Arthur Miller, Brecht, Shekov or Shakespeare.

For eight months of the year they study at their school. Two months are spent in Stratford, Ont. And they also have two months of vacations.

For the first year they are not even allowed to act. Only after they finish this course do they devote most of their time to acting, when they have a background to prevent them from picking up mannerisms or tricks of acting.

All are enthusiastic about an acting future in Canada. Said Terry Kelly, 18, of Vancouver: "A chain of theatres and cultural centres is springing up across the country and will provide work for many of the graduates of the school.

"I don't think the Canadian public knows what to expect . . . but I think they will be pleasantly surprised by our standards."

There's Money in Coins --In More Ways Than One

By PHIL COMPTON

TORONTO (CP)—Coin collecting has become Canada's most popular and fastest growing hobby, hobbies, says James E. Charlton, leading numismatist and president of the Royal Canadian Coin Club.

Mr. Charlton, a fellow of the Royal Numismatic Society and author of a book on Canadian coins, estimates that 1,000,000 Canadians display some sort of interest in coins, ranging from casual scrutiny to careful examination of all change.

Also a dozen companies had collections worth more than $100,000 each and 2,000 to 3,000 qualified members of the Canadian Numismatic Association—were ardently interested.

And Mr. Charlton, who is president of a $250,000-a-year coin business, said that every day more Canadians are realizing coin collecting can be more than an absorbing hobby — it pays well.

The profit possibilities are great. Coins he experienced a fantastic rise in value in recent years and people are just starting to this. For instance, sets turned out by the mint early this year initially sold for $2. Now they sell at $6 which means they've doubled in value in less than 12 months. The same thing has happened last year."

COIN SALES TRIPLE

Figures released by the numismatic section of the Royal Canadian Mint show coin sales to collectors have doubled in number and value in the last three years.

In 1959 the mint sold collectors' coins valued at $86,521. By the end of 1960 sales had more than doubled to $213,279 and last year they reached $223,212.

Correspondingly, stamp sales by the philatelic section of the post office department have shown a steady decline over the same period, from $288,288 in 1958-59 to $270,530 in 1960-61.

Mr. Charlton attributes the switch by many small stamp collectors to coins because stamp values have remained constant.

Indicative of the upsurge of interest in coins is the rapid spread of clubs, he said. Ten years ago the number could have been counted on one hand. Today there are 50 in Ontario alone.

VALUABLE HALF DOLLAR

The Canadian Numismatic Association, founded in 1950, cooperated in Canada's first big coin and stamp collection here Nov. 23-24. Coins taken and setup worth more than $1,000, Mr. Hogbin said.

Security and not security age determines the market's value, Mr. Charlton said Mr. Charlton, although the two are often synonymous. Thus some Roman coins more than 1,900 years old can be bought for a dollar while some Canadian coins produced in the last 50 years are worth much more.

Canada's most valuable coin? Mr. Charlton said it is a 1921 half dollar with a current market value ranging between $5 and $7,000 depending on condition. This mint turned out 306,000 but most were melted down because of lack of demand and only about 50 are known to be in collectors today.
